Dedication

We, the class of 1965, offer this issue of the HILLCREST in deep gratitude to Mrs. Dorothea Dunton, House Director extraordinary of the new men's dormitory.

Since her arrival on campus in 1955, when she became house director of Woodward Hall, "Mother" Dunton has endeared herself to increasing numbers of college students. While the new men's dormitory was still under construction, Mother Dunton's close interest in the men living in Woodward Hall led them to an unprecedented if unsuccessful gesture of loyalty — they tried to name the new building "Dunton Hall."

As an advisor to Amicitia, Mrs. Dunton gave such fresh impetus to every girl in that organization that its spirit was completely revitalized. Long after we have left the Hilltop our memories of her will still be green. We are better persons for having known Dorothea Dunton, whether for a day or a year. Her heart is bigger than Woodward and the land around it. In the richest sense of that sometimes empty word she is an unforgettable "housemother."

Appreciation

With the close of our final year at Gorham State Teachers College, the class of 1965 wishes to offer our sincere thanks for the advice, patience, and cooperation of our class advisors, Miss Evelyn Littlefield and Mr. Maurice Whitten.

Miss Littlefield has been close to us right from first semester, when she inspired us with her philosophy that "teaching is lighting a lamp — not filling a bucket." Since then, her diligence and perseverance as class advisor has been augmented by her interest and work with the Student Senate and the E.S.A.T.E. Nor is her energy waning now, while she considers the individual carefully to secure a satisfactory teaching position for him.

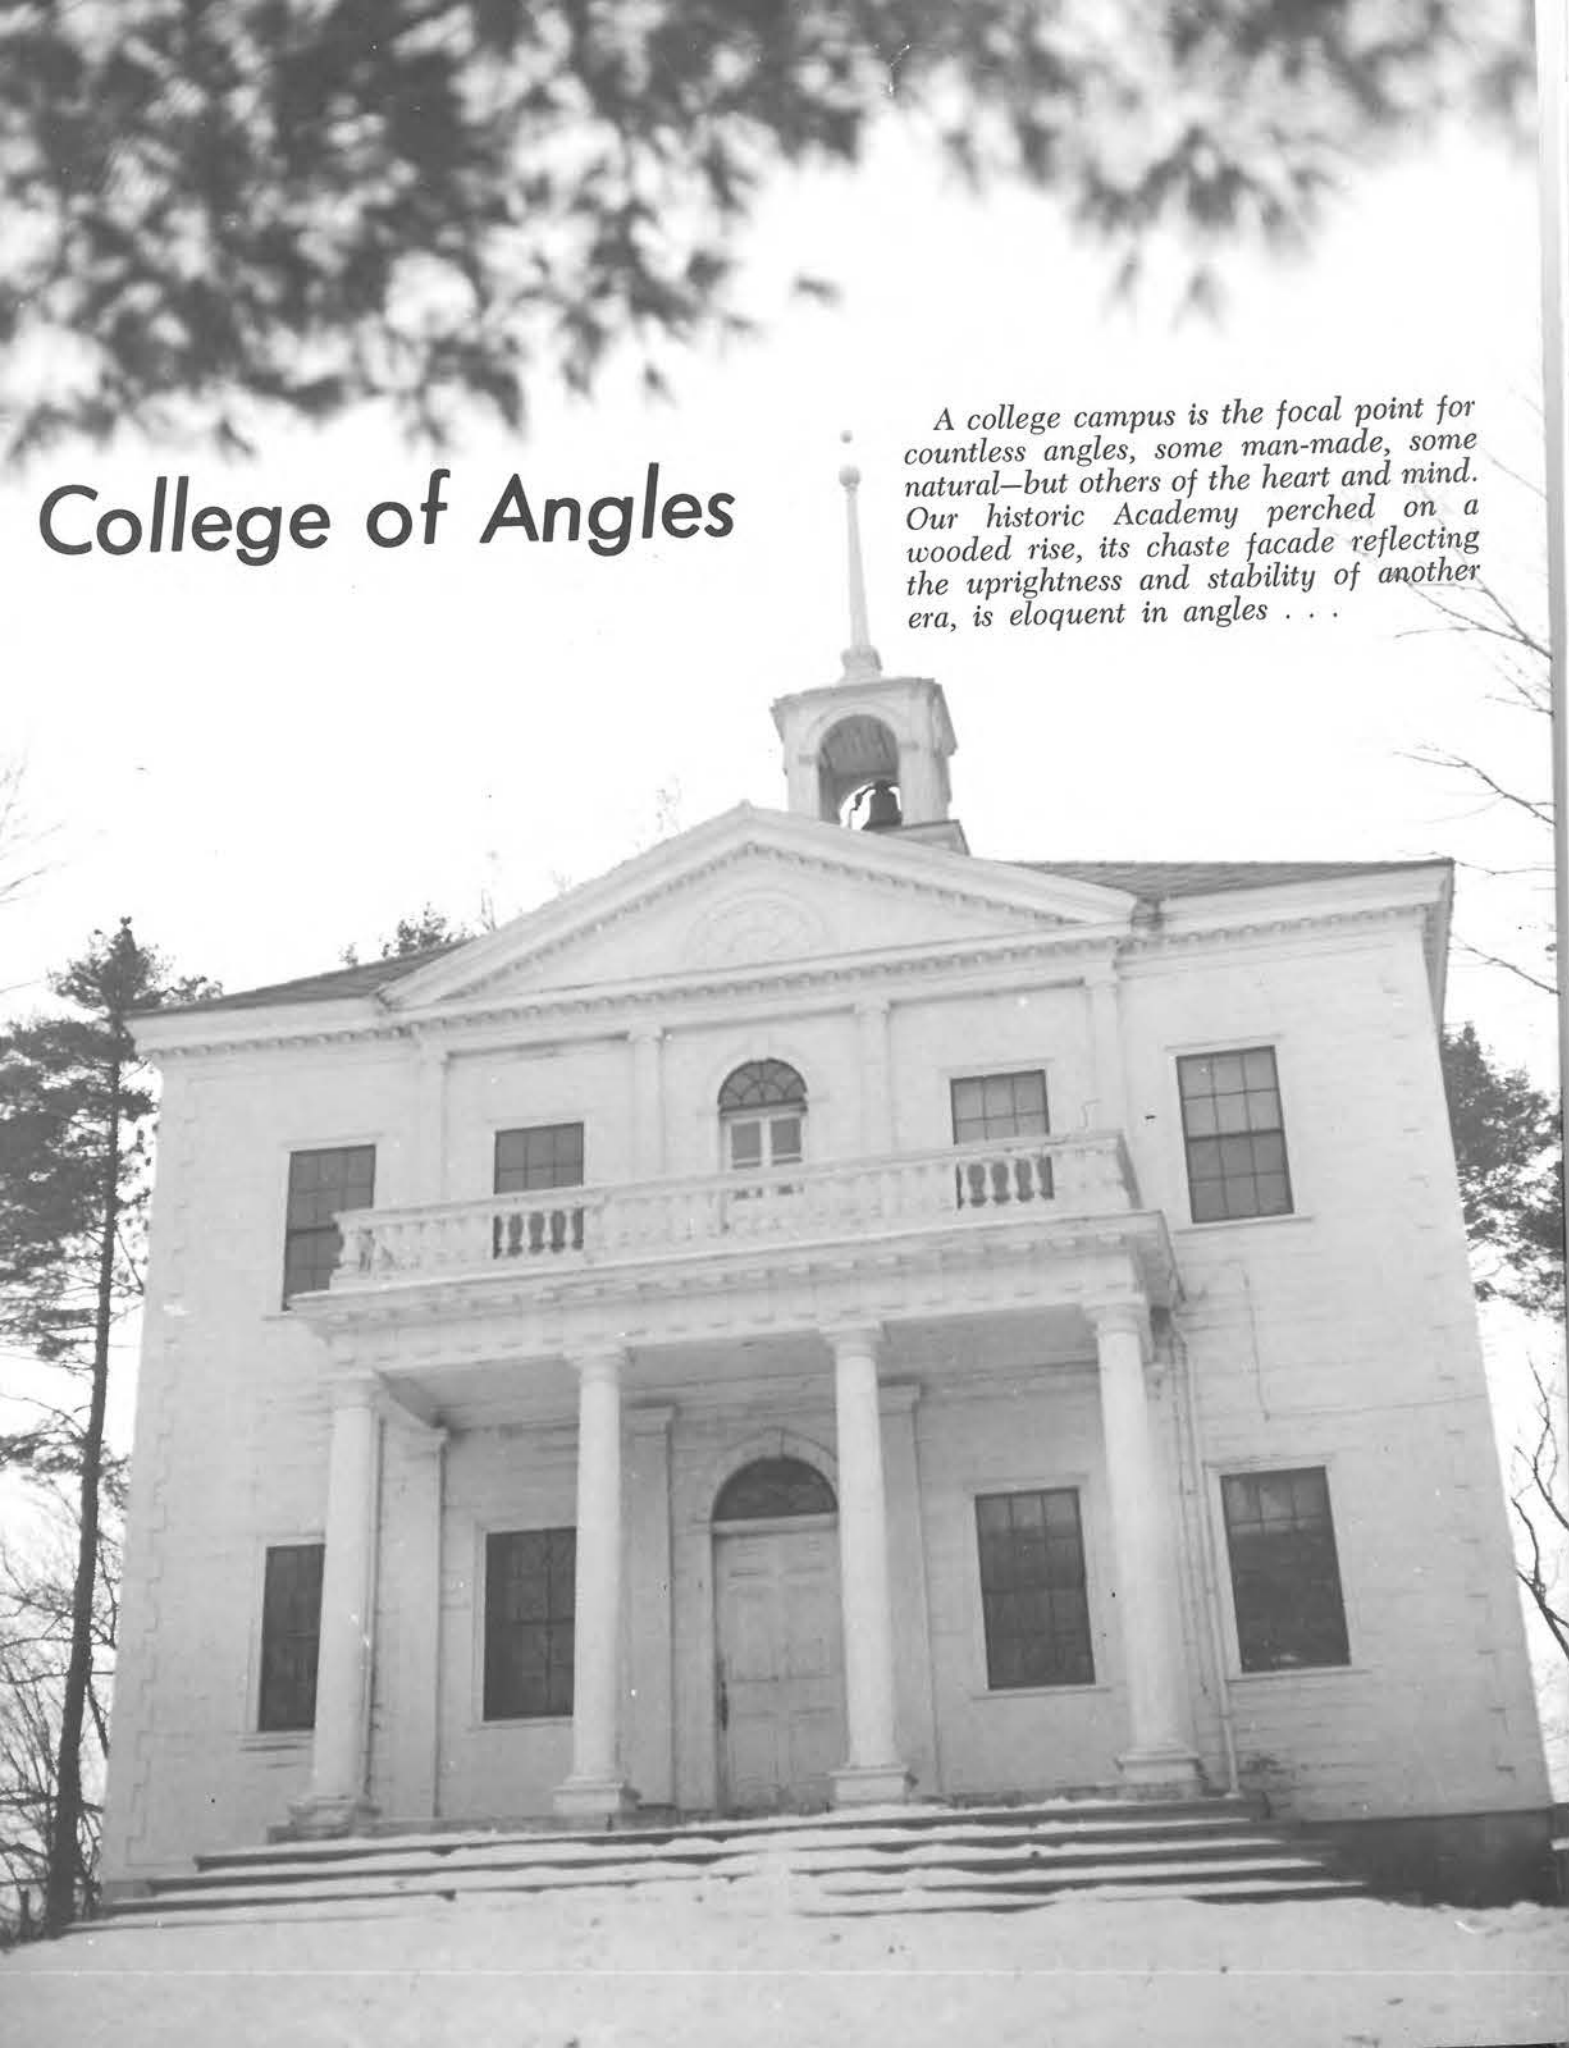

The student who has encountered Mr. Whitten in a chemistry or physical science class knows the interest a subtle spark of humor can generate, and faced with the need for a second advisor for his senior year, finds Mr. Whitten the obvious choice. His calming influence means a great deal to us who are caught up in the hectic life of a senior.

To both of you . . . many thanks.

