DEDICATION

To Miss Edna Dickey, Dean of Women and teacher of History, the class of 1958 respectfully dedicates this yearbook.

Miss Dickey, who is loved by faculty and student alike, is the ideal person to guide the women students. She is never too busy to help students who have problems, and her sympathetic understanding attracts all who have need of a "person to listen." In her daily life, Miss Dickey lives her philosophy for all to see. Her constant smile reveals the true sweetness of her "inner self".

For all these reasons, and for many more which could never be expressed in mere words, we feel most proud and humble to dedicate this yearbook to our Dean of Women. As an outgoing class, we will always hold in our hearts a very special place for Miss Edna Dickey.

DEDICATION

Mr. Charles Martin, teacher of Mathematics and Audio-visual Aids, richly deserves to share the dedication of this yearbook.

Throughout his several years at Gorham, Mr. Martin has shown a patience and understanding which have endeared him to his students. In addition to subject matter, Mr. Martin injects a bit of tried philosophy into his classes. Among the richest lessons to be learned from him is this—a sense of humor is an invaluable aid in teaching, and in life. Mr. Martin clearly shows he believes this by the unfailing humor reflected in his eyes. Thus, Mr. Martin helps us build a firm foundation for a teaching career.

In gratitude, then, for all that Mr. Martin has given to us, we the Senior class of 1958 respectfully dedicate this yearbook to him and wish him many more years of productive teaching "on the hill."

EDITOR'S FOREWORD

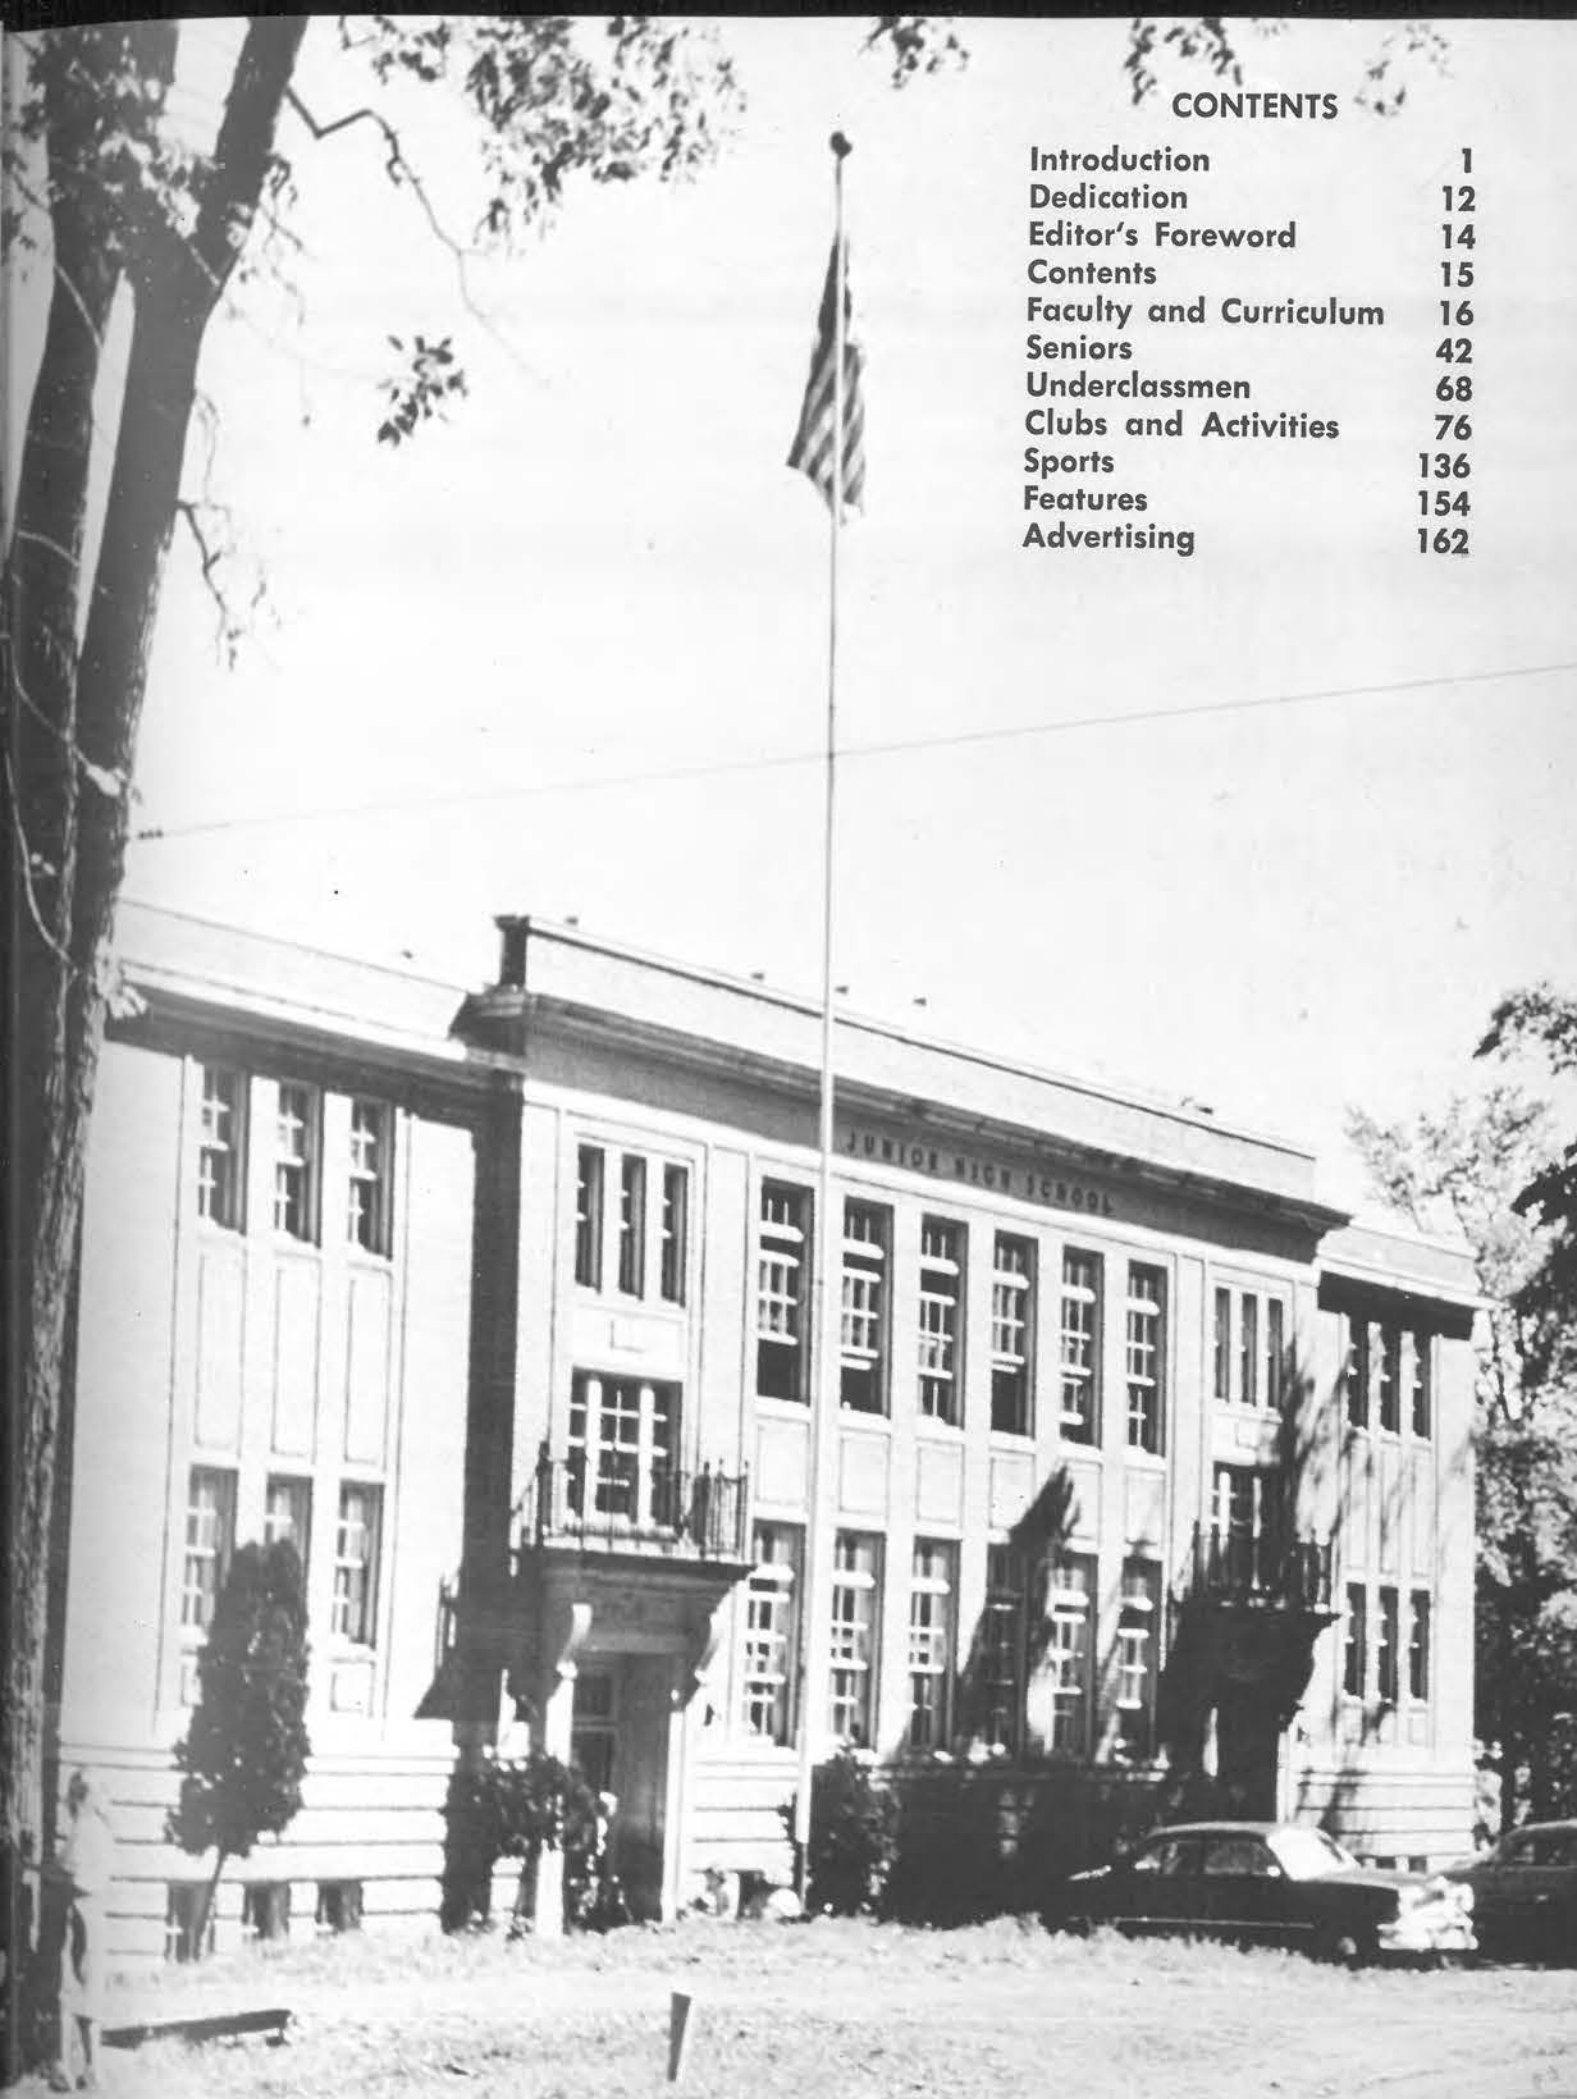

My aim in this, the thirty-eighth publication of the Gorham State Teachers College Hillcrest, is twofold. First I hope to present both in words and pictures, an accurate and complete representation of the events of the 1957-58 college year. Secondly, I wish to dedicate this yearbook to the State of Maine—its opportunities and its potentialities. In order to carry out this aim, each lead page of the various sections of the book contains a picture of one of the many new schoolhouses built somewhere in Maine during the past five years. Also the feature section is dedicated to this aim and is entitled "the challenge of Maine." It is the hope of the entire staff that this yearbook will be a remembered and respected part of each students' life.

CURRICULUM Offers GUIDANCE Through Our ADMINISTRATION

Through their efforts, we succeed.

One of the most imperative requirements of an up-and-coming college is an efficient and forward-thinking administrative staff. Gorham State Teachers College is most fortunate in possessing administrators, who within ten years plan to make this campus one of the most modern in the state. The first step in this vast plan is being realized this year with the construction of a new science building.

Heading up the executive department is our President, Dr. Francis L. Bailey who is never too busy for the students' problems—no matter how great or small.

