Class Ode

*There are tender thoughts in mem'ry
Traced there by the schooldays past;
And those sacred recollections
Through all coming time shall last.
For we've made friends staunch and loyal
In the dear days just gone by;
And we'll keep their love unchanging
In the future drawing nigh.*

*Now we leave the paths of school life
For our broader, untried way—
Leave our teachers and our schoolmates,
Who've grown dearer day by day.
Now with eager eyes we're searching
What the future holds in store;
Yet we fain would live these school days,
Happy school days, o'er once more.*

*May the God who guards the future
Teach us all this truth to see:—
“Attempting naught but to accomplish”
Brings our toil to victory.
So may we, with each new morning,
Eager for the task in view,
In our striving, self-forgetting,
Nobler work for others do.*