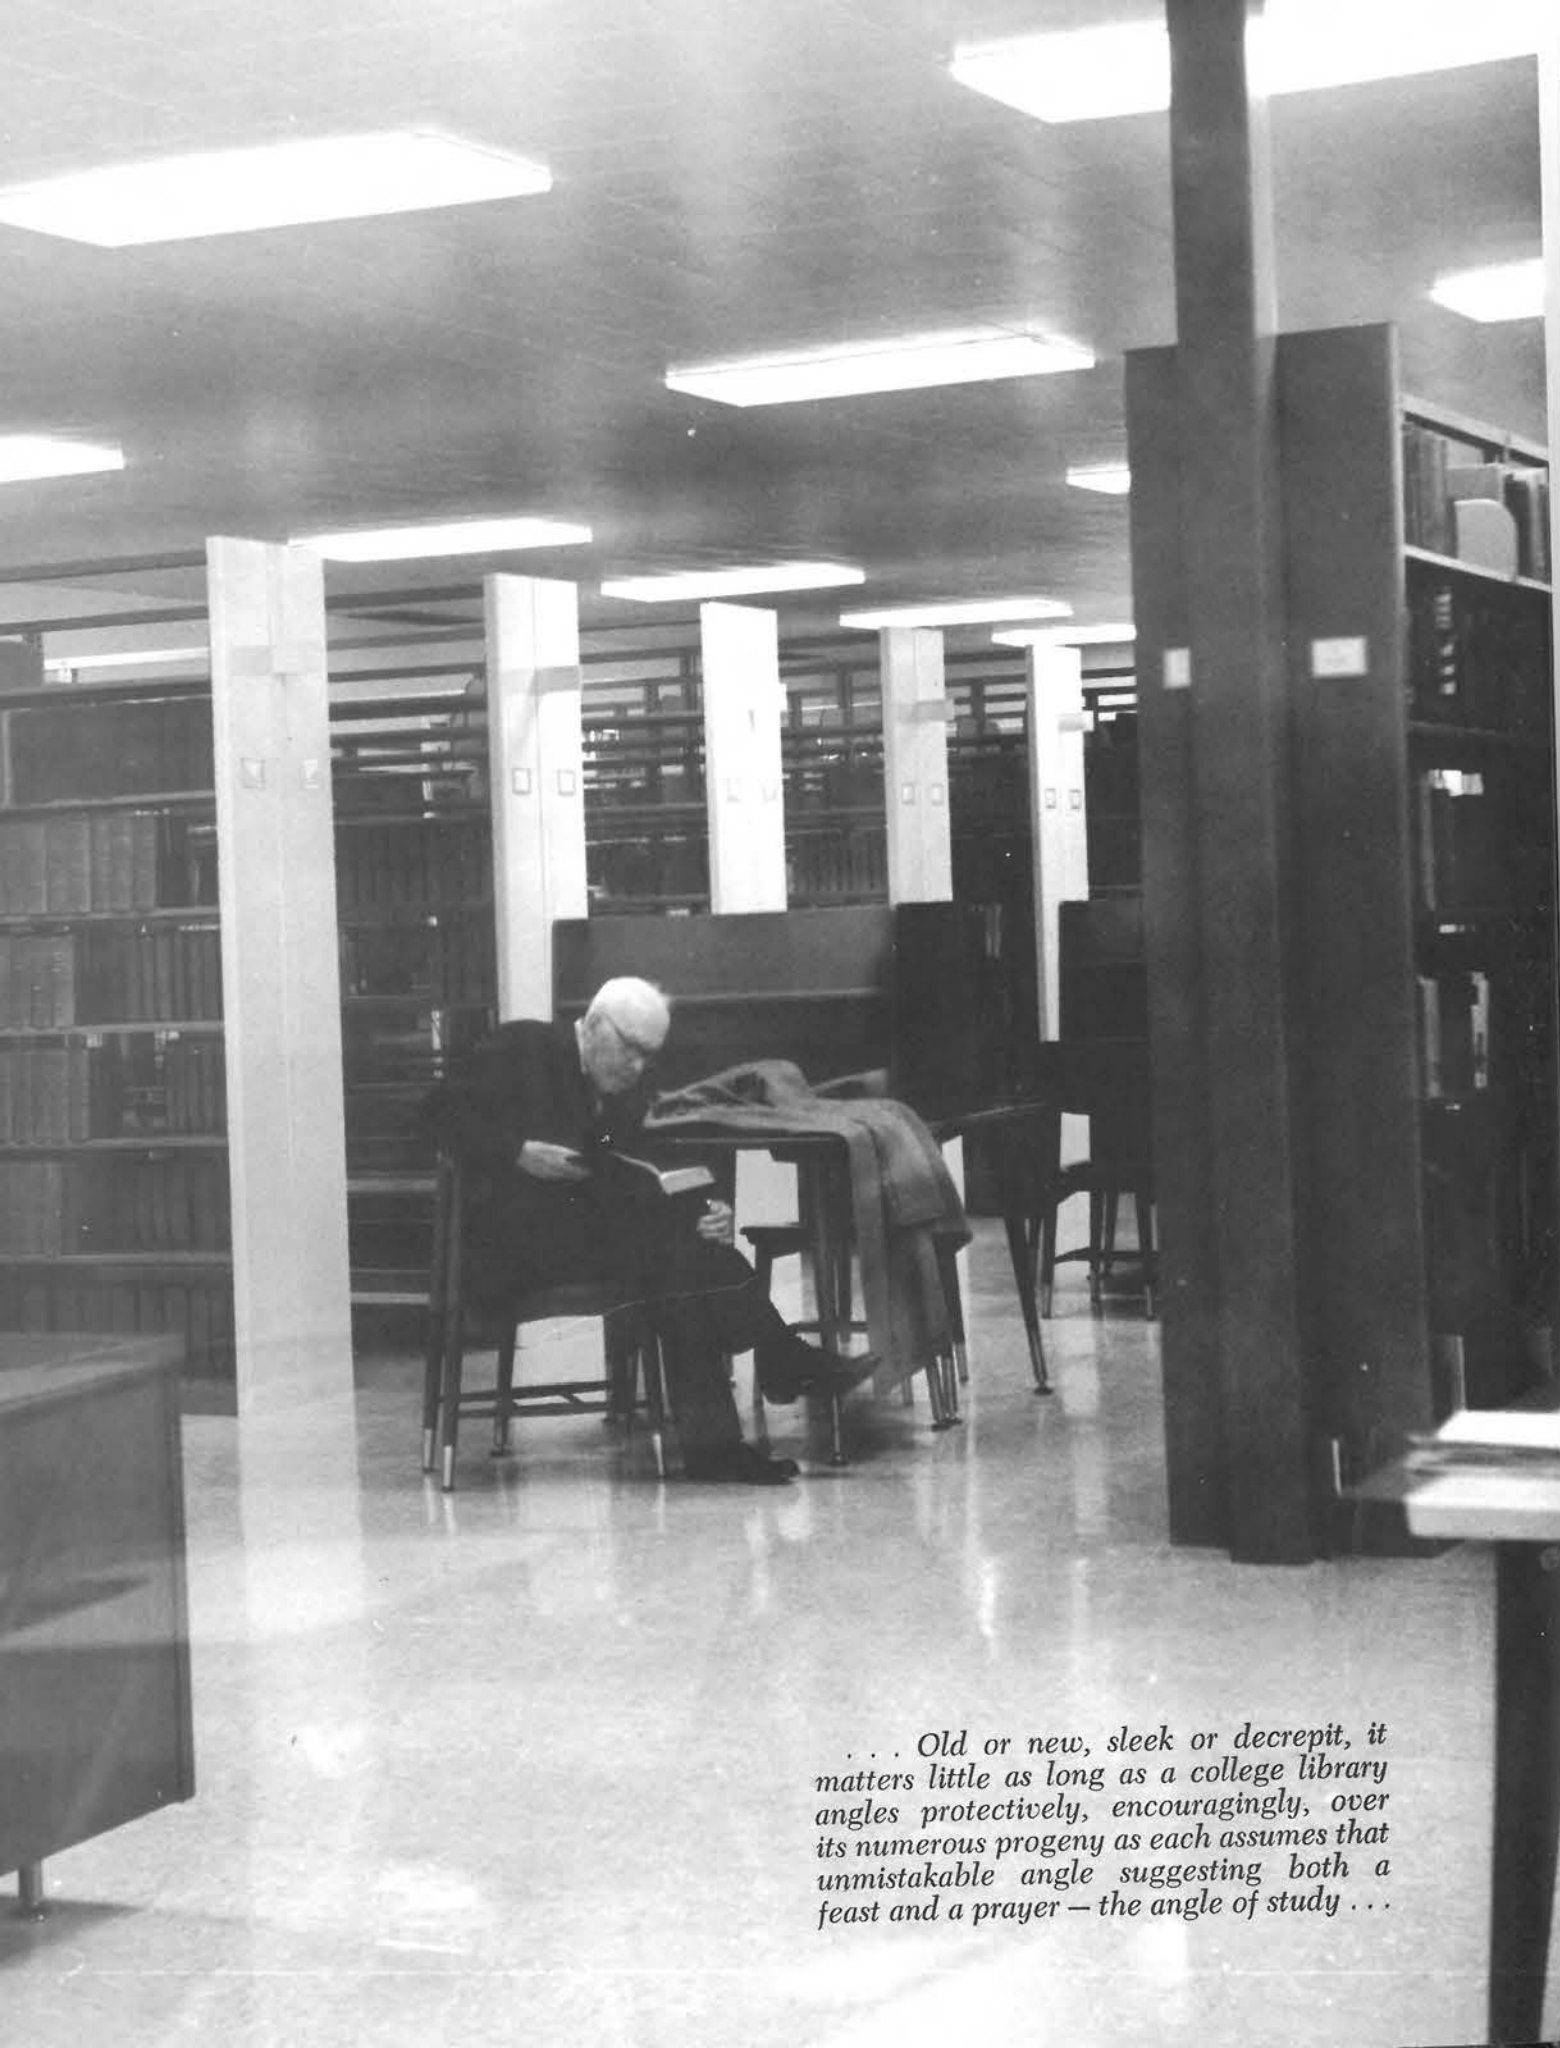

College of Angles

A college campus is the focal point for countless angles, some man-made, some natural—but others of the heart and mind. Our historic Academy perched on a wooded rise, its chaste facade reflecting the uprightness and stability of another era, is eloquent in angles . . .

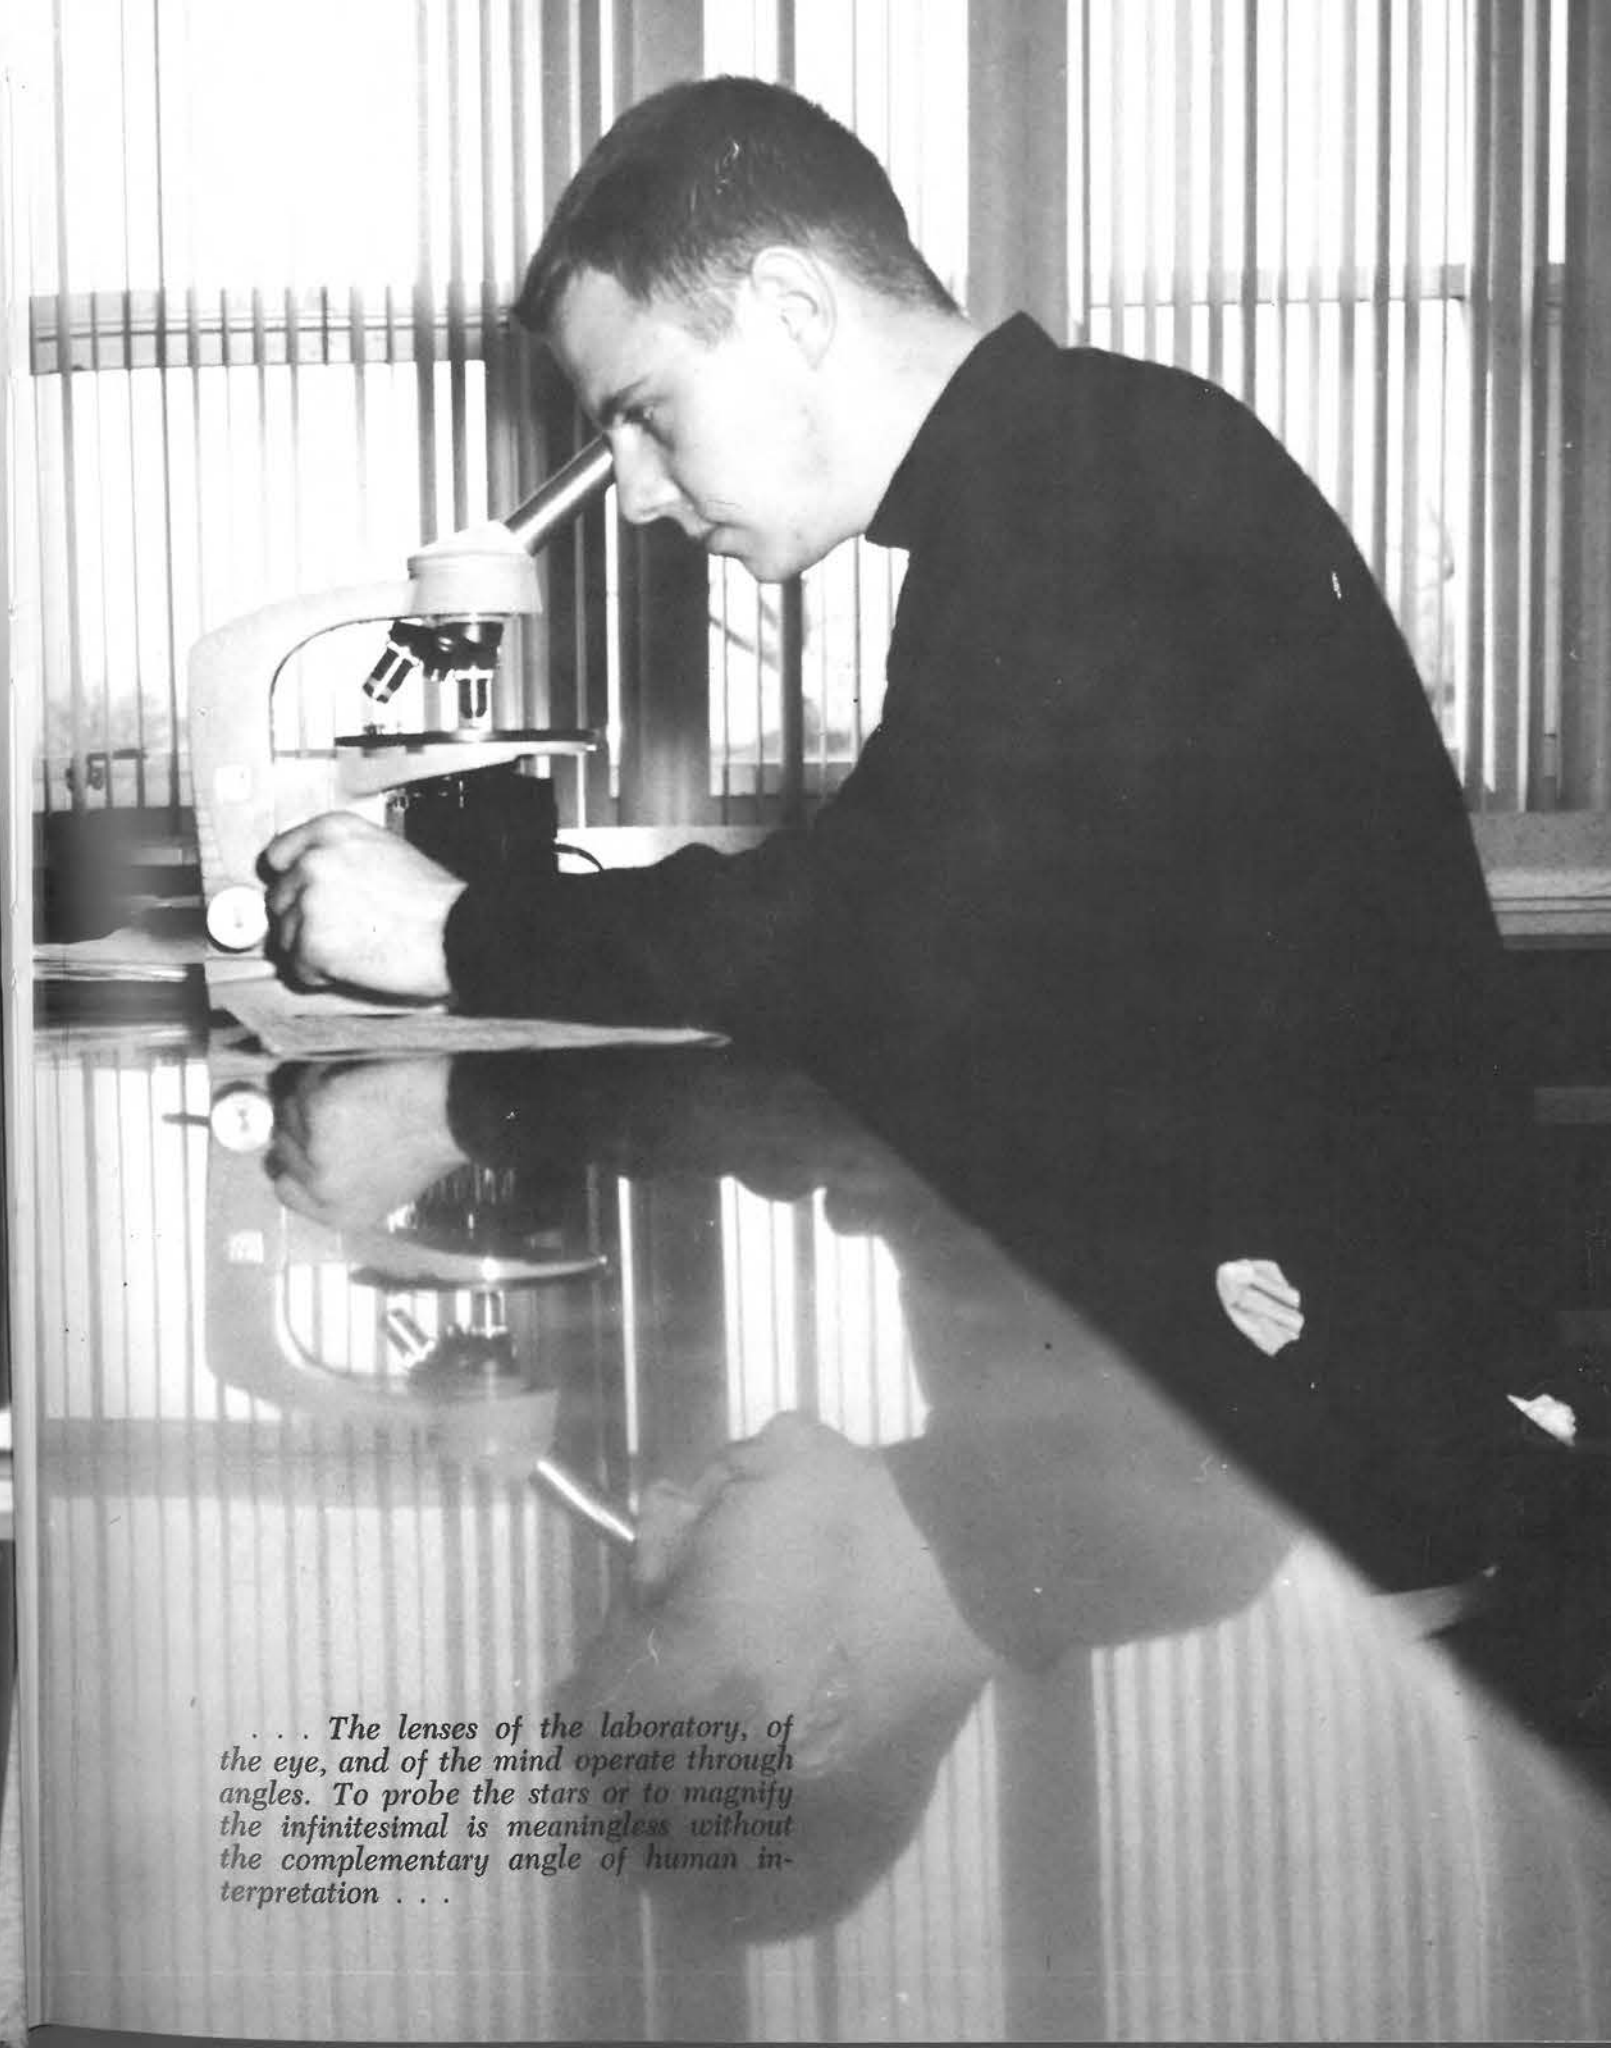

Yet only a collegiate shout away the angles of the new men's dormitory, heralds of Gorham's new phase, boldly proclaim modern stresses, modern needs beyond the old Academy's wildest dreams . . .

