THE LITERARY MAGAZINE
Thus far, one essay, four sonnets, and four poems have been submitted to the literary magazine.

BUSINESSMEN'S CLUB
Mr. Joseph Scully, Operations Vice-President of the Casco Bank and Trust Company, and Mr. Edward Kerr, State of Maine representative for Burroughs, were guest speakers on Automation at the regular Businessmen's Club meeting on Monday, March 23.

The Burroughs method of economy, simplicity, and flexibility was explained with the use of small models. These models included a card punch, a central processor, a record processor, and a magnetic unit.

The speakers explained how electronic data processing systems have served as a major breakthrough in performance and capacity for random access information, storage, retrieval, and processing.

It was also stated that since the Middle Ages no change in banking operations has been so revolutionary as that brought about by the Common Machine Language for mechanized check handling.

Also included on the agenda were plans for a Career Day and the voting for approval of a Loan Fund established for short term use by the general student body.

STUDENT COUNCIL MINUTES
The meeting was called to order at 4:20 p.m., Thursday afternoon.

The Secretary's report was read and passed by the Council.

The Treasurer's report stands as follows:
$748.08 total expense of Winter Carnival
$66.03 total income of Winter Carnival
290.86 expense minus the soda
321.67 expense with the soda
$770.33 present balance

$560.35 lowest possible balance if all the clubs take what they asked for.

Old Business was brought to the floor. Frank Blanchard didn't bother to check with Mr. Whiting as he had earlier this year. He brought up the idea of the Owls and Eagles, as a service club, set aside a fund of petty cash which would be reimbursed by the Council. Peggy Martin was asked to check on the matter with the Owls and Eagles.

Judy DeRocher informed the Council that the oil paintings for the cafeteria are well underway. Don Hoffman said that thus far it looked as if the Senior Class would donate the money for a few of them.

Dick Grotton checked with Miss Duval concerning the plans for a choral group. Dick was asked to assist Miss Duval and continue with plans such as for suitable music, prices, a pianist, and auditions for those interested.

Mr. Callender, in checking with Mr. Clarke, found that there are no statistics on the probability of one dropping out with less than a 2.0 average. The following was found:
1. a senior in education must have a 2.0 to graduate (with UMP expanding, an education major could be Student Council President in the near future)
2. grades increase as hours increase to be off probation--

After some discussion, Dick Grotton moved the 2.0 remain in the bylaws. Chris Doten seconded it--voted and passed.

New Business was then taken up. A comment was made concerning the condition of the Student Council minutes. A more parliamentary form is wanted. The idea of an agenda was discussed. As it is too late in the year, it was offered as a suggestion for next year's council.

Bob Silva brought up the topic of the Literary Guild. Mr. Jaques is working on some plans to give the group some cohesion. Bob is expected to give a full report on the progress next week. Many ideas were brought up concerning this group but were tabled until next week by a motion from Pat Miele.

Don Hoffman suggested that the Council hold a Constitutional Review Committee to see that the constitution hold no flaws or gaps. George Morrill (Parliamentarian) will head this committee. It will consist of Don Hoffman, Peggy Martin, Ed Gorham, and Pat Miele.

The President called for an adjournment. It was voted and passed.

Respectfully submitted,
Judy DeRocher

INSIDE SPORTS by Walt Abbott

The Intramural Basketball Season is now progressing into its fifth week. The Unquenchables are leading the league, as they are the only ones unbeaten. The Droppers have lost one as have the pesky Humpers who seem to keep on winning with a minimum of talent. More power to them. The Miracle Workers have lost two; one of which was an overtime loss to the Unquenchables. I understand that this game is still under consideration because of the manner in which the clock was run. One view has it that the winning basket, made by Bob Turkington, was dunked in after regulation time had expired. Commissioner Sullivan is discussing this game with the Basketball Board of Governors of which he is president and sole member. The Law School has fought vainly, tirelessly, and resolutely. They have produced a few close games, but seem to be on the losing side of the scores. The Chickadees and Beatles need help both in manpower and ability. Dissension in the ranks (this is supposed to be a popular term around UMP) has hurt the Beatles.

Upon checking out the baseball squad, I find that they are diligently running, throwing, and lifting weights. Yes, that's right, lifting weights. Understand that Spalding is making heavier baseballs this year.

COLORFUL SERIGRAPHS BRING SPRING TO OUR CORRIDORS

Have you looked at those prints of birds which Miss Fernald has just put on display in the main corridor? They are filled with color and also the most delightful humor, presented in a modern style.

The artist is Charles Harper, a professional commercial artist from West Virginia, who has learned to press simplification as far as possible without losing identification.

STUDENTS STIMULATED BY DISCUSSIONS DURING MR. BATES' TWO-DAY VISIT

The Reverend Harvey Harlan Bates, University Director of Religious affairs, conducted a series of very stimulating discussions on Monday and Tuesday.

The Monday afternoon session revolved about a "Defense of Atheists," in which valid problems of religion posed by Nietzsche, Marx, and Freud were presented and discussed, with enthusiastic student participation, during which the contributions of many contemporary leaders in philosophic and religious thought were mentioned.

The Tuesday noon discussion took the place of the usual Thursday discussion group, which was moved forward this week because of the advent of spring vacation. The theme, "Judgment and Love," struck at nationalistic self-satisfaction. The discussion involved the tendency of groups to feel that they have arrived at perfection when they are actually shot through with social injustice which will bring retribution if it is not corrected. The need of compassion toward the individuals involved was also emphasized.

Two other discussions were limited to members of the Freshman Honors Seminar.