Meeting these problems he solves them with a fairness irrespective of persons.

Assisting him is Mr. Ralph E. Duso who, during the absence of our President, so effectively took over the reins of office. In addition to his regular executive duties, Mr. Duso always finds time to make new friends among the student body. He surely deserves the admiration with which both faculty and students regard him.

Serving as "father confessor" for the Industrial Arts men is Dr. John Mitchell, Chairman of that department. Dr. Mitchell, who handles all the executive problems arising in that branch of Gorham's program, is one of the most respected members of the faculty. It is largely through his efforts that Gorham graduates the most successful Industrial Arts teachers in the state each year.

It is to these three great leaders that Gorham State Teachers College owes a large debt, for their combined ingenuity has given us many of the luxuries we now enjoy and will give us in the future an even better school of which we can be increasingly more proud.

Do you want to become a great trapeze artist with the Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey Circus? Do you want to learn how to do the "camel crawl?" Do you want to know what the world looks like when you're standing on your head? If you answer "yes" to any of these questions then you should consider the Physical Education Department.

The mens' Physical Education Department at Gorham State Teachers College has two capable teachers in Mr. Richard Costello, head coach, and Mr. Richard Wescott, assistant coach. The program includes classroom physical education instruction which consists of an introduction to the fundamental skills of gymnastics, soccer, volley ball, football, and basketball.

In addition the department offers health instruction which correlates very closely with the physical activities. The work deals with the teacher's responsibility in regard to the healthful living of the children.

In recent years the department has added Coaching and Elementary Physical Education. Aims are directed towards the administration, management, and coaching of team sports, and children from the Campus School participate in many of the activities.

Likewise, our women's Physical Education is based on these same objectives. Our two able teachers, Miss Doris Fitz and Miss Jeanette Goodwin strive to promote physical growth and development through a variety of activities which include: games, team sports, athletics, rhythms, stunts, and tumbling.

The first actual teaching experience of our four years comes during the Sophomore year when each girl is given an opportunity to teach some class from the Campus School some type of Physical Education activity. But prior to the fun must come work. Students do research on their particular grade level and work together to plan a well-rounded program for their pupils.

Programs for both Freshmen and Sophomores include a health course which deals primarily with the basic health problems which any teacher may expect to meet in any classroom.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Must be an out-of-space project!

Aside from the regular education courses here on the hill we have a very excellent course in Industrial Arts Education which benefits about sixty men a year.

Under the able administration of Dr. John Mitchell this course turns out young men capable of doing a fine job in Industrial Arts programs on the Junior High and Senior High level.

As seen from the eyes of students taking other courses, this course seems to have one major advantage and one major disadvantage. A blessing to all Industrial Arts men is the fact that they don't have to bother with leaves, ferns, and the like; but, adding to their discomfort is the fact that they are confined to classes while other students are out enjoying the elements of nature.

Along with his administrative work, Dr. Mitchell teaches Philosophy of Industrial Arts and Introduction to Teaching. Guiding so expertly in the fields of Electronics and Electricity is Mr. Albert Brown. Mr.

Brown also meets the needs of the second year Arts and Crafts students, offering a course in that area.

The Industrial Arts Staff is proud to claim a new addition this year in the person of Mr. Elwood Padham who teaches Transportation and General Shop Organization.

In charge of Woodworking is Mr. John Greer, certainly a favorite of all, who also instructs in Mechanical Drawing and Arts and Design.

Giving our men the professional training they need in Metals is Mr. Arthur Berry. Mr. Berry also teaches Graphic Arts and Arts and Crafts which is now available as an elective to all Juniors and Seniors.

With this well-qualified staff, it is little wonder that our Industrial Arts course is so popular among the men. Students in this course are exposed to the best possible training making them an asset to the state in this practical field.

They Make It Seem So Easy

Mr. Brocato and Mrs. Sawtelle

To Quote The Students . . .

"Both provide creative experience."

"Oh, If I only had talent!"

"It seems so good to be able to relax!"

"There is no wrong answer!"

"No Homework—What a blessing!"

"Helps develop appreciation and understanding."

"Finger painting . . . Messy . . . but what fun!"

"Don't teach the child; let him draw." This is the favorite motto of Mr. Brocato, himself a favorite among the students. His only required course is Principles of Art, a Sophomore "must," in which each student dabbles with the different art forms such as: water color, crayons, fingerpaints, etc. Teaching Art is an elective offered by Mr. Brocato in which each student has a chance to present the lesson which is followed by a discussion. Students are given an opportunity to put art to practical use in the home by electing a course, Interior Decorating, which gives a close examination of color and harmony.

The other capable member of our Art Staff is Mrs. Gwen Sawtelle who prepares the Freshmen for future Art courses through Art Appreciation and History which is a general study of Art, its artists, forms and products. In Integrated Handwork students learn how to handle constructive art work adaptable to the elementary grade level. An excellent background for school clubs, camp, or scout work is provided in Advanced Handicrafts, an elective that makes use of metal, leather, etc.

Thanks to Mrs. Sawtelle and Mr. Brocato, Art Courses are not only very interesting but also relaxing and offer a pleasant break between more taxing subjects. Through the efforts of Miss Miriam Andrews and Miss Helen Heel, G.S.T.C. can boast of being the first and only teachers college in the state offering such a diversified music schedule. Aside from the regular music courses such as Music Appreciation and History, and Fundamentals of Music required of all Freshmen and Sophomores; and Music Education, a "must" for all Juniors, except those taking the Junior High course; Music Majors must also take Applied Music, Vocal and Instrumental Ensemble, Vocal Techniques, Instrumental Music, Harmony, Conducting, Music Administration and Supervision, and Aesthetics.

This past year we have been fortunate in being able to expand the Music Department even more with the addition of another well-qualified instructor, Mr. Girard Chamberland, who makes his classes more interesting by bringing out the Lawrence Welk rhythm and beat in music . . . and-ah-1, 2, 3, 4.

Through courses offered by Miss Andrews, students are given an opportunity to relax and listen to some of the best in music, thus learning in an interesting way to appreciate music. The educational phase of music is put across by Miss Heel who has the students actually participate in the learning and teaching process by teaching songs to each other on the elementary level.

From the enthusiasm shown by both students and teachers in the new Music Major courses, it is sure to be a great asset to the state in helping to satisfy the great need for music educators.

CURRICULUM Offers KNOWLEDGE Through SOCIAL STUDIES

Why So Happy? Tests Aren't Fun!

Our field of social studies is wide and varied and backed by most interesting faculty members. Mr. Paul Barker adds to the enjoyment of his Sociology and Economic classes by being ever-ready with an almost unbelievable true story that he got first hand. In both of these courses a field trip (which means escaping a whole day's classes) is in the offing. His electives in Marriage and Criminology are both guaranteed to be most interesting.

Our History department is headed by Miss Esther Wood, who has a phenomenal knowledge concerning all areas of history. American History, required of all Sophomores, and Maine History, required of all Juniors, must certainly prove valuable because her electives covering History of the West, the Colonial period, and Diplomatic History are always overcrowded.

The Freshmen are first acquainted with Modern History through Miss Edna Dickey, our Dean of Women, who covers one hundred and sixty fascinating years in just eighteen short weeks and lays a good foundation for the history courses to follow. As an elective available to upper classmen, she offers an interesting study of the Bible which includes both the Old and New Testament.

We are very fortunate to have been able to add to our Social Studies Department this year, Mr. Allen Pease, whose sense of humor makes American History, required subject for the Sophomores, and American Government, a required subject for the final year, more interesting.

With our world being brought closer together all the time, a knowledge of Geography will prove imperative to all potential teachers. It is through Mr. Wensel Moberg's patient efforts that this information is conveyed. A full year course in World Geography is now required of all Sophomores and for those students who feel a greater need for more specific geographical understanding there are electives in Geography of Asia, North America, and Economic and Political Geography.

Education and Guidance—Necessities in Teaching
Standing: Miss Peabody, Miss Upton, Mr. Smith.

"So confusing!"

"Your Id is showing."

"The case is closed."

"Logical or illogical; that is the question."

"Imperative—furnishes vital knowledge for future teachers."

"Learning never ceases."

"If only statistics weren't so complicated!"

The climax of four years education at Gorham State Teachers College seems to come during the senior year when students are sent out as student teachers. Under the very capable leadership of Miss Ethelyn Upton, our Director of Student Teaching, they get their first on-the-spot preview of the satisfying life to come. With the able assistance of Miss Mildred Peabody and Mrs. Irene Dresser, these fortunate seniors have an opportunity to put to practical use all the vital knowledge they have been accumulating for the three previous years. Toward the end of the year our efficient Placement Director, Miss Evelyn Littlefield, is suddenly swamped with requests, applications, etc. that ultimately add the finishing touch to four short years at Gorham.

But prior to all this must come study—education. The first course along the lines of education is Introduction to Teaching . . . better known to all Freshmen as I.T. . . in which Miss Littlefield tries to develop a better understanding of what is ahead. The Junior year seems to be the year for education courses. Miss Peabody and Mrs. Dresser again ca-

In the Senior year comes Mr. Whitten's course, Psychology of Education, which broadens the educational viewpoint of all prospective teachers. His progressive thinking stimulates all who are exposed to it. Mr. Smith, our busy Registrar, takes time off to teach a course in Junior High Organization to all those contemplating the Junior High level.

Guiding Educational Experiences is another "must" taught by our student teaching director, Miss Upton, the semester before we go out for our student teaching.

"That's all there is to it . . .", to quote Mr. James Bowman as he finishes explaining a "simple" statistical routine to his Junior class in Evaluation and Guidance. Teachers Too Must Study

Foremost in the curriculum here at Gorham are the numerous and varied English courses, consisting of not only the regular forms of literature and grammar, but also of Composition, Theater, Dramatics, Speech and Library Science to name but a few.

Among the capable faculty members handling these subjects is Miss Marjorie Eames who so ably explains in Library Science how we can most easily derive the benefits of our library. In the library itself, whenever students are hopelessly lost in the maze of books, one can always turn to Mrs. Mercy Packard as well as Miss Eames who is steadfastly there to guide us through the stacks, helping us to obtain the information we seek.

One of the interesting sections of this phase of our education is the Improvement of Composition course taught by Mrs. Pearl Fickett, a new addition to our English department. In this elective creative writing course, coupled with basic grammar, she carefully moulds the skills of the students to bring out their own ideas in vivid word pictures. As a refresher for returning student teachers, Mrs. Fickett also offers a course in upper grade English.

Familiar around the corridors of Gorham is Miss

Elizabeth Sawyer, who offers in addition to required literature classes, three interesting elective courses. The first is Children's Literature, which stresses wide reading of books for children and provides experience in evaluation and use of materials. Another is Contemporary Literature, a study of the literature of our own times as represented by the work of significant modern writers. Next is Novel, a critical study of the novel, with emphasis on English and American novels. Another of the new faculty on the hill this year is Mr. Carter, who is fast becoming famous for his work with the Archons, the hill's dramatic club. Also, in his role of professor, he teaches stagecraft and a Freshman English course. Another of Mr. Carter's courses is Introduction to the Theater, a survey of western drama from the ancient Greeks to the present time. Emphasis is on the drama as literature but as much time as possible is devoted to histrionics and stagecraft.

To round out the list of professors of English, we have Mr. Arnold with his classes in Grammar, Composition and Literature. Besides all these he also teaches a course in Educational Dramatics. This interesting class is held in Russell Hall, where the students almost experience the life of an actor.

Mr. Smith with the final instructions.

1958! That date sounded a long way off as we drove up on this campus in the fall of 1954. But there were more immediate thoughts in our minds that first Friday. What is college going to be like? Who are my roommates going to be and are they here yet? Orientation Weekend, the first of its kind on campus, took care of most of our questions, but what a weekend that was! Hurricane Carol paid us a visit, drenching most of our plans. She shut off the electricity and soaked anyone who dared to venture outside. It was the first and last time that Robie was a co-educational dorm.

As soon as everyone had returned to the hill and classes were underway, we held our first enthusiastic class meeting, mainly to elect class officers. They were President, Bob Corbeil; Vice-president, Phil Kilburn; Secretary, Jackie Pepin; Treasurer, Nancy Carroll; and Student Council Representatives, Elaine Fraser and Dick Howard.

With this solid foundation, we began to make ourselves known to the rest of the campus. Sports, of course, was of major importance throughout the school year. We began to make our impressions in this field through Bill Obermeyer and Rodney Good playing basketball and Dale Higgins and Dick Baston playing baseball. No team is complete unless it has its cheerleaders to spur it on. To this call we were right there represented by Betty Talaricco, Jackie Pepin, Maxine Willette, Mary Ann Long and Dorothy Hamlyn. We created another first in Gorham history at the time of Winter Carnival. This large scale project was under the co-chairmanship of Sally Park. The culmination of the varied week's activities was in the crowning of Elaine Fraser as Queen of the Carnival at the Coronation Ball. This marked the first time a freshman had ever received this honor. An admirable member of her court was Jane Cormier.