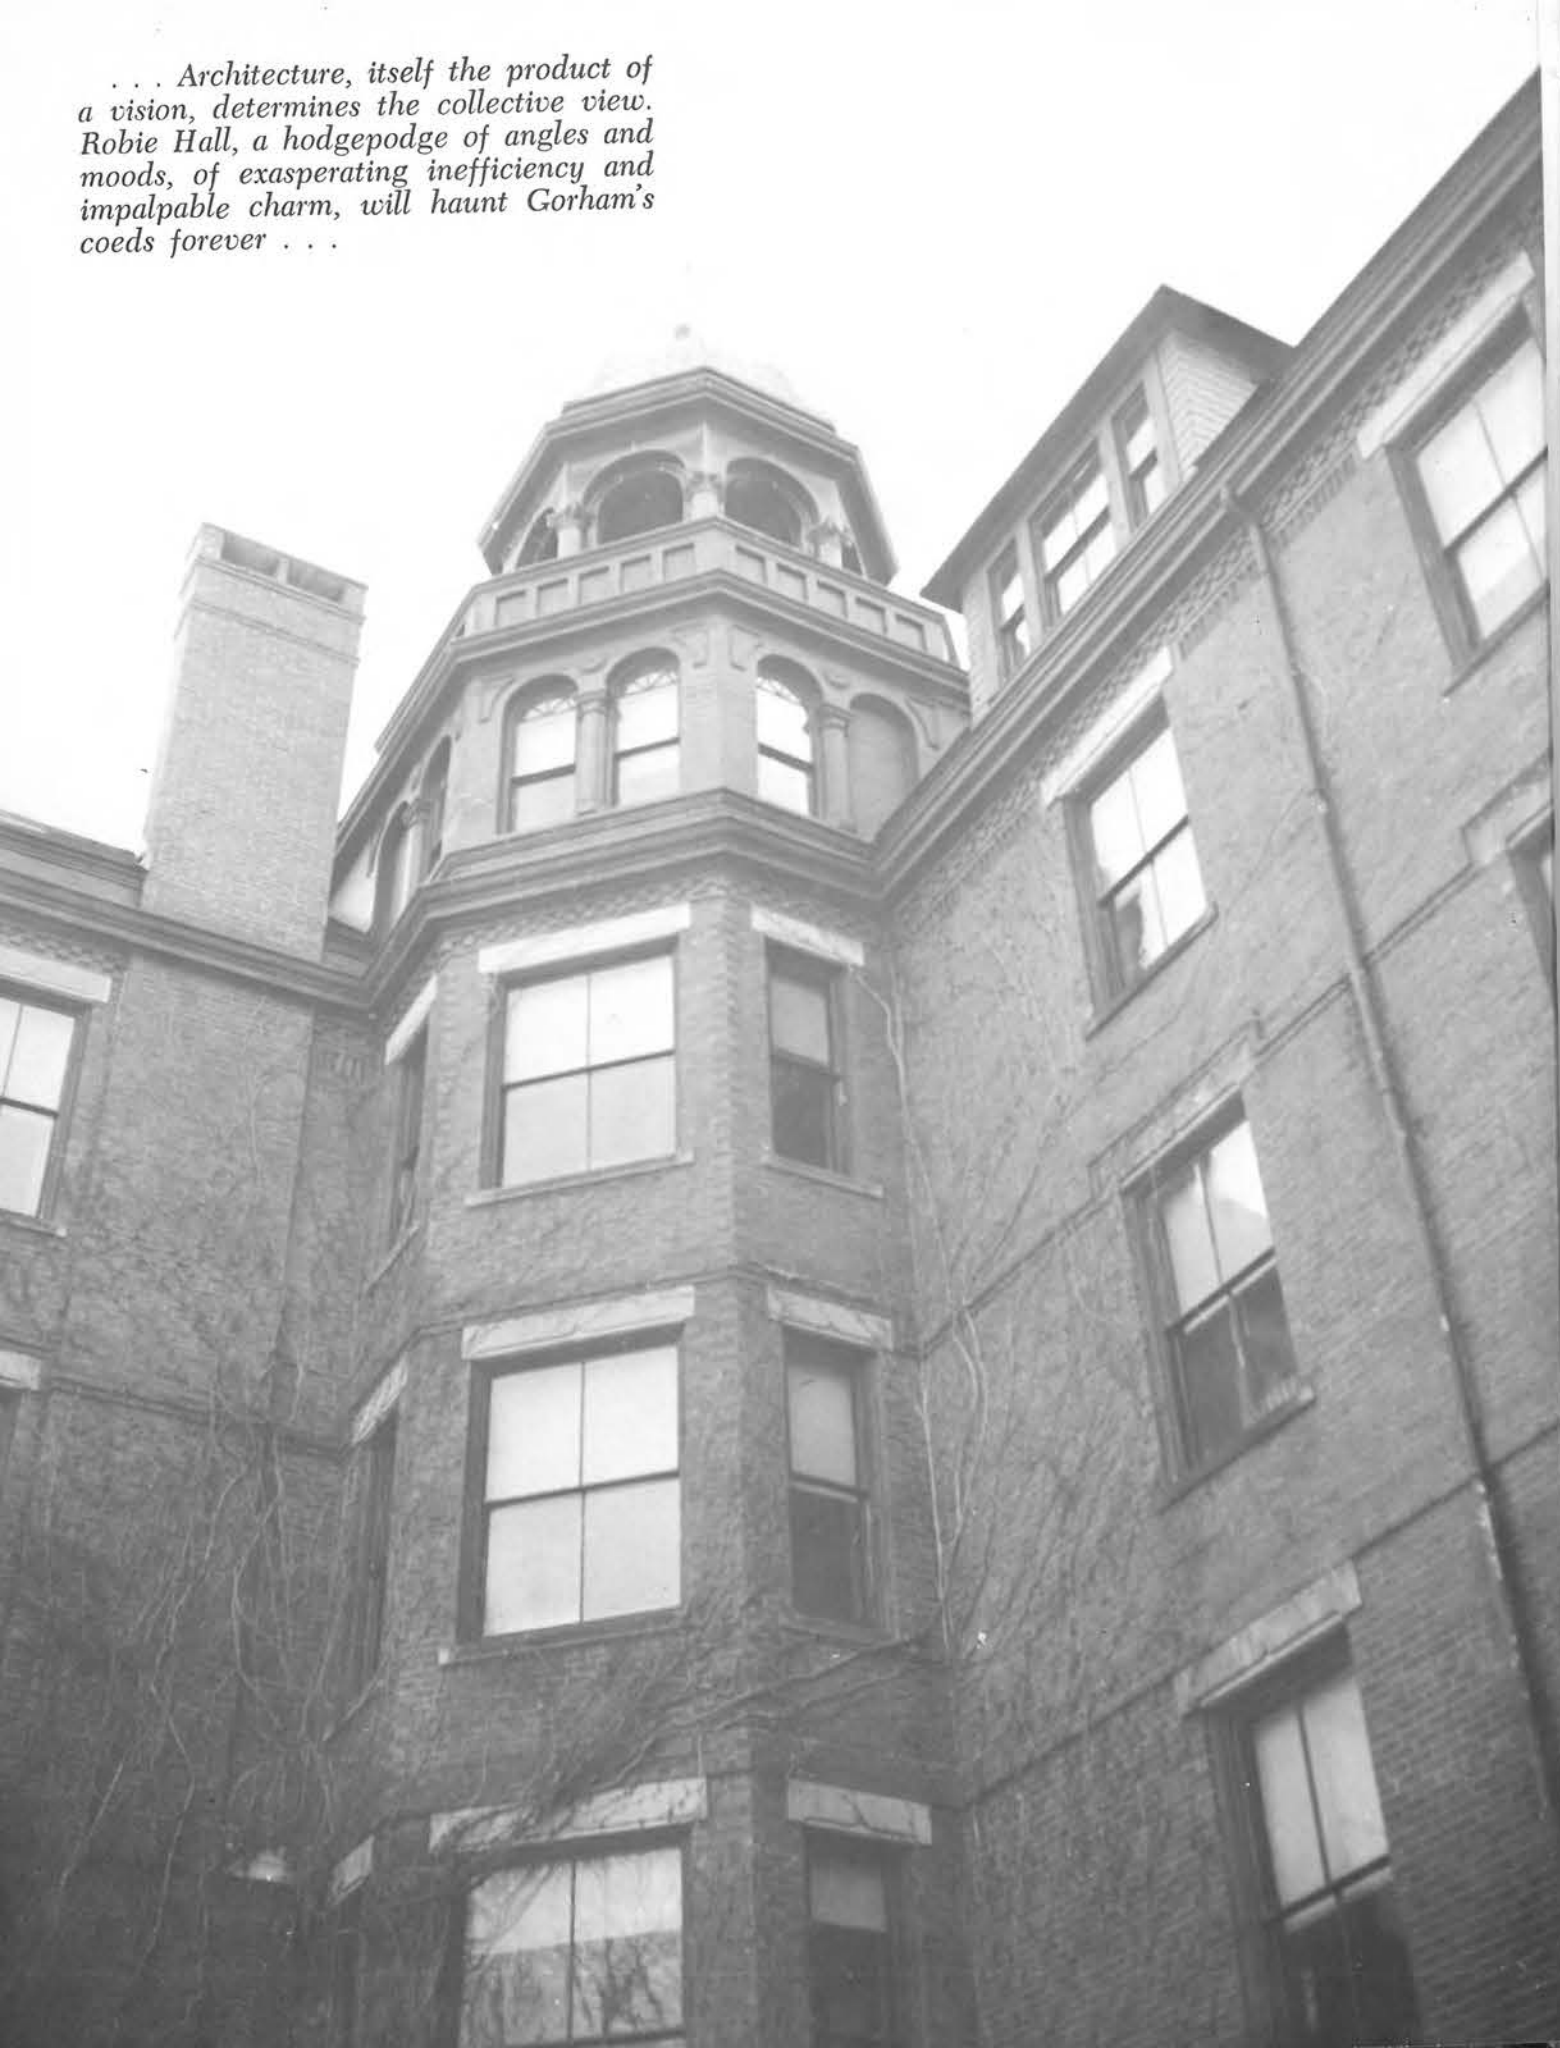

... Old or new, sleek or decrepit, it matters little as long as a college library angles protectively, encouragingly, over its numerous progeny as each assumes that unmistakable angle suggesting both a feast and a prayer — the angle of study ...

