Dr. Robert M. York, Dean of Instruction

We, the Class of 1964, wish to dedicate this issue of the Hillcrest to Dr. Robert M. York, Dean of Instruction. Although he has been with us less than two years, the honor already seems overdue. Indeed, by his transfer from the University of Maine, that institution's loss immediately became our gain. In administration, in teaching, in public relations his worth is incalculable; everything he does reflects the man's dedication to progressive change. We ask ourselves, is he not living proof that a busy person is a happy one? And so, we shall measure Robert York not by the length of a coat but by the stature of a mind which puts us all in the shade. We are fortunate to have known him.

The class of 1964 wishes to extend its deep-felt appreciation to Dr. Elizabeth Kerr for her kind assistance as our class advisor. In our first years at G.S.T.C. we knew her as an able teacher of biology, and during our last years we cherished her continued interest in us — in our projects, our responsibilities, and most of all our personal problems. She has made us see the importance for every teacher of a background in the sciences. We marvel at the dedicated spirit with which she has guided and encouraged us.

As seniors we take pleasure, too, in recognizing Mr. Harold Neuberger for his four-year role as our male faculty advisor. We thank him for his generous support, not only as a mathematics and science instructor of unusual skill but also as a warm friend. His smile of encouragement gave us many a needed lift. And so did all those uncounted minutes in conference! We will remember Harold Neuberger for all the ways, academic and personal, that he has enriched our years at G.S.T.C.

