Temple Shalom Celebrates!

FROM THE RABBI

So...on my now “famous” bike rides (that many of you heard me talk about on Rosh Hashanah), I made a friend. There is a gentleman (retired?) who parks his car at the same beautifully scenic spot on Lake Shore Drive most every day, whom I pass while riding several times a week. At first, we simply acknowledged each other, but with each subsequent encounter, our relationship has deepened. Over time, our initial brief eye contact morphed to eye contact plus a knowing head nod and, ultimately, to eye contact plus a head nod plus a wave of the hand. It is, of course, a Mainer’s hand wave—which, I have learned, involves a barely perceptible movement of fingers—but in Maine apparently, it is the equivalent of a New York hug!

I don’t know this man’s name and he doesn’t know mine. In fact, I know nothing about him except that he drives a white car and enjoys the view of Lake Auburn. All he knows about me is that I like to ride my bike. Yet, we have formed a bond—a true bond. I sense that he is glad to receive my greetings each time I ride by, as I am to receive his. Our encounters nourish my soul and, I believe, his. I just know that he would be there for me, as I for him, should either of us ever need assistance. A friend. Really.

Shakespeare famously wrote: “The eyes are the window to your soul.” Each time we get together for prayer, we recite the Priestly blessing. The third and final line reads: May Adonai lift God’s face towards you and grant you peace. In order for us to receive God’s blessing of peace, God needs to lift God’s face—to actually look at us—and we at God. Only through eye contact can the greatest of all blessings—peace—be transmitted from God to us. Or perhaps, the eye contact itself is enough to bring us peace.

It is in these difficult times of forced and unnatural social separation, that we can most acutely sense the essence of what truly connects us. If necessity is the mother of invention, we can attest to how necessary human connections are for us in all of the many (and often complicated) ways that we have invented in order to stay safe yet still connect—meaningfully connect.

Last Sunday, Lisa and I (and Charlie and Johnny) were asked to provide the music for an outdoor, socially distanced, Simchat Torah parade for the Waterville Jewish Community. Following the joyous event, Rabbi Isaacs and Melanie Weiss invited us to their home for an outdoor, socially distanced, lunch with their family. As we were leaving, I absent mindedly raised my hand towards their adorable 3-year-old daughter, Hadas, inviting her to “high five” me. Instead of a high five, I was gently scolded—by 3-year-old Hadas! “We don’t high five because of Co-RO-na-Vi-rus.” As I sheepishly withdrew my hand, Hadas asked, “Would you like to know how we hug during Co-RO-na-Vi-rus?” I nodded yes. Hadas then flashed me the sweetest smile, her eyes bubbling with excitement as she wrapped both of her arms around her own body, and tightly squeezed. I responded in kind—with a smile, a gleam in my eyes as I tightly wrapped my arms around my body. It was perhaps the most meaningful hug I have ever shared with anyone.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

I know this pandemic is getting old. It is time for it to end, but the end is not near and I'm afraid, the end is not all that close. So, be vigilant. Do not let up on your social distancing and mask wearing. This pandemic is here for a while and it is deadly. A bit over 2% of those who contract COVID-19 end up DEAD. That's two out of every 100 people. Would you play Russian Roulette with those odds? I wouldn't. Two percent is still too high for me. Not when the alternative is so easy...wearing a mask and social distancing. I hope it is too high for you as well. Beyond the 2% many more have lingering effects that may last a lifetime...we just don't know. Don't risk your health and those around you. Wear a mask...Social Distance!

Wear a mask whenever you are around those who you don't live with. I know many of you think your friends and family who don't live with you are safe or clean. But it is not a safe or clean issue. Your friends can get a cold or the flu. They can get COVID-19 as well. Remember, they could be asymptomatic. Are you willing to risk your DEATH or your friend/relative's DEATH or long-term ill health? Any what about the stranger that you may give it to? Are you willing to risk their health and life just so you can be with friends/family and not wear a mask and not social distance?

Some people say that you (or the government) cannot make people wear masks. Well, in public, you can be made to wear a mask. We make people wear clothes when out in public...same thing here. Further, are you that selfish that you feel you are so special or so entitled that you can ignore science and put yourself, your relatives, your friends and strangers at risk? Are you really that selfish? I hope not.