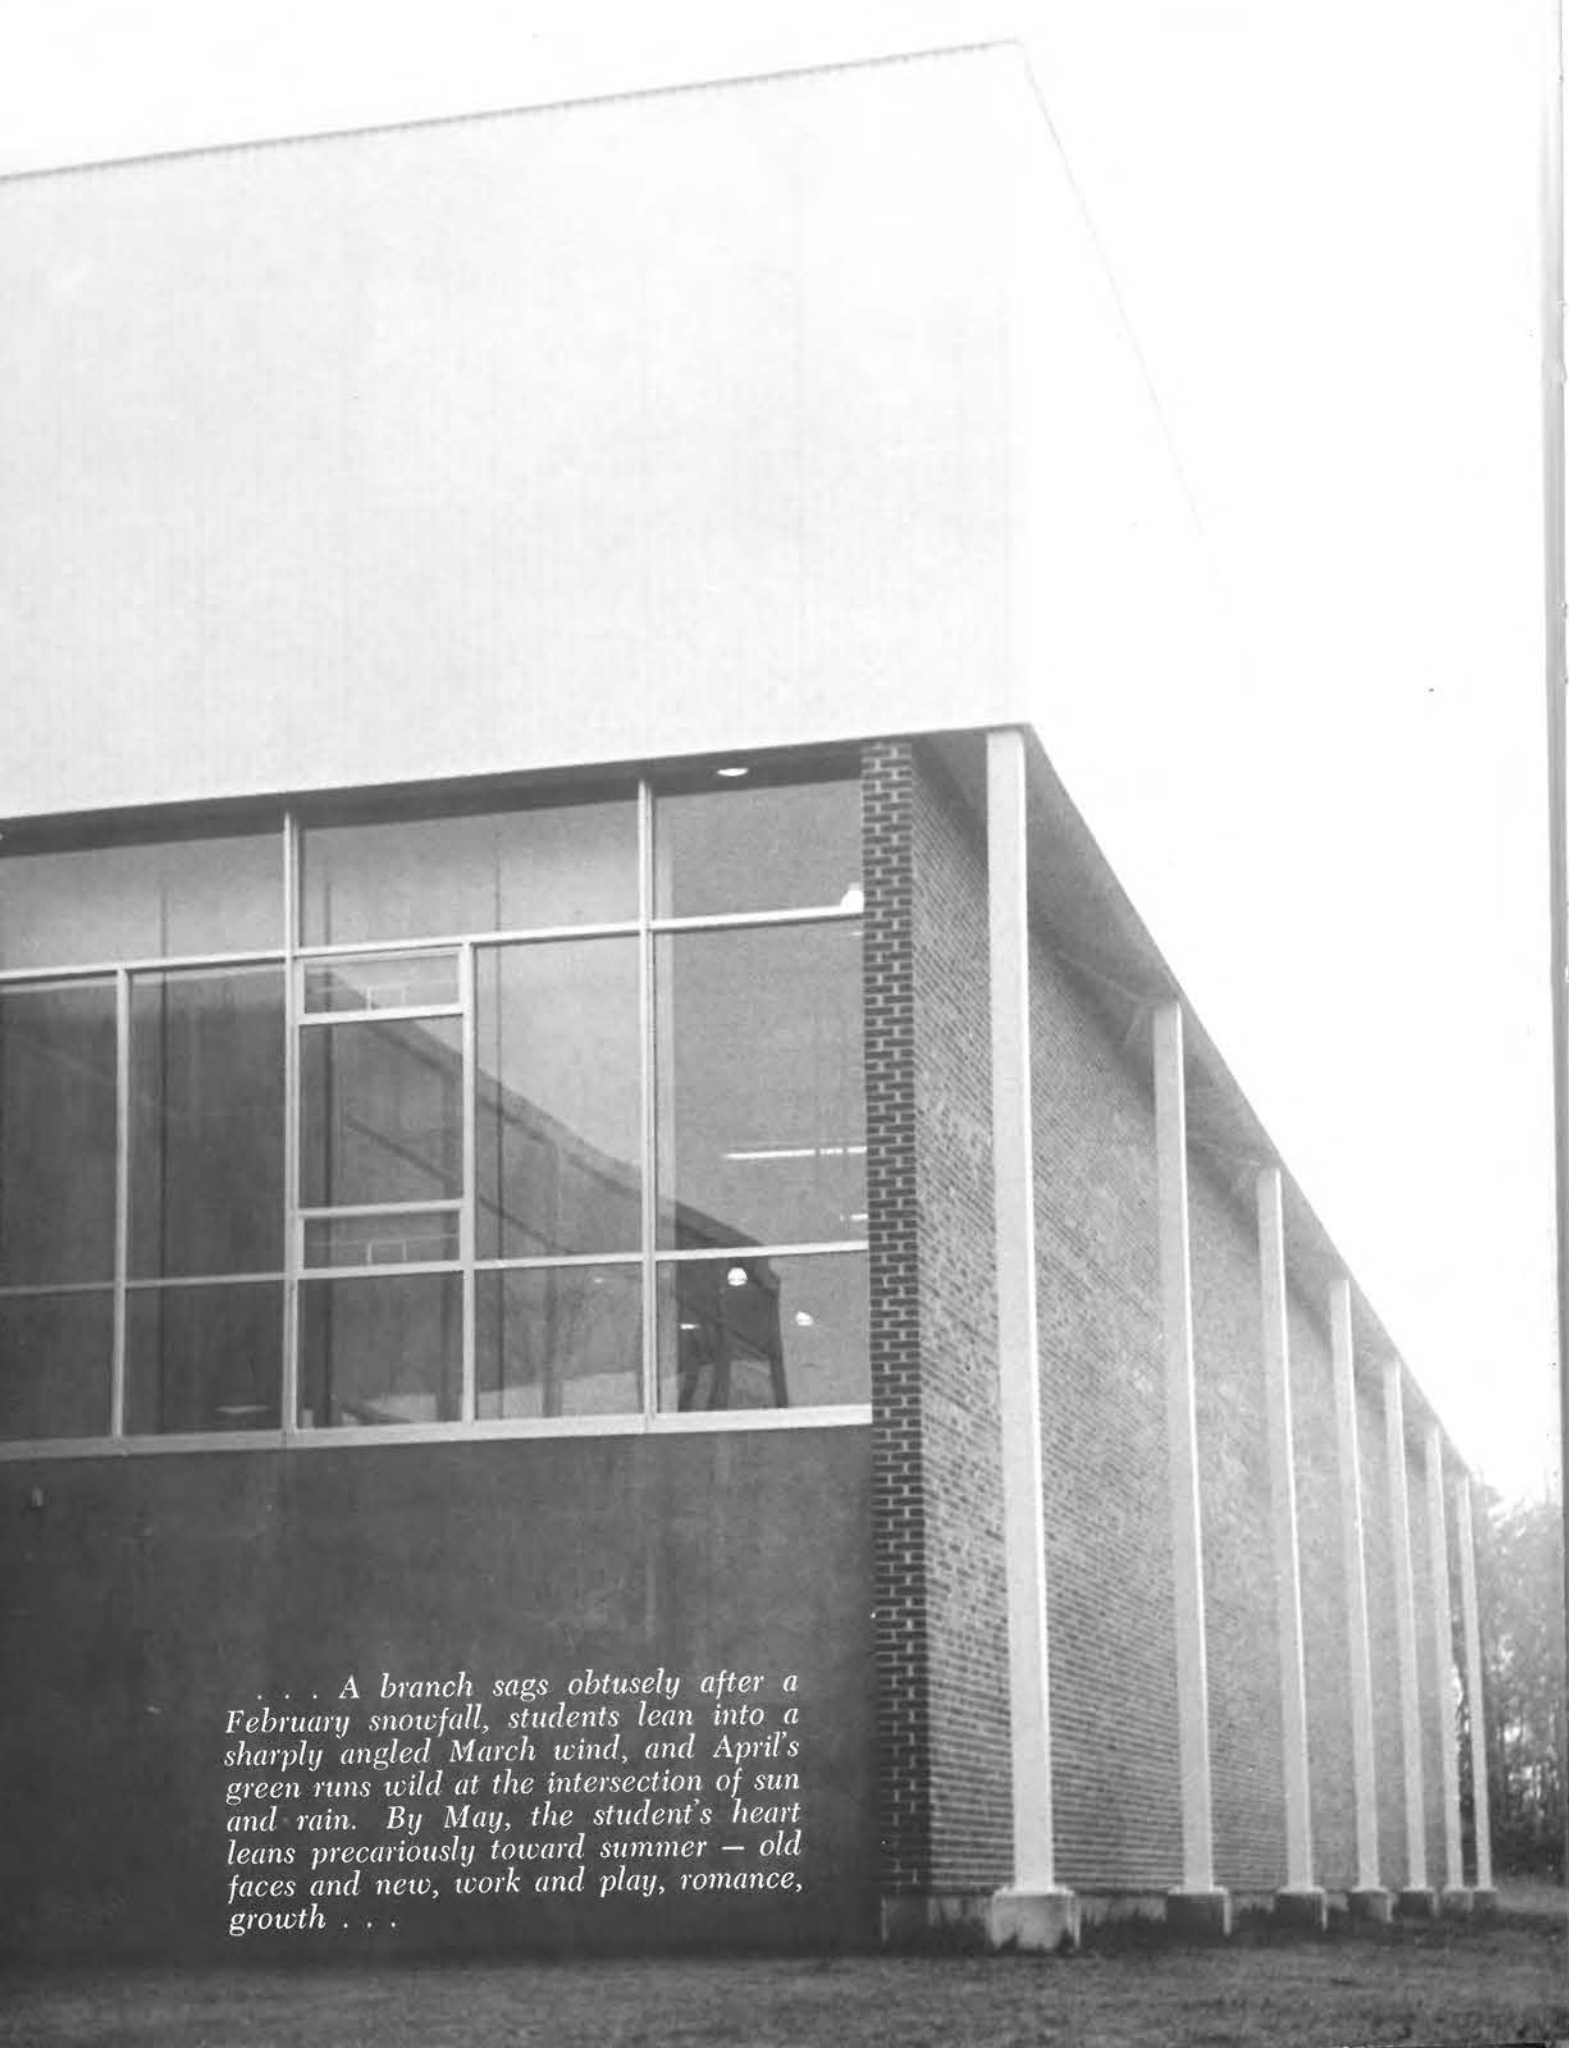

... The lenses of the laboratory, of the eye, and of the mind operate through angles. To probe the stars or to magnify the infinitesimal is meaningless without the complementary angle of human interpretation ...

... Architecture, itself the product of a vision, determines the collective view. Robie Hall, a hodgepodge of angles and moods, of exasperating inefficiency and impalpable charm, will haunt Gorham's coeds forever ...

... Angles, then, are both insights and outlooks. They define approaches and departures. They enter our prejudices, deepen our discoveries. Wherever there's a new twist, a new wrinkle, a new wave, there is a new angle as well. The best angles, as in photography, are creative acts ...

... A branch sags obtusely after a February snowfall, students lean into a sharply angled March wind, and April's green runs wild at the intersection of sun and rain. By May, the student's heart leans precariously toward summer — old faces and new, work and play, romance, growth ...

... On a bright May morning a spanking new college building rises — the sixth in less than a decade ... Graduation looms ... the air is tense with expectancy ... At the point where these steel girders meet the bright hopes of pupils you haven't even seen, you stand — tomorrow's teacher ... your angle opens infinitely to the light.

Mr. Duso, Dr. York, and Dr. Brooks study proposed campus expansion.

Dr. Brooks introduces Senator Smith at an early convocation.

Dear Members of the Class of 1965:

The theme of this yearbook encourages you to view your college from various angles. It clearly portrays the ever-changing campus and focuses your attention on the college's bright future. The various perspectives reveal an expanding program, a rapidly developing physical plant, new faculty faces and many other tangible evidences of a dynamic college keeping pace with the demands of the times.

One factor, however, remains the same and no matter from which angle it is viewed it shines forth abundantly clear. I refer, of course, to the ultimate goal of the college—the turning out of outstanding teachers for our schools. Each passing year will make more and more demands on you as a person and as a teacher because of the explosion of knowledge and complex social issues. The changes you have witnessed at Gorham have been directed toward making you competent to face this multiplicity of challenges.

As graduates of the college you will view Gorham from yet another angle, that of a member of our alumni group. From this vantage point you can continue to assist your college in its efforts to fulfill its responsibilities to the youth of Maine.

The best wishes of your college go with you as you embark on your career. Because of your preparation at Gorham we feel that you will make a significant contribution to your fellow-man and in so doing find your life's work exciting, stimulating, and personally rewarding.

Sincerely yours,

Kenneth T. H. Brooks

Education

First Row: E. Littlefield, M. Peabody, M. Costello. Second Row: W. Billingham, R. Fickett.

We may have been wet behind the ears that first September on the Hill, but after one look at the "requirements" and "electives" on those course sheets in nursery blue and pink, our doubts vanished. Courses in Education ran the gamut from Plato to Dewey, from botany to Beethoven. Could any other single-purpose institution of like size present richer opportunities to progressive teachers of students from Kindergarten through Junior High?

After a basic history of American Education with Dr. Mitchell and Miss Littlefield we jumped at the chance to enroll in a sophisticated study of educational philosophy. But on the way there we stopped off for some indispensable methods courses in the primary, elementary, or junior high curriculum. Among them were courses in reading, arithmetic, and in classroom organization and materials. Professors Bowman and Greer initiated us into the mysteries of measurement and evaluation. Finally, we were launched into the dizzy orbit of student teaching by Professor Billingham and his elite corps of assistants.

Yes, it has taken that long! Now, without sentimentality or scorn, we can weigh the Little Red Schoolhouse against Consolidated Colossus #65 as fulfillments of the American Dream. We must decide for ourselves the part we will play in that dream.

Gorham's modern psychologist.

Remember your sophomore roommate who signed up for "Psy. 200" because he wanted to know "what made him tick"? You told him that was stupid: a systemic knowledge of human consciousness and behaviour was one thing, self-analysis another. But he had something there. Inevitably, the psychology curriculum on the Hill challenges us to know ourselves if we hope to bring self-knowledge to others.

Entering Mr. Southworth's classroom that first September morning, you both wanted to know how the fundamental facts and principles of modern psychology related to effective living, our living.

It took you a semester to get your feet on the ground. As you began to grasp the implications of the science of psychology as something more than glib conjecture, the air began to clear around such foggy concepts as motivation, emotion, intelligence, effective learning, and thinking.

Case-work in Mr. Bowman's course in "Human Growth and Development," gave you something like the frontiersman's thrill of discovery.

Your roommate said it first: "You gotta learn to live with uncertainties." No easy formulations, no cut-and-dried schemes for adjustment and "happiness." That Senior offering, "Psy. 401," was the frosting to the cake. You weighed traditional against contemporary theories, you peered at abnormal personality characteristics. You and that roommate became, imperceptibly perhaps, better persons, better teachers.

"Communion" by Carol Tranquillo.

How does the College produce an art teacher? Take any teaching candidate and school him in art? Or the other way around, perhaps—teach a talented artist how to teach talent? With the only approved art education department in the state, Gorham is equipped and staffed to graduate art supervisors and teachers of art in elementary and secondary school, and it does so with striking success.

Few of us have failed to take a course with Mr. Miner or Mrs. Sawtelle. "FA 100" covers the history of Egyptian, Greek, Medieval, Renaissance, and Baroque periods and stresses the relationship between art and society. In "FA 200" students are introduced to the elements of design and color, applying basic principles to teaching projects. For the art major, of course, this is only a start; he has, in all, eighteen different courses to choose from. They include Arts and Crafts, Drawing and Painting Techniques, detailed practice in the graphic arts and print media, and experience with layout, illustration, and letter design. Exciting and exacting as the advance courses are, the department attracts dedicated students who, by their regular exhibits of current work in Corthell foyer, leave no doubts about the vitality of Gorham's art program.

Shame on you, Linda Peterson!

And why not be comfortable? D. Kimball.

A moment of relaxation for Dr. Hanna.

There's always one Joe Gullible in every class. Freshman year Joe took a quick look around, weighed the odds, and had a brain-wave. He was going to major in English, he told us, "to pick up a degree the easy way." It was a cinch, he figured; you just sat back for four years entertaining yourself with short stories, poems, plays, novels. ("Imagine it, fellows—they give you a degree for doing that!")

The scene shifts to Joe under pressure. He's meeting a deadline in freshman composition. Cut to Joe reeling under the burden of spotting logical fallacies; flashback to Joe unscrambling levels of usage, to Joe dissecting the philosophical complexities of a reading assignment unlike anything foisted on him in high school. Months pass: Close-up of Joe getting his first taste of imaginative literature at the college level. Pan-shot: Spring, the air is soft, and girls are in their summer dresses. Joe, meanwhile, is stuck in his room with Aristotle's theory of tragic catharsis. Close-up: "What a deal!" Joe bitterly complains.

What is the deal? During Joe's period of adjustment, he'll get the message. The objective of a student majoring in English is "to acquire a knowledge of the development of the English language and of literary history, to become familiar with the principal writers in English, to increase his ability to interpret and evaluate a variety of literary texts, and to improve his oral and written expression."

Industrial Arts

A. Berry, R. Carter, J. Greer, J. Falls, J. Mitchell.

No longer the stepchildren of Maine's teachers colleges, "the I. A. boys" will soon abandon their present quarters to the termites and move into the College's spanking new Industrial Arts Center. Everybody's agog over its exciting design and spectacular location amidst tall pines which border the Warren G. Hill Gymnasium. Here at last students will find the latest equipment and teaching facilities, together with an enlarged faculty and program.

It couldn't have happened at a better time. The state's predicament in the field of industrial technicians needs no comment. Public apathy regarding a skilled labor pool has been aroused, and the shortage of industrial arts instructors in our junior and senior high schools continues to make the headlines.

How will the college meet this challenge? More than twenty widely diversified courses will make the new center a beehive of productivity. Courses in metal technology and fabrication, in architectural drawing and electronics, in wood technology and wood industries, in power, transportation, graphic arts, and industrial design—no sampling can do justice to the thorough coverage prospective teachers will experience in this program. Graduates in the immediate years to come can take pride in their industrial arts background and can anticipate careers of immeasurable service to the youth of Maine.

New math teacher, Miss Chandler.

"Have just one more, Carol." Miss Peabody entertains her calculus class.

Everyone is talking about the "New Math," but here at the college we're doing something about it. A fresh approach to mathematics in the public schools has caught on all over the nation; nothing except the Moonshot has stirred so many educators, parents, and students. Thanks to the vision and experience of G.S.T.C. Professors Peabody, Chandler, Fish, and Neuberger, scores of us will soon face our first pupils with a professional calm and know-how inconceivable a decade ago.

We made the grade when we learned how to simplify complexities for presentation at the lower grade-levels. Comprehensive major and minor programs have enabled us to go beyond such fundamentals as number systems, set theory, and the nature of proof. A dozen electives have given us further training in both breadth and depth. In fact, some advanced courses offered by this department are specialized enough to prepare us not only for teaching but for graduate study leading to work in government or industry.

The talented, tough-minded student can follow many avenues of selected study. We salute a department skilled in adapting changeless principles to a changing universe.

"Can anyone do this problem?" asks Dr. Fish.

R. Cole, J. Bowder, H. Heel, G. Chamberland.

Mr. Chamberland selects his next choral program.

For many of our classmates music had been, since childhood, a simple, uncritical experience. College didn't spoil that but it did change things. Those first courses with Professors Heel, Chamberland, Bowder and Cole were a revelation—we began to “listen” to music, not just “hear” it. Did that kill spontaneity? Hardly. As the months passed, we listened and studied our way through the Baroque, Classical and Romantic schools. Neither high-brows nor lowbrows, we began to understand the debt every contemporary owes to the achievements of the past. Loving the music of Bruckner, we didn't have to avoid Bach. Elizabethan madrigals and hootenany folk-songs weren't oil and water. The study of harmony and counterpoint wouldn't alienate us from jam sessions.

Some of us spent thousands of hours on vocal and instrumental study. The slanting alcoves of Corthell may not be the abode of the Muses, but more than once it inspired us to harmonious sound. Was that just an illusion? We knew we had scored a musical triumph when we took part in the spring concert, a full-scale production of Honegger's “King David.”

And so, to the music faculty we are everlastingly grateful. They put our talents to work by teaching us that impulse and discipline must go hand in hand. Whether in years to come we sing, play, teach, or just listen, we can never forget the strains of music on the Hill.

Janet Litwinowich hooks up the linear acceleration apparatus.

Dr. Kerr looks unconvinced.

"Great! I've had all this in high school"—that was the general consensus of freshmen students registering for Dr. Kerr's required biology course. But after a year of analyzing the structure, functions and relationships of plants and animals, most students were ready to eat their words.

A chorus of groans sounded from sophomores required to take Sci 200-201. But it was there that they became at least superficially acquainted with the inanimate world, from the stones to the stars.