Foreword

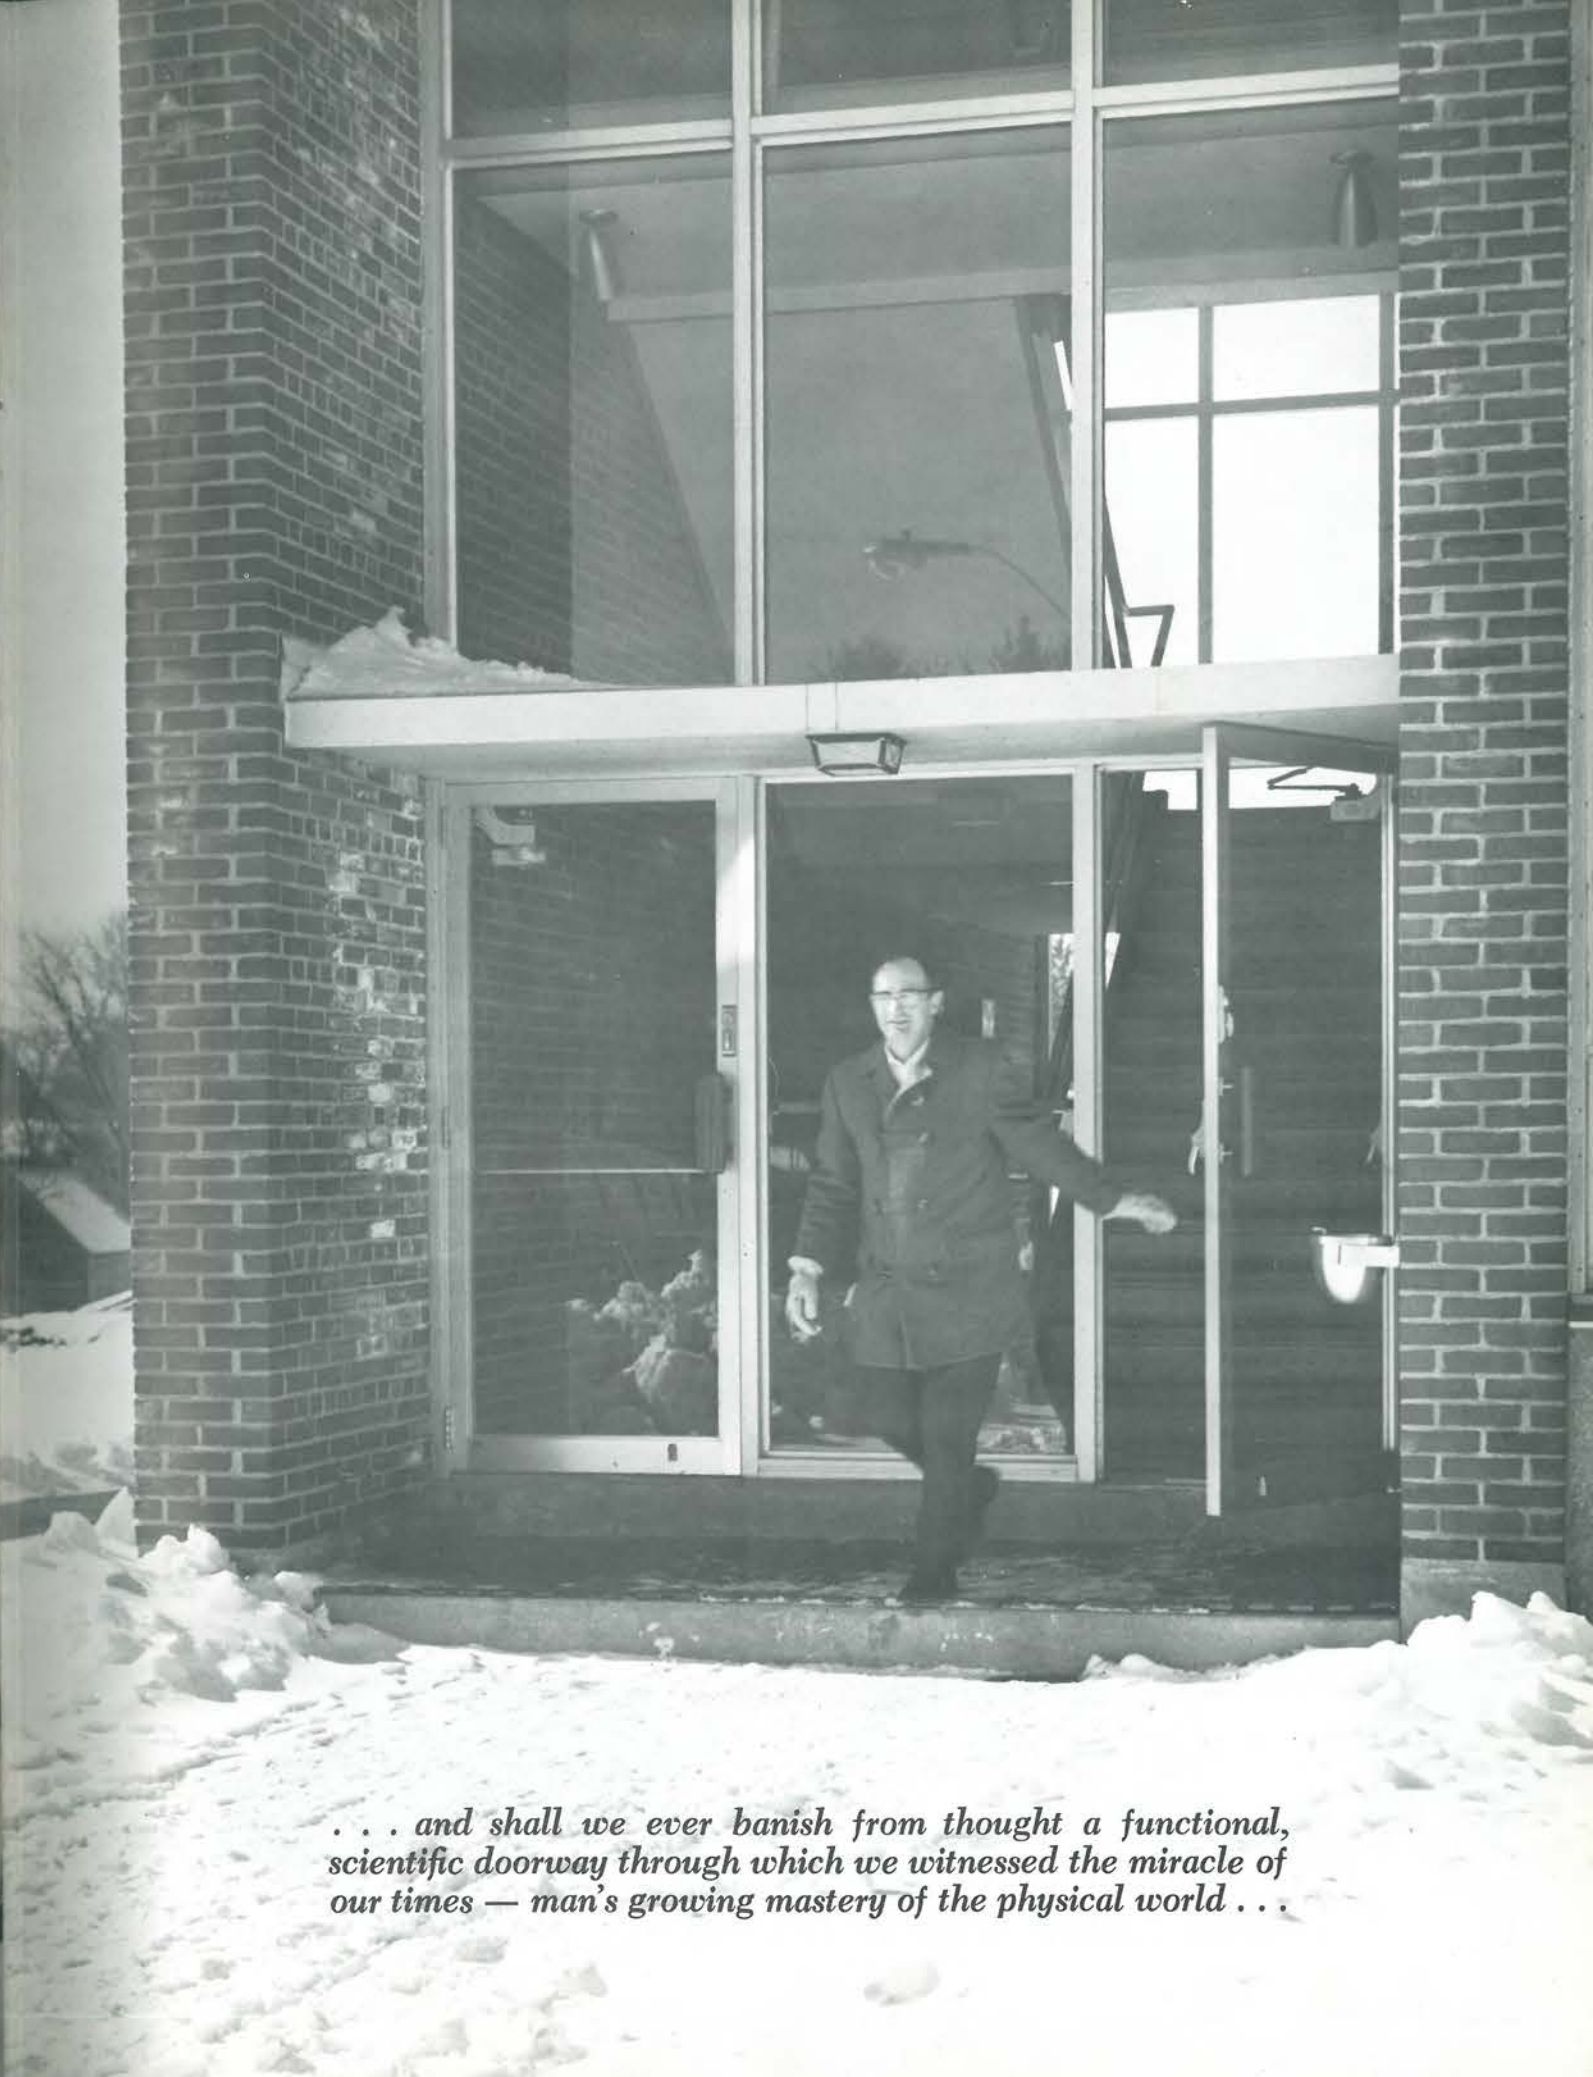

Doorways, so often picturesque and at times even grim, assume peculiar significance on a college campus. Whether they open into an honorary fraternity, a snack bar, or the Dean's office, they present a bewildering range of choices. On a sunny winter afternoon in 1964, college doors are swinging to the ebb and flow of student life. Some are of solid oak, others of featherweight aluminum. But whether clumsily traditional or sleekly modern, each can serve both our dreams and our responsibilities. Who but its opener can say what lies behind a door? While you see in it the heady promise of success, social or academic, I rush to it for shelter from hillcrest winds. Another student, baffled by alternatives, turns to it blindly, a guinea-pig in a maze. And yet, doors on the campus sometimes stand graciously open of their own free will. Are they, like us, weighing the warmth of winter sunlight against the threat of a plunging mercury? This is the fascination of a door. . .

. . . Let us, then, cherish an old Baroque doorway behind which beats the very pulse of college life . . .

... and carry with us memories of a chaste Colonial doorway echoing with the noise of school recess as it did half a century before the College was born . . .

... and shall we ever banish from thought a functional, scientific doorway through which we witnessed the miracle of our times — man's growing mastery of the physical world . . .

