The University of Maine in Portland Surf Club will present a 90-minute film at Luther Bonney auditorium, U.P, 7:30 p.m. Friday, May 5.

The general public is invited without charge. Following the film featuring surfing in California and Hawaii, a number of surfboards will be displayed during a question and answer period on the sport.

LABORATORY THEATRE PRESENTS ONE-ACT PLAY

"The Lesson," a one-act play by Eugene Ionesco, will be presented by U.M.P's Laboratory Theatre at the University of Maine in Portland, May 6.

The play will be presented in Luther Bonney Hall Auditorium at 2:30 p.m. as a part of the University's Open House. Eugene Ionesco is one of the principle avant-garde playwrights who deal with the unconventional in an attempt for better art. "The Lesson" is concerned with language as an instrument of power and demonstrates the basic impossibility of communication.

Ellen McCubrey, a freshman from Falmouth, is cast as the student; Ronald Welch, a freshman from Portland, as the professor; and Carolyn Rich, a sophomore from Portland, will play the part of the maid. Dr. Edwin R. Hansen, associate professor of speech, is the director.

There will be no admission and the public is cordially invited. Other events of the day will include the Owls and Eagles' art auction from 9 a.m. until noon and ground breaking ceremonies for the new physical education building.

UNIVERSITY WISHES TO ORGANIZE

There will be a second organizational meeting of the University Women on Friday, May 5 at noon in the Student Union. All interested girls who will be seniors next year are urged to attend this meeting. We can strengthen this organization only through responsible membership.

FIRST NAMED PROFESSORSHIP FOR U.M.P

University of Maine Professor John M. Romanyshyn will hold the first Margaret Payson Professorship in Social Welfare at the University of Maine in Portland, the U.M. Board of Trustees has announced.

The professorship, the first at the Portland campus, is named for its donor, a Portland resident interested in the development of undergraduate social welfare education.

Prof. Romanyshyn, a widely-known authority on social welfare education, has been a member of the sociology and anthropology department at Orono for 17 years.

Miss Payson explained that "the proposed interdisciplinary program of social welfare education and community service will bring to the student a concept of the new dimensions of social welfare which is concerned not only with human need and social services, but also with vital issues of public policy, and with the economic and political implications that bear so closely upon the solution of social problems."

Miss Payson expressed the hope that the professorship may lead to increased careers in the service professions—teaching, nursing, social work, medicine, etc., where the manpower shortage is now of such critical concern.

U.M. President Edwin Young said of Miss Payson that "Few have given more generously of their time and support to the community, state, and nation in the development of public and voluntary social welfare service."

President Young noted that "Miss Payson's gift will assist the University in making possible a program designed to bring to undergraduate students an understanding of social welfare. It will provide the opportunity for a major effort to increase the supply of trained people in the social welfare field."

Prof. Romanyshyn, whose new appointment will become effective Sept. 1, will spend part of his first year at Portland planning an interdisciplinary program with Asst. Prof. Richard Steinman, a member of the U.M.P faculty.

The new program will include not only development of undergraduate instruction but institutes, conferences, and in-service training.

This summer Prof. Romanyshyn will conduct a national institute at Orono June 19 to 30 for college faculty members.

The institute jointly sponsored by the Council on Social Work Education and the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare through the Vocational Rehabilitation Administration, and will concentrate on development of undergraduate social welfare education curriculum and teaching resources.

Similar institutes were conducted by Prof. Romanyshyn in the summers of 1963 at Columbia University and 1964 at Michigan State University.

A graduate of the University of Oklahoma, Prof. Romanyshyn has done graduate work at Columbia University and received his master's degree in social work at the University of Chicago. He is a member of the Council on Social Work Education a former member of its board of directors, and is a member of its commission on accreditation for graduate schools of social work.

In 1965 he received a grant from the Lois and Samuel J. Silverman Foundation to write a textbook which will be published by Random House. During the 1965-66 academic year he was invited to work on the book at its Berkeley campus by the University of California.

University Singers from Orono to Appear:

On Wednesday, May 10th, the University Singers from the Orono campus will give a performance in the UMP Gymnasium
at 8:15 p.m.