Physical science majors found that Mr. Whitten's contagious humor and Mr. Ayers' patient demonstrations made bearable not only carbon chains, balanced equations, electricity, and atomic physics, but also long lists of the Scientific Greats in history.

Fully aware of other delights in store, students stepped gingerly into meteorology, where Mr. Hare demonstrated that weather is predictable within limits; and Dr. Neuberger, in Sci 367, graphically proved that the body has bones, muscles and glands we had never heard of before or since. And after a couple of Mr. Miller's geology classes we all happily conceded that Maine is endowed with plenty of rock, not all granite.

Later we realized the problem lay in assimilating and applying this prodigious supply of data. That's when we again met Dr. Kerr, who convinced us through experiments and readings that the sciences can be taught with imagination and zest.

The teacher is still a student. Mr. Barker peruses the latest science literature.

Social Sciences

Miss Dickey serves at the tea for Margaret Chase Smith.

It was a catch-all term when we were in elementary and junior high school, so we weren't surprised to see "Social Sciences" bob up in the sea of courses at G.S.T.C. like the mythical Proteus of many shapes, sometimes as history, sometimes as sociology, again as geography or even archeology. The organizer behind this monster of "ologies" is youthful Yaleman Horton Emerson, a witty historian unperturbed by his department's hydraheaded look.

His objectives, Dr. Emerson reminds us, are academic rather than professional: "Our main concern is not to prepare teachers merely for the Social Sciences but to give all students an awareness of the nature of the society in which they live—an appreciation of its values and ideas, its shortcomings and perennial problems."

What will this mean to Joe Hilltopper? Set adrift on an ocean of credit-hours and point-systems, he can only strike out for shore. History and Government portray the rise and fall of world powers and the development of social, economic and political structures. Sociology sharpens his awareness of the social relationships and group behavior. Those other "ologies"—Archeology, Anthropology, and Criminology—deliver him from parochialism and narrowness. He is a warrior in the endless conflict between apathy and creativity, reaction and innovation, materialism and the things of the spirit.

Here we are, smack-dab in the middle of the North-east's choicest resort areas, where lakes, mountains and beaches meet. Thousands of city-pent tourists race to our New England countryside. To them, a summer here means delight in vigorous exercise and a sense of physical and mental well-being.

Standing on the wind-swept soccer field and looking over the roof of the new Warren G. Hill gymnasium to the rolling Sebago Lake basin and beyond, to the granite shadow of Mt. Washington, we begin to understand exactly how the mad-cap tourists feel.

Thanks to our faculty in physical education, we have begun to experience the consequence of our own fitness. No matter how that fitness is come by—whether on the basketball court or soccer field, in gymnastics or modern dance, at the archery target or tennis net—"physical education" sooner or later crystallizes for the teacher-to-be. In recreation we re-create ourselves; we find joy in sheer movement or in healthy animal fatigue and appreciate as never before the tempo and style peculiar to each sport. It is to those courses innocently labelled "P.E. 100," or "102," "352," or "450," that we owe a debt of gratitude for the development of attitudes that encourage a sound and rewarding life.

UNDERCLASSMEN

Class of 1968

A. Dolan, J. Moffit, C. Wellington, L. Bourget.

The class of 1968 entered Gorham State Teachers College on September 13, 1964 and was welcomed by the many helpful upperclass students who were on the Orientation Committee. The nervous freshmen immediately recognized the typical friendly atmosphere of G.S.T.C. At the Freshman Reception sponsored by the Student Christian Association, the new students were given the opportunity to meet faculty members and our president, Dr. Brooks. At that time we became aware of our pride in being a part of this college.

After everyone was accustomed to college life, the freshman class held a meeting for the election of class officers. The following slate of officers was elected: Art Dolan, President; Bud Wellington, Vice-President; Louise Bourget, Secretary; and John Moffit, Treasurer. With elections completed, the freshman class was ready to undergo several projects to make life on the hill more profitable and enjoyable to all.

The greatest goal of the freshman class is the stimulation of social activities through the sponsorship of several dances and through active participation in such activities as the Winter Carnival. The class has already shown great enthusiasm in the intramural programs under the leadership of the physical education department. We are proud to say that two of the freshman girls, Doreen Gordon and Karen Turcotte, have made the cheering squad and Johnny Mauro is a member of the varsity basketball team.

Respectfully submitted,
Louise Bourget,
Secretary

Pert and pretty, E. Lembree.

Watch out! B. Ces.

L. Bourget and N. Farrand, alive with the campaign spirit.

The class of 1967 returned this fall looking forward to the exciting Gorham life we all knew from last year. We began a good year with two advisors, chosen at the end of last year, Mr. Milbury and Mr. Falls. Our slate of officers is headed by Peter Hoff, again ably filling that difficult post of president; Dan Cifelli, returning to assist Peter; and our new treasurer Lona Larrabee.

We are proud to have Henry Giroux as treasurer of Student Senate this year. Working with him will be our other members Pat Reinsborough, (returning from last year), Dick Brown, Adam Burrows, and Donna Shannon (newly elected). Representing our class on the cheerleading squad are Jackie Tardiff, Faye Mixer, Mary Jean Smith, and Cathy Bryson. Our class this year excels in all fields of sports and finds time to be active members of the campus activities.

The big project for our class this year is the Harvest Ball at the end of Mayor Campaign. Other Sophomore activities are also being planned.

The class of '67 is just beginning to "dig in" and really prove itself, and more is to come. We are proud that we have a chance to receive much from our college experience and, we hope, give much, too.

Respectfully submitted,
Donna Peverly,
Secretary

"You'll have to come back for seconds." D. Hutchins, L. Bell, S. Guerin, R. Chadwick.

W. Titus and G. Ranger, astronomers?

P. Rice, J. Dickson, J. Tardiff, L. Mersereau, M. MacDougall, waiting for a break in the supper line.

Class of 1966

M. O'Donnell, L. Black, F. Hall, J. Barker.

The class of 1966 is now well on its way to graduation. With three years behind us, we feel more confident about the years ahead of us—a future of teaching and adulthood. In these three years at Gorham State Teachers College, we have grown, changed, and learned.

Given the task of organizing the class for the activities of this year were: Frank Hall, President; Tony Black, Vice-President; Marge O'Donnell, Treasurer; and Judi Barker, Secretary. Other members of the Junior class were very active in the various organizations on campus. Not only were we well represented, but we held many executive positions in the organizations.

We have enjoyed the year even though it was an extremely busy one. It is certain that in the years to come we will have many fond memories of the friends we have made and the experiences we have had. We are proud to be a part of it all and of the rapidly changing campus.

Respectfully submitted,
Judith Barker,
Secretary

D. Bailey, enraptured by his own lecture.

S. Gordon, T. Giberti, C. Mazerolle. What's up, Tina?

Fascinating project . . . M. O'Donnell, J. Barker, P. Moulton, P. Finley.

B. Hardison, L. Foye. A toast to Christmas vacation.

S. Howe and D. Hamalainen. Phi Sig on the left, Kappa on the right. What's in the trunk?

SENIORS

Class of 1965

J. Thurlow, E. Leblanc, R. Kimball, R. Devault.

Four years have passed! This significant thought—now uppermost in our minds—arouses within each of us ambivalence. We feel satisfaction upon accomplishing the goal established for all of us in the fall of 1961 when we entered Gorham as freshmen. But, most of us also experience a sadness—a sadness in realizing that at last we are leaving behind those things which have become instilled within us—the busy schedule of classes, the bustle of extracurricular activities, and most of all the lasting friendships acquired by working and living together.

Let us reflect for a few moments upon what has happened since our arrival at G.S.T.C. as bewildered freshmen. The prevailing spirit of the campus was one of friendliness. Immediately orientated and accepted by the upperclassmen, we set out to organize ourselves and elected the following officers: President, Paul Johnson; Vice-President, Ed LeBlanc; Secretary, Bonnie Stuart; and Treasurer, Bob Usher. Under their capable leadership, we began to take a true interest in college life. Our freshman year treated us well, and as June arrived—although anxious for a rest—we looked forward to our second year at Gorham.

Upon our return as Sophomores, we plunged into many activities. Guided by our new officers—President, Paul Johnson; Vice-President, James Thurlow; Secretary, Sharon Anderson; and Treasurer, Ann Miller—perhaps our major achievement was the Harvest Ball, culminating the busy weeks of mayor campaign.

As Juniors, we sensed the nearness of a goal, particularly when editing the Senior yearbook and sponsoring the Commencement Ball—the first to be held in our new gymnasium. Our officers—President, James Thurlow; Vice-President, Ed LeBlanc; Secretary, Marie Ces; and Treasurer, Ann Miller—represented us well and made us proud to say: "As a class we have been strong, actively participating in extracurricular activities and organizations. We have sometimes failed, only to benefit by our mistakes, thus struggling harder to finally succeed."

Although our senior year found us divided by student teaching, in reality our thoughts could not be separated. As a class we remained united under these officers: President, James Thurlow; Vice-President, Ed LeBlanc; Secretary, Rachel Kimball; and Treasurer, Richard Devault. Perhaps the most difficult year, it was also the most exciting. Looking back, we can proudly say: "Yes. Four years have passed! Four valuable years which will better enable us to advance into a rapidly changing world. May we go with confidence—never quitting although tired; never failing, although discouraged. As teachers we remain united—dedicated to the process of education and the future of America and the world."

Respectfully submitted,
Rachel Kimball

The official governing body of all student activities at Gorham State Teachers College, the Student Senate is given the ponderous task of regulating the schedule of events on the campus social calendar, setting up standard rules of procedure for activities such as the mayor campaign, and the allocation of funds to campus organizations from the student activity treasury.

Elected to membership by the classes which they represent, the senators have been influential in various campus issues including policies governing the use of the student lounge. Besides providing a link of communication between the administration and the student body, the Student Senate acts as a nominating committee to the E.S.A.T.E., and supervises the publication of the campus handbook.

The Student Education Association is an organization concerned with upholding the moral and ethical codes of the teaching profession and aiding the individual in bettering his qualifications for that profession.

During the year they sponsored a movie and a dance as a part of Freshman Orientation, an informal coffee for Margaret Chase Smith, and their annual high school Visitation Day, in which students of the college acted as guides for the visitors.

The members of S.E.A. also belong to the Maine Teachers Association and the National Education Association. From this group delegates have been selected to attend conventions at Augusta, Boston, and Peterborough.

The purpose of the Eastern States Association for Teacher Education is to advance the educational goals of eastern state teacher education institutions. In accomplishing this purpose, it provides for the participation of both students and faculty of member colleges at an annual spring conference in New York City. The honor of serving as a delegate to this convention is brought about by nominations from the Student Senate, approval by the Faculty Advisory Council, and a final election by vote of the entire student body. After the conference, a report is made to the college at a specially-presented convocation.

This year, the representatives from Gorham were seniors Sharon Anderson and Paul Johnson, and juniors Tina Giberti and L. Anthony Black.

The turbulent world in which we are so unavoidably entwined demands an awareness of almost inhuman proportions. World problems are so complex, so volatile, and so important that it demands a keen mind in order to evaluate current events and human problems. To assist the student in understanding his world, there was formed at G.S.T.C. the Public Affairs Club, a non-partisan, professional organization that provides speakers, distributes materials, and sponsors seminars of wide interest on current problems. Affiliated with the New Hampshire Council on World Affairs, the Public Affairs Club endeavors to broaden the educational experience of the students. This year has been particularly busy, covering the 1964 campaign and evaluating the rapidly changing international scene.

A standard function in most colleges is the production of an annual bound volume of pictorial information concerning the people and events of the year, and to sell copies of it to the members of the student body. Delivered to the students of this college, as a benefit of the student activity fee, is our yearbook, aptly named the HILLCREST. Besides being the students' memory-book, a yearbook is probably the strongest single factor in representing a school's progress. A copy of every Maine teachers college yearbook finds its way to the desk of the Secretary of State in Augusta, and the comparison of the HILLCREST to its "competing" books has been very gratifying in recent years. Thus the yearbook staff has the responsibility of preserving the quality of the HILLCREST, while making the book grow as rapidly and effectively as the college it represents.

Under the new editorship this year, the school newspaper, The Observer, adopted the guiding principles of creating awareness and critical evolution in the students of G.S.T.C. The editorial policies of the paper stressed self examination of the individual and the meaning of education as a whole, while news coverage attempted to convey the changing aspects of this growing institution.

Students are encouraged to submit original works of either prose or poetry as well as to air their complaints through letters to the editor. One of the paper's concerns was the selection of a mascot for G.S.T.C.

A major advancement this year's Observer has made over the past years is that it has stirred up a greater amount of student interest, without lowering its standards to a "let's-all-make-fun-of-the-policies" level. Annual attendance at the Columbia Scholastic Press Conference, communication with other college newspapers, and active student support are making the Observer a better paper.

One of the most active and industrious organizations on campus, the S.C.A. invites any student to join them once a week for discussion, fellowship, and religious guidance. Speakers this year have included Reverend Hilda Ives who spoke on the place of religion in college life, and Father McGillicuddy who enlightened the students on the recent changes in the Catholic Church.

When a group of "proclaiming atheists" accepted the S.C.A. challenge to debate the topic "Is There a God?" the ensuing meeting was one of the best attended sessions of the year.

Aside from their annual Green and White Way to raise money for the World University Service, the Student Christian Association's greatest project this year was its cooperative work with the Newman Club to transform the old town hall into an interfaith chapel.

The national collegiate student organization for the Catholic religion is the Newman Club, specifically organized to increase the students' knowledge of today's Catholicism as well as to bring together its members in intellectual and spiritual harmony.

Probably one of the best-known of the Newman Club's annual projects is its Christmas party, complete with presents donated by the students, for the St. Louis Home for Boys and Girls. This year, in addition to its regular program of communion breakfasts, dances, and meetings with other religious groups, the Newman Club cooperated with the S.C.A. to convert the old town hall into an all-faith chapel.

The club holds its first meeting in the new chapel.

One of the main purposes of the Industrial Arts Professional Organization is to present a program which goes beyond the classroom instruction in providing understanding of scientific advancement and the workings of industry. Besides promoting the professional development of its members, the I. A. P. O. provides opportunity for the discussion of problems in teaching Industrial Arts, and makes the graphic arts and other I. A. facilities available to the rest of the college community. With the completion of the new Industrial Arts center, the I. A. P. O. will have acquired a new status on the Hill.

As the new I. A. center is completed, the Council's "ways and means" capacity will be extended to include maintenance of the building and the artistic project of setting up and equipping a student league.

In order to escape an indoor life, and to give an opportunity for healthful activity to those individuals who would go out of their minds if they read one more page of Modern Civ., the Outing Club has devised a program of stimulating events for all students. If a student is at all interested in athletic and social activities, there is a place for him in the club. Even if he is not an accomplished sportsman, the Outing Club can provide him with something of interest, from square dancing, somersaulting off a high diving board, or digging clams around Casco Bay, to blistering tender feet in an attempt to conquer Mt. Washington.

Varsity "G", the honorary society of varsity letter-winners, is also a dynamic organization in sponsoring two major annual events. The well-known Gorham Homecoming weekend, including the election of a Homecoming Queen, the presentation of a movie and the Homecoming Ball, is a project of Varsity "G", as is the annual athletic banquet for all lettermen. At this banquet the captains of the following year's teams are introduced, and awards and trophies are presented to outstanding players of the varsity program, and the winning teams of the intramurals.

The North American Travel Association was formed for students who wish to be educated by the experience of travel in the United States. It provides the additional benefit of meeting people of the college and the community, merely because its members are always selling something—sandwiches, Christmas trinkets, pens or key chains—in order to finance their spring trip. Giving the word “energy” a new meaning, the club has also sponsored dances and movies on the hill and car washes and food sales in the town of Gorham.

This year's trip was taken during the week of spring vacation. The organizers of itinerary, Mr. Wensel Moberg and Mr. Robert Miller, considered the industrial, geographical, and historical views of interest to produce an educational and entertaining tour through New England and upper New York State.

In previous years the N. A. T. A. has taken trips to Canada, southern United States, and the midwest.