We are now into the eighth month of the pandemic. Eight months of social distancing. Eight months of wearing a mask. Eight months of not seeing our friends and family. Eight months of not being able to hug those who don't live with us. This is getting old. I get that. I know it is hard to do. Our best friends live in Massachusetts. We have seen them once in eight months...a social distanced picnic at a park in Portsmouth. Do not become complacent. Do not become lazy about taking proper precautions. Your life and the lives of others are in YOUR hands. You can make a difference. COVID can happen to you. It will not always be someone else.

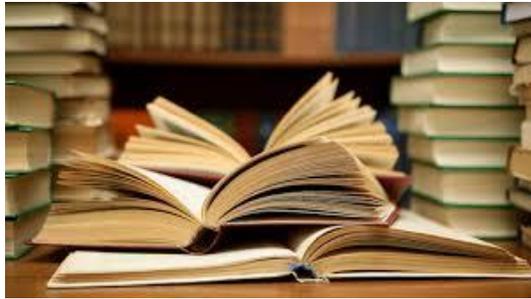

With the cold weather coming, it is going to be much harder to visit outside with friends/relatives. Don't let your guard down. Dress warmly and sit outside. Dress warmly and sit in the garage and visit, with the garage door open. Dress warmly and have a camp fire. Have hot chocolate or something else warm. Wear a mask and social distance. Do not become complacent.

If you save just one life – by wearing a mask AND by social distancing – it is as if you saved the entire world.

Wear a mask!
Social Distance!
Use hand sanitizer...liberally!
Wash your hands...often!
Do not...do not...do not become complacent!

!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!BOOK GROUP NEWS!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

What does 'Inheritance' mean to you? What did it mean to Dani Shapiro when she titled her latest memoir as such? This was one of the topics we discussed on October 12. Present were Lindsey Walker, Helene Perry, Estelle Rubenstein, Judy Abromson, Bertha Bodenheimer, Mitch Ross, Margaret Meyer, and me, Lesli Weiner. Inheritance was beautifully written and quite engrossing as Shapiro unfolded the mystery of why she didn't 'look Jewish' and what her mother meant by saying she was conceived in Philadelphia. Was she now only the child of a sperm donor or was the father who raised her still a part of her identity? There was so much to reflect on and talking it out with one another added so much to our understanding. We recommend you read this moving memoir and come to your own conclusions.

Our next book is The Dutch Wife by Ellen Keith. Pick up your copy now:
"A sweeping story of love and survival during World War II

AMSTERDAM, MAY 1943. As the tulips bloom and the Nazis tighten their grip across the city, the last signs of Dutch resistance are being swept away. Marijke de Graaf and her husband are arrested and deported to different concentration camps in Germany. Marijke is given a terrible choice: to suffer a slow death in the labor camp or—for a chance at survival—to join the camp brothel.

On the other side of the barbed wire, SS officer Karl Mÿller arrives at the camp hoping to live up to his father's expectations of wartime glory. When he encounters the newly arrived Marijke, this meeting changes their lives forever.

Woven into the narrative across space and time is Luciano Wagner's ordeal in 1977 Buenos Aires, during the heat of the Argentine Dirty War. In his struggle to endure military captivity, he searches for ways to resist from a prison cell he may never leave.

From the Netherlands to Germany to Argentina, The Dutch Wife braids together the stories of three individuals who share a dark secret and are entangled in two of the most oppressive reigns of terror in modern history. This is a novel about the blurred lines between love and lust, abuse and resistance, and right and wrong, as well as the capacity for ordinary people to persevere and do the unthinkable in extraordinary circumstances."

We will meet via zoom on NOVEMBER 9 at 4PM. If not already on the Book Group email list and you want to participate, just contact the Temple and I will add you to the list. See you then.....lesli

Dear Sruli and Lisa,

How do we value you--let me count the ways: We appreciate

- the extraordinary energy you bring to the davvening;
- the heartfelt kavvanah with which you share your prayers and your invitations to us to join you;
- the menschlichkeit you demonstrate in how you relate to each congregant, making everyone feel noticed and valued;
- the humor you include to lighten all that solemnity;
- the flexibility you show in adapting Zoom to tradition, including asking Maya to hold up the mahzor for hagbah;
- the imagination you muster to invigorate tired words and traditions;
- the hospitality you exemplify by inviting your Klezmer network and your own family into our living rooms;
- the respect you model in making us stretch old muscles to reach new intellectual and spiritual heights;
- the freedom you embody in spreading your own religious wings;
- the creativity with which you renew prayers, rituals, and customs;
- the open-hearted affection with which you love-bomb our whole community.

We feel so fortunate to have landed on your planet! Thank you for truly meaningful High Holy Days!