In many other less significant ways our class made its voice heard. Elaine Fraser showed us some beautiful, interpretive dancing, Jan Chappell and Charlene Elliott played in the band, and many of us were initiated into the fraternities and Amicitia.

June brought to an end, a most successful first year. Another year—another feeling! No longer were we the lowest man on the totem pole. We had gained a little stature in the eyes of the upperclassmen for this year we were Sophomores.

We began the year off again by electing our class officers. Bob Corbeil remained our President, Don Rixon became Vice-president; Shirley Randall, Secretary; Bill Frizzle, Treasurer; and Dick Howard and Gary Cairns represented us in Student Council.

This was the year for the opening of the new Men's Dorm with an open house for all early in the fall. Many of the men in the class took up residence there. Bill Obermeyer became President of the new Men's House Committee. Most of the clubs on the hill were under partial Sophomore leadership. Barbara Hill was Secretary of the Dramatic Club; Sally Wentworth, Secretary of A Cappella Chorus; Nancy Carroll, President of Canterbury; Alison Libby, Secretary and Sally Park, Treasurer of Amicitia; Barbara Baker, Student Council Representative from the Newman Club and Mary Ann Long, Secretary of Outing Club. The governing body of the college, the Student Council had a new Secretary in Shirley Randall. It had been decided the previous spring that the Y.W.C.A. would be disbanded in favor of a Student Christian Association. The task of organizing this group fell chiefly into the hands of its new officers, two of whom were Sophomores—President, Norton Goddard and Vice-president Beverly Bunker. Two of the projects of the S.C.A. were the Bailey's At Home Tea headed by Beverly Bunker and the Freshman Reception under the co-chairmanship of Martitia Walker. Later on, at mid-winter, the Green and White Way was reorganized and successfully promoted by Janis Rand and Beverly Bunker.

The first big event of the year was the campaign of the mayor candidates in the late fall. At the Harvest Ball in November, Louie Nelson was awarded the cane. Two of his worthy opponents were Owen Palmer and Don Rixon. Throughout the long months before Spring, several of our classmates worked on the new Hillcrest. The format of the yearbook was improved through diligent efforts of many, especially such editors as Lenora Cash, Mary Ann Long, Barbara Hill, Bob Corbeil, and Don Christie.

Winter Carnival came again in February with the Coronation Ball arrangements being directed by Mary Ann Long and Dale Higgins. We carried our march of success one step further in Carnival competition by electing Shirley Randall as our Queen. Nanci Whitcomb added more charm to the scene as one of the court attendants. The Greeks found some Sophomore abilities, for Alpha elected John Johnson, Secretary and Andy Hopkins as Treasurer. Bill Parady became Treasurer of Phi Sig.

Sports again drew the interest of some of the men. Bill Obermeyer and Rod Good were still playing basketball, joined by Charlie Sawyer, Larry Mace, and Bob Corbeil. In the field of baseball, we again found Dick Baston, Dale Higgins, and Bill Obermeyer, with Owen Palmer added to the roster.

They were urged on to victories by three of our previous cheerleaders, Jackie Pepin, Betty Talaricco, and Dot Hamlyn. Majorettes were added that year and Barbara Hill acted as head majorette working with the band and the cheerleaders.

In the spring of that year, there was an exchange program started by the Student Council with Keene Teacher College. Nancy Carroll was our representative to Keene. Thus ended a very fast moving second year. We proved our versatility as a class, but thoughts of further accomplishments were with us as we left that June.

Upperclassmen! What a wonderful thought! The very first days of this year we had a chance to actively realize that we were Juniors. Many of the class participated in the Orientation Weekend program. This honor was advantageous in many ways for it gave some of us an early opportunity to become acquainted with the Freshmen and new students. We were sorry to find out, however, that Nancy Carroll, Louie Nelson and Russell Jack had left G.S.T.C. to complete their education elsewhere but we've gained a lost member—Bob Johnson, who had left for New Britain the year before. As usual, our first item of business was the election of class officers. This time we elected Andy Hopkins, President; Bill Frizzle, Vice-president; Shirley Randall, Secretary; and Sally Park, Treasurer. Student Council had been reorganized the previous spring so there was no representative to be elected.

This was our big year, as it seems to be for all Junior classes. Most of the clubs were under the leadership of members of our class.

The Student Council saw Shirley Randall as Vice-president, Jane Breton as Secretary and Jane Cormier as Parliamentarian. In the religious organizations, Charlie Towne and Gene Moulton were President and Vice-president, respectively, of S.C.A. Newman Club elected Claudette Morel, President and Lee Cash, Vice-president. Claudette Morel was also Regional Chairman of the Newman Clubs in New England. Canterbury Club operated with Judy Lloyd as Vice-president. Many of the organizations with academic overtones found active Junior participation such as the Industrial Arts Development conference of which Ronnie Edwards was chairman, Modern Dance Club with Judy Lloyd as President and F.T.A. functioning with Bob Corbeil as Vice-president, and Barbara Hill as Secretary.

The two musical organizations elected Juniors to key posts for the year. Bill Morrow and Jan Chappell were President and Vice-president, respectively of Band, and A Cappella nominated Charlene Elliott, President; Doug Lee, Vice-president; and Jeannie Pinkham, Secretary-Treasurer.

The Greek fraternities found essential leadership qualities among their men of our class and utilized them well. Kappa elected Bob Day, President; Gerry Belisle, Vice-president; and Bill Morrow, Treasurer. Dale Higgins became President of Alpha and Andy Hopkins, Vice-president. In Phi Sig, Ronnie Edwards was nominated President.

The women's organization comparable to the above Greeks, Amicitia, elected Sally Park, President and Alison Libby, Vice-president.

In keeping with the letters, we should note Delta Psi Omega. This national dramatic organization became strong that year with the addition of many new qualified members. To aid in its rebuilding, the officers elected were President, Barbara Hill; Vice-president, Gene Moulton; and Secretary-Treasurer, Norton Goddard. Its co-organization, the Dramatic Club elected all Junior officers. They were President, Andy Hopkins; Vice-president, Barbara Hill; Secretary, Dot Hamlyn; and Treasurer, Maddie Lucas. The governing bodies of the two dormitories were headed by several Juniors. Women's House Committee elected Shirley Randall and Sybil Stanley as President, Sally Park as Vice-president, and Jan Chappell as Treasurer. Gerry Belisle, Bob Corbeil and Ronnie Edwards served on the Men's House Committee.

We were represented in the several social clubs, also. The club especially designed for commuters elected Jo Mangino, President and June Beldon, Secretary. Outing Club nominated Mary Ann Long, Vice-president. The one publication of G.S.T.C., the Hillcrest, enlisted the able services of Barbara Baker, Mary Ann Long, and Bob Corbeil.

Sports again occupied the interest of the men. They were essentially the same ones, being cheered on by their classmates, Betty Talarico and Dot Hamlyn. The Women's Athletic Association elected Marcia Littlefield, President and Joan Crogan, Vice-president.

The social activities of the year included many from this class, also the mayor campaign saw Dick Howard and Bill Parady in competition. At the Coronation Ball, Mary Ann Long proved again that there were queens in our class by being crowned Queen of the Winter Carnival. Jane Cormier was one of her attendants. The Ball that year was directed by Beverly Bunker and Doug Lee. The student body elected Mary Ann Long, Norton Goddard, Doug Lee, and Bob Corbeil as representatives from G.S.T.C. to the New York Conference. This meant the last activity of a most hectic, but profitable year.

1958! Seniors! And that magical year seemed ages in the future back in 1954? It doesn't seem possible now that the time has passed so quickly!

But just as quickly, we Seniors became an integral part of the campus activities. Following in last year's footsteps, many of the Seniors returned early to welcome the incoming freshmen. Alas! No hurricane greeting this time.

At the first class meeting, we elected Bob Corbeil to his third term as President. His fellow workers were Vice-president, Andy Hopkins; Secretary, Sally Park; and Treasurer, June Cormier.

Student Council elected Dale Higgins, President and Doug Lee, Vice-president. These two men were seen very regularly during assemblies and chapels throughout the year.

Though this was our busiest year with professional and academic obligations, our influence was still felt. Many from the class were still active in the various clubs, especially Marcia Littlefield Murchie as President of S.E.A.M. and Jane Atkinson as Secretary of the Women's House Committee.

Our Queen candidates at the Coronation Ball were Nanci Whitcomb and Sally Park.

The biggest production of the year was the Senior Show—"Have Degree—Will Travel". The co-directors, Dale Higgins and Sally Park, were efficiently assisted by such committee workers as Brodie, Rupert Baglivo, Janet Chappell, Charlene Elliott, Mary Milliken, Mary Ann Long Hawkes, Judy Lloyd, and Brad. All members of the class participated in the very successful show.

This show was the first event of the year that indicated the nearness of the end of the last college year. Then came the signing of teaching contracts which seemed to make everything all the more final.

Senior Last Chapel—Class Banquet—Baccalaureate—Commencement—the end of a great experience—the beginning of a new one. We now bear the proud title of Alumni.

UNDERCLASSMEN

Class Advisors: Mr. Miller and Mr. Moberg.

CLASS OFFICERS

Seated: Molly Mansur, Treasurer and Ann Brown, Secretary.
Standing: Larry Bernard, Vice-president and Louis Marcucci, President.

The scholastic year of 1957-58 found the junior class one step nearer to their goal. During the previous years at Gorham, we had a great many leaders among our classmates. To keep up our good record we elected as class officers for this year Louis Marcucci as President, Larry Bernard as Vice-president, Ann Brown as Secretary, and Molly Mansur as Treasurer. Representatives to the Student Council were Douglas Lee, Vice-president, Jerry Libby, and Chester Merrifield.

In the fall the campus held the annual mayor campaign and Harvest Ball, at which time Dick Towne was named mayor of the campus. Two other juniors, Ed Sullivan and Alan Hale, were also candidates.

The Dramatic Club displayed an outstanding production of "Liliom," starring Douglas Lee and included in the cast were Beverly Billings and Ramona Jackson. Other organizations wasted no time in electing officers. The Outing Club elected Neal Bragdon as President, Jane Ifemey as Vice-president, Sylvia MacDonald as Treasurer, and Joan Morse as Secretary. Newman Club chose Pat Clancy as Vice-president, Janet O'Connell as Presiding Secretary, and Anita Mangan as Secretary. Diane Joyce was chosen President of the Canterbury Club, and Pat Clancy as President of the Commuter's Club. The S.C.A. elected Judy Morton as President and Janice Mennealy as Vice-president. Amicitia chose Ellen Liscomb President, Mari Bernardini Vice-president, and Sarah Parker, Treasurer.

Our fraternities have found capable men to carry on their work. Chester Merrifield, President of Apha Lambda Beta, was supported by Norman Gordon as Vice-president. Kappa elected Ed Sullivan Vice-president; Larry Jones, Treasurer; and Morton Strom, Secretary. Phi Sigma Pi also had its share of juniors as officers. Bill Warren was chosen President and Larry Bernard, Secretary.

Carroll Lurvey, Joe Ferri and Dick Mitch, members of the varsity basketball team, were cheered on by our spirited cheerleaders lead by Dottie Corrao, and including Jane Ifemey and Barbara Willard. On the W.A.A. council this year were Barbara Mansfield, President, and Donna Hill, Vice-president. Judy Morton was editor-in-chief of our Hillcrest. Neal Bragdon worked overtime, too, as Hillcrest photographer. Conrad Berdeen acted as President of the A Capella chorus, and Joyce Ball and Michael Casey have done a great deal to improve the Art Club on the hill.

We feel very proud of our outstanding classmates and hope that we will continue to do as well next year.

Lovebirds. Polly Maltais and Louis Marcucci.

Life at Gorham isn't all work, although it could be if given a chance. Somehow juniors, with their innate wisdom, shy away from too much work and find time in their busy schedule to relax in the lounge, to accompany each other to social functions, or to merely accompany one another.

Classes, too, are not all work, for it is here that some of our best discussions go on, both recognized and unrecognized by the teacher.

Juniors, though loaded down with work, find time to hold their heads up high and smile unconcernedly, thereby maintaining the tradition set by juniors before them. It is at members of this class that the freshmen look, and, with awe in their voices, say, "How did he ever make it? He never has to study, he must be a brain." In reality typical Jack Junior is a person who, through two years of trial and error (mostly error) has devised a plan whereby he can get the most done in the least possible time in the best manner, and then take time for social life. Almost every junior has proven the old cliché, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," as well as the slogan, "All play and no work makes Jack flunk out." Quite secure now, Jack Junior can stand and look back at the underclassmen with pity, and by his example can offer encouragement. "After all, if I can make it so can you," is his philosophy, and a good one we think.

Class Advisors: Miss Dickey and Mr. Whitten

With an eye toward the future and our thoughts focused on the new experiences that were to await us, the class of 1960 returned to college, eager to see our old friends and to meet new ones. We finally realized we were truly sophomores when we observed the puzzled expressions on the faces of the freshmen. It seemed as if it were only yesterday that we too were becoming oriented to college life.