A challenge to chess enthusiasts.

The Chess Club was organized by chess enthusiasts to provide competition for the confined players in the community, to help teach novices, and to insure campus-wide improvement in one of the world's most fascinating yet relaxing pastimes. The club sponsors a campus chess tournament each year, and it aspires eventually to participate in intercollegiate competition with clubs throughout New England.

Chess is played in all civilized countries, and its great popularity has made it one of the most generally permitted activities. Since the chess board is the same as that for checkers, the two games are often compared and contrasted; there are, however, fundamental differences. The two main devices available for winning the game are capturing the opponent's men and outmaneuvering him in position which will eventually lead to a “check-mate.” Besides games which result in a checkmate, there are “drawn games,” or ties. In retrospect, the second game of the final match, Taranko vs. Cushing at G. S. T. C. in 1963, was a contest which lasted three hours and ended in a draw.

Political Interest Groups

YOUNG DEMOCRATS — Seated: J. Connell, R. Howe, B. Leighton. Standing: D. MacDonald, advisor R. MacDougall.

The all-inclusive campaigning in the national elections this year prompted the formation of two well-organized interest groups on campus, the Young Republicans and the Young Democrats. For the duration of the campaign, at least, both groups supplied political literature, bumper stickers, and campaign buttons of their respective parties to the students of the college. With the avowed purpose of increasing undergraduate awareness of the issues, the two groups sponsored certain speakers from each party, and although both camps disbanded when the campaign results were published, they had already formed a significant aspect of college life during the fall semester.

The newest organization on campus, the Ski Club has already acquired a large following, in spite of a discouraging lack of snow for a long time in January. The opening of the Kiwanis ski slope in Gorham enabled the members of the Ski Club to participate in much immediate local skiing. When the weather co-operated, this slope also enabled us to conduct an active ski school program, supplemented by plans for weekend ski trips throughout New England. All students of the college from snow bunny to expert are welcome to participate. We were very fortunate this year in having as our advisors Mr. Chamberland, Mr. MacDougall, and Mr. Cole.

Fine Arts

Well-known on this campus are such words as these: "Frat meeting tonight?", "Let's go, Gorham, get-up-and-go!", "How am I ever going to pass physical science?", "Yeah, I've got it figured; I'm a cinch to get a bid from . . .", "What's the matter? Don't you have any school spirit?"

During the flurry and excitement of joining fraternities, cheering basketball teams, and dating, it's sometimes very easy to forget the finer dimensions in our life here; that other angle of Gorham State Teachers College life which makes us a more attractive school to the rest of the state. How many more people attend a mayor campaign show than attend a music major's recital or a performance of the concert band? Gorham is gaining prestige day by day, not because of its record hops, winter carnivals and homecoming weekends, but because of its substantial contribution to culture in Maine. From the exhibitions and convocations of the Art Club and the Modern Dance group, to the brilliant performances of the Dramatics Club and Gorham Chorale, the fine arts program is one that deserves more recognition than it gets.

The primary aim of the Gorham Chapter of the Music Educator's National Conference, a professional organization open to all students on campus, is the study and development of music education in elementary, junior high, and senior high schools. To achieve this aim, the chapter sponsors several musical activities every year, including a concert by performing groups from public schools in and around Gorham, discussions of the methods of teaching music, and performances by musicians living and working in the Portland area.

From Atlantic City to the Rossini Club in Portland, the Gorham Chorale under the direction of Gerard G. Chamberland has earned some of the highest praise bestowed on any club. The men's glee club, composed of men from the entire student body, sometimes performs as a separate unit rendering works representative of several different eras including Gregorian chants.

Combined with the sixty-eight voices of the women's glee club, they form a chorale of such ability that their production of Honegger's King David last year was a major triumph for the fine arts department.

Students are selected by audition to sing in the A Cappella Choir on the basis of voice quality, ability to read music, and interest in the subject. Blending his voice with another student's to produce a vibrant harmony gives the participant a deep sense of achievement in the fields of aesthetics and self-expression.

The works which A Cappella performs are as varied as the limitations of a small group will allow, encompassing vocal chamber music from Renaissance to Contemporary music. One of the better known of A Cappella's performances is the annual Christmas Convocation in cooperation with the Modern Dance Club.

Combining the talents of the Gorham college students with that of the more musically inclined citizens of the Gorham community, Dr. Jerry Bowder has developed the Gorham College-Community Orchestra into an artistic organization of professional skill. Meeting Monday evenings for their weekly rehearsals, the orchestra performs works from pre-classical to modern composers, in preparation for their annual spring concert. This year's concert presented works ranging from Haydn and Vivaldi to Shostakovich and Etler.

The unique and full sound that can be produced by an instrumental group in which there are no strings or woodwinds is carried to its highly successful extreme in the brass ensemble. This talented group of music majors, exploring the field of the "brass sound," is directed by Mr. Ronald C. Cole, a recent addition to the music faculty. The ensemble consists of five parts: two trumpets, French horn, trombone, and baritone. Of all the functions at which it performs during the school year, probably its best-known contribution is its participation in the Christmas convocation.

Under the direction of Dr. Donald Spencer, the Dramatics Club entered its fourth year as an active and productive unit in the campus cultural program. The membership this year showed an increased interest in the field of dramatics, providing a great deal of fresh talent and willingness to work toward the development of new scope in large scale productions.

After last April's successful presentation of Elmer Rice's "The Adding Machine," which established the club's present high reputation, the dramatics department realized new hope for a large scale play, beginning work in October on Durrenmatt's "The Visit." This terrifying honest representation of human motives, desires, and inadequacies was well received at all three performances.

The second semester's efforts proved equally rewarding with more emphasis being placed on the technical aspect of drama, and more exchange programs enacted. The production of "The Happy Time" in April was one of the most exhausting, yet fulfilling experiences for the club.

This unique club provides an opportunity for creativity and personal expression in the medium of dance under the patient instruction of Miss Jeanette Goodwin, chairman of Dance Education in Maine.

At the Christmas Convocation, "Toyland," "These Are a Few of My Favorite Things," and "The Nativity" were aptly and beautifully interpreted. This arrangement was also performed before a private club at Pride's Corner. The Spring Concert, held April 29 and 30 combined ingenuity and grace to produce a fascinating program, part of which was reproduced for a private club at Kezar Falls.

But just reviewing the beauty and glory is overlooking the background of hard work and long hours of the members, the lighting crew, Mr. Phil Moody, the recording technician, Mr. Allen Milbury, and all others who have had a part in the club's success.

With the realization of artistic talent outside of the Art curriculum, several art students decided to set up an organization that would provide our unsung artists with new opportunities of expression. Thus the art club was organized under the direction of Mr. Miner, offering all students a chance to work on individual projects from Christmas cards to wire sculpture. A look at some of the work produced is ample proof of the club's value to one student, and a stimulus for a dormant creativity in another. Whatever medium most excites one's urge to create, whether finger-painting, oil painting, water coloring or sketching, the art club can provide it.

This past year has been a building year for Amicitia. As a friendship club, it has strived to establish a permanent and respected place for itself on the hill. It shattered tradition last fall when it announced Carolyn Chandler as its candidate for Mayor. Amicitia has numerous other activities during the year, including dances, car washes, Christmas baskets, as well as its major project, the Miss G. S. T. C. Pageant.

To become a member, a girl must have a 2.0 average, be a sophomore or a junior, be a resident student, and be voted upon by the members. Pledges undergo a four day initiation culminating with Hell Night and a formal banquet shortly afterwards. The Club also holds an annual outing in the spring.

Alpha Lambda Beta, the oldest fraternity on the Gorham State Teachers College campus, was established in 1928 to promote social, cultural, and athletic interests while establishing friendship and unity among its brothers. A fraternity which includes representatives from Maine to Connecticut, the maroon and gold is prominent on the athletic fields where Beta's men are active in soccer, basketball, tennis, baseball, and cross country.

The focal point of Alpha's various programs to enrich the social life here at Gorham is the annual "Alpha Weekend," climaxed by a home basketball game with our traditional rival, Farmington State Teachers College. Alpha also sponsors a candidate for mayor, and Homecoming Queen, besides an annual smoker for non-fraternity men on campus.

This year Alpha cooperated with Amicitia to participate in a nationwide multiple sclerosis drive.

Kappa Delta Phi, a national fraternity composed of men interested in common ideals of progressive education, strives in fraternal cooperation with one another to strengthen themselves morally, spiritually, and intellectually while doing everything they can by deed and example to promote the highest educational ideas and practices.

Kappa was founded in 1900 by the men of Bridgewater State College. In 1938, the local fraternity of Lambda Pi Sigma relinquished its charter and became Iota Chapter, eighth of the now fourteen chapters comprising Kappa Delta Phi. Since this time, Iota Chapter here at Gorham has consistently received a high rating along with many awards in the national fraternity.

Kappa sponsors a Homecoming Queen candidate and a Mayor candidate besides participating actively in most of the sports and organizations on campus. Such benefits as name performers, record hops, movies, the skating rink, and hootenannies can be attributed to Kappa Delta Phi.

Phi Sigma Pi, a national professional education fraternity, was organized for future educators at Warrensburg, Missouri, in 1916. In 1955, the local fraternity Omega Nu Epsilon joined the professional brotherhood as Omega chapter. Believing firmly that the highest good is attained through service, and that the teaching profession offers unlimited opportunities to realize this goal, the brothers have continually striven to develop themselves, and one another, into effective teachers.

Besides social participation in the regular campus activities, Mayor campaign, Homecoming, Winter Carnival, and the Green and White Way, some of Omega's better known projects are the Sweetser Home outing, the Millett School Halloween party, the Donald Semmes Memorial Scholarship, informal tutoring, and several minor projects each year. This year we were pleased to send four delegates to the Phi Sigma Pi National Convention.

Proud of their reputation as "the scholarly fraternity," the brothers aspire eventually to sponsor a campus literary magazine.

Frank and fuzzy friend help freshmen move in.

The 1965 school year's activities, and a new era of learning opened up to the class of 1968, when on September thirteenth, 221 promising individuals arrived on campus, eager to become meaningful members of an informed and competent class. Although a thorough orientation to campus life is a full-year process, the first steps in it were guided by a committee of upper-classmen through four days of planned activity including tours, speakers, sports and dances.

Required summer reading for the Freshman class, was John Hersey's The Child Buyer, a biting commentary on today's educational procedures. From the serious discussions of Hersey's novel, to the rollicking good fun of the Freshman Show, our latest class became acquainted with the rapidly growing campus, one another, and all the lively places from Mason's to Dr. York's office.

Freshman Reception Oct. 1

Once again the Student Christian Association cordially invited all Freshmen and new students to interrupt their studies for an evening of welcome and entertainment. Acting as Mistress of Ceremonies was Edith Bickford, alert and efficient president of S. C. A.

After the welcoming address of Dr. Emerson, who emphasized a need for active participation as a college student, the new students were escorted to the Russell Hall gymnasium to meet Dr. and Mrs. Brooks, and the members of the faculty. Refreshments were served, and the dance that followed marked the evening as the culminating event of the first weeks at the college.

After a week of campaigning for Homecoming Queen (the first big tri-fraternity competition of the year), the Varsity "G" Club presented their annual Homecoming weekend. At the movie presented on Thursday, the eighth, Varsity "G" representative Lennie Emmons presented the three subjects of enthusiastic campaigning: Alpha Lambda Beta's Margie Verrill, Kappa Delta Phi's Beth Brown, and Phi Sigma Pi's Eileen Ivers. These three were the very lovely candidates for the title of Homecoming Queen, 1964. At the dance the next evening, Beth was announced the winner of the campaign, and in anticipation of her coronation at the Harvest Ball, October 10, she reigned over the Homecoming soccer game, a victory over Rhode Island.

The brilliance of the crisp October weekend was climaxed by the Harvest Ball, when Beth was crowned Homecoming Queen by last year's sovereign, Ann Miller.

Mayor Campaign Nov. 16-20

It started with workshops . . .

It ended with cheers . . .

The campus in campaign dress.

The annual mayor campaign enjoyed a "completely unique experience" this year, as Amicitia and Carolyn Chandler took their stand by demanding a chance equal to that of the males on campus. Each AC campaigner proved that it was a joy being a girl without the support of the opposite sex and other distaffs. Giving their campaign "the old college try," the sisters presented a show which featured Carolyn in an uproariously funny spoof of life at G. S. T. C., while demonstrating their candidate's talent and wit. "Underdogs" appeared on many of their campaign signs, and delving into the masculine heart (as well as the Charles M. Schultz books), they proclaimed to all that "security is a woman." Both criticized and praised for their surprising precedent, Amicitia may prove to be a real force in future campaigns.

Suave, debonair . . . overworked words, to be sure, but accurate to describe Alpha Lambda Beta's contender for the cane, Chan Bearce. Easily the most glamorous of the campaigns, the Beta Bunny Club fairly glittered with evidence of the time, work and money that the brothers had contributed to make Chan mayor of the campus. Dinner jackets, carnations, "Chan the Man" pins, and matchbooks decorated the campus while the traditional Beta Bear and the new Beta Bunny were Chan's escorts even into the cafeteria. An effective campaign? Hugh Hefner could sue. All Alpha's time, money, and enthusiasm paid them a huge dividend at the Harvest Ball, when Chan was elected as the sixteenth campus mayor in the history of the college, with the charge of providing halftime entertainment at basketball games, greeting important guests of the college, and promoting the campus social life.

A satire of campus life was the igniting spark to Kappa Delta Phi's campaign, featuring senior Courtney Haggett as the popular "Mr. Novak." Kappa depicted the undergraduate's dream when "G. A. P." — Gorham Abnormal Prep — made its appearance on stage. What a school! Co-ed dormitories, unconventional classrooms where girls learned the true value of industrial arts, and widely-travelled faculty members who amassed "vast" amounts of valuable souvenirs convinced the not-too-reluctant audience that a college education under such a unique curriculum could be accomplished with wholehearted zest. The campaign gained momentum as the G. A. P. bus was seen scurrying passengers and supplies to campaign headquarters or rushing harried students to a last-minute class. Whether a practical curriculum or not, the G. A. P. plan and Courtney Haggett have made a lasting impression on the campus.

Straight from the hills of the Ozarks, Cubby and his kin—better known as Bob Gallant and Phi Sigma Pi—effectively rounded out the campaign with a loud, boisterous and uninhibited hillbilly jamboree, complete with a foot-stomping, washboard-scrapping jug band from Deering High School. Singing the merits of Uncle Bill's still, and well supplied with mountain dew, the brothers presented their bearded standard-bearer, who proved that slapstick and musical talent are not necessarily immiscible. From a top jazz combo to the delightful harmony of the new Omegas, the campaigners' efforts added a unique angle to the spirit of a thrilling week. Bob himself neatly summarized his campaign and mystified the campus for days with his homely philosophy, "a wet bird never flies at night."

Winter Carnival Feb. 18-21

W.A.A. accomplished this much.

R. Brown, determined to make the snow workable for Kappa sculpture.

A valiant attempt of Phi Sigma Pi. R. Newell, G. Wilbur.

Then it snowed.

"Candyland," a theme which almost magically produced a delightful Winter Carnival Ball, presented a genuine challenge to all college organizations which usually turn out in force to create a new world of snow sculptures on campus. "We could make a giant lollipop," and "How about a big gingerbread man?" echoed about the halls for days, although the loudest cry was, "Where are we gonna find any snow?" So, while the Outing Club members chewed their fingernails and fretted about the success of their project, preparations silently went on.

At the movie "Cimarron," chairman Charlie Jucius introduced the queen candidates, Claudia Duncan, Beverly Garramore, Judy Barker, Robin Oldmixon, and Pinky Finn. Students bought tickets for the ball, cast their votes, and still it didn't snow. Finally, in spite of the lack of a sculpting medium, tradition was upheld by Kappa Delta Phi's "Good Ship Lollipop Sailing to Big Rock Candy Mountain," and Alpha Lambda Beta's gem, "Mickey Mouse Drowning in a Vat of Peppermint."

The highlight of the weekend was the Winter Carnival Ball, where the sparkling atmosphere was topped by the crowning of Judy Barker as Winter Carnival Queen. Then it snowed.

