VETERANS USING COLD WAR G.I. BILL

Please go to the Registrar's Office, room 106 Payson Smith, to complete the form which will go to Orono to assure your certification under the Cold War G.I. Bill.

If you are in CED courses only, you may get forms in the CED office, room 100 Payson Smith.

If you have not previously filed your certificate of Eligibility with the University of Maine, you should bring it with you to attach to the UMF form.

Please attend to this matter on or before February 17.
The Sporting News by Fred:
The Viking track team is keeping itself busy. In the M.I.T. Relays a mile relay team, consisting of Al McCann, Joe Triano, Lin Arnold, and Dick Bonaventura, came up with a new record time of 3:46.9, which, however, was not good enough to place.

Since it was the first competitive race this season, the relay team is determined to break the record.

At the Expo last Saturday, Jim Sproul captured a gold medal in the A.A.U. mile run with a time of 4:00.3. Teammate Glen Cummings collected a silver medal for his second place effort. Unfortunately, Jim did not get credit for his win in the Portland papers, as they printed the results incorrectly.

Basketball by Bob Lapp:

On Wednesday, Feb. 1, the UMP Vikings defeated Farmington State 66-64 in a hard fought game. The Vikings were hurt by a lack of rebounding in the first part of the game. They finally settled down and moulded together to hand Farmington a defeat after they had beat the Vikings earlier this year. The Viking shooting was way off, save for the exceptional shooting of Rick Bowie. He hit on nine of ten floor attempts for a fantastic 90%, and added a foul shot to lead the Vikings in scoring with 19 points. He was followed by Joey Capallati with 13 points, and Keith "Catfish" Weatherbie with 12 points.

On Friday night, Feb. 3, the Vikings played Bentley College. Bentley won the game 102-77, and showed local fans why they are ranked among the top small college teams in the Northeast. Bentley really showed their poise, strength, and shooting ability. They jumped out to an early 19-3 lead, and the Vikings played catch-up for the rest of the game. Bentley controlled the boards in the early going and were limiting the Vikings to one shot most of the time. Bentley shot a good 51% from the floor. UMP shot 42%, which usually is good enough to win a game, but was not quite good enough. Bob Francoeur, who scored the winning basket in the last seconds of the Farmington game, led the Vikings in scoring with 17 points, followed by Rick Bowie and Rollie Gagne with 13 points each. Jeff MacDougal played an excellent hustling floor game, and contributed 8 points.

The Vikings played Windham College tonight and New England College Saturday afternoon, both games at Lincoln Jr. Gym.

Joke of the Week:

A motorcycle policeman, hiding in wait for speeders, was startled by a car, driven by a woman, which darted past like a shot. He took off after her with his siren going full blast, and followed her for several miles, slowly getting closer. Suddenly she pulled into a service station, jumped out of the car, and quickly rushed into the ladies' room. Several minutes later she came out, and, approaching the waiting policeman, quickly said, "I bet you thought I wouldn't make it, didn't you?"

She then proceeded to drive off, as the policeman stood there speechless.

Winter Carnival Summary:

This weekend, February 10-12 will mark our best Winter Carnival yet. Winter Carnival Queen elections will be held Thursday and Friday, February 9 and 10, in Bonney Hall lobby. On Friday, there will be a semi-formal dance at the Portland Club, featuring The Realists Orchestra. Three-fourths of the tickets (continued on page 3, column 1)

Editorial:

The editorial which appeared in last week's edition (Feb. 2) has resulted in, a certain amount of displeasure to many of those concerned. For those of you who did not read this article, it was about the journals for Dr. Cole's history class which were accidentally burned by a janitor after they had been left in a box outside Dr. Cole's office door, for students to pick up during finals.

The UMPus now regrets a few expressions in the editorial used in anger, which were somewhat derogatory toward the rank$ of the janitors, for their faces, are showing your lack of concern for the feelings of innocent people.

However, the purpose of the editorial was to expose the happening, with the hope that all parties concerned would use good judgement in seeing that it did not happen again.

Recently, another addition was made to the family of publications on this campus. The new edition, known as the DUMPus, came out in limited number earlier this week. The stated purpose of this publication is "to eliminate the shocking lack of journalistic creativity on campus."

The staff of theDUMPus was quite amused, to say the least, by this first edition, despite the joke of the week. The articles of this first attempt were rather interesting and provocative. However, considering that the staff of theDUMPus probably consists mostly of those who prefer to sip coffee and drag their feet to class, we seriously doubt that this new edition has enough "stuff" behind it to keep going.

All kidding aside, the two official newspapers at the University, the CAMPUS and the UMPus, would welcome anyone from the ranks of the DUMPus, who feels he or she could make more creative journalistic contributions. Actually, we doubt whether any of them have enough "intestinal fortitude" to help out every week with one of these papers, rather than spasmodically to cry out with non-constructive criticism. And, yes, white socks are mandatory.
have already been sold for this limited dance. Get yours before it's too late. Chaperons for the dance will be Associate Dean and Mrs. Whiting. The new queen will be named there, and crowned by last year's queen, V11 Davis.

Saturday is filled with events. At 10 A.M., the snow sculptures will be judged. From 11-1, the girls versus faculty basketball game will take place in the gym. At 3:30 P.M. the UMP varsity basketball Vikings will take on New England College at Lincoln Junior High Gym. The 'really big' event of the carnival occurs at 8 P.M., Saturday, at City Hall group, the "Junior Citizens." Their best seats, which will be sold on a first come, first served basis, are disappearing quickly. Don't take a chance on getting bad seats at the door buy your tickets early. Dean and Mrs. Pink will chaperone at the concert.

