Dear Mother-

It seems as though every letter I have written for special occasions during the past three years has expressed the hope that the next celebration of the specific day would find me at home - but this Mothers Day, I think we can happily agree, will mark the last time I follow that formula. We will celebrate the second Sunday of next years May by you picking out the bow tie for me to wear!

Happy Mothers Day, Mother - there are many happy days ahead for you and Daddy and Helen Barbara and your loving son,
Sumner