Green and White Way Feb. 23

Tuesday night, February 23, was G.S.T.C.'s official night for fun and games in Russell Hall, where the Student Christian Association set up their annual penny carnival, the Green and White Way. From someone's scream as she dipped her hand into the mystery box, to the tense concentration of an amateur penny pitcher, the students' reactions were favorable ones. True, some groans issued from those who just missed the target with darts or found that pennies underwater just don't fall straight, but the delight of a vengeful few was the Robie jail where friends or enemies could be imprisoned for a small sum. Many members of the faculty and administration visited there before the night was over.

The object behind this flurry of activity was the World University Service, founded in 1920 and rapidly expanded to a world-wide program of aiding foreign students to gain a college education. Based on a concern for the sincere search for truth and creative thinking, the W.U.S. trains men and women to acquire a wide and coherent view of human culture and a sense of their responsibilities within contemporary society. This will allow for the fullest development of everyone in the University community.

The purpose: wider opportunity for education through the World University Service.

Miss G.S.T.C. Pageant - April 14

Written especially for the Miss Gorham State Teachers College Pageant by Bernie Wayne, who wrote the famous "Miss America" song, the sparkling musical presentation of "Today Is Tomorrow" finally appeared on the Russell Hall stage after several patience-trying postponements. But the pageant was well worth waiting for when nine of Gorham's loveliest were presented as contestants for the title of Miss G.S.T.C. for 1965, displaying talents which ranged from singing and dancing to poetry and painting. The show's sponsors, Amicitia and the Portland Jaycees, gave the pleasant position of emceeing this presentation of pulchritude to Al Cochrun, and the whole show was under the general direction of Bernie Resnick from Portland. Miss Maine and the pageant judges had the enviable assignment of re-veuing the campus beauties, and the not-so-enviable job of picking only one from them to represent the college at the Miss Maine Pageant. Miss Congenialty, the first runner-up, and Miss Gorham State Teachers College were chosen from the following candidates, sponsored by various campus organizations: junior, Donna Griffiths; sophomore, Dale Reader; freshmen, Louise Bourget, Cynthia Eaton, Ellen Fowler, Kay Gagnon, Terry Gott, Joan Haley, and Karen Turcotte.

Eighteen-year-old freshman Louise Bourget (5'3", 112 lbs.) sang "Goldfinger" in the pageant. She was sponsored by Kappa Delta Phi.

Another singer, music major Joan Haley (5'3", 110 lbs.) is a freshman and entered the pageant backed by Alpha Lambda Beta.

Her second year in the pageant, sophomore art major Dale Reader (5'8", 128 lbs.) presented a display of her own paintings. Her sponsor was Varsity "G".

Amicitia's contestant Terry Gott (5'6", 115 lbs.) is a music major, and sang "Much More" from "The Fantasticks."

Nineteen-year-old freshman Kay Gagnon (5'4", 115 lbs.) performed with a modern poetry reading by John Saxe. Her sponsor was Phi Sigma Pi.

Sponsored by the Modern Dance Club, Ellen Fowler (5'6½", 128 lbs.) performed a self-choreographed jazz dance. She is nineteen years old and a freshman.

The Ski Club's freshman candidate Karen Turcotte (5'3", 120 lbs.) is also one of the college cheerleaders. Her act was a lighted baton routine.

The only junior in the pageant, Donna Griffiths (5'5½", 124 lbs.) read a collection of poetry which she had partly written, partly compiled. Her sponsor was S.C.A.

The purpose of the Women's Athletic Association is to provide organized sports such as field hockey, tennis, archery, touch football, volleyball, basketball, softball, trampoline, and fencing in which the women students can by participation learn sportsmanship and cooperation. Counselors for each sport, as well as the officers, guide the execution of these purposes. Through these organized and individual sports the women can earn their numerals, letter, pin and finally a white blazer — all presented at the culminating activity of the year, a spring banquet.

This year the group enlarged their scope by including a basketball game and playday to promote interschool activity.

While making it two successful seasons in a row, the G. S. T. C. soccermen showed excellent defense and scoring ability, coming very close to many records set by last year's team. The team won some very important games and lost others by slim margins. Our new goalie, Adam Burrows did a very creditable job in the nets, following in the footsteps of big Bruce Anderson, who had the job for three years. Coach Costello got a lot of mileage out of his seniors, Captain Pete Brawn, Bill Soucy, Bill Foss, Harry Hardy, Vance Porter, Ed Le-Blanc, Jerry MacConnell, John Gato, and Dave White. With these key graduation losses it looks like a building season next fall, but with the returning veterans things could still be bright if the interested underclassmen are recruited. Back for another season are Adam Burrows Charlie Jucius and Lennie Emmons, the 1 - 2 scoring punch, and three first year men, who played like veterans from the outset, junior Pete Cheney and freshmen Dave Martin and Pete Chandler.

Season Highlights

Gorham 1 Plymouth 0

After experiencing an earlier loss at the hands of P. S. C. and a consecutive streak of losses extending back to the 1961 season, Gorham finally got revenge. Playing one of its most aggressive games, G. S. T. C. came through with an early goal by Jerry MacConnell. Then, throwing up a stout defense and an ever charging offense, the "Hilltoppers" took a 1 - 0 victory. MacConnell's goal was a spectacular "picture play." Coming on fast, diminutive John Gato "headed" a perfect pass to Jerry, who in turn "headed" it into the nets for sweet victory.

Gorham 8 Farmington 1

Hot in pursuit of another single game scoring record, Gorham completely humbled the "Beavers." The record being an 8 - 0 victory set in 1963 at Gorham was not broken but tied. Scoring almost at will, the Gorham booters racked up six easy goals in the first half and coasted home with two more in the second. Jerry MacConnell, Charlie Jucius, Lennie Emmons, Ed LeBlanc, Harry Hardy, and John Gato all enjoyed building up the margin of victory.

Gorham 2 Salem 0

Entertaining the Salem "Witches" for the last game proved to be the perfect ending to another successful season. After an earlier season 0 - 0 tie at Salem, the "Gorhamites" were off and running, scoring in each half on goals by Lennie Emmons and Charlie Jucius. The "fearsome foursome" of Bill Soucy, Pete Brawn, Pete Cheney, and Harry Hardy kept the visitors in check throughout the encounter. Adam Burrows chalked up a record of being the only Gorham goalie to ever blank Salem in a season.

Cross Country 1964

B. Belyea, G. Mosley, W. Ridlon, R. Coughlin, C. Malia, K. Bissell, Coach Wilkinson.

In defense of their 1963 NESCAC Championship, this year's "Hill and Dalers" came up with another successful season. The Gorham "harriers" turned in a 9 - 3 record; two losses coming at the hands of Boston State College, who edged Gorham 33 - 35 for the 1964 crown. This year's team featured the sensational running of freshman Barry Belyea who lost only two runs, both to the same college by the total of a few seconds. Last year's pace-setter, Charlie Malia, gave strong support, as he followed Barry closely across the line all season, although he was hampered by shin splints! Rick Coughlin, Wally Ridlon, Ken Bissell and George Mosley ran well all season and contributed a large measure to the team's success. The team was plagued by injuries and the like all season which greatly affected the team's power, especially in the New England Meet. Thanks go to Mr. Wilkinson of Biddeford who contributed his own time to coaching the team, as there is no faculty-coach. With only the graduation of Bissell and Mosley the team should have another fine record next fall.

R. Coughlin, C. Malia score for Gorham.

N.E.S.C.A.C. Championship Meet

B. Belyea comes in first.

This year G. S. T. C. was honored to host the NESCAC Championship Meet, as defending champs. On Nov. 7th, 1964, a large crowd was on hand to watch the six New England colleges vie for the title. Although the Hilltoppers lost the meet to Boston State by a close margin of 33 - 35, Gorham freshman Barry Belyea came home first, breaking the tape in the sensational time of sixteen minutes flat, just 18 seconds off the course record.

Basketball 1965

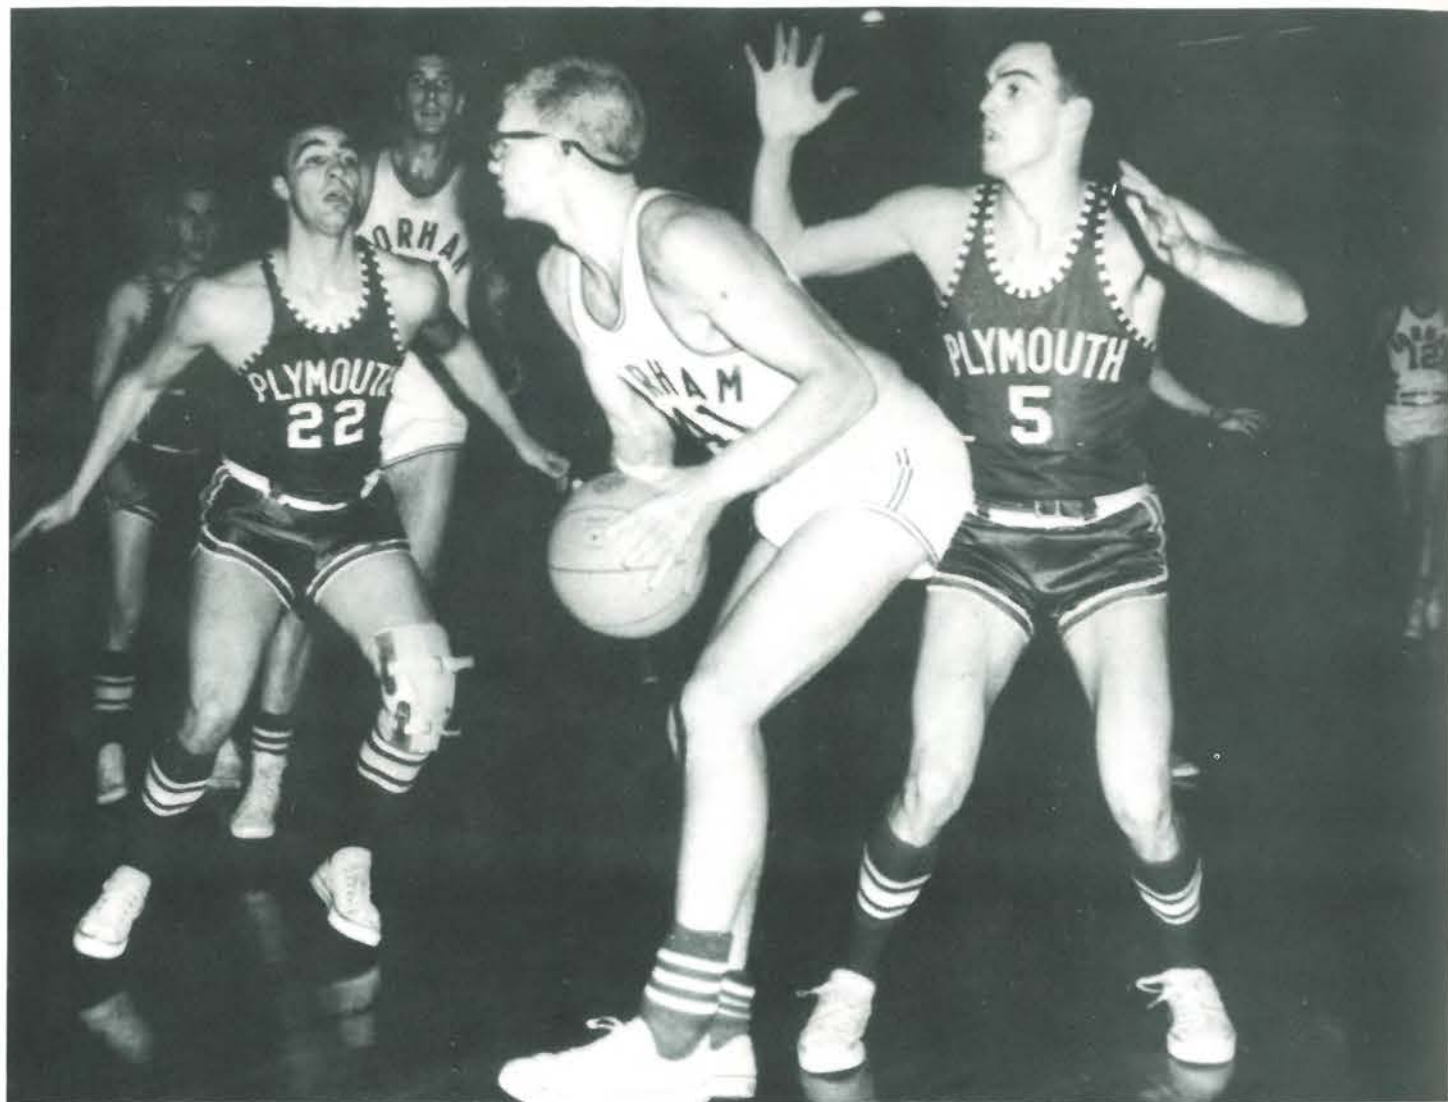

Wally Ridlon dribbles through.

Playing a determined brand of basketball all season long the Hilltoppers came up with a very impressive 17-8 record. The Gorham power was one to be reckoned with, when at various points we knocked off Rhode Island, Salem, and Plymouth, the conference leaders. The Gorhamites showed their greatest skill as they pulled many a close game out of the fire, much to the delight of students and alumni. Gorham participated in three tournaments, collecting two second places and one third. Probably the high point of the season was making the finals of the District 32 N.A.I.A. Playoff held at Gorham for the first time. Co-captains Wayne MacDougall, Benny Palubinskas, and 6'5" center Tom Wheeler were team leaders all through the campaign. Ken Knapton, Walt Ridlon, and 6'4" freshman Dave Millett came up with some key performances that often gave Gorham the victory, and the second semester additions of Harry New and Jack McKenna bolstered the Hilltoppers late season tournament drive. Graduating senior Dick Nichols is Coach Costello's first in two years, so there are bright hopes for next season with all five starters returning.

N.A.I.A. Tournament

The G.S.T.C. campus was fortunate to be host for the District 32 N.A.I.A. Playoff to determine a representative to the national N.A.I.A. Tournament in Kansas City. The four New England teams participating in the two day event were: Central Connecticut S.C. (six time winner), Rhode Island S.C., Salem S.C., and host Gorham S.T.C. First night pairings matched Salem and Central in a well played, wide open ball game. The Central press paid off enough to result in a 92-88 victory for the Nutmeggers. In the nightcap the Hilltoppers' control ball tactics paid off against the tall Rhode Islanders. The Gorham attack, which was led by a 22 point second half performance by Wayne MacDougall, gave G.S.T.C. a 76-75 win. In the final game Gorham sufficiently broke the Central press for a 1 point lead in the first half, but torried shooting in the closing minutes of the half gave Central a 2 point lead at halftime. Central built up a 10 point lead during the second canto, and with a few minutes remaining, employed an effective stall, although at one time Gorham cut the lead to 5 points. Coach Costello's men were denied the trip to Kansas City when Central won (84-71) for the seventh time in a row.

Baseball 1964

Coach Wescott's diamonders found that the competition of the New England State College Athletic Conference has improved. Among other problems, no home field for instance, the Gorham team was young and inexperienced in league competition. Turning in a 3 - 9 record the team showed a lot of potential as the team batting was .266 which is the best in many a year at Gorham. Twenty-eight stolen bases over the season indicates good speed for the '65 campaign. Only three men were lost through graduation (co-captains Art Dyer and Gary Heald, and Kendall Winchenbach), and there are 9 returning lettermen. The highlight of the season among the three wins was a highly prized victory over Plymouth State College who were previously undefeated. Gorham's easiest win was a 20 - 1 drubbing of Farmington at Farmington.

Benny Palubinskas led the team in batting at .386 with 14 RBI's. Mike Murphy turned in the best pitching record at 2 - 2 and also hit .467 although he did not qualify for the batting title. Both these men will be back as juniors which should provide some excitement this spring.