... nor could we ever shed that vision of a door that transports us from toil to delight ... a door that makes us drop our books to clasp a warm, responsive hand ... a door that swings in on danceable dates, on loafing and laughs, on the glamour and friendship that makes the Hill "tops" ...

... "Mens sana in corpore sano" — the words need not be inscribed over this doorway, for who has not sensed in every pore and sinew the wisdom of that classical ideal? ...

... while other doorways, long idle though we pass them every day, mutely await their hour — eloquent guardians of the townsman's freedom to speak out, the student's freedom to worship in his own way . . .

... living arches of experience, green portals of promise, the College trees pierce the winter sky, beckoning us — eye, heart, and mind — toward the farthest reaches . . . We could not live without doorways.

DR. KENNETH T. H. BROOKS
PRESIDENT OF G.S.T.C.

B.A., University of New Hampshire
M.Ed., Boston University
D.Ed., Boston University

Dr. Brooks chats with Mr. Walter Reed of Farmington High School and Mr. Harry Hildebrandt of Falmouth High School on Visitation day.

Accreditation involves everyone: Dr. York, Dr. Brooks, Dr. Mitchell.

Dear Members of the Class of 1964:

I am writing this letter on Monday evening, November 25, 1963. You will recognize this as the day culminating the tragic events associated with the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. My thoughts, therefore, on this occasion are somewhat solemn. But the tragedy of these days and the turmoil in which we as a nation now find ourselves demand solemnity.

