Class Ode

Glories of springtime thrill each heart
This glad bright day in June,
The month when Heav'n our earth doth try,
To see if all's in tune.
One discord sounds, for we must part;
But may our minds commune,
And Friendship keep us still as nigh
As Heav'n to earth in June.
Now fare we forth, life's prize to win,
Our way quite hid from view,
And pledge we here, come woe come weal,
To our calling we'll be true.
For clear we hear above earth's din:—
"Each has God's work to do;
With joy contend in noble zeal;
'Twas life's best lot ye drew."
Then, high with hope that heartens all,
We'll struggle to excel,
Trust God to be our only guide,
For He guides all things well.
'Tis true our June will change to fall;
But we, whom faith doth tell
The spirit's summer must abide,
In faith sing we farewell.