This year, as well as last, realizing our class has many potential leaders, the sophomores provided a great deal of officer material for a variety of the clubs. This year's class officers were President, Alan MacDougal; Vice-president, Wendell McCollor; Secretary, Margaret Morrill; and Treasurer, Elizabeth Largay. Elected to the Student Council were Bruce Carlson and Harold Ware.

The sophomores joined together and gave a creditable performance in the class show. Patrick Michaud's directing was appreciated by all.

The Modern Dance Club elected Christina Fletcher as President, Linda Johnson as Vice-president, and Ann Williams as Wardrobe Mistress. The Women's Athletic Association was fortunate in having Mary Jane Spinney as Secretary, and Gail Armstrong as Treasurer. Bruce Carlson was elected librarian of the Men's Chorus; and Wayne Small held the office of President of the band, with Nancy Emery and Ruth Ingerson as band librarians. Patrick Michaud was Vice-president of the M.E.N.C., while Mrs. Marguerite Burns was chosen as secretary of that club. Christina Fletcher held the office of secretary of Amicitia, and Bob Norwood was treasurer of Phi Sigma Pi.

The officers of the dramatic club were almost all sophomores. They were President, Margaret Green; Vice-president, Roy Sanville; and treasurer, Bruce Carlson. Our class had good reason to be proud of its members who played basketball this season. Among those doing such a fine job for the school were Bruce Thomas, Jim Pouravalis, Harold Ware, Wes Winn, Cliff MacWhinney, John Griffin, and Philip Butterfield. Helping to cheer them on were Rebecca Hodgkins, Lee Maguire, Kay Leigh, and Connie Mills. Many of our classmates also played soccer. To mention a few: Alan MacDougal, Bruce Thomas, Frank Benson, Bruce Thurlow, Bruce Carlson, Herbert Flint, Clifton MacWhinney, and Edward Bowdoin.

Rayanne Burnam and Dick Foster served as officers of the S.E.A.M., along with Earlene Andy. Holding offices in the Commuter's Club were classmates Virginia Pesce as Treasurer, and Rowena Merrill as Secretary. No campus is complete without including something of the spiritual side of life. Representing us in the Newman Club were Bruce Carlson, President, and Christina Fletcher, Treasurer. In S.C.A. was Mary Foley, serving as Secretary.

We have had a busy and happy year and we hope in the years to come that we may serve in many more ways, and graduate as intelligent and well-versed people, able to take our place in life.

Bull sessions

Noisy to hectic have been our days! Fifty-seven has been a rough one for the sophomores. We fought a valiant battle, and, except for a few casualties have come through victorious. Many nights saw us sophomores struggling with soc. and physical science between card games, and fighting to keep our heads above American history between basketball games. Many a sophomore wended his weary way over to the library to do term papers and weekly reports, only to be too tired to make the stairs. What else could the poor soul do but head down the stairs to the lounge for refreshment, and to spar mentally with their peers in a good bridge game. Naturally with our experience as freshmen we know how to help run this campus and we did our share. For security's sake, many of the luckier soph's got pinned, engaged, or married. (May they rest in peace!) Others of us played the field or stayed home. Ugh! There really isn't much more to say except that there is so much to learn, and so little time to do it in. May we make the most of it!

Class Advisor, Mr. Costello

The class of 1961 entered G.S.T.C. eagerly, yet a little anxiously. The upper class advisors' hard work and friendliness made it possible for our class to get off to a good start. During Freshman weekend, get acquainted activities were the main part of the program. These were followed by Freshman Reception, where the class was formally received by the faculty.

The first class meeting was held for the purpose of electing officers. The following choices were made: President, Bruce Bell; Vice-president, Judy Simpson; Secretary, Laura Beaver; Treasurer, Linda Brown. Some weeks later the class decided to hold a dance. We chose December 13 as the date.

Our class has already begun to show its many and varied talents through the number of students who hold offices and participate in the many activities. Freshmen are filling the places left by the class of '57 in the Modern Dance Club, SCA, Canterbury Club, Newman Club, band, and all the other clubs and activities on the hill. Jerry Filmore, our talented music major, is president of the MENC. Kim Sylvester's lovely voice has already been a source of entertainment at many chapels this year. Judy Buzzel is secretary-treasurer of Canterbury Club. We also have many boys in sports. John Chase, Peter Withie, and Everett Davis represented our class in soccer, and on the basketball team are Herman Barnett, Charles Williams, John Stewart, Don Richards, and Hal Sanborn. Supporting the boys are Peggy Dickinson and Judy Shaw.

Freshman talent has also made our plays a success this year, with Nancy Sutton holding the lead in "Dark of the Moon".

We hope to make this year a successful one and hope that we can make Gorham as proud of us as we are of her.

The big date.

We freshmen were a busy class. There were so many people to get acquainted with, so much homework, and so many extra-curricular activities. But somehow we always found time for parties and bull sessions.

Of course the freshmen girls were given a big rush by the upper-class boys, but sometimes a freshman guy snared himself one of these much sought after lasses. Woe be to the gal or guy who fell for a pretty face or broad shoulders, only to find there was someone back home waiting.

Freshmen were best known to some upper-classmen through the noise we made but we just had so much zest for living that we had to burn off some of our excess energy somehow; though of course ferns and leaves did accomplish this to some extent. (Perish the thought!) The most fun in college came from our bull sessions, and from running into someone's room for something or another, and of course from dating. There were so many new people and so many new experiences, it overwhelmed us a little. We made the most of it, even though we sometimes wondered if we'd ever make it. The Senior year is still so near and yet so far away.

Well, bye now. See you fifty years from now when we are creeping around with canes, and with our hearts filled with memories of G.S.T.C.

CLUBS AND ACTIVITIES

WHERE THERE ARE CLUBS, THERE ARE ACTIVITIES

Resting between sets.

Big's and Little's.

College is not only a time for work, but also a time for enjoyment and in this section we hope to show you how Gorham students obtain a richer experience through the various organizations.

Without the activities, however, these organizations would lose some of their effectiveness. Every club has its own specialty in activities which range from mountain climbing to mending toys for children. We would like you to look at what Gorham offers for extra-curricular activities, and see for yourself that we play as well as work together. In this section, it is our aim to show the close relationship of our clubs and activities. In order to do this, we have deviated from the usual procedure of having two different sections, and are placing the activities immediately after the club which sponsors them. It is our hope that this will enable you to see how the various clubs reach the goal of including the whole student body.

The Student Christian Association is a religious organization which provides an opportunity for Protestants to meet in worship once a week. The meetings each Thursday give spiritual strength to each member and help to enrich their lives at college. Only three years old, this organization can already boast over a hundred members. These members are necessary for the many activities which are carried on by S. C. A. annually.

Each year is opened by a series of orientation events carried on by the organization. Among these are the tea at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Bailey and the Freshman Reception. Both of these events help the students to become better acquainted with the President and Mrs. Bailey, as well as the members of the faculty. Once a month, members visit the local Home for the Aged, an experience which proves satisfying to all. At Christmas time, a toy drive is carried on for the benefit of unfortunate children. Other activities are a religious emphasis week in March, a St. Patrick's Day Dance in February and the Green and White Way, a carnival that proves to be enjoyable to all who attend. The proceeds from this go to further the work of the World University Service.

Words of wisdom.

Mr. Whitten greets the freshmen

Freshman Reception! The words brought a chill to the spine of one hundred-seventy freshmen last fall as they forced back memories of crazy uncomfortable clothes, silly stunts, long rides into the country and even longer walks back and other such unpleasant-tries. This reception however, was destined to be one of their first and happiest memories of college life at Gorham State Teachers College.

Dressing formally, the students arrived about seven-thirty o'clock to hear a speech from one of the most popular members of the faculty, Mr. Maurice Whitten. He set the mood of the evening with a very appropriate speech, neither stiffly formal nor raucously informal. After Mr. Whitten's speech the freshmen filed into the gymnasium with their big sisters and brothers to formally meet the entire faculty. The line went smoothly and effectively. Within an hour the formal greeting was finished, refreshments were being served and the dance was about to start.

The credit for this, one of the most successful receptions in years, belongs to the co-chairmen, Janice Mennealy and Connie Mills. Because of their efforts, Gorham's first social event of the 1957-1958 season set a high level to be met throughout the year.

One of the nicest traditions of the orientation program on the hill is Open House at the Baileys. This event, held annually, was delayed by a few weeks this year due to Dr. Bailey's absence. However, all who went agreed that it was a very well planned and smoothly run evening. The reception line arrived fifteen minutes early and chatted among themselves until the guests began to arrive. Then for a half an hour, they were kept quite busy greeting old friends, meeting new, and generally trying to put everyone at their ease. Students acted as servers and pourers. The entertainment following the reception was put on by the faculty, with Mrs. Bailey acting as hostess. It was at this time that many of the new students got their first glimpse at the talent of our music department.

The tea was, as always, a great success and the credit for this must be given to Lucy Rugg, who with Mrs. Bailey, planned it. Each student who went left feeling a little closer to Doctor and Mrs. Bailey and the faculty as a whole.

Look out, FRANK!

This game's rigged!!

GREEN and WHITE WAY

The Green and White Way, sponsored by the S.C.A. is that organization's fund raising project for the World University Service, which provides help for students all over the world. To open the event, the group sponsored a chapel speaker, who introduced to the students the purpose of the W.U.S.

Acting as co-chairmen of this penny carnival, The Green and White Way, were Barbara Adams and Glenys Miller. It was their duty to contact all classes and organizations asking them to provide a booth at Russell Hall on that evening. To them much of the credit is due.

A prize for the most lucrative booth was given to the junior class for its breath-taking fun house. Another highlight of the evening took place at the sponge throwing booth where several faculty members took the "seat of honor" for the enjoyment of the students.

Due to the splendid cooperation of the student body and faculty this year's Green and White Way was a great success. The money was counted and we were all pleased to send a check for well over one hundred and fifty dollars to the World University Service.

Good aim comes through practice!

As in the past, the Outing Club has been one of the busiest clubs on the hill. Under the leadership of our President, Neal Bragdon, the club has planned one activity a month throughout the school year. Rounding out this year's slate of officers were: Jane Ifemy, Vice-president; Joan Morse, Secretary; and Sylvia MacDonald, Treasurer.

The first activity of the year was the annual mountain climb. Mt. Washington was the site and seventy-five weary students were the victims. It was rough climbing and no one will deny that it was fun, but it will be long remembered for its after effects.

Another big activity this year was the square dance held in October for which a professional caller was hired. It was the first of its kind held at G.S.T.C. and it proved to be very successful.

Each year the Winter Carnival proves to be one of the biggest events and this year was no exception. Activities included a torchlight parade, snow sculpturing contest, various races, and several other events. Highlighting the program was the Coronation Ball at which the queen was crowned.

Climaxing the activities of the club for the year was the annual Casco Bay cruise, where, as always, every one had a great time.

Contributing to the success of the club this year were our wonderful advisors, Mr. Costello and Mr. Moberg. Along with our advisors we also wish to express our thanks to all those faculty members who served as chaperones, thus making our activities possible.

"Do si do and away we go."

Just once during the long dreary winter does G.S.T.C. roll up her sleeves, lift up her skirts, and make merry in dead earnest. For a full week smiles, frozen feet and faces, and tired bodies are the general rule. This year Winter Carnival lasted from February sixth to the tenth. The chairmen, Janice Mennealy and David Nason, had conspired to make this year's Winter Carnival one of the most memorable, and they succeeded. The week's activities included:

"Anti-Johnson fans."

WINTER CARNIVAL

"Winner and new champion, A Cappella."

Thursday—Square Dance
Friday—Coasting Party and Game
Saturday—Snow Sculptures and Ball
Sunday—Judging of Snow Sculptures and Frat Night
Monday—Torchlight Parade followed by a dance.
Gorham's students finished the eventful week with a feeling of tired happiness that improved campus life for a few weeks.

of pace, Omega pantomimed to "Life Gets Tedious." From this the audience was transported to the boxing ring where they witnessed a boxing match between two fraternity brothers, Ed Beaudoin and George Hilton. Amicitia was also represented, valiantly acting out a Sherlock Holmes mystery. The evening was a huge success and once again the faculty and the fraternities had "done themselves proud."

"Blooming Thespians."

One of the highpoints of this year's Winter Carnival lay in the Fraternity Show which was put on Sunday night. This year, as an additional attraction, the faculty put on a show entitled "In the Good Old Nick of Time." In this endeavor, the faculty proved beyond a doubt that all the thespians in the world are not on Broadway. Kappa followed immediately with a skit called "Dangerous Dan McGrew." Then, as a change

QUEEN AND CANDIDATES

The big moment arrived. Mary Ann Long Hawkes, last year's queen, reached into the envelope for the winning name. Mari Bernardini was the new Queen! The other seven candidates smiled joyously as she stepped forward to receive her crown and beautiful red roses. Amid applause and camera flashes, Queen Mari moved from the stage to the floor to begin the grand march.