The impact of the passing of our 35th president on the students of this college was obvious. You were shocked, and not unlike the rest of the nation, you called upon your spiritual heritage and rededicated yourself to the cause of righteousness and justice. Will this dedication be just another emotional outburst or will it really mean something for all time in our lives? Of one thing I am certain, there is no better place for the continuation of this dedication and spiritual awakening than on the campus of a teachers college where the hopes of each generation can be insured. This country needs now, as it has never needed before, people in the teaching profession who are truly dedicated. It needs people to teach kindness, humility, courage, tolerance, self-sacrifice and honesty, all of which lead to the eternal verities that education itself continues to seek after. If you would dedicate yourself to your profession then, a step along the way would be the development of these virtues within yourself. For certainly kindness cannot be taught by the cruel, nor humility by the arrogant. A child will not learn courage from a coward, nor tolerance from the intolerant. And if greed and avarice are a part of our own make-up, we can not call upon the youth of today to make the self-sacrifice that will be so necessary in tomorrow's world.

In a telegram to Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy sent by me on November 23, I made this statement, "Students of this college, as prospective teachers, pledge themselves to work for a continuation of the great humanitarian projects for which he gave his life. We accept his dedication as a living symbol to guide our humble efforts in behalf of the young people who will make up tomorrow's America."

My best wishes go with each of you as you endeavor to fulfill this pledge.

Sincerely yours,

Kenneth T. H. Brooks

The Industrial Arts and the Art departments have always been closely related through similar concepts and principles. A greater unity will be achieved when the new IA building is completed, since it will centralize most sections of Industrial Arts.

The two departments are also changing their methods of teaching. Children will be given freedom for self-expression and self-realization in their projects instead of rigid instructions and heavy manual-training.

Psychology is absolutely indispensable to an education program, for only through psychology can one determine efficient methods of giving and receiving education.

This is, of course, a difficult task that will never be finished because of the constant evolution of psychology and education.

The Music Education Program is designed to prepare music supervisors who will have the necessary skills and experience in vocal and instrumental music for teaching all phases of music from the elementary grades through high school. Students gain further experience by participation in performing groups. Individual abilities are developed through solo performance. As its contribution to the cultural background of the general student, the Music Department also offers courses in Music Appreciation and Fundamentals. Music Education graduates are filling significant positions and are making their contribution to the improvement of the music program in the state.

Several years ago, the Mathematics department responded swiftly to changing concepts in the field by introducing Modern Mathematics methods in our curriculum. Already these innovations have borne fruit. A swelling list of G.S.T.C. graduates who teach the New Mathematics in Maine's primary and secondary schools can testify to its effectiveness. The "math majors from Gorham" have made an impact throughout the state, and beyond.

Physical and Biological Science

MR. ROBERT MILLER
Assistant Professor of Science

Boston University, University of Maine

One problem among the many that threaten our civilized well-being is the looming crisis of automation. Some persons feel that the present educational system places too much importance on Science, and that this emphasis is a mere fad. Yet we may seriously doubt whether any nation can be too scientific for its own good. Instead, shouldn't we embrace more Science, not less, so as to solve the problems of automation? Our faculty is alerted to the need for skilled, understanding science teachers as the chief source of our nation's technical knowledge and the mainstay of a free industrial society.

Social Sciences

DR. HORTON W. EMERSON
Associate Professor
A.B., Colby College; Ph.D., Yale University

Since it is evident that society is growing more and more complex, teachers should know where they are and how they got here. Economics, sociology, and geography deal with "where we are;" history and anthropology with "how we got here."

The Social Sciences Department meets the urgent need to keep up with our changing society by effecting periodic curricular changes. As the number of required courses has been decreased, electives have loomed larger. The most spectacular development in recent months has been the introduction of majors in History and in Social Sciences.

Physical Education

This year, we cannot hope for much more than what we already have. The completion of the new Gymnasium has fulfilled everyone's wishes; it will allow us to improve our fitness or maintain it, and there will be no excuses for not doing so. Our Physical Education program has always been complete because it offers required courses as well as varied outside sports and activities, both for men and women.

English

MISS ELIZABETH SAWYER
Assistant Professor of English
 B.A., University of Maine; M.A.,
 Boston University; Graduate Study,
 Middlebury College

Standing amidst a flurry of scientific revolutions, the "Humanities" curriculum may seem to us merely a preserver of the past and a foe of change. But the Department of English looks back over its shoulder at "the best that has been thought and said" in order to scan "the useable past" and see more clearly ahead.

The student of English at G.S.T.C. joins in this quest. In literature he finds a record of man's aspirations which gives dignity to our mortal predicament. He sees that although we may strive to approach the speed of sunlight, only the mind's light gives meaning to that effort.

The study of English — whether of language, literature, or composition — is unique among academic disciplines: it is not so much a body of information as a reflection of the student himself — his finest self — sensitively grasped and lucidly expressed.

