FROM THE RABBI

An old joke: What's the difference between a Jew and a WASP? A WASP leaves but never says goodbye, a Jew says goodbye but never leaves!

While this joke is based on generalizations—not every WASP is cold and not every Jew likes to linger—we are, I believe, culturally conditioned to extremely slow goodbyes. And it's a good thing.

In preparation for our Lag B'omer event, I was listening to a Hasidic recording of a very long hymn. This hymn contains a line for each of the 22 letters of the Hebrew alphabet—in order. It took quite a while to sing through the hymn but when the Hasidim reached the last letter of the alef bet, “tav,” they lingered, repeating that last line perhaps 20 times! I could actually feel the energy build as that last line was sung over and over.

Most of the most powerful moments in life happen while we are holding on to something—when we refuse to let go, at least for a while. Think about the customs and traditions we observe after a loved one dies. We say one more psalm, shovel one last shovelful of dirt, create a shiva home, say kaddish for an entire year, and then on every yahrzeit. There is a Yiddish expression that my father used frequently: “Yoitzeh tzu zayn.” It means doing the bare minimum to get through some sort of obligation—a prayer service, a Shabbat zemirot (table song), reviewing the weekly Torah portion, visiting an aging relative. It meant that your heart wasn't in it, that you were doing it just to say you did it. And a sure sign that you were doing something “yoitzeh tzu zayn,” was that you couldn't wait for it to be over and move on. I am grateful to my father, ob”m, for many things but perhaps most of all for teaching me the value of throwing your heart and soul into everything you do—and if you are just going to race through it, then don't bother doing it in the first place.

In our life together, I know that we really mean it when we desperately hold on to what we are doing. A Torah study on Thursday or Shabbat morning, the discussion over breakfast or lunch, singing Oseh Shalom, dancing in the chapel on a Friday night. That we keep coming back to pray, study, sing, connect and discuss, week after week after week. When we can't seem to leave, even long after we have said goodbye.

Rabbi Sruli

P.S. Lisa and Rabbi Sruli will be performing a concert at the Turner Gazebo, 98 Matthews Way, on Tuesday, June 5th, at 6:30 p.m. This concert is open to the public. (Indoors in case of rain). Suggested donation: $5.00.

Rabbi Sruli is always happy to speak with and meet with members of our Temple. Please call or text his cell phone at 914-980-9509 if you would like to speak with him or to arrange a time for a meeting. You can also call or leave a message at the Temple office and Rabbi Sruli will get back to you.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Last month, we re-introduced Dollar-A-Day. Dollar-A-Day is an easy way for each of us to help the Temple in its time of need. If everyone participates in Dollar-A-Day, then we can cut this year's deficit in half from $60,000 to $30,000. That goes a long way in keeping us on sound financial footing.

That's right, without your help, without your financial participation, Temple Shalom will have a deficit of $60,000 this year. These bills cannot go unpaid. We will have to dip into our investments and long term reserves. This will jeopardize our future.

Do you want to be the reason that this Temple, our home, the center of Jewish life in Central Maine ceases to exist?

Some have said that I ask for money too often in my Ma Chadash writings. We need three things to remain vibrant: a great rabbi (and we have that); an active congregation (and we have that); and financial support. If we lose any one of those three, then Temple Shalom is in jeopardy. I want to make sure that this Temple, this community, is here for many years to come, BUT, we can only do this with your continued participation and a bit more money.

Can you really not afford an extra dollar each day? Can you really not find a way to save that little bit from your budget? I ask that you really think, is the Temple worth my support? Do I want a Temple here so that our children can be Bar/Bat Mitzvah'd? Do I want a Temple here for when children are born and when others pass?

Please re-consider your financial support and give just a little more. I thank you and those who come after us will thank you.

David Allen

Yahrzeiten

If you are observing a yahrzeit and are planning to come to Thursday morning minyan to say Kaddish, we urge you to contact Bob Laskoff (ral@laskofflaw.com) and let him know so that he can include that information in his weekly reminder email. It is your responsibility to call friends and neighbors to make sure there are enough people for the minyan.