Happiness reigns supreme

Bernardini. As part of Queen Mari's duties she helped to judge the various snow sculptures, and she was mistress of ceremonies at Fraternity Night. Congratulations, Mari!

STUDENT COUNCIL

Officers: D. Lee, Vice-president; D. Higgins, President.

The Student Council functions as a governing body representing the Students of Gorham State Teachers College. In the spring of last year, revisions were made in the Council's constitution which resulted in the restriction of membership to the organization. To allow more flexibility and effective operation the group is limited to the three officers chosen by a student vote and two representatives from each class—one elected for a term of two years and the other for only a year.

Important duties of the Student Council include: maintaining an orderly chapel—done by an officer; and making wise allocations of the money which various organizations must have to operate throughout the year.

Each year the Council also has responsibilities of a more social nature. Many hours of planning and preparing are spent to successfully sponsor the two formal dances which are enjoyed by students, faculty and many alumni. At the Harvest Ball held in November the Campus Mayor is announced and in February the Winter Carnival Queen reigns at the Coronation Ball.

Gorham students can rely on their Student Council to insure democratic living on the campus and on the faculty advisors of the organization to provide wise guidance in its various undertakings.

THE MAYOR CAMPAIGN

Real Cool Cats . . . the hats prove it.

Right to Left: N. Pendleton at piano, C. Berdeen, C. Leonard, S. Fisher, J. Fuller.

Ed Sullivan chose the most evident theme, and ran as the Toast of the Town. However, a visit from some wee beasties changed his campaign slogan from "vote for the toast of the town" to "vote for the missing candidate." His managers, Conrad Berdeen and Carol Leonard certainly deserve much credit for the fine job they did in stepping in and taking over. The show which Ed put on in the dining room was entertainment-wise one of the best we've ever seen. Singers, dancers, and musicians high-lighted the evening, and everyone left feeling happy.

At chapel on Wednesday, Ed's campaign suffered another blow when our miniature friends caught up with co-manager Conrad Berdeen, and he went the way of all flu victims. A hastily revised program resulted in fun and many laughs for those on stage as well as for the audience.

A Hillcrest salute goes to Ed for a fine, fair campaign.

Even her feet are gracefull

Claudia Blackstone.

Foolishness, frivolity, and funny cracks. These three f's characterized the 1957 Mayor Campaign. The candidates for mayor this year, as chosen by the Student Council, were Ed Sullivan, supported by Kappa Delta Phi; Alan Hale, supported by Phi Sigma Pi; Leonard Clukey, supported by Alpha Lambda Beta; and Dick Towne, supported by the Commuters' Club.

THE MAYOR CAMPAIGN

Omega's candidate for mayor, Alan Hale, ran on the novel theme of "Primitive Pete." Adorned in a much mended burlap sack with a lovely red mop head on his head, "Pete" resembled a close relation of a friendly and lovable Alley Oop.

Without saying one word in his stage appearances, Pete won many followers with his matchless grunt.

Would you like to hear the "Hot Canary?"

Pat Michaud plays while Primitive listens.

He's ferocious tool

In Back: Norton Goddard.

In his speeches, however, he proved he was very civilized and his humility and pleasing personality caused many more voters to rally around the standard of the upraised club.

At Wednesday's chapel, "Pete" appeared on stage complete with an archaic harem. To the very modern words of a narrator, the audience observed the discovery of fire and the use of the first match as well as a complete demonstration on how to get rid of a rival by use of a club.

Altogether, "Pete's" campaign made for enjoyable watching, and faculty and student alike felt that it must have been a very close vote.

THE MAYOR CAMPAIGN

"Yes, Mother."

Tapping feet . . . got the beat.

Wayne Small plays while the audience relaxes.

"Oh, they call me the moonlight gambler." Never has one song been used to denote such a successful campaign. Resplendent in a black coat and pants complete with the typical string tie, Len Clukey, backed by Alpha, put on a campaign of top-notch caliber.

Wednesday's chapel skit opened with the appearance of Len's mother, who set the mood for the whole campaign. During the skit, the Moonlight Gambler displayed his dexterity with cards to the amazement of his fellow players and the audience. This began his wicked life as a gambler.

In the dining room, the audience was gratified in seeing the sequel to this most absorbing tale. Len's mother, Gail Armstrong, had reclaimed her son and was taking him home on the show boat. On the way they were interrupted in their rather one-sided discussion by a wonderful array of talent headed by Jane Ifemy and Bruce Carlson, Len's managers. Len's speeches were to the point, and he influenced many to vote his ticket. In summary I guess it's fair to say that the Moonlight Gambler gambled for office and lost . . . but not by much.

Makes for mighty fine listening.

The return of the Wild Frontier?

Marshall Matt Dillon knelt on the ground, took careful aim, and shot . . . nothing. Someone had slipped up, and the dummy hadn't made the chapel in time to be used in the skit. Undaunted, and only slightly quivering with laughter, our brave hero swept the girl into his arms and the curtain closed. Thus it was that Dick Towne, the Commuters Club's candidate for mayor, turned a pretty beaten up and well used subject into a unique performance.

Following it up quite quickly with a program in the dining room, Dick, complete with chaps, boots, and cowboy hat, presented a fine array of talent, from an Indian dancer accompanied by a tom-tom, to a refreshingly funny comedian, who stole the show.

Each time Dick stepped before his audience, dropping his adopted personality of Matt Dillon, he spoke convincingly and pleasantly about the job he would do if elected mayor. True to the tradition of the western hero, "he got what he was after," and supervised a very successful year as Gorham's chief student executive.

The mighty chief.

Frank Maguire tells an Indian tale.

Sing along with me.

Joe Richards entertains.

Dick Towne receives the traditional cane from "Seagull" Jacques.

Four fine fellows.

As the lights went down again, the new mayor performed his first official duty by leading the grand march. More dancing followed and tired but happy couples bid each other good night at the end of another very successful mayor campaign.

"Having a ball."

HARVEST BALL

After one week of solid campaigning, lots of laughs, and much entertainment, the mayor campaign came to a close with the Harvest Ball on November first. All four candidates waited rather nervously for the results of the voting. About nine-thirty the decision was announced and the new mayor, Dick Towne, stepped up to receive the traditional cane from last year's mayor, "Seagull" Jacques. Dick was undoubtedly happy, but judging from the action of the other three candidates, they were just as happy for him.

CHAPEL COMMITTEE

Of all the various organizations on the Hill, this one is the most constantly active. It is responsible for bringing two programs a week to Gorham students and faculty. The programs have, in the past, been varied and rich, thanks to the efforts of this committee. They have included everything from the head warden of a prison to the commissioner of education.

Thursdays, being set aside as religious day, the committee usually endeavors to obtain a member of the clergy as a speaker. On Tuesdays the program differs widely. At times different clubs show their talents. On other occasions faculty members show their knowledge and wisdom, and at still other times slides and movies are shown. All of Gorham must be grateful to this committee for providing them for at least a few minutes a week, with an inspiration and a thought to keep them going.

CHAPELS

Addresses given by the faculty, addresses given by visiting clergy of different faiths, and by businessmen, politicians, and men in all other walks of life.

Movies
Slides

With so widely varied a program it is impossible to avoid pleasing "some of the people all of the time". The entire student body joins with the Hillcrest in a salute to our past, present, and future speakers and in giving them our heartfelt appreciation.

Russell Hall will always be remembered as a place of enjoyment by Gorham graduates. In this hall for about eighty minutes a week, the students are exposed to knowledge, theories, and entertainment which they will never forget.

Our chapel programs this year have included—

- Concerts by the Music Majors
- Concerts by the Men's chorus
- Programs put on by the Modern Dance Club
- A Christmas play put on by the Archons

ALPHA LAMBDA BETA

Second Row: B. Carlson, C. McWhinney, P. Butterfield, W. Wynn, M. Horr, R. Peterson, R. Johnson, M. Dean, N. Bagley.

Three decades ago, Alpha Lambda Beta was founded by a group of students of Gorham Normal School to promote friendship among its members. In keeping with the history of the fraternity, this year was begun with a vigorous program to make it beneficial to its members as well as the college life as a whole.

In the sphere of activities on the Hill, Dale Higgins was elected as the president of the Student Council and Bruce Carlson was selected to lead the Newman Club. After an energetic campaign, Dick Towne was elected by the student body to be G.S.T.C.'s new mayor. Andy Hopkins was chosen by the Senior Class as Vice-President.

Alpha was well represented in the new varsity sport of soccer with Sonny Plourde, Bill Bryant, Bob Johnson, Bruce Carlson, Verdell Jones, Dick Mitch, Cliff MacWhinnie, Lee Bailey, Roland Foster and Ed Beaudoin heading the team. Dipping into the basket found Captain Bill Obermeyer, Wes Winn, Phil Butterfield, Dick Mitch, Rod Good and Cliff MacWhinnie. Around the diamond, Alpha contributed Dale Higgins, Bill Obermeyer, Dick Mitch, Wes Winn, Chet Merrifield and Roland Foster.

In the field of intramurals, Alpha combined the talents of most of its members to provide teams for flag football, volleyball, basketball and softball.

The social activities planned for the year included the annual smoker held at the fraternity house to allow new men on the campus to get acquainted with its members. This leads to the dreaded "Hell Week." Later during the year, the members will enjoy its annual banquet and the Alpha Casbah.

Under the guidance of our new faculty advisors, Mr. Wescott and Mr. Newburger, Alpha Lambda Beta will continue to strive for scholastic achievement, physical fitness and high moral character befitting to the teaching profession.

The Alpha Lambda Beta House

This is the Keene House! Here every year many of the members of Alpha Lambda Beta come to life. Although rooms in the house are not exclusively rented to Alpha members, the majority of the men who live here belong to Alpha. It is in this house that the true closeness of fraternity life is felt and appreciated the most. Much appreciation must be given to the Keene's who have made possible this opportunity for true fraternity living.

Rod, Sonny and Andy demonstrate the difficulty of the senior year.

Gorgeous George has nothing on Don!

Life in a frat house can sure be hectic, as you can plainly see by these pictures. Not only must the guys settle their own minor problems without supervision, but also they must occasionally cook their own food, ugh! Sometimes they even have to clean up after themselves! All this, however, goes toward making up the unforgettable experience which is fraternity life.

Too bad we couldn't have eaten it!

The early bird catches the worm.

So This is Frat Life!

The day begins! Alpha's president, Chester Merrifield, leaves his house for an 8:00 class. Chet is a typical fraternity man (if there is such a thing) who is enjoying a fruitful and full college experience. Chet's house is located in downtown Gorham. He lives there with his wife, Elise, whom he met at Gorham as a classmate and married last summer.

The first class of the day is always trying, but after all, that's what we're here for! Chet surely reflects by his looks as well as his actions a lively interest in learning to teach. His bright sense of humor has cheered up many of his classes for both teacher and students alike. America needs the type of well informed, interested, and cheerful teacher that Chet will be.

Oh—to be on the other side of the desk!

"The gathering of the clan."

After school at the frat house, Chet presides over an informal meeting of Alpha. Commuters, dormitory students, and members that live in the house all attend these meetings. It is through such get-togethers as this that Alpha has developed many ideas to keep her a vital and progressive force on the hill. This year Alpha's main project has been the construction of a new sign bearing the name of the college. When completed, this sign will be placed at the foot of the hill at the entrance to the college.

As the day draws to an end, Chet finds that he, like all the other college students, must face a thing called homework! From the look on his face, however, the prospect doesn't disturb him much. We will now leave Chet to his homework, his home-life, his social life, his dreams, and his ambitions, and thus ends a day in the life of a not-so-typical—typical fraternity member.

"Just another of those two hour statistic problems."

Alpha, this year is really hit hard by the loss of eight of its members. Five of these members had previously served as officers. These included Dale Higgins, President; Andy Hopkins, Vice-president; John Johnson, Secretary; and also Bob Johnson and Don Rixon. Though these men have done much to help the frat's progress in the past four years, only gladness can greet them as they attain their goals.

On May 7, 1938 the local fraternity Lambda Pi Sigma relinquished its charter and affiliated itself with the national professional educational fraternity of Kappa Delta Phi. From that time forth, excepting the era when our nation was engaged in World War II, a delegate from Iota chapter has attended the monthly business meeting at the Hotel Touraine in Boston which is the national headquarters. At this national meeting the delegate confers with the officers and representatives of the different chapters from Pittsburgh, Pa. to Fort Kent.

Iota chapter is very proud of its high national standing. At the annual convention at the Hotel Touraine we have received the Balfour Scholarship award for two consecutive years and the display award for the year of 1957.

Besides sending a delegate to the business meeting and attending the convention, Iota chapter also attends Intra-fraternity Field Day at Farmington and Keene, New Hampshire's Teachers College. A visit is also made annually to three chapters during the initiation rites.

Kappa activities on campus include the annual Kappa Kabaret, the Kappa smoker, intramural teams, participation in the fraternity night activities each week and a couples banquet.

In the spring an Alumni Day and banquet in honor of the new members are held.