Every upperclassman expects to kick off a new college year by renewing old acquaintances and catching up on the months away ("Didya have a nice summer?"). But what do the scrawny yearlings do when they're brought in from the range? What passes in the minds of those baffled late-adolescents who find themselves at G.S.T.C., a captive audience ready for indoctrination and forced feeding?

The Class of 1967 wishes to report here and now that the process was painless. From a number of reliable sources we learn that Orientation Week was worth all the trouble, and then some. A dynamic orientation committee of well-informed upperclassmen reviewed our problems, suggested solutions, and advised sanely. The discussions which followed ran the gamut from dormitory and commuter life to sports and classes. Then a campus tour put a fine cutting edge on all this theory. Especially impressive was our first meeting with the President, and doubly welcome were the social events of that busy, whirling week.

Homecoming Weekend October 18-19

Candidates: S. Stevens, A. Miller, C. Duncan.

Rivalling the color and brilliance of a phenomenal October, the fourth annual Homecoming Weekend, sponsored by the Varsity "G" Club, got off to a running start. Excitement was high, thanks to a terrific movie, a close soccer game, and a smooth informal dance. Candidates for Homecoming Queen were Ann Miller, Alpha Lambda Beta; Claudia Duncan, Kappa Delta Phi; and Sandra Stevens, Phi Sigma Pi. Ann Miller was chosen by a narrow margin to succeed last year's queen, Sharon Anderson.

Ann starts off the game with a powerful kick.

Mayor Campaign - November 18-22

TONY BLACK

K Δ Φ

The "Wanderer" — Tony Black of Kappa Delta Phi, no less — moved across our vast continent stunned momentarily by fetching glimpses of the nation's teeming variety. What an eyeful, what an earful! Remember the gorgeous waitresses in that New Orleans nightclub, Tony? And the squirming lovelies at the Miss America Pageant? How about the swingin', flingin', rollickin' rhythms of the Kappa Trio, the Mitchell Hill Trio, and that lyrical lark of folksong, Linnea Chilberg? Tony the Wanderer found his El Dorado: in the most colorful campaign staged in recent years, he was elected Mayor. The office is a weighty one; Tony will lead the campus throughout the year in many activities, not the least of which calls for half-time entertainment at the home basketball games.

BILL FOSS

A Λ B

During Campaign Week Bill Foss and his Alpha Lambda Beta crew went down to the sea in ships — right on campus! It was a whale of an act. Who can recall without a shudder Bill's impersonation of Captain Ahab, hook and all? He kept a beady eye on his disreputable shipmates, a shifty band of swash-bucklers as ever hit the deck. We all joined in their grim pursuit of the White Whale as they scanned the horizon from the taff-rail of their 14-foot Pequod. Bill's binnacle was awash from beating to windward as the crest of the College hill showed whitecaps. A vivid portrayal, Bill — a thrilling boost to the campaign!

CHARLIE WING

Φ Σ Π

Charlie Wing and supporters staged a colorful campaign around a theme based on Thornton Wilder's "Our Town." Charlie portrayed the stage manager, and his supporters in turn aided him in presenting a spoof on the renowned play. The Tuesday night show fractured a campus audience which witnessed the inspired antics of candidate Charlie Wing and his talented Thespians of Phi Sigma Pi. Featured players in "Our Town — Gorham" were hobo Jerry Walker, a high school jazz combo from Westbrook, Al Coch-run, Betty Gallison, George Perkins, Carol Couture, the popular singing group, the Omegas, and many others. Charlie, that was a delicious frosting for the campaign-cake!

The eve of February 27, 1964 marked the beginning of the four-day Winter Carnival. Sponsored by the Outing Club, things got rolling at Russell Hall with the hilarious film "It Happened To Jane." Just before the movie, class candidates for the role of Carnival Queen were introduced; freshman, Faye Mixer; sophomore, Jo Ann DiFrederico; junior, Beverly MacPhail; and senior, Kathy Davis. On Friday night a record hop was held. Saturday seethed with artistic industry as six snow sculptures, all on the Disneyland theme, took shape. A carnival ball, "Fantasyland," got under way at 8:00 highlighted by the crowning of the 1964 Queen, Jo Ann DiFrederico. To top off the Carnival's frosting, snow-sculptures were judged on Sunday by a qualified team under Professor Gale Miner of the Art Department. Phi Sigma Pi cinched the winning trophy with their superb likeness of "Jiminy Cricket." Runner-up was Kappa Delta Phi, and W.A.A. received honorable mention.

This year's Penny Arcade was held on a Thursday evening, March 5, at Russell Hall gymnasium. As usual, the event was sponsored by the active Student Christian Association with Marjorie Stone and Edith Bickford as general chairmen. Although participation and attendance was sparse, those who came were impressed by SCA's tremendous undertaking. Some of the busiest booths were manned by the Chess Club, the Student Education Association, the Dramatics Club, and Phi Sigma Pi. All proceeds were donated by the SCA to the World University Service.