Suffering from heavy graduation losses, last year's team experienced a very tough building year. With only veteran Jerry MacConnell, Ron Friedman and David Bailey the team turned in a 4 - 6 record. A knee injury to Paul Johnson kept him from competition. Paul, the most valuable player of the previous season, could have made a great difference to the team. This season could be a big success since all the members of the team are back. Of course the main attraction of the season was the participation of Miss Beth Brown, the first girl to play on the men's varsity. Although she was unable to play in NESCAC competition, Beth went undefeated in non-league matches. She won three singles and teamed up to win two doubles games.

J. MacConnell.

Golf 1964

Coach Costello, J. Hadlock, M. Good, D. Sanford, W. Snell, B. Todd.

With only one returning letterwinner, the Gorham linksmen came through with its third successful season as in many years in the NESAC Golf circuit. The team turned in a 7-3 overall record with a 6-3 conference slate, good enough for third place. Led by freshmen Bob Todd and Jim Hadlock, Gorham was in contention for the championship until losing their final match to Salem 8½-6½. Out of a possible 30 points for the season, Captain Wayne Snell picked up 16½ of this. Max Good came through with 20½ and Bob Todd made 19. Jim Hadlock took team scoring honors with 22 and Dean Sanford garnered 17½. Bob Todd turned in the low score card of 74 at Gorham Country Club versus Johnson State. Coach Costello looks forward to another successful golf campaign this spring.

SOFTBALL 1964

Last spring, the Beta Bears swept the field in softball for their fifth straight year. Led by pitcher Jim Smyth, the Bears easily took the title with only one defeat in the entire season, when the spirited Kappa Kolts won the first of the final championship games. With a forceful, dynamic comeback, the Bears took the next two games to make them the 1964 champions.

FOOTBALL 1964

Including seven teams representing freshmen, fraternities and friends, last fall's intramural football league stimulated some excellent competition. The season's greatest battle turned out to be a contest between the long dominant Archie's Gang, and a big, strong Kappa Kolt team. Both teams were undefeated until they met, when Kappa was victorious in the first and the third of the final championship games.

Football between the Bears and the Kolts.

BASKETBALL 1965

This year, without a Junior Varsity team, there was an increased interest in the intramural basketball program. Fourteen teams participated in two different leagues, class A and B. The Schwongs, a predominantly freshman team, won the class A championship, and further demonstrated their prowess when they beat the Farmington Intramural All-Stars. In class B the Ramblers came through undefeated as an all-freshman team.

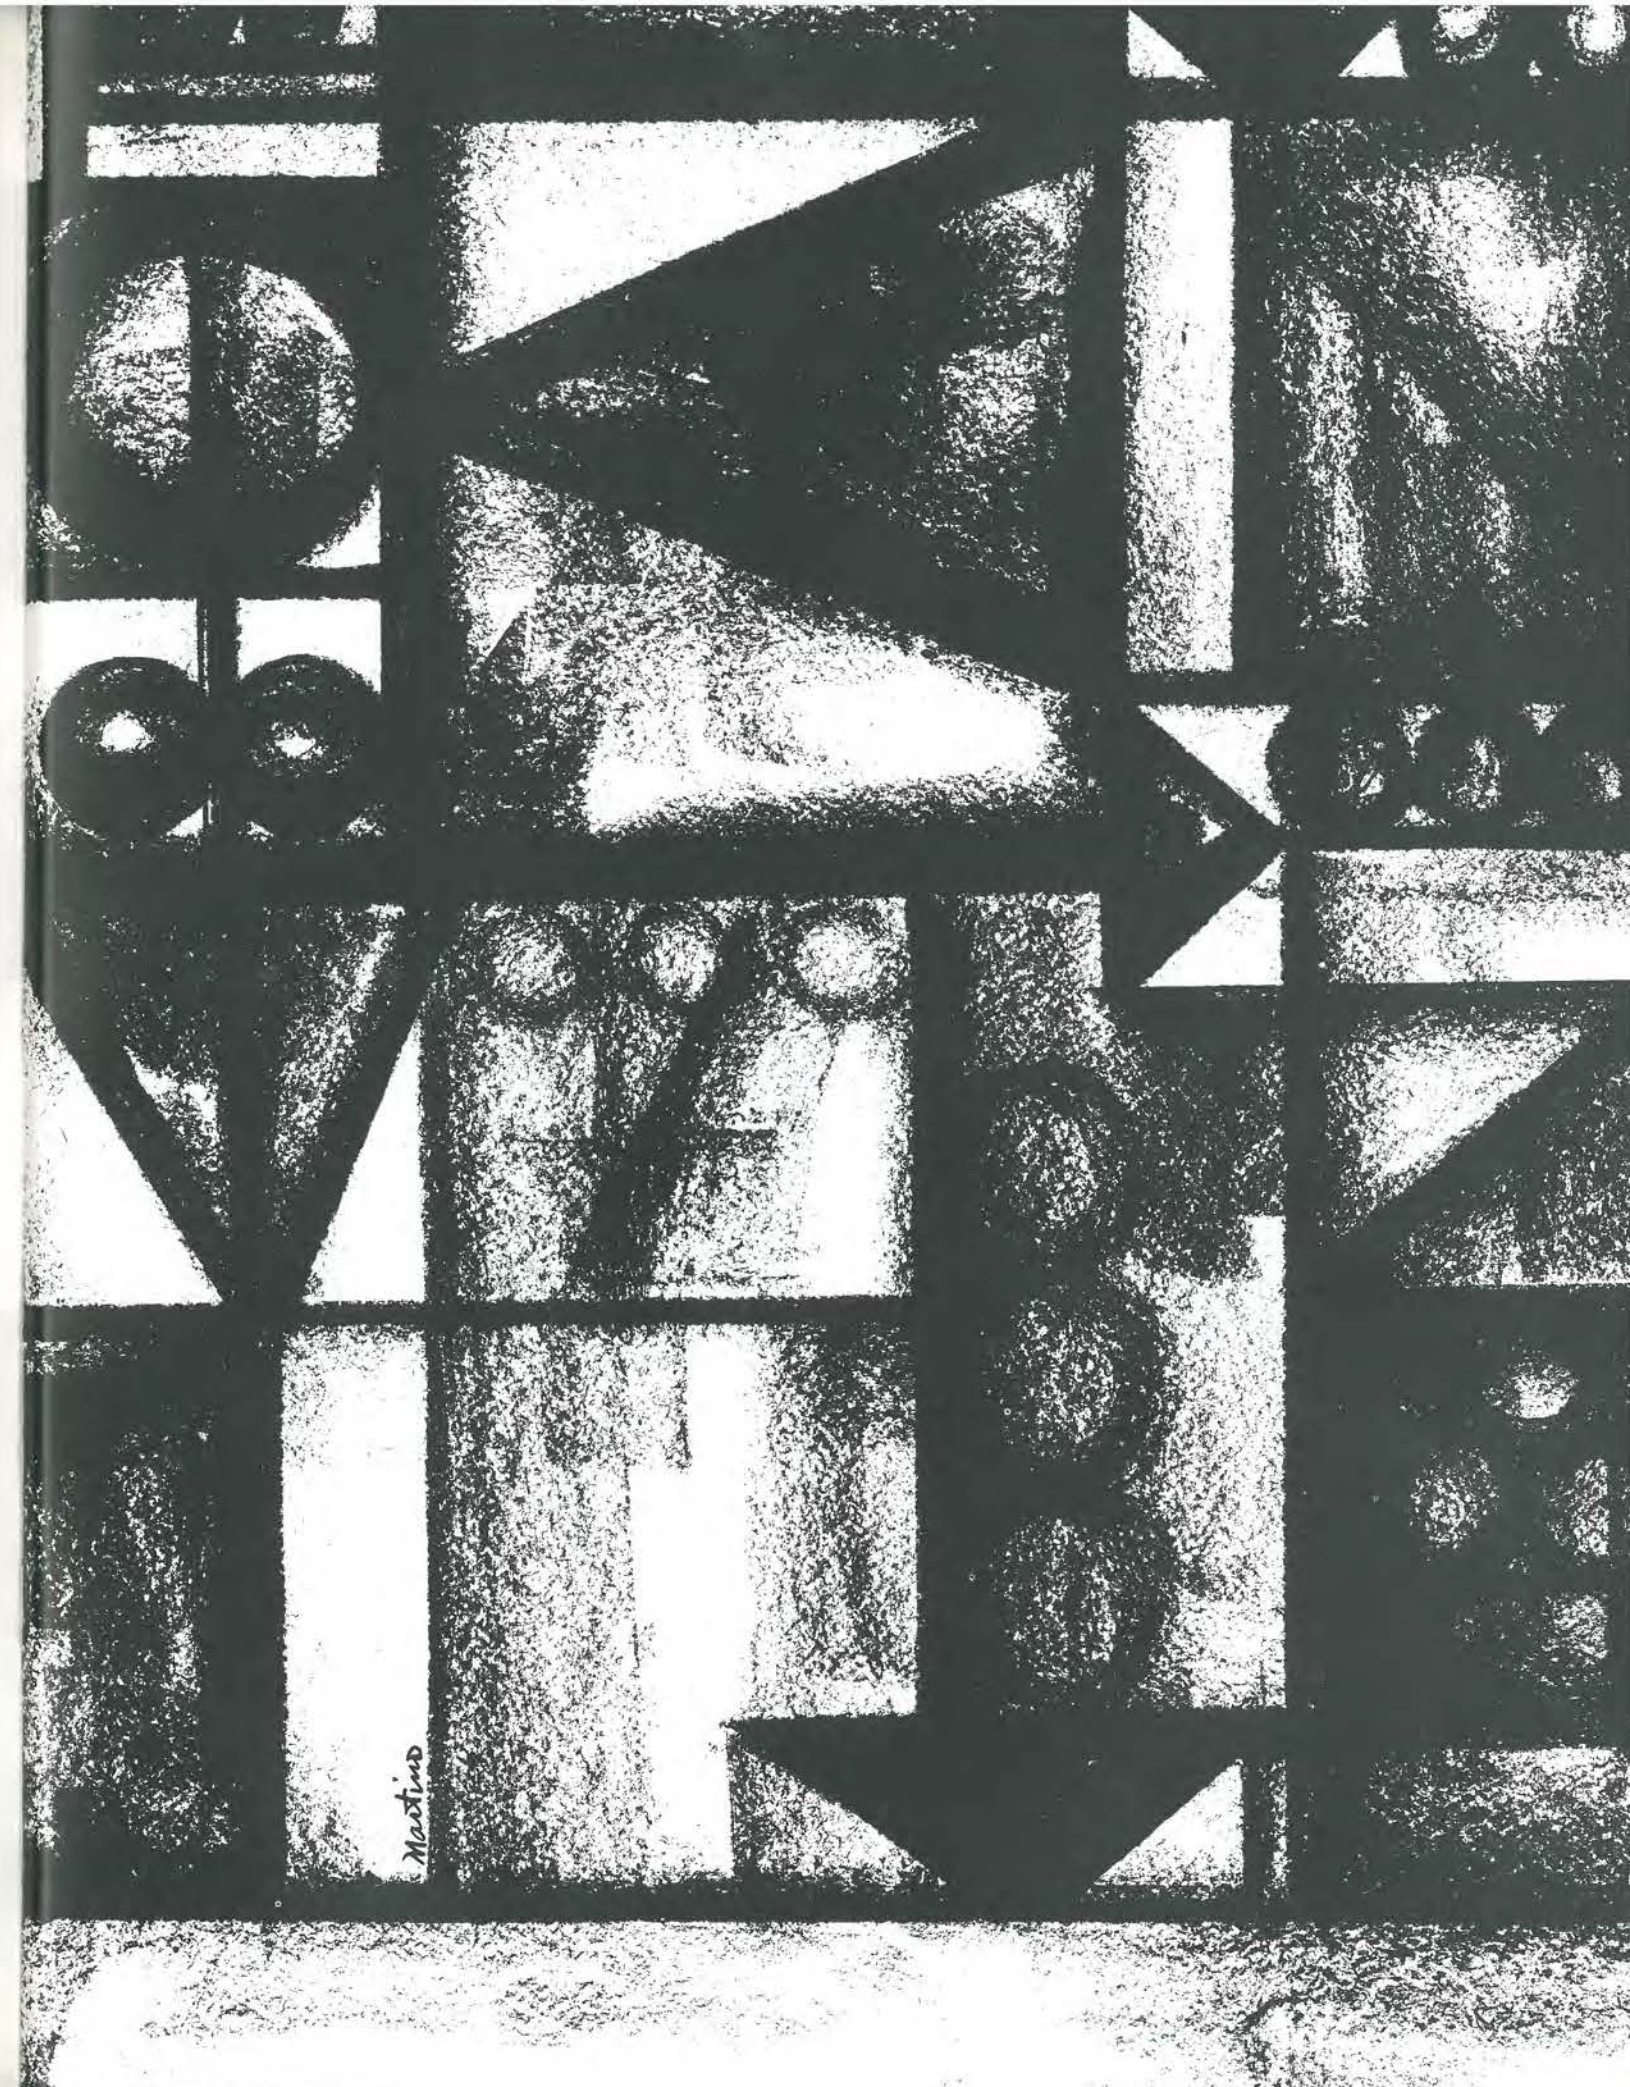

CO-REC

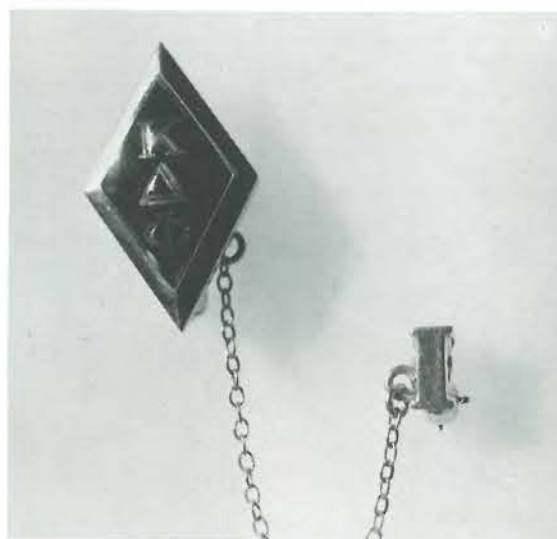

Making use of the new facilities of the Warren G. Hill Gymnasium, Mr. Wescott has initiated a co-recreational program. Open to any Gorham college student, the program accents free, voluntary and enjoyable participation in several sports activities. The guys vs the gals, or with mixed teams, Mr. Wescott feels that this activity has been a real success, and anticipates a bright future for Co-Rec.

The Schwongs take another rebound.

WHY I TEACH

BECAUSE I WOULD BE YOUNG IN
SOUL AND MIND
THOUGH YEARS MUST PASS AND
AGE MY LIFE CONSTRAIN, AND I HAVE FOUND NO WAY TO LAG BEHIND
THE FLEETING YEARS, SAVE BY THE
MAGIC CHAIN
THAT BINDS ME, YOUTHFUL, TO THE
YOUTH I LOVE,
I TEACH.

BECAUSE I WOULD BE WISE
AND WISDOM FIND
FROM MILLIONS GONE BEFORE
WHOSE TORCH I PASS,
STILL BURNING BRIGHT TO
LIGHT THE PATHS THAT WIND
SO STEEP AND RUGGED, FOR EACH LAD AND LASS
SLOW-CLIMBING TO THE
UNREVEALED ABOVE,
I TEACH.

BECAUSE IN PASSING ON
THE LIVING FLAME
THAT EVER BRIGHTER BURNS
THE AGES THROUGH,
I HAVE DONE SERVICE THAT IS WORTH THE NAME
CAN I BUT SAY, "THE FLAME
OF KNOWLEDGE GREW
A LITTLE BRIGHTER IN THE HANDS I TAUGHT,"
I TEACH.

BECAUSE I KNOW THAT WHEN
LIFE'S END I REACH
AND THENCE PASS THROUGH THE
GATE SO WIDE AND DEEP
TO WHAT I DO NOT KNOW,
SAVE WHAT MEN TEACH,
THAT THE REMEMBRANCE OF ME
MEN WILL KEEP
IS WHAT I'VE DONE, AND WHAT I HAVE IS NAUGHT,
I TEACH.

LOUIS BURTON WOODWARD