Each year a large number of brothers of Kappa Delta Phi graduate to join the active teaching profession. Graduating members this year are Gerald Belisle, Percy Blaisdell, Ronell Bradbury, Donald Christie, Robert Corbeil, Lawson Hatfield, David MacGregor, Richard Milligan, William Morrow, Ian Orman and Richard Ryder.

We, who wear the Black and Gold of Kappa Delta Phi, are very proud of our fraternity, and sincerely hope we can continue to contribute much to the enrichment of college life to our members and all students on campus.

Hey, Brad, how'd you get that chair?

Music hath charms to soothe—the beasts?

As Kappa has no regular house to call its own, most of the Kappa men live in the dormitory on campus. Since this building has a very comfortable lounge, where the fraternity members can spend their spare minutes, the lack of a frat house isn't much of a drawback. Also, the small size of the dormitory prevents any loss of the close feeling prevalent in a frat house.

Four conspirators. Poor pledges!

Kappa is a frat that works together for the benefit of all the students, whether it is clearing off a skating rink, organizing a jam session, or winning special honors at New England Conventions. Aside from the hard conscientious work they do for the school, they relish an informal gathering around a guitar. Oh yes, they also enjoy the lighter side of life and never turn down a chance to fool around. Frat life is an all-around experience.

Who let the skunk in?

Looks good—what is it?

The Frat and the I. A. Department Industrial Arts has long since become an integral part of Gorham's program. Because of this each year sees more and more intelligent and capable men entering the college. As more men enter, the fraternities grow proportionately. Kappa has been seriously affected by this influx of men until now. Many of this frat's active members are enrolled in the Industrial Arts Department. Dick Milligan, the 1958 President of Kappa, is a good example of an industrious Industrial Arts fraternity man.

The curriculum in I. A. is no cinch, and it takes patience, brains, and at least a little talent to master the operation of the various and sundry machines. This course of training is surely different from that which our grandfathers would have received at Gorham, and it requires a forward-looking and ambitious teacher to keep up with the ever-changing progress of our machine-age. Dick Milligan represents not only Kappa, but all the other I. A. men in this respect.

How can I think of a caption for this?

Along with the more practical side of industrial arts, such as repairing automobiles, the I. A. department stresses a working knowledge of the age-old arts of man. In this way, each of the graduates knows something about the symmetry of, and the materials involved in making pottery. Dick, shown here at a small kiln, demonstrates one of the finished products.

"That's the kind of cooking I like!"

"Now fellows, this is a drill—or is it a jigsaw—puzzle?"

In I. A. as in the regular education courses, the high point comes in the Senior year. Here, Dick Milligan, is shown testing his learning of the past three and a half years by the greatest test of all—student teaching! A building right on the campus is set aside for this purpose. Also many of the men are sent to surrounding high schools to put their knowledge into practice.

Because of this close affinity between Industrial Arts and the Fraternities, the loss of prominent members in either is harmful to both. Dick, as an ambitious worker in Industrial Arts and as President of Kappa, will surely be missed.

Phi Sigma Pi has had forty-one years of active existence. It originated at the Central Missouri State Teachers College, Warrensburg, Missouri, on the fourteenth day of February 1916. This professional educational fraternity pledges itself to the development of high, ethical character, understanding of and skill in dealing with people, and a well organized field of knowledge.

This fraternity is founded upon the basis of high scholarship and its avowed purpose is advancing educational ideals. It is social only inasmuch as is necessary to meet the needs of close fellowship and social activity among men of like interests in teacher training institutions.

For the last four years this fraternity has been on national status. In April 1955, three representatives from Omega Nu Epsilon, formerly our local fraternity, were sent to the national convention of Phi Sigma Pi to present a petition requesting membership in the national fraternity. These representatives were accepted with full esteem and were initiated by Sigma Chapter in an evening ceremony witnessed by the national delegates. The National Charter was presented in a formal gathering held here at Gorham on May 21, 1955. This ceremony was performed by a group from Sigma Chapter, assisted by the former national president, Dr. Henry Olson of Millersville, Pennsylvania.

Activities of Phi Sigma Pi include regular professional and business meetings. In October "Freshman Acquaintance Night" was held, which was a new endeavor. A smoker and "The Mt. Washington Stomp" was also sponsored with great success. In December a talent show was planned, followed by other activities throughout the remainder of the school year, for the enjoyment of the entire campus.

The Phi Sigma Pi House

Are you going down to the house? This is a common question from the Omega men. The "house" referred to is the home of the Sawtelles on the Fort Hill road. Here, many Phi Sig men enjoy the hospitality provided by the Sawtelles as they share in the fellowship of fraternity life.

"There's nothing like a Brahms lullaby."

Throughout the campus these Omega men echo the wonderful comradeship and sense of security they have found in frat life. Each student finds time to share his interests and accomplishments with another. All benefit from the musical dexterity of certain members, and these in turn benefit from the others' talents. Omega men have a real feeling for law and order and Wyatt Earp had nothing on them. Seriously, though, frat life has made an impression on each member, and honesty and personal integrity are synonymous with the word—Omega.

"Quit cheating, Bill,—Mike's got a loaded gun!"

What's on the menu?

Life for our Phi Sigma members holds many dissimilarities even though they're all members of the same organization. Life of a commuter is varied from that of a dorm student; likewise those men that work lead a life quite different from those who don't.

To bear out the former point let's compare the activities of Paul Prescott and Ronald Edwards. Paul, who lives in Waterboro, must gather together all the books and other essentials for his classes and leave home early in the morning for his daily jaunt to the Hill. Once here, he puts what books he doesn't need in his locker and goes to classes. His spare time is spent mostly in either the library or lounge. At noon he eats his lunch in the lounge among his friends who are also commuters. When classes are over he is homeward bound to continue his studies in another atmosphere.

Studios one!!

Whether one works or not is another thing that affects a student's life. In Phi Sigma there are many students who hold jobs and many who don't.

A good example of the former is Michael Casey who works in the kitchen. Since this takes up a good portion of his time, he must budget his spare time carefully. The day starts for Mike bright and early in the morning; he must be "on the job" by 6:15 A.M. to prepare for the first meal of the day. After breakfast is over he is then free until after fourth period, at which time he must again report to the kitchen for dinner. When the noon meal is over it's back to classes again and an hour or so of free time before his thoughts must again turn to the kitchen. With the end of supper, comes the end of Mike's work day—that is as far as the kitchen goes. Time must now be found for studies.

To a non-worker, the life of a working student may sound a little hectic but once the routine is established, it becomes just another segment in the process of daily living.

To get down to brass tacks —

Meal time again —

One of the non-workers in the frat is John Powell. His day starts about an hour later than Mike's, giving him an extra hour of precious sleep. Breakfast for him is at 7:00 A.M. and it's off to class at 8:00. After classes are over John and the other men that don't have jobs find they have more time to call their own and plan as they wish. This may mean more time for studies or perhaps just bull sessions.

Although the lives of these four students are different in many respects they still have common interests—mainly G.S.T.C. and more specifically Phi Sigma Pi.

GRADUATING MEMBERS

This year Phi Sigma Pi loses seven of its members to the teaching profession. Among these seven are two past officers. They are Ronald Edwards, who is a past president, and Bill Parady, who is a past treasurer. Although the fraternity is sorry to lose these seven men, we are sure that our loss is the profession's gain, also because of the high caliber of men entering Gorham each year, we feel that the standards of our fraternity will always be upheld and that in future years we will graduate as competent men as we have this year.

Gorham State Teachers College is fortunate in having The Art Club whose purpose provides a growing interest in, and appreciation of art in its various forms.

This group meets every club period on Wednesday under the direction of Mr. Samuel Brocato who is a painter of some repute. A business meeting is held and each member may work on a project of his own choosing. Some of the more popular projects are: oil, finger, water and tempera painting, sketching, charcoal drawing, weaving, clay modeling, and silk screening.

Each year the club plans group projects for the enjoyment of the entire student body. These activities include art exhibitions, social teas, an annual hobby show, and a chapel speaker.

On the 7th of November, the club held its annual exhibition in recognition of National Art Week. Excellent paintings were placed on display previous to the event for all to admire. They were contributed by both professional and amateur artists. New members are always welcome to the Art Club.

With the addition to our faculty of Mr. Ralph Carter, as head of a new dramatic department, the old Dramatic Club voted to become the Archons, accepting Mr. Carter as their advisor. The wisdom of this decision was soon proven with the production of the first play, "Lillium." Within four weeks Mr. Carter and the Archons presented their second play, "Dark of the Moon." During the rest of the year the Archons plan to put on an Elizabethan play, and one other major production. In addition to these, the students are putting on three one act plays which will be student directed.

Many innovations have been introduced into the dramatics program. Children from the town as well as faculty members have taken parts in the various productions. Costumes have been rented. Dancing and singing have become an integral part of acting.

Under the leadership of Margaret Green as President; Roy Sanville, Vice-president; Beverly Billings, Secretary; and Bruce Carlson, Treasurer; the Archons have succeeded in supplying acting ability, managing ability, and staging ability for the productions. The whole school including faculty and students joins in welcoming most heartily Mr. Carter to our staff and in thanking him and the Archons for their delightful additions to Gorham's social entertainment life. Appreciation should also be extended to Mr. W. Arnold, who, with his fine knowledge of lighting, has added immeasurably to the mood of the productions. We wish the Archons every success in their freshly inspired dramatic endeavors.

Delta Psi Omega, the National Dramatic Honor Fraternity serves as an incentive for students interested in dramatics to increase their knowledge in this field. To become a member one must have earned a total of forty points by helping in the production of the plays which the Archons present.

Upon initiation members take a pledge to support the local dramatics club to the utmost of their talents and abilities. No part, no matter how small or great, should be turned down by any member of this fraternity.

The local chapter of Delta Psi Omega initiated ten new members last fall, electing from them the officers for the ensuing year. Elected were Beverly Billings, President; Mary Reynolds, Vice President; and Natalie McCafferty, Secretary-Treasurer.

It is the aim of this Fraternity to promote interest in the ancient and important art of self-expression, to promote better understandings of modern and ancient drama, and to provide a deeply meaningful organization through which our most interested students can find dramatic fulfillment. One of the best ways of accomplishing these aims, we believe is by working closely with the Archons, thereby making one concerted effort to further dramatics on the Hill.

Among the three religious organizations on the Hill is the Newman Club, a national organization formed for all Catholic students of non-secular colleges. The purpose of the club is to provide spiritual enrichment to its members while they are in college.

In order to accomplish this goal the members meet every other Thursday night in Robie Hall Reception room to say the Rosary. The commuters meet every other Wednesday in Mr. Moberg's room. Also included in the program are discussions, splash parties, outings, and visits to children's hospitals. The members also send delegates to state and New England conferences.

Reverend Robert Roche, Chaplain, and Mr. Richard Costello serve as advisors for this club and it is due to their constant efforts and never failing interest that the club succeeds and prospers.

The Canterbury Club is organized by and for the Episcopalian students on Campus. Its chief aim is to give the students an opportunity to develop spiritually, intellectually and socially. The Club holds its weekly meetings on Thursday evening prayer, discussions held by visiting ministers and other professional people.

Once a month the Club goes to the Trinity Church in Portland for a joint supper and evening worship service with the University of Maine at Portland and Westbrook Junior College. Also provided for us is various entertainment.

We owe a great deal to Rev. Shirley Goodwin, Rector of Trinity Church, Rev. James Whittaker, our spiritual advisor, and Mr. James Bowman, our campus advisor.

The Canterbury Club is always well represented at the State of Maine and New England Canterbury conferences. This year our President, Diane Joyce, represented our club at the Life of the Church convention held in Cambridge, Massachusetts.

Our membership is increasing rapidly, and we are looking forward to a very successful and prosperous year.

The house committee is the student governing body of Robie Hall and Andrews Hall, the two women dormitories. The formal meetings, held once a week, are advised by the Dean of Women and the Housemothers.

The committee consists of 21 members; the four officers and representatives from from each floor. The main function is to represent and serve all women residents at the college. Each representative is responsible for initiating discussion at a house committee meeting on any matter of concern to any girls from her section. In this way the interests of everyone are given careful consideration and are often adopted as part of the governing system of the dormitories.

Representatives from each section are chosen to serve one semester; after which they are eligible to serve as an officer during their junior or senior year. Among the services rendered by committee members are closing the dormitories for the night, upholding the rules and regulations, and serving on special committees, plus having charge of open house in the two dormitories and open campus.

House Committee members, realizing that a government is as good as the governing body makes it, practice fairness and democracy. By being good citizens, they promote good citizenship within the two dormitories.

September saw Woodward Hall open for its third year as an integral part of the G. S. T. C. Campus. This dormitory serves as home to ninety-six men students of the college and under our house mother, Mrs. Dunton, our lives in the Hall are spent in happiness and comfort.

The governing body of Woodward Hall consists of a House Committee of seven men—the chairman elected by the entire house, and two representatives from each of the three floors chosen by the residents of that floor. Serving in a supervisory capacity are the house mother, the dean of men, and three proctors, who keep order in the dormitory.