The evening of March 21 was drenched with talent and pulchritude. Seven campus lovelies, groomed and coutured from head to toe, vied for the coveted title of "Miss G.S.T.C. for 1964." Masterminded by Bernie Resnik, the beauty pageant, thanks to the sponsorship of Amicitia and the Portland J.C.'s, drew a capacity crowd who oh-ed and ah-ed, whistled and sighed, at the dazzling array of hillcrest charms. The evening saw seven excited and exciting coeds run the gamut - beauty and brains, elegance and humor, songs, dances, paintings, pianism - it seemed as if Gorham's feminine resources were inexhaustible. The five judges, including Elaine Ouellette, the current "Miss Maine," were in a quandry. But before the show folded, the finalists were Sue Daly; Mary Jane Finn, "Miss Congeniality"; Dale Reader, runner-up; and Lona Larrabee, "Miss G.S.T.C. of 1964."

As a college undergoes growth and expansion to meet the demands of the changing times, so must the exponents of this era, specifically such a medium as the class annual, change in scope and design.

It is the desire of the 1964 HILLCREST staff that this volume be an accurate, sensitive, and readable reflection of the events which have occurred during this past year at Gorham State Teachers College.

The G.S.T.C. Public Affairs Club, a newly organized and struggling young group, is designed for the young Democrat, the young Republican, or simply the young future teacher who wants a more cosmopolitan educational experience. The club firmly believes in a broad, general education — one that prepares us to meet intelligently the full impact of public events, domestic and foreign.

The student drawn to such a group is possessed of an inquisitive mind that seeks first-hand information on our place in world society. As a result, speakers engaged by the club are usually consuls and diplomats familiar with ripening developments in such critical areas as Berlin, Cuba, or Viet Nam.

Two members of the State Department were invited this year to the College. Moreover, the Irish Consul, the Nigerian consul, and a South American expert shared some unique insights and experiences with the club and with students throughout the campus.

The Public Affairs Club is thus both an invitation and a challenge to young men and women to learn more about the world's political and social structure — as well as their place in it. In a world of bewildering choices, they learn that their choice must ultimately favor a whole world.

The Student Senate of Gorham State Teachers College regulates and governs the functioning of all activities on the Hill. Membership consists of students elected by each class and officers elected by the Senate itself. This organization serves as a correspondence link between the President and Faculty, and the students. Primarily administrative in function, the Senate allocates and distributes student fees to various campus organizations. At the preliminary meeting of all organizations desiring allocations, the purpose and need of funds are clarified. The determinant in the issuance of funds is the number of students included in, and affected by, each organization.

The social calendar, also organized by the Senate, effectively regulates all student activities.

Senate meetings follow parliamentary procedure, including the use of the gavel and of proper titles.

Advisors: Mr. Arthur Berry and Miss Evelyn Littlefield

The Eastern States Association for Teacher Education seeks to improve the services of teacher education institutions. Working through its member colleges, the ESATE encourages the participation of students and faculty in the formulation of aims, policies, and practices.

Each college is allowed one faculty and one student delegate to the annual conference. It may, however, send as many additional representatives as it desires.

This year faculty member Arthur Berry and student delegate Irene Walker served on the Association's Board of Control and attended the annual conference. Our Faculty Advisory Council submitted a list of candidates for a campus-wide election, through which four additional student representatives were selected: Irene Walker and James Greenleaf, Seniors; Marie Ces and Paul Johnson, Juniors.

The proctors of Woodward Hall and Woodward Hall Extension are on hand to advise and assist all male students in their college endeavors. They also aid the House Directors in the operation of a democratic form of house government. They are selected on the basis of academic standing, citizenship, ability to lead, and character.

The Junior Counselors, who live in Robie Hall, are there to guide women students in their first year of college life. With a friendly, helpful attitude they offer individual assistance and encourage good citizenship, scholarship, and social development. They are chosen from several interested sophomores on the basis of character, leadership, and academic standing.

The three House Committees representing Upton, Andrews, and Robie Halls are subordinate to the Inter-dormitory Council. Each committee consists of ten elected members, who serve for one year. They are concerned with the general welfare of all residents in their halls, each member participating in the operation of his hall by assuming various duties and by representing the interests of fellow-residents. The House Committees promote dormitory social life by sponsoring teas and initiating many get-togethers.

Under the inspired, and inspiring, guidance of Dr. Donald Spencer, the Dramatic Club zoomed into its third year. Students with zest and a willingness to learn had a chance to display their talents, either in acting or production. Painting, props, lighting, costumes, make-up, tickets, or ushering — each was a stone in Russell Hall's proscenium arch!

With the liquidation of the ancient girls' locker-room, the club acquired an indispensable place to meet and to store props and costumes for use in future plays. Result: order out of chaos!