The University Singers, one of several musical organizations at the Orono campus of the University, contains forty select voices with a common obsession to sing. The group was founded and is directed by Professor Herrold E. Headley, Sprague Professor of Music, who spoke recently at the Dean's List Banquet at UMP. The repertoire of the University Singers en­

Last of the Spring Film Series to be Shown May 12:

On Friday, May 12, the last of the Spring Film Series will be shown in Luther Bonney Auditorium at 4:00 and 7:30 p.m. A winner of the International Prize at the Venice International Film Festival, Dreams That Money Can Buy, is a film that asks something more of the audience than a passive glance. With the director, Hans Richter, the audience joins in the creative interpretation—seeing, feeling, and even thinking with a greater intensity.

Freshman-Sophomore Class Outing:

This year's combined freshman and sophomore Class Outing will be held this Saturday, May 6. A boat will leave Custom House Wharf at 11:30 a.m. for an afternoon Beach Party on Long Island. A second boat will leave Custom House Wharf at 3:30 p.m.
Tickets for the Beach Party, lobster or chicken, and a Moonlight Cruise are free for sophomores and freshmen, and $2.00 per person for others.

The last boat will leave Custom House
Wharf at 7:00 p.m. for the Moonlight
Cruise, which will begin from Long Island at 7:30 p.m. The cruise will be around Casco Bay, returning to Custom House Wharf at 11:30 p.m. Last year, all of those who went thoroughly enjoyed this outing. The chances are excellent that it can be even better this year, especially with a

Joke of the Week:

A wise old Scotman, who was a judge,
was asked to settle a dispute between two brothers about the fair division of a large estate left them by their father.

"Let one brother divide the estate," said
the judge, "and let the other brother have his first choice."

Second Annual Art Auction Scheduled for Saturday:

This Saturday, May 6th, the Owls and Eagles, both the old and the new ones,
will present the second annual Art
Auction as a part of the UMP Open House.
The auction will be held on the flagstone
terrace in front of Luther Bonney Hall, weather permitting. Larry Gerhety, who did a great job last year, will be auctioneer again this year.

The purpose of the auction is to earn a few dollars for the Charlotte McCormick Scholarship Fund, which students can use to borrow money for books, school supplies and other college expenses. Your attendance at this worthy cause is strongly urged,
and, who knows, you may well find some

To the Editor:

In the U Maine catalog there is a casual mention of other costs besides tuition, books, etc. I just found out that they weren't kidding. In order for us seniors to get our tassels as a momento, we have to pay fifty cents to that monopoly, the bookstore. I know that our recently-elected Gov. Curtis is looking to cut costs (and subsequently the quality of education in the state); I know that the state legislature and "powers that be" are trying to cut costs,
but ISN'T THIS A LITTLE RIDICULOUS?
Okay, so the school can't afford it.
The senior class voted to levy a ten dollar fee this year on all its members.
We were led to believe that this would cover all the costs of graduation— caps and gowns, a banquet, maybe a gift to the school if we had enough in our treasury. However, caps and gowns at $5 and a banquet meal at $4.50 still leaves fifty cents.
We (i.e., the senior class) also had a fairly successful dance. We also had about $70 in our treasury to start the year.
My point, why should we seniors have to fork over fifty cents to the bookstore
for our tassels?
I mean, it's not broke, nor am I cheap, and I do realize that the bookstore has to drive a hard bargain on tassels to stay in business, but I thought I'd just throw in my two cents. Woe is me; it looks like won't have any moment to remember my years at UMP!

Stu Olsen
Class of '67.
State Senators Richard N. Berry and Roger V. Snow, Jr., will officiate at the ground breaking ceremonies for the new Physical education building of the University of Maine in Portland at 1:45, Saturday afternoon, May 6th.

The ground breaking ceremonies will bring to a climax a Portland campus Open House celebration commemorating the tenth anniversary of legislation establishing the University of Maine in Portland through the merger of the University of Maine and Portland Junior College.

The new physical education building near the corner of Falmouth and Durham Streets, will house a 15,300-square foot gymnasium on the upper level, which can be entered directly from the present playing field.

The gymnasium, large enough for the instruction of three physical education classes at one time, can be quickly converted into an auditorium through the use of roll-out bleachers seating 2,320 persons.

Maine Day a Success. Despite Weather:
This past Wednesday, Maine Day at UMP, was a success, despite a morning of rain. Several groups enjoyed games of volleyball in the "Barn", and the chicken feathers falling from the rafters prove the "Barn" part.

In the ping pong tournament, Bill Cunningham defeated Rudy LaBrecque, and Tom Trufant defeated Gerry Giguerre in the pool tournament.

At the noon luncheon, which relatively few attended compared with last year, the first order of business was the presentation of awards by former Senate President Mark Eastman to the recording secretaries of the Senate:
Pat Clemente and Sue Scanlan; and the Student Union secretary, Donna Childs, for all their help to the Senate. Mark then announced the class officers for next year:
Sophomores: President - Rocco Marszilli
Vice-Pres. - Joe Troiano
Treasurer - Pat Niles
Secretary - Judy Calvin

Senior Reps. - Dianne Webster and Bill Bridges
Juniors: President - Bob Norris
Vice-Pres. - Sandy Abbott
Treasurer - Sharon Bagley
Secretary - Wanda Storer

Seniors: President - Tom Hardy
Vice-Pres. - Dick Macleod
Treasurer - Sally Gutterworth
Secretary - Jamie Jacobs

Senate Reps.: - Dan Dugan

Rick Bowie then gave Mark Eastman a present from the Senate in appreciation of his efforts as President. Mark responded with praise for all of this year's Senate Representatives.

Speaking for this year's Eagles, Wanda Storer announced the Eagles for next year: Judy Calvin, Francine Jadesu, Pat Dickson, Marcia Durran, Kathy Johnson, Joanne Western, Sue Scanlan, and Judy Baker. Dianne Webster was named an alternate.

Speaking for this year's Owls, Rick Bonaventura named the new Owls. Unlike the new Eagles, who were treated to a breakfast by the old Eagles that morning, the naming of the new Owls came as a surprise at the luncheon: Joe Troiano, Glen Cummings, Bill Browne, Bert Welletier, Steve Goranites, Paul Timberlake, and Spike Spires. Charlie Bradford was named an alternate.

George Van Amberg, Director of the Student Union, then named the outstanding members of this year's graduating class: Sue Rosen and Rick Bowie. Sue, from Portland, is a Dean's List student, a member of the Student Senate, AWS, and the University Women. Rick, from North Yarmouth, is a mathematics major, president of the senior class, and captain of basketball and baseball.

Following these awards, the Owls and Eagles put on a humorous skit depicting members of the faculty at a meeting to discuss the merger, new buildings, etc.
The varsity track meet at Portland Stadium was called off almost, first, because of rain, and then because of a reluctance of the Stadium personnel to allow the use of the wet grounds. However, the puddles finally dried up enough, and eventually the sun came out. UMP defeated Rhode Island easily by a score of 82 to 21.

In the javelin, Tony Holt and Craig Robinson placed second and third. In the shot put, John Maley and Bruce Morse also placed second and third, with Maley breaking the school record with an effort of 48 feet, 1 inch. Steve Zimniski won the broad jump with a jump of 19 feet, 4½ inches. Al McCann, who placed second in the broad jump, won the mile run with a time of 4:46.8. Rick Bonaventura was third in the mile.

Joe Troiano won the 440 yard dash with a time of 54.6 seconds. Lin Arnold was second in a close battle with the third place runner. Three UMP runners swept the 100 yard dash, with Bruce Burns winning with a time of 10.9 seconds. Tom Wakefield and Armand La Brecque finished second and third. In the 220 yard run, Glen Cummings broke his own record with a time of 22.12, although Al McCann set an unofficial record of 22.66 last Wednesday at a practice meet with Exeter Academy.

In the high jump, Dave Parker tied his own record with a jump of 5 feet, 10 inches; Ken Martin finished second. In the 220 yard dash, Steve Zimniski and Tom Wakefield placed first and second, the winning time of 23.1 seconds tying the UMP record. Jim Sprong won the two mile run with a time of 10:45-.4. The unopposed UMP mile relay team consisted of Joe Troiano, Glen Cummings, Al McCann, and Rick Bonaventura.

(This Saturday, May 6, the track team will face Maine Maritime Academy in a tough meet at Olmstead Field in Westbrook at 3:00 p.m. Next Monday, May 8, the team will also face Bridgewater State College in a home meet.)

Following the track meet, many returned to the UMP gym to watch the boxing card. Unfortunately the ring was placed in a corner, and so many could not see. A few rows of chairs around the ring might help the problem. Vern Saunders won a TKO victory over Dave Deas in the opener; both are middleweights. Fred Kilfoil also won in a TKO over Bruce Burns in the welterweight division. Middleweight Frank Amaroso got a split decision victory over Jim Fleming; and light-heavyweight Ed Smith got a unanimous decision over Jim Blanchard.

The Haine Day activities were wrapped up with a lobster and chicken feed, followed by a dance with the Exceptions. Although not too many attended the evening events, all who went had a very good time.
