CLASS ODE

Words -- Helen C. Morris
Music -- Frederick L. Mitchell

*Oh softly, sweetly comes the hour
When all we've learned to love must flower
In memory's fields, there fresh to dwell;
That hour must hear the sad farewell
We make with heartfelt singing.*

*The hill has known our every care,
And we've been safely nurtured, where,
In sheltered halls, we learned that time
Has slowly taught our souls to chime
A note of rich completeness.*

*The rustling leaves, the wind in pine,
The love that soothes like warm sunshine,
The trail of hill, the spell of morn,
The dreams of youth and hope new born —
These things will haunt us ever.*

Chorus

*To Gorham Normal praise we sing!
Long may her halls with echoes ring!
God grant her so to keep her place
That she may live forever!*