In November, the first of two productions in the school year, "The Importance of Being Earnest," was given on three successive nights to large and delighted audiences. Definite plans were laid for a second triumph in April, Elmer Rice's "The Adding Machine."

This year Gorham's chapter of the Student Education Association has been extremely active and successful under the able guidance and assistance of our adviser, Miss Mildred Peabody.

Representing our chapter of S.E.A., delegates have attended the spring and fall Delegate Assemblies in Augusta, the Swampscot Convention in Boston, and the Peterborough Convention in New Hampshire.

This year we participated in the annual Freshmen Orientation program, gave informal coffees for the student teachers, sponsored a dance, brought in speakers on foreign education, and conducted in addition a High School Visitation Day program.

S.E.A. is an association concerned with upholding the moral and ethical codes of the teaching profession. Members of S.E.A. are also members of the Maine Teachers Association and the National Education Association.

The Newman Club, a national collegiate religious organization, enables a student to share more intellectually and spiritually in the worship of God and to increase his knowledge of the role of Catholicism in today's world.

Here at G.S.T.C. the Club participates in religious, intellectual and social activities. The annual Christmas Party at the St. Louis Home for Boys and Girls is a high-water mark in service work. Other activities sponsored by the Club include: communion breakfasts, dances, and joint meetings with other religious groups from the surrounding communities.

To serve as the main channel of communication for the entire school population — that is the goal of the campus newspaper, "The Observer."

This year it has introduced a critical column devoted exclusively to student-opinion which, by galvanizing personal interests, has exerted pressure in favor of long-needed reforms. Obviously, a growing number of students with seasoned journalistic skill are the newspaper's most valuable assets. Through the cooperation and focused energies of a talented staff, "The Observer" covers campus-wide events and issues with verve and accuracy.

All who play band instruments are welcomed to audition and to join in the rehearsals two hours every week. Regular performances include Convocations, basketball games, Recognition Day, and the annual Christmas and Spring Concerts. This year the College Band is helping the local public schools to start a music program by presenting a concert and a workshop at Gorham High School.

By forging new bonds of friendship among upperclassmen, Amicitia provides a zestful and constructive outlet for sophomores, juniors, and seniors alike. The Club's influence is everywhere: student members organize and produce the Miss Gorham State Teachers College Pageant; they run an Annual Car Wash; they give a food basket to a needy family on Thanksgiving Day; they get behind the drives of fund organizations; they visit Nursing Homes during the holiday seasons. And at year's end all members join in the Amicitia Outing and the Annual Banquet.

Alpha Lambda Beta, Gorham's oldest fraternity, was established in 1928. Since that time the men of the Maroon and Gold have tried to advance friendship and unity on campus by participating in such campus sports as soccer, basketball, baseball, tennis, and cross-country.

Each year Alpha sponsors numerous programs and entertainment to enrich college social life. The peak is reached at the annual "Alpha Weekend," which centers on a home basketball game with our perennial rival, Farmington State Teachers College. But Alpha figures prominently elsewhere — in the queen campaign, in electioneering for the campus mayor, and in the winter carnival. And Alpha sponsors an annual smoker for all non-fraternity men on campus.

Kappa Delta Phi

A national educational, professional, and social fraternity Kappa Delta Phi was founded in 1900. The Iota Chapter, founded at Gorham State Teachers College in 1938, has consistently won high awards in the National Fraternity.

Again this year as in the past, Kappa has had for its prime goal the advancement of educational, social, and cultural life for the students of Gorham State Teachers College. This may be seen in the various functions that Kappa has sponsored, such as "Hootenannies," lectures, movies, the skating rink, the smoker, the Annual Kappa Kabaret and participation in the mayor campaign. This year, Kappa's candidate, Tony Black was elected by the student body as their mayor. Intramural sports also play a large part in Kappa's activities.

Phi Sigma Pi is a national professional-education fraternity founded at Central Missouri in 1916. In 1949 Omega Nu Epsilon was founded at Gorham State Teachers College. Six years later this fraternity became Omega chapter of Phi Sigma Pi.

Members of Phi Sigma Pi dedicate themselves to the development of high ethical character among men of like interests in teacher preparatory institutions. The fraternity is primarily professional in nature; it emphasizes close fellowship, existing in a social way only to meet the needs of campus life. Outstanding activities include professional and business meetings, an annual smoker, participation in the mayor campaign and the Winter Carnival, various service projects, and charity work including, the annual Sweetser Home outing and a Halloween party for Gorham elementary grades.

The fraternity initiated a new program this year in the form of informal help sessions for anyone interested, administered by fraternity members.

The Women's Athletic Association emphasizes student leadership and college-wide participation in sports. With the guidance of the council, the W.A.A. has made available such sports as softball, basketball, volleyball, tennis, trampoline, archery and fencing to growing numbers of women students.

Each member works toward a goal. She strives to obtain her numerals, letter, pin and — the ultimate satisfaction — a white blazer. These awards, earned on a point basis, are presented at the annual Spring Banquet.

