MOCK ELECTIONS AT UMP

Students at the University of Maine in Portland may give politicians a glimpse into the future, as the polls open at UMP October 20 & 21, for a mock election.

Young Democratic and Republican leaders on campus expect that at least 75% of the more than 1,000 students will participate, and maintain that the close home-school ties of the commuting student body could provide an accurate indication of Cumberland County voting in November.

The ballot will include candidates for governor, senator and congressman only.

OUTING CLUB

The Outing Club will meet Thursday October 20 at 12:00 noon in room 300 of North Hall. The purpose of this meeting will be to elect officers and to plan the October 30 outing which will be mountain climbing in New Hampshire. If you are interested and have not attended previous meetings please come-everyone is welcome.

THE CARNEGIE TRIO

The Carnegie Trio will give a concert of classical music at Luther Bonney Auditorium at 8:15 P.M., Friday, October 21.

The program includes Trio No. 3 in E Major (K.542) by Mozart and Trio No. 2 in B Minor (Opus 97) by Beethoven.

CERCLE FRANCAIS

Reunion du cercle francois Jeudi le 27 Octobre a North Hall numero 300 a 4:00 c'est important la reunion electorale soyez la tous s'il vous plaît.
The Viking harriers chalked up first meet victory of the season last Tuesday. The team eked out their win over a stubborn St. Francis crew 34-37 (low score wins in cross country). Bryant College from Providence ran third with 56 points.

Randy Al McCann finished second to Mike Corcoran of St. Francis. Steady Jim Sproul finished 5th, Ralph Madoro 8th, Dick Gaudreau 9th, Dick Bonaventura 10th, "gutsy" Glen Cummings 14th, and "Jungle Jim" Fleming 20th.

The victory was entirely a team effort. All members pushed themselves beyond their previous efforts in order to come up with this morale-building victory. Madoro, Gaudreau and Bonaventura supplied the slim 3 points difference. All three, exhausted as they were, passed one St. Francis runner in the last 200 yards. If not for these last desperate efforts, the young Vikings would have lost.

The win raises the team's record for the season to 3-5. Our harriers travel to Waltham, Saturday to run Bentley. An effort like Tuesday's could produce a victory.

Norse - code on the intramural league: We of the UMPus sports staff hope that all of you saw the game of the season last Thursday when the Syndicate took on the Holly Rollers in a real "doozy" of a head-knockin' brawl. The Rollers squealed through on the high side of a 12-6 score, but they limped off the field just as slow as the Syndicate's footballers.

This week, The Wizard of UMP will attempt to analyze the Defenders (from the law School) and the Dubs.

The Defenders are a well-balanced combination of speed and size. Halfback Walt Julavitis and quarterback Ray Shouvenell provide the Law School with a fast, skilled backfield that can break a game open at any time. Future lawyer, Joe Ebaya leads a spirited and good sized line that takes no nonsense from any team in the league.

The Dubs, captains by Mark Eastman have to be classified as definite spoilers. They have shown that they can move the ball on the ground, but their passing attack leaves much to be desired. Tom Reynolds, their quarterback, has shown good speed and outstanding moves, but he doesn't always have the time he needs to complete a pass.

John Donovan, Skip Lawrence, and Steve Vigilio have shown good speed and can provide Reynolds with the capable receivers if he finds the time to throw.

Check the student calendar for this week's games. Outstanding games include:

Thursday - Castoffs vs Syndicate
Monday - Holly Rollers vs. Defenders.

The following have survived the first cuts of the basketball team. A further cut will be made Friday. The team will be cut to 15.

Seniors: Bowe, Frano coer, Moulton, Weatherbie.
Junior: Prescott.
Sophomores: MacDougal, Gagne, Searles.
Freshmen: Capelliutti, P_FILLMORE, Gildden, Hooper, Jackson, McKinney, Magnusson, Nahe, Maley, Parker.

The tennis tournament has progressed very slowly. Tennis Captain Mark Galbraith and ex-team mate from South Portland Craig Libby have made the semi-final round. Two quarter-final matches have yet to be played. Jock McGrath vs. Steve Murray and Bill Tolin vs. Larry Benoit.

Maine Artist Visits UMP

Mrs. Emily Muir, noted Maine artist (whose paintings are on display at Luther Bonney Hall) spoke on October 17 to Art History Students and other interested people. Mrs. Muir came on invitation of Mrs. Bearce, current head of UMP's Art Department.

A resident of Deer Isle since 1946, Mrs. Muir has carried on a number of different projects in various fields of art. When her husband was alive, they formed a traveling team painting foreign ports for a steamship line promotion.

The Muirs have the distinction of being the only non-academic team in the American Association of Colleges Besides painting, Mrs. Muir is a gifted architect and both plans and oversees the construction of private homes. She has also completed a number of mosaics.

Mrs. Muir also explained the making of mosaics and the use of space and texture in architecture. The possibility of a future humanity without a need for art was proposed. In her talk to the students, the artist spoke about art in terms of "total environment", that is, that art should play an important part in all we do and see.
First Student Senate Meeting

Sunday evening, October 16, Mark Eastman began his term as Student Senate president with a calm, "I wonder where Sue is with the treasurer's report?" This self-assured query brought the first meeting to order.

