UMP PRESENTS TWO CONCERTS

BY Jean Scanlan

The advantages of attending a university have been written by many fine authors, including John Henry Newman, so I would not attempt to expound on them here. But one advantage which comes to mind quickly is the variety of the components of the 'good life.' The University of Maine presents two outstanding concerts this week. Last night the University Singers from Orono presented a program that was highly praised by John Thornton, fine arts reporter for the Portland Press Herald, as well as all who attended. He even praised the acoustics in the UMP gym. The pure sound and force of the singers was tremendous. And the second concert was given Tuesday afternoon by the Enterprize Quartet, an ensemble from the Portland Symphony. The highlight was the harpsichord, masterfully handled by Margaret Mason. The harpsichordist gave a welcome explanation of her unusual instrument. The other members of the quartet were also obviously well accomplished in their specialty of Baroque music.

Foresight?

It seems to us that while this university has a surplus of draft dodgers, noise in the library, and motorcycles: there is a general lack of foresight in planning.

One instance of this is the auditorium, newly constructed in Luther Bonney Hall. The acoustics there are very good for speakers and the seating capacity has it all over the 120 seat lecture hall in Payson Smith. But it's really too bad to have to put the University Singers in the gym when, with a little planning last year, the auditorium could have been made to serve for choral groups as well as speakers.

The vending machines around campus are a welcome addition since the cafeteria now closes at 9 o'clock. However, there is a dearth of change machines to accompany them. As far as our poor, nearsighted eyes can see there is only one - in the cafeteria, which has a habit of not working whenever hunger strikes. The machines get most of their customers during the break at night classes. And there simply is not enough time to run from Bonney Hall with your dollar bill clutched tightly in hand, get change in the cafeteria, run back to the lounge, buy coffee and cookies, eat, and then make it back to your class on the fourth floor. Fifteen minutes just isn't enough time to do it were who would want to try the dash?

While we realize that this is a state supported institution and that our budget comes through the legislature each year, we think that it's not too unreasonable to ask for a little coherence in plans.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To my fellow students:

Monday, May 9th, the Governor of the state of Maine spoke here at UMF. The auditorium was packed full. This was a very impressive sight for UMF's political forum.

In the continuing Political Forum, presented by the Young Republicans and Young Democrats, this coming week is full of candidates for you to hear and question.

Starting off on Wednesday, May 11th, the Secretary of the State of Maine, Ken Curtis, will address the UMF YR's and Y's at 11 o'clock. Mr. Curtis is one of the three Democratic gubernatorial candidates seeking election.

Friday, May 13th Mr. Ralph Brooks will speak in Luther Bonney auditorium at 3 p.m. Mr. Brooks is one of the seven Republican candidates for the First Congressional District Seats.

Finally to bring to a successful conclusion of the Y.R.'s and Y. D.'s Political Forum, the Speaker of the Maine House, Mr. Dana Childs will be here on campus May 16th at 1 o'clock in the auditorium. Mr. Childs is the last of the three Democratic gubernatorial hopefuls to be on campus.

As you students can see, there is something for everyone. Two Democratic gubernatorial candidates and one Republican Congressional candidate. Pick your time and candidate, but be there. The Political Forum is for you the students. Make it work. Be there!

Michael Pearce
Pres. of the UMF Young Rep.

STUDENT ART EXHIBITED

by Jean Scanlan

The current art exhibit in Payson Smith hall and Luther Bonney Hall is made up of original work by the Art 1 students. Most of the works are examples of form and volume - concepts basic to beginning art students - done in charcoal and chalk. The subjects are of a variety: a slum dwelling, a portrait of a young man, driftwood, and three "perfect" rocks.

INSIDE SPORTS
With Walt Abbott

The tennis team came up with a resounding victory over Nasson College of Springvale, Maine, last Thursday.

UMF's top golfer, D. Hall, has been having problems this spring. It seems that when Hall shoots a good hole, the opposing player does just a little better. However, at least this year when Doug loses his match the team as a whole has been able to rebound with a victory. The sport of golf is not designed for spectators but is an appealing participating sport.

The baseball team came up with two victories last week under extremely frigid temperatures. Small wonder why there is only a handful of spectators. Last Saturday behind K. Weatherbee's pitching and B. Mark's and J. O'Connell's hitting, UMF walloped our favorites from the New Hampshire woods, New England College.

Last Thursday, J. Prescott started for UMF against Thomas College. He was wild high and unable to throw his breaking ball for a strike but managed to last five innings with five runs allowed, one run being a home run. W. Libby came in and pitched four scoreless innings. This is UMF's best relief stint in years, look for Libby to get the call often.

Thomas' five runs failed to hold up though as UMP peeked away at the lead until P. Feury's hitting chased in some runs in the later innings. Feury struck out with the bases loaded early in the game on a sharp curve that definitely had him fooled. Coach Sturgeon played close to the vest in the early innings until he saw first S. Eaton and then Merserve fail in sacrifice bunt attempts. Apparently, he became discouraged because he let Emerson swing away with men on first and second and nobody out. This strategy failed also when Emerson struck out on a knee high fastball. After that, Sturgeon junked the strategy and played more liberal. Alas! UMP started hitting and came away with a 2-5 victory. You have to base your strategy on your pitcher, Prescott was not extra sharp so that this would dictate a more wide open game on offense.