Cheerleaders

The cheerleaders, an active group on campus, boost the moral of the basketball team and instill school spirit into the student body. This year they sponsored a Pep Rally and dance prior to the first home game.

The squad consists of eleven girls — nine regular cheerleaders and two substitutes — selected on the basis of appearance, voice, poise, co-ordination with group, personality, and cheering ability.

Through the years the Modern Dance Club has given women students on campus a chance not only to attend classes in conditioning and technique but also to express themselves before audiences with grace and precision. This year, under the creative direction of its advisor, Miss Jeanette Goodwin, the Club presented two highly successful programs on the Hill. The Christmas Convocation featured choreographies based on three seasonal themes — "White Christmas," "The Nativity," and "The Lord's Prayer." On May 8 and 9, the Spring Dance Festival drew capacity crowds to Russell Hall to see group numbers and soloists in a dance recital inspired by modern works of poetry.

Soccer 1963

This season, after brilliant victories over Fitchburg S.C., Salem S.C., and Farmington S.T.C., and a rating in the top three teams of New England, the Hilltoppers lost their last three games. However, the four man, two-platoon system introduced to soccer by coach Costello for the first time in this state was spectacularly effective: the Costellomen went on to break six previously untouched records! Lead by Captain Arnold Dickinson, the graduating Seniors include Bruce Anderson, Jim Smyth, Brad Ingerson, John Shaw, Irving Lash, Charlie Wing, and Ronald Walton.

NESCAC Champs

Coached by former Notre Dame distance star Jack Wilkinson, the harriers of Gorham got together this year for the first time since 1936. As if this weren't enough, the Hilltoppers went on to win the New England State College Athletic Conference Championship held at Bridgewater State College in Massachusetts. Superb conditioning and a Gung-Ho spirit provided Gorham with an almost undefeated season.

Basketball 1963-64

Although severely handicapped this year by ineligibilities, the Hilltoppers had an excellent season, winning fourteen out of their twenty-one games. Once again, the Gorhamites were a major threat in the New England State College Athletic Conference.

Outstanding team members were Hank Giroux, with an average of 16.8 points per game; Ben Palubinskas with 16.0 points; and Tom Wheeler, with 15.6 rebounds per game. It is no secret that our victories resulted from intelligent team play. Fortunately, the underclassmen showed marked scoring ability and gave promise of brilliance in seasons to come.

After getting off to a bad start, the Gorham nine finished strong in '63, saving face by actually tying the College baseball record for winning games. Encouraging signs for next year: the growing number of men students on campus and the predominance of underclassmen on the diamond. A winning season in '64 is certainly not out of the question!

The starting nine were as follows: Heald at first, Cheney at second, Palubinskas at shortstop, Gato at third, and Rodrique, catcher. Soucy, Dyer, and Captain Brian Gordon were in the outfield, and Lash, Redmon, and Morell did the pitching.

The year 1963-64 was the Golf Team's second as a member of the newly formed New England State College Athletic Conference Golf Circuit. The well-balanced team finished third in the conference, dropping two close matches to the league champions from Salem, then moving down from second place in their final match against Plymouth. Gorham was led by Captain Nye Bemis who under stiff competition picked up 19½ points out of a possible 36. Irwin Ward kept the pressure on while picking up 24 points in his 12 matches. Jack Gaudette consistently came through in his twelve matches to pick up 27½ points. Wayne Snell distinguished himself with 28½ points out of a possible 36. Norm Foster, who played in 7 matches, picked up 8 points, and Anthony Geishauser picked up 6 points while competing in 5 matches. In short, the Gorham linksmen, coached by Richard Costello, had another successful season.

Class of 1964

"Progressive Change" epitomizes our four years at Gorham State Teachers College. We have changed from anxious, wavering freshmen to a confident, serious group with a professional flair. This was in part an outgrowth of the progress our college has made in four flying years. Next to the older brick buildings were built new — Upton Hall, (dedicated), Woodward Hall, the new Library building, the well-planned gymnasium, and the new men's dorm. The most transformed campus building was old Corthell Hall. Within these buildings we saw a change in administration and faculty, too. We remember the colorful academic procession which led Dr. Kenneth T. H. Brooks to his inauguration as our new president. The daily curriculum was improved and expanded to include an evening school. It reached heights that ensured accreditation and renewal in the New England Association. Seeing such progressive changes in action and deed, we the Class of 1964 feel, along with pride, a deep personal gratitude.

In the fall of 1960 the largest class to matriculate at Gorham State Teachers College chose and elected its first officers: James Shane, president; William Foss, vice-president; Ellen Murphy, secretary; and Arnold Dickinson, treasurer. A committee worked diligently to draft our constitution (the first class to ratify one) and to present the annual Harvest Ball.

We were bristling with energy when we returned as Sophomores in 1961. That year's officers were Charles Berry, president; Arnold Dickinson, vice