The house committee has two general functions—1. to improve conditions for the residents of the dormitory, and 2. to help integrate the dormitory with the rest of the Campus.

Plans have been made to open the Lounge on more numerous occasions, as it is well known that the Woodward Hall Lounge is ideal for social parties and dancing.

Another dream of the dorm has been realized in the construction of a campus parking area for resident students' cars. It is certainly evident that as Gorham expands Woodward Hall is among its leaders.

When looking for good musical entertainment at Gorham State Teachers College one need look no further than the A Cappella Chorus. This group of over one hundred singers, under the capable leadership of Miss Miriam Andrews, presents annually a Christmas program of beautiful and inspiring music. This year's program was made even more enjoyable by the participation of the Band and the Dance Club. For the third consecutive year, the singers participated in Portland's annual Christmas production of the Messiah.

In addition to their Christmas activities, the chorus furnishes several fine Chapel programs throughout the school year. They also add their voices to the beauty of the commencement exercises in the spring.

Several of the members, having more than average musical ability, are called upon to sing throughout the year at various social activities. The whole school appreciates the readiness of these people to co-operate.

Whipping up a musical program involving one hundred people is no easy job, but Miss Andrews continues to show each year her outstanding ability for arranging and putting them on. It is largely due to her efforts that we of Gorham State Teachers College can boast of a chorus unequalled in excellence throughout the state.

The purposes of the Band are to enable its members to improve themselves musically, to bring more cultural music to the college campus, and to entertain at various college functions.

Any student who plays a band instrument, has a desire to take active part in the organization and will do his or her best to try to improve it, may become a member. Our director, Mr. Girard Chamberland, is a newcomer to the faculty at G.S.T.C. He has done much toward making our organization one of which we are proud to be members.

Our first activity of the year was taking part in the torchlight parade during the mayor campaigns. This was followed by a chapel program and a Christmas concert which was held in conjunction with the A Capella Chorus and Dance Club. The Band has also added much to the basketball games by playing lively marches between games and at half time.

Much was done this year to improve our Band, such as buying uniforms, purchasing new instruments, pins or letters for each new member, and beginning a music library, which will be increased in years to come.

With the capable and willing help of Mr. Chamberland and the whole Band, a Spring and a Pops Concert are being planned. Although the Band rehearses only once a week for an hour and a half, we feel that we are having a successful year and are adding greatly to campus life.

A new club that has been established this fall is the men's chorus. This young and rapidly growing group was started by Mr. Chamberland and some enthusiastic students. It was appropriated money for song sheets which have been used to the advantage of all in a concert that was a great success.

Gorham has needed a men's chorus for sometime and now that it has attained one, it is indeed fortunate that Mr. Chamberland is here to direct it. A great deal of praise should go to him as well as the fine group itself.

Let's hope that next year the group will be double in size and stature.

September, 1957, found Amicitia beginning a new year, dedicating itself once again, as its name so suggests, to promoting friendship here on the hill.

The functions and activities of this club, composed of some forty girls, are many and varied. Meetings are held on the second and fourth Mondays of each month; one designated as a business meeting, and the other as a social get-together. As Amicitia members, we are always ready to co-operate with other campus organizations in activities which they promote, as well as sponsoring activities of our own. These include such things as dances, style shows, a Halloween party, packages sent to Pownal at Christmas, participation in the Winter Carnival festivities and in the Green and White Way, and, in late spring, an outing for the members, which in effect winds up the year's calendar.

An annual event is the Amicitia tea which precedes the initiation of new members, both freshmen and sophomores. Following not too long afterward is initiation week itself, terminating in an evening's ritual known as "Hell Night." Many an initiate who feels that she will never survive this ordeal finds, nevertheless, that she is still around and able to enjoy the banquet and final formal initiation that makes her an official Amicitian.

This year we consider ourselves fortunate in having Mrs. Duntun as our advisor. We wish to thank her for all she has done on our behalf and hope that she will continue as part of us in the future.

The main objective of the Commuters Club is to bring the commuters together and give them the opportunity to participate in campus projects and to enter into the college social life. In October the commuters and their friends piled into cars and joyfully set out for a local bowling alley for a very successful bowling party. This served as an "ice-breaker" and a welcome to the new members.

Our annual spaghetti supper is an event not only anticipated by the club but by students and faculty members. The purpose of the supper is to raise money for the Gorham-Farmington pre-game banquet which we sponsor.

The commuters showed how important a part they play in Gorham life this fall when they backed Dick Towne for mayor. Students gathered in different homes making posters and putting their heads together to get unusual ideas for the campaign.

Skating parties, splash parties, bowling parties, hay rides and lounge get-togethers are on the program for the club members. Our faculty advisors, Mr. Charles Martin and Mr. Robert Miller, provide many ideas. We owe them a great deal of thanks for their interest in our club.

The Industrial Arts Council is unique in both its organization and purpose. It is composed of two elected members from each class and two faculty members. In addition to clearing up departmental problems, it seeks to develop a closer understanding and relationship on campus between the Industrial Arts and the regular Education departments.

In order to fulfill their objectives this year the Industrial Art Council is planning a series of slides and tape recordings suitable for assemblies which emphasize the influence of the teaching team and the community on the growth of the child, a series of displays in the college library, an open house of one or two shops while they are in operation and an open house discussion of the "team" idea by a panel of students. Besides its two main objectives, the council hopes to develop greater efficiency within the industrial arts program, to improve student-instructor relationships, and to help devise means of providing better maintenance and facilities for the industrial arts program.

Only two years old, the Industrial Arts Council has already proven its value to both students and faculty alike. It is our hope that in future years we will be able to be of increasing service to the college.

VARSITY "G" CLUB

Made up entirely of upperclassmen who have received their varsity letter, the Varsity "G" Club forms a sort of "honor fraternity" in sports. However, it is not an "honor fraternity" in the usual sense of the word for it does carry on many important activities during the year.

It sponsors the entire college intramural sports program consisting of soccer, softball, flag football, and basketball and holds a banquet in the spring for the athletes of inter-collegiate sports.

Fixing their sights on a better, more rounded sports program, this club hopes in the future to be able to offer athletic scholarships and enlarge both the intramural and varsity programs. Working closely with Coach Richard Costello, their goals may not take too long to accomplish, and Gorham may soon achieve an athletic status comparable to other colleges in the state.

As this issue of the Hillcrest goes to press, the members of the N. A. T. A. are all working hard to raise the money needed for their spring trip. The trip will last a week and will cover many interesting places such as Fort Ticonderoga, General Electric, Niagara Falls, the Baseball Hall of Fame, West Point, Bowing Glass Works, Sturbridge Village and many others.

Last year's trip, although somewhat shorter, was very educational, exciting and a lot of fun. It left all of us very tired but very happy. This year's trip promises to hold even more in store.

The N. A. T. A. has no officers, rather volunteer committees, and all money raising projects are accomplished through group effort. Some of these projects are weekly fudge sales, Christmas wreath sales, cider and doughnut sales, ticket sales for movies at the local theater and for dances, and many other good ideas proposed by members of the club. The help of all members in these projects is greatly appreciated as the charge for the bus alone is expected to be at least eight hundred dollars. This year the members have proved themselves to be not only very willing helpers but also very able.

We also appreciate the support given us by the students, the faculty, and the Gorham merchants. Besides these people we also owe a great debt to Mr. Robert Miller and Mr. Wensel Moberg, our faculty advisors and chaperones of the trip, for their generous contributions of time and effort in order to make this trip possible.

And so, to all N.A.T.A. members we wish good luck and bon voyage!

In retrospect, it is surprising and very gratifying to see the strides that the Modern Dance Club has made since its inception at Gorham three years ago. This past fall some twenty-seven girls turned out, each of whom has exhibited talent and a willingness to work.

The purposes of the Dance Club are mainly: to strive to develop in its members a feeling of grace and poise, to educate in dance technique and composition, to provide opportunity for program planning, to develop a sensitivity to rhythm, and to improve choreography.

A typical work session begins with perfection of technique, so necessary for successful dancing. Then comes, perhaps, some interpretive movement, followed by concentrated practice on a specific routine.

The club was kept busy this season not only in preparation for the annual chapel program, but also for the special number presented at the Christmas Concert, and the several performances given off campus for various civic and social groups.

This year a new honor came our way in the form of recognition by the W.A.A. Henceforth, twenty-five points a semester will be granted each girl, applicable toward her W.A.A. awards. This comes in addition to the academic credit already given our members by the administration of the college.

We owe a great deal to Miss Jeanette L. Goodwin, for it is only through her interest and guidance that the furthering of the purposes and ideals of the Modern Dance Club is made possible. We sincerely appreciate all her time and effort on our behalf.

The Gorham student chapter of the Music Educator's National Conference, an organization for students majoring in music education, has completed its first year on the hill.

This is the second year the music education course has been available for students who wish to specialize in teaching music in the elementary and secondary schools. Among the purposes of M.E.N.C. are the following: to make available to members opportunities for professional development; to acquaint students with the privileges and responsibilities of the music education profession; to provide members with opportunities to become acquainted with leaders in music education as gained from participation in programs and demonstrations, discussions, and performing groups planned by this chapter; to assist the school in various projects throughout the year; and to provide opportunities for contacts with the M.E.N.C. students of other schools.

It is the desire to deepen the bonds of friendship and understanding between those of us who are seeking to become professional musicians; to broaden our outlook in the world of music activity; to increase our interest and knowledge in the branches of music education; and to aid in our preparation as professional musicians, to the end that we may make a worthy contribution to life in our time through music. The regularly scheduled meetings are held the first Monday evening of each month. These meetings are usually held in faculty and student homes. Frequently guest speakers and artists are invited to perform.

One of the littlest known, but busiest organizations on the Hill is the Hillcrest Staff. Meeting its first deadline early in October, the staff works constantly all year long to compile a yearbook acceptable to faculty and student alike.

Many long hours were spent this year over hot typewriters, blurry layout pages, and film developing apparatus. The heads of the various sections; Dotty McKenny, Faculty Editor; Joan Morse, Curriculum Editor; Barbara Burgess, Senior Editor; Carol Libby, Underclassman Editor; Betsy McCullough and Doris Bray, Clubs and Activities Editors; Donna Hill, and Jo Jacobs, Women's Sports Editors; Tom Bray, Men's Sports Editor; Diane Joyce, Feature Editor; and Janice Mennealy, Advertising Editor, all did their parts and more toward meeting the deadlines of the book. The staff will never be able to thank Neal Bragdon, Photographic Editor, enough for his untiring pleasantness and conscientiousness in taking and developing this year's pictures. Louis Thompson Assistant Photographic Editor, was also a valuable aid to the book. The most important member of the staff is our Editor, Judith Morton, who has worked patiently with the whole staff. Due to the skillful guidance of the faculty advisors Mr. Albert Brown and Mr. Elwood Padham, the staff found its job easier and more enjoyable.

This summary would not be complete without saying a thanks to the many students who gave a helping hand by doing a write-up, collecting ads, etc. All of these little jobs helped towards making a successful yearbook.

The name of the future teacher organization has been changed this year to the Gorham Student Education Association of Maine in honor of Walter E. Russell formerly Walter E. Russell Chapter of Future Teachers of America. Still the largest organization on the hill, it is also the largest chapter in the state. Its chief aim is to acquaint the members with the professional aspects of teaching through meetings, conferences, and conventions with the Maine Teachers Association, National Education Association, and the Student Education Association of Maine. The chapter meetings are held twice a month; the first is a business meeting and the second, a program meeting, including speakers, movies, and discussion groups. However, there is a social side; parties, teas, and dances are included, especially this year as the Gorham SEA entertained all the other state SEA chapters during teachers convention. An annual event is a movie-dance program during Freshman orientation week-end. However, the most gratifying activity is helping to organize FTA clubs in the high schools.

This organization is expanding as is the teaching profession. It is up to the individual to better himself for his coming position. Policies, business, and management are woven into the SEA program by Mildred Peabody, advisor. The chapter owes her a great deal in helping this organization achieve the position it now holds on local, state, and national levels.

"Away we go!" This is an excellent cry for the busy waitresses and waiters, for it seems they never stop to take a breather. Between the rattling and clattering of dishes and food coming at them from all angles, the waitresses and waiters serve all dormitory students in the dining room in Andrew Hall. Our hats certainly go off to this fine group who always have smiles on their faces and a dish of food in the hand for all.

WORKERS

"Workers, pick up your checks in the office." This familiar announcement is heard every quarter and over one fourth of the students at Gorham give contented and relieved sighs. This short but extremely important statement given by Mrs. Gross, the matron, who is in charge of the workers, is indeed very important in the average student's life at school. It means that many are able to continue school, financially.

Gorham offers various jobs for the students in which the State helps to pay part of the students fees in exchange for working. In the downstairs, the necessary work is accomplished by the students with little outside supervision. This section is added in hopes that you will get a glimpse at some of these jobs, and we hope that you see how important working is for the students. Everyone works together here and many true friendships are formed from working with each other. No requirements are necessary for the job. All that is necessary is a need to work plus a willing spirit. Join us while we take a close look at the happy group known as "the workers."

