History of Maine Won't Discriminate

Maine Won't Discriminate (MWD) was an organization created to work toward passing LGBT civil rights legislation in Maine and to advocate against/for citizen referenda that would have overturned/sustained such legislation. Major efforts took place in 1995, 1997-98, and 2005 around particular ballot questions.

First, Question 1 in 1995 read: "Do you favor the changes in Maine law limiting protected classifications, in future state and local laws to race, color, sex, physical or mental disability, religion, age, ancestry, national origin, familial status, and marital status, and repealing existing laws which expand these classifications as proposed by citizen petition?" MWD organized (with partner organizations) the No on 1 effort, in opposition to Concerned Maine Families, the Christian Civic League, and the Coalition to End Special Rights, and MWD met with success, as Mainers voted down Question 1 (53.32% to 46.68%) in November 1995. If passed, it would have limited the classes protected by the Maine Human Rights Bill to those already included, thus excluding the possibility of adding sexual orientation – or other new categories – to the list and overturning existing local protections, like those in Portland, among other effects.

The next major activity of MWD was referendum Question 1 on the ballot in February 1998, which read: "Do you want to reject the law passed by the Legislature and signed by the Governor that would ban discrimination based on sexual orientation with respect to jobs, housing, public accommodations and credit?" This No on 1 campaign was not successful, and L.D. 1116 – An Act to Prevent Discrimination, passed in May 1997 – was overturned in February 1998 (51.29% voted to overturn versus 48.71% to sustain).

MWD also spearheaded the No on 1 campaign in 2005, which dealt with L.D. 1196 —

An Act To Extend Civil Rights Protections to All People Regardless of Sexual Orientation – which had passed in March 2005. This referendum question read: “Do you want to reject the new law that would protect people from discrimination in employment, housing, education, public accommodations and credit based on their sexual orientation?” MWD’s efforts were successful this year, and Mainers upheld the law in November 2005 with a vote of 55.1% to 44.9% in its favor.

The work organized and conducted by MWD around these referenda battles ranged from assembling testifiers for public hearings to communicating with elected officials and the press, creating effective advertising campaigns, hosting fundraising events, polling and conducting other relevant research, coordinating coalitions of supporters, leading get out the vote initiatives, and training volunteers in appropriate advocacy methods and behaviors, among many other tasks.

MWD was also involved in other efforts in the late 1990s/early 2000s to secure equal rights for the LGBT community, including local, state, and national elections and the debate (both nationally and in Maine specifically) surrounding same-sex marriages/domestic partnerships. As part of many of its activities, MWD collaborated with other like-minded groups in Maine and across the United States and/or participated in coalitions. Some of these groups are: Human Rights Campaign, Maine Lesbian/Gay Political Alliance (EqualityMaine), Maine Freedom to Marry Coalition, Safer School Coalition of Maine, and Maine’s Law Enforcement Curriculum Committee

Description of the Archives

The Maine Won’t Discriminate Archives consists of materials that document the organization’s primary activities, and the bulk represent 1995-98 and 2005, although some resource and research items date from years outside of these principal dates (1989 being the earliest datable item). The Archives contains organizational records as well as print and audiovisual material created and used by the organization. The majority of the materials relate to MWD’s ultimately successful efforts to oppose referendum Question 1 in 2005, although substantial records related to Question 1 in 1995 and Question 1 in 1998 are also present. The materials include polling data, strategy documents and action plans, details regarding direct mail campaigns and special events, press clippings, statements of support and testimonials, media plans, correspondence, meeting notes, website plans, and other internal documents. Records related to L.D. 310 (1995), L.D. 1116 (1997), L.D. 1196 (2005) are linked to their corresponding referenda, and other activities during the period of 1996-99, such as elections, debate over same-sex marriages/domestic partnerships, and collaborations with other groups can be found within the Archives, as well.

Because the contents came from several different sources, not only MWD, original order could not be determined. The collection has been organized around seven series:
