Occupational Therapy Services in Postsecondary Education Settings

Marissa Eldridge
University of Southern Maine

Courtney Kromko
University of Southern Maine

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.usm.maine.edu/thinking_matters

Part of the Occupational Therapy Commons

Recommended Citation

https://digitalcommons.usm.maine.edu/thinking_matters/79

This Poster Session is brought to you for free and open access by the Student Scholarship at USM Digital Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in Thinking Matters Symposium by an authorized administrator of USM Digital Commons. For more information, please contact jessica.c.hovey@maine.edu.
Occupational Therapy Services in Postsecondary Education Settings
University of Southern Maine-Lewiston Auburn College
Courtney Kromko OTS, Marissa Eldridge OTS, Tammy Bickmore OTD, OTR/L, Sarah Grinder MOT, OTR/L, & Nancy Davis Griffin, Vice President for Enrollment Management and Student Affairs

Do college students experience improved success by participating in a university program utilizing occupational therapy services?

Transitioning into college is a complex and often difficult shift. Due to this time of transition, college students present as an at risk population. Students can benefit from occupational therapy services and its unique role in contextual influences, problem-based decision-making, and activity analysis. Through a client-centered and holistic approach, college students can be more successful in their college experience.

References available upon request at courtney.kromko@maine.edu or marissa.eldridge@maine.edu