The group that is hardly ever seen, but without whom we would certainly starve, is the kitchen gang. These industrious students help the cooks prepare the food and then serve it for the waitresses and waiters to take into the dining room. A happy bunch with many surprises and laughs in store for all who enter the kitchen. We certainly appreciate and admire this great group!

If you ever complain about washing dishes for five or so you will certainly be quiet when you see the dishes these dishroom girls clean. It seems as though there is no end. These girls however, have everything under control, and before you know it they have completed their job. Not only are they an essential part of the dining room, but it seems there isn't a nicer group anywhere.

The clean and sparkling dormitories are due to these corridor girls. It is their job to dust, sweep, and wash a section of the dormitory assigned to them by Mrs. Gross. They are paid on an hourly basis. Up at the crack of dawn, these girls are busy at their various jobs. A great deal of appreciation and thanks should go to these "busy beavers". The appearance of the dormitories depends on their efficient work.

The library crew should also be given much praise for their fine work. They assist the librarians in Corthell library with much competence. For their efforts, they are paid on an hourly basis. These girls are courteous and efficient and spend many hours straightening the files and placing books on the shelves. It is always a pleasure to receive the efficient service of these girls.

SOCCKER

The year 1957 brought a new varsity sport to our campus. Inter-collegiate soccer began early in the fall with a squad of twenty. Under the able coaching of Mr. Costello and Mr. Wescott, Gorham unofficially opened the season against St. Francis College and chalked up its first victory.

The official opening of the soccer season found Gorham face to face with Plymouth. Although this game resulted in a 2 to 1 decision against Gorham, it enabled the Hilltoppers to detect many improvable flaws.

Gorham realized its full potential when the team was able to tie Rhode Island College of Education 1 to 1 in double overtime. Only eleven members of the squad were able to make this trip because six men were ill with influenza. The morale of the team reached its low point after Lyndon defeated Gorham 9 to 1.

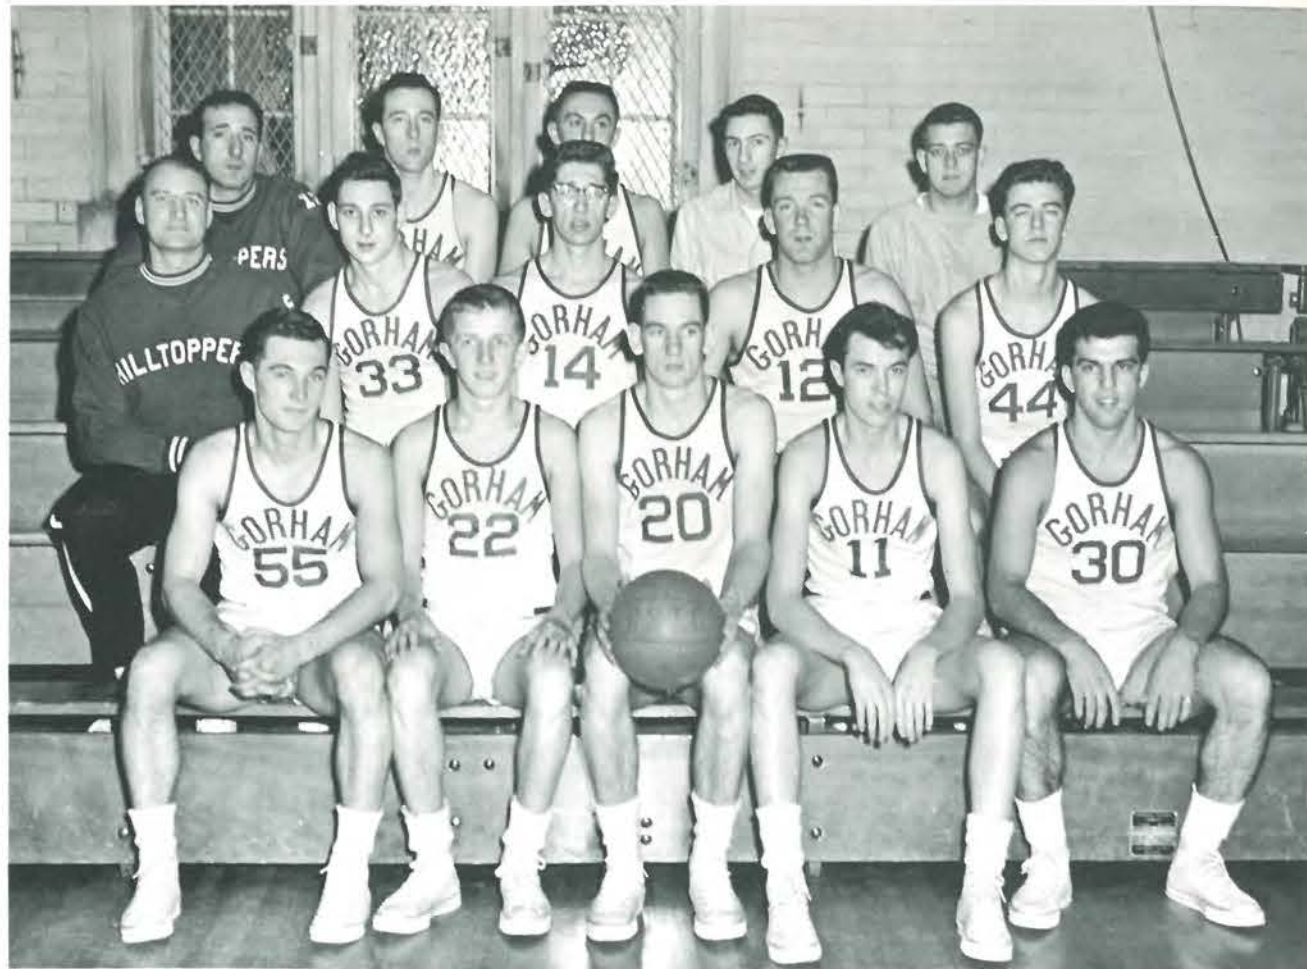

For its first year the Gorham squad showed considerable ability. Next year Gorham fans may look forward to a promising season. The inroad of graduation will still leave fifteen lettermen available for the 1958 campaign.

VARSITY BASKETBALL 1957-58

Under the splendid direction of Coach Dick Costello and his assistant Dick Wescott, the Gorham varsity basketball team experienced a successful season.

As a member of the New England Teachers College Conference they compiled an impressive record of 14 wins and 5 losses. This record enabled them to take fourth place in the conference standings. For the second year in a row, Gorham was represented at the conference tournament held in Boston. Loss of three key men in the late stages of the game was an important factor in the elimination of the Hilltoppers in the semi-finals by a strong Salem Teachers team 77 to 71.

Bill Obermeyer of Lewiston filled the center position and managed to consistently hold his own in rebounding against taller men. The forward slots were filled by Carroll Lurvey of Bar Harbor and Phil Butterfield of Westbrook. John Griffin of Lubec worked in the back court with Joe Ferri of Gray. John was the scoring leader of the club with an average of 17.9 points per game. Joe Ferri admirably filled a gap created by the induction into the army of Joe Connolly, a key man last year. A team is only as strong as its bench, and Jim Pouravelis, Rodney Good, Hal Ware, and Cliff MacWhinnie were ready at any time to give the starting five a rest or to take up the slack when necessary. The varsity squad was rounded out by Larry Mace, Dick Mitch, Wes Winn, and Herm Barnett.

An outstanding game for Gorham was the 92 to 90 loss to New Britain, the eventual conference champions. The 83 to 82 defeat by Bridgewater in overtime was an exciting game that was not decided until the last three seconds of play.

BASEBALL

The outlook for the '58 baseball season appears to be very bright. Missing from this year's line-up will be Ralph Berry, John Pecorarro, and Fern Masse, who were lost through graduation. Masse, captain of last year's nine, suffered a broken ankle, incurred during a practice game with Bates College, and was out for the remainder of the season. Our entire mound staff has returned for this season. This, combined with a sound catching unit and a veteran infield, should produce a very capable club.

The biggest problem appears to be in filling outfield vacancies, but with Chet Merrifield back in centerfield this problem does not appear too difficult to solve.

Under the guidance provided by Mr. Richard Costello (head coach) and his assistant coach, Mr. Richard Wescott, this year's Gorham nine should be a very formidable one. Mr. Wescott came to Gorham from Rochester, N. H., where he coached basketball and baseball at Spaulding High School.

Champions! B. Mansfield and J. Fillmore.

TENNIS

The Men's Athletic Association sponsored a doubles tennis tournament last fall which proved to be quite successful. Among the finalists were Chet Merrifield and Mervyn Bronson, Mr. Chamberland and Mr. Neuberger, and Barbara Mansfield and Jerry Fillmore. It was a battle right to the finish for the three teams with Barb Mansfield and Jerry Fillmore winning out over Mr. Chamberland and Mr. Neuberger. We hope that we shall be able to sponsor another tournament in the future for more participants to enjoy. Tennis is rapidly becoming a very popular sport on the hill.

VOLLEYBALL

The volleyball tournament was made up of six teams fighting for the championship. It was won by the Alpha Aces for the second year in a row. Members of the Alpha team were as follows: Roland Foster, Chet Merrifield, Phil Butterfield, Bill Obermeyer, Verdell Jones, Norm Gordon, Sonny Plourde, and Wes Winn.

SOFTBALL

In the fall a round robin tournament was held in intramural softball with five teams entered in the competition. Connolly's Comets won the tournament with a record of four victories and no defeats. The score of the final game between the Comets and Kappa was 16 to 12. Members of the winning team were Joe Connolly, Ed Hammond, Sonny Plourde, Verdell Jones, Roland Foster, Dick Mitch, Ed Grady, Norm Gordon, Chet Merrifield, Louis Marcucci, Joe Ferri, and Bruce Libby. Other teams were Phi Sigma Pi, Kappa, Commuters, and Ware's Jabonies.

FLAG FOOTBALL

This year there was considerable enthusiasm for intramural flag football. There were four teams entered in the league with the following names: The Black Angels, Maulers, The Black Raiders, and The Rock Islanders. The Black Angels won the championship by edging the Rock Islanders in the deciding game by a score of 21 to 20. Members of the winning team were Coach Roland Foster, Captain Joe Ferri, Verdell Jones, Sonny Plourde, Everett Davis, Phil Withee, Norm Gordon, Ed Hammond, Wes Winn, Jim Pouravelis, Dick Mitch, and Bob Hearne.

First Row: R. Hearn, V. Jones, N. Gordon, S. Plourde.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

The intramural basketball tournament consisted of ten teams engaged in a spirited duel for the title. This necessitated the formation of two separate leagues. The championship was determined by having the top teams of each league participate in a double elimination playoff. The four teams that played in the finals were the Yankees, Alpha Aces, Decrepitators, and the Firehouse Five.

THE CHALLENGE OF MAINE

FROM THIS

TO THIS

From the rockbound coasts to the sunny beaches, from the northern-most farm lands to the bustling cities, Maine cries out to be fulfilled. Beckoning modern civilization onward, her rich farm lands, her beautiful scenery, her unexplored and untapped resources all provide opportunities for the young and adventurous spirit. This is Maine today—a state unique in her potential, lavish in her opportunities. Begging to be wrestled with, to be conquered and settled, she is America's last frontier. Her question rings clear, reverberating through the woods and over crystal waters, appealing to both old and young alike, now and in years to come. When will the citizens of Maine realize her destiny? Who will claim her promise in the future? This is the Challenge of Maine—a challenge we believe can best be answered through the medium of education. Maine has seen rapid improvement in the field of education recently, for in a short fifty years she has progressed . . .

TO THIS

Equipped by God and nature with lovely forests, beautiful lakes, and rich farm lands, Maine stands head and shoulders above most states. The abundance of water power, the diversity of minerals, the wide stretches of unsettled land all combine to make her the most potentially rich state in the union. Gazing at the grandeur of the mountains, wide reaches of the sea, great sweeps of white, sandy beach and dark, lush forests filled with many species of game, one can easily see why Maine is an incomparable vacation-land.

In past years waste of these precious commodities has been prevalent and wide spread. Today, however, thanks to modern educational processes, our forests, beauty spots, and other natural resources are beginning to change . . .

FROM THIS

Once upon a time, Maine was an industrial state to be reckoned with by all other states. A large portion of the nation's textile and textile machinery making industries were situated within her boundaries. In recent years, however, economic ignorance and disregard for progress have caused many of our industries to be closed—leaving behind many jobless men and women. In a state like this one, seemingly ready made for industrial purposes, it is a shame; perhaps even a sin, to ignore our industrial potential. Thus, intelligent men from all over the state, fortified with good educations, are attempting to reintroduce industry to the state of Maine. This experiment can progress as far as we, the citizens of Maine, allow it. How far will we back our state? How much do we believe in her? That is Maine's challenge! The future is ours to shape and mold. We can progress — we are progressing.
