COMMUNITY-BASED RESEARCH MINI-GRANT PROGRAM
REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS 2015-2016

FIRST ROUND DEADLINE: OCTOBER 21, 2015
SECOND ROUND DEADLINE: FEBRUARY 17, 2015*

*Applications will be accepted until all Mini-Grants have been awarded! Apply today!

The Metropolitan University Initiative will be awarding faculty mini-grants up to $5,000 to support community-based research projects, i.e., the application of knowledge through research to the solution of problems confronting today's ever changing and increasingly complex society. The mini-grant program is open to tenured and tenure-track faculty.

Proposals are invited for a wide-range of research activities. All proposals must begin with the identification of a community partner and a specific community need. Proposals must include the following characteristics:

- involves community-based research, i.e., a collaborative approach where a faculty researcher and members of an organization work together to define the problem to be examined, co-generate relevant knowledge about the problem, and execute research techniques together
- provides useful research results to our local communities
- includes activities that result in a research paper or creative work submitted for publication

EXPECTATIONS:

Grantee will be expected to:

- Attend a workshop on Community-Based Research during the fall semester.
- Design a community-based scholarship project following IRB guidelines and procedures.
- Provide a draft of the research paper or creative work to the Metropolitan University Initiative and to the community partner.

AWARD AMOUNT, USE AND GRANT PERIOD:

Mini-grants of up to $5,000 will be awarded. The grant period is one year from the date of award, but can be extended upon approval of written extension request. Typical uses of mini-grant funds include: research resources (books, journals), supplies, duplication, postage, student assistants, and/or conference travel expenses (conference must be relevant to proposal.) International travel is not allowed with mini-grant funds.

GRANT SELECTION:

Proposals will be evaluated by a panel of USM faculty and community partners on the following criteria:

- Quality – The proposed research project is scholarly, well designed and enhances the existing body of community based scholarship.
- Impact – The proposal addresses a well-defined community need with specific research outcomes.
- Viability – The proposed research project is viable for implementation in the given time period.
- Appropriate use of funds – The proposed budget supports the development of the research project.