On Sunday, February 12, a ski trip to the Downeast Ski Lodge in Bridgton will wrap up the Winter Carnival beginning at 10 A.M. and lasting until 7:30 P.M. From 3:30 to 7:30, "The Exceptions" will entertain at the lodge. Three quarters of the tickets for this event have also been sold, so all you ski-enthusiasts better get on the sticks and buy your tickets. before it's too late. Chaperones at the ski lodge will be the Coles and the Halls.

Remember the theme of the carnival--"Happiness is a Hi-Fi sled." Let's make the 1967 Winter Carnival the "happiest" that UMP has ever seen.

Ticket Summary for Winter Carnival

Semi-formal--$2.00 per couple
Concert--$2.50 per person
$5.00 per couple
Ski Trip--$2.00 per couple
Combined price for all events--$6.50 per couple

Editorial: A Mate or an EDUCATION

In a recent poll of some of the University students we found that about 4% of the female students, when asked their main reason for attending college, replied, "to obtain a husband." We were somewhat appalled. Of course, some of the students were not in dead earnest, or so they said. They were, in fact, attending college to get an education like all of us.

Is everyone else attending this college, or any college, to obtain an education? Yes, or so they think. It would be a fair statement to say that none, or almost none, of the seniors graduating from the university this year will be fully fulfilled in gaining goal (?) of getting an education.

The question thus arises, what is an education? It would be a fair statement, indeed, to emphasize that an education is not the obtaining of knowledge by taking all "required" courses. No indeed, an education is far more than that. An education is only obtained by spreading oneself "thin," over many, some perhaps undesirable, courses.

Theoretically, one could always point out that he is at college to obtain a "Victorian" education where one specializes in only one field. Now a true education is received only if one explores many unknown fields and becomes a "know-it-all" (or enough of one to at least, give that impression) in numerous studies.

Are students at UMP getting an education? Fundamentally, they are. They must take a certain number of required courses. With this fulfillment of their obligation, the extensive education usually terminates. It then becomes the students' obligation to attain his goal of an all-encompassing education. Few college students realize this fact and do something about it.

In retrospect, are you here for an education or a degree? Are you here for a husband or wife, or an education? If you are here for an education, use your money and time wisely.

Carrying a Torch

This Monday, a collection of UMP men relayed a burning torch from Augusta to Portland. The group of nine who accomplished this glorious feat were Dick Ferland, Jim Fleming, Glen Cumings, Jim Arnold, Al McConnell, Joe Treadwell, Dick Sprout, Dick Gauldrau, and Dick Bonaventura. At 10:20 in the morning, Mrs. Curtis, the governor's wife lit the Winter Carnival Torch, and Dick Ferland started the long run down to Portland via routes 201 and 1. Each runner ran a mile, then rested, while another took over. Curious stares were all the runners got from passing cars and pedestrians. Each runner ran a total of seven miles apiece, for a total of 63 miles, a long way. Surviving on three candy bars apiece, the team ran to Portland in sub-20 degrees weather, with weight losses ranging from four to ten pounds.

When they arrived at UMP, they surprised the dignitaries who were keeping warm in the bookstore. The television cameraman on hand took pictures without the dignitaries of the lighting of the torch, which was donated with a fuel supply by Dixon Brothers of Gorham. The runners maintain that, despite being quite tired, it was well worth the fun.

Apply Now For Draft Test

Applications for the March 11 and 31 and April 8, 1967 administrations of the College Qualification Test are now available at Selective Service System local boards throughout the country. Eligible students who intend to take this test should apply at the nearest Selective Service local board for an Application Card and a Bulletin of Information for the test.

Following instructions in the Bulletin, the student would fill out his application and mail it immediately in the envelope provided to SELECTIVE SERVICE BUILDING SECTION, Educational Testing Service, P. O. Box 988, Princeton, (continued)
Applications for the Selective Service System, which prepares and administers the College Qualification Test for the Selective Service System, will be accepted at the College front office. (Applications must be postmarked no later than midnight, February 10, 1967.)

According to Educational Testing Service, which prepares and administers the College Qualification Test for the Selective Service System, it will be in the students' best interest to file their application at once. By registering early, they stand a better chance of being assigned to the test center they have chosen.

Because of the possibility that he may be assigned to a different city, it is important that he list a center and number for every date on which he will be available. Scores on the test will be sent directly to the registrant's local board.

LITERARY THEATER

Organizational meeting of the Laboratory Theater, Thursday, February 9, 1967, at 3:30 P.M., in Bonney Hall Auditorium.

Anyone interested in taking part is welcome to come to attend.

On Thursday, February 16 at 4:15 P.M., Leo Connellan will give a reading from his work in Luther Bonney Auditorium. Mr. Connellan, editor of the literary quarterly Dasen, has had work published in Poetry Review, Steeplew, Annual, and many other journals and anthologies. The reading he has selected, for the Portland campus, will be drawn largely from his latest book, The Sullen and Other Poems.

CIRCULATION

Barbara Knight, Mary Lowell

The Vняти STRING QUARTET will make another appearance at UNP. The concert will take place, February 18, Tuesday, at 4:00 P.M. Luther Bonney Auditorium will be the location. For a limited number of relaxation and enjoyment, plan to attend.