REMINDER:

This month's traditional and musical Kabbalat Shabbat Service will be held on Friday, June 7th, at 7 p.m.

The Service will be followed by an Oneg Shabbat!

!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!BOOK GROVP NEWS!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

On May 13 we met to discuss The Weight of Ink by Rachel Kadish who will be speaking at the JCA the week after. Present were Helen Perry, Margaret Meyer, Lindsey Walker, Judy Abromson, Bonnie Faiman, Bertha Bodenheimer, Babs Shapiro and me, Lesli Weiner. Others who couldn't make the meeting will join us in Portland for dinner and then the JCA. WE all agreed that, even though the book was almost 600 pages, we loved it. The two story lines were interesting, the characters were rich, and the attention to detail and the research involved was tremendous. Under the guise of a novel about documents and correspondence between rabbis in the 1660's, there was much to learn of the theology of the day and the incredible injustices which dogma-driven society has perpetrated against women, homosexuals, Jews and others. And the parallels between that time period and the academic researchers in the 1990's made for an engrossing and engaging story. This was time well-spent.

The Tattooist of Auschwitz by Heather Morris is our next book. This from Amazon:

"The #1 International Bestseller & New York Times Bestseller

This beautiful, illuminating tale of hope and courage is based on interviews that were conducted with Holocaust survivor and Auschwitz-Birkenau tattooist Ludwig (Lale) Sokolov—an unforgettable love story in the midst of atrocity.

In April 1942, Lale Sokolov, a Slovakian Jew, is forcibly transported to the concentration camps at Auschwitz-Birkenau. When his captors discover that he speaks several languages, he is put to work as a Tätowierer (the German word for tattooist), tasked with permanently marking his fellow prisoners.

Imprisoned for over two and a half years, Lale witnesses horrific atrocities and barbarism—but also incredible acts of bravery and compassion. Risking his own life, he uses his privileged position to exchange jewels and money from murdered Jews for food to keep his fellow prisoners alive.

One day in July 1942, Lale, prisoner 32407, comforts a trembling young woman waiting in line to have the number 34902 tattooed onto her arm. Her name is Gita, and in that first encounter, Lale vows to somehow survive the camp and marry her.

A vivid, harrowing, and ultimately hopeful re-creation of Lale Sokolov's experiences as the man who tattooed the arms of thousands of prisoners with what would become one of the most potent symbols of the Holocaust, The Tattooist of Auschwitz is also a testament to the endurance of love and humanity under the darkest possible conditions."

Our next Book Group will meet on MONDAY, JUNE 10 from 4 – 5:15. Here is a list of our next chosen books. Please join us in reading:

July 15.....1185 Park Avenue by Anne Roiphe
August 12.....The Last Watchman of Old Cairo by Michael Lukas
September 9.....The Wartime Sisters by Lynda Cohen Loigman
October 14.....Cousins' Club by Warren Alexandar
November 11.....Button Man by Andrew Gross
December 9.....A Woman In Jerusalem by A.B. Yehoshua
January 13.....The Diplomat's Daughter by Karin Tanabe

MORE WAYS TO GIVE TO TEMPLE SHALOM!

For instance, when you buy something on Amazon, go to www.Smile.Amazon.com. The prices are the same as on Amazon.com and a percentage of every purchase goes to the Temple. If you have not done so, please go to www.Smile.Amazon.com and register and designate Temple Shalom – Auburn Maine, as the charity that you want to benefit from your Amazon purchases. Then, each time you want to go to Amazon, go to www.Smile.Amazon.com.

Are you using CLINK bags? These are free bags, available at the Temple. Put all of your returnable bottles and cans in the CLINK bag and then bring the bag to Hannaford. Instead of giving you the returnable money, the money will be put into the Temple's account and a periodic check will be sent to the Temple. Another easy way to help the Temple.

For $250 you can sponsor one month of the Ma Chadash. You can do this in memory or honor of someone or just like that. (Call David or Julie 786-4201)

You can sponsor an event. The minimum is $250 and you can put a cap on the amount you are willing to donate. Do this in memory of a loved one or in honor of someone. (Call Lesli for details.)