Mark welcomed all Senate members to a year of progress. The main purpose of the meeting was to elect a vice-president, corresponding secretary, and treasurer. Since a full Senate is necessary for elections, and Sue (with the treasurer's report) was absent, elections were scheduled for Wednesday afternoon, October 19.

Mark listed a transportation study, a Higher Education Program, a proposed swimming pool in the new Physical Education building, and C.E.D. I.D. cards as possible initial projects.

Further development or discussion of these projects will be noted in this column.

1966-1967 Community Concert Series

The Portland Concert Association (1966-1967) will sponsor four concerts which will be held in the Portland City Hall Auditorium.

Mrs. Files has fifteen tickets which any student may have if he wishes to attend one of the community concert series. The tickets may be picked up in Dr. Dissell's office.

The concerts are as follows:

Nov. 9, Wednesday evening, 8:15
Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra
Izler Solomon, Conductor

Jan. 10, Tuesday evening, 8:15
Zurich Chamber Orchestra
Edmond DeStouty, Conductor

Mr. 27, Monday evening, 8:15
Frank Guarerra-Baritone

April 28, Friday evening, 8:15
Whitemore and Love - Duo pianists

Unfortunately no seats are reserved; however, the doors of the Portland City Hall Auditorium will open three-quarters of an hour before each of the above concerts.

Dean Fink to Speak

On October 25, Tuesday evening at 8:00 in Russell Hall, Gorham State College Dean David R. Fink, Jr. will speak on the " Cooperative Extension Service-Its Role in Education" at the Annual meeting of Cumberland County Extension Association. All faculty members are invited to this lecture; however, anyone wishing dessert and coffee between 7:00 and 8:00 p.m., please notify the Cooperative Extension Office, Room 110, Payson Smith Hall, by Monday, October 24. The snack will cost 50¢ for each person.

There will also be an added feature-entertainment which will consist of "The Bell Ringers" from the Boys Training Center, South Portland and IFYE: 4-H Around the World.

Editorial:

We feel badly for incoming freshmen who look around UMP with a warm rosy glow inside and think, "So this is college...gosh!" If they ever visit another school and find out there's more to college than attending classes and then packing up and going home, then they're in for a real jolt.

The "powers that be" have added a few cultural events that may or may not be in agreement with student interest, and feel they have done us a real service.

A typical day in the life of a typical college student certainly is more exciting or eventful than our college day. We drive to school, attend a few lectures, eat lunch in the cafeteria, and maybe attend a couple more classes or go to the library. Those athletically minded can watch a gym class or shoot a little pool before they commute home.

The UMP student has no place to go to meet people socially. There is no general place on campus - except maybe the library, but that's hardly adequate.

So what do we have? Students who attend classes and call themselves college educated?

Editorial:

On That Varsity Football Team

The time has come for the UMPus to enter the controversy on the varsity football team for UMP. A letter to the editor and a student poll have appeared in the CAMPUS, including arguments pro and con (but mostly pro) for having a football team.

This paper wholeheartedly supports establishing a varsity team in the near future, and we plan to "go all out" to get that team. It will be advantageous to summarize the valid reasons for getting our own team.

UMP will remain little more than a "glorified high school" (in the eyes of many outsiders and even some of our own students) as long as it lacks the status and prestige of its own varsity football team. Very few universities or colleges of reasonable size, whether they are commuter schools or otherwise, do not have a team. Nothing could do more to establish school tradition and loyalty than a football team.

Even more former high school stars than we presently have would be attracted (Cont'd Page 4, Col. 1)
Joke of the Week:

An English major in her senior year of college wrote home that she was having a dreadful time getting ready for mid-term exams. It seems there was a boy who intrigued her enormously and she was trying to really "get somewhere" with him.

"But," she wrote, "it looks virtuously impossible."

if we had our own team. Therefore, lack of players, even in the upper classes, is not a valid excuse. The general public, including Maine alumni, would surely support a local college football team. Undoubtedly our team would make arrangements to use Portland Stadium and the locker facilities of the Expo, as the Orono team surely will do, if it comes down to play. We have one of the best football coaches around in our athletic director, Mr. Sullivan, and it should be easy to find assistants. The list of reasons could go on almost endlessly.

We wonder who actually is preventing us from having a team. We hope our own athletic department and the administration will support our drive for a team. That leaves only the trustees and other "forces from the north" to prevent us from having a team. We challenge these "forces" to come up with a legitimate reason why they cannot have a team, if they can find any; or if they can find none, to let us know publicly what is being done to make a team possible.

The only seemingly legitimate reason for no team is the fact that the athletic department cannot presently afford it. But if the University can get several million dollars for new buildings, parking lots, and other improvements, is a few thousand dollars for the athletic department to establish a football team really asking too much?

If we let ourselves be pacified by having the Orono team play one game here each year beginning next year, it will make it much harder to get our own team in the future. If you agree with these ideas, how about taking action! Write letters -- to us, to the Portland papers, and especially to the administration and trustees. If you really want a team, you have got to let people know it -- and know it well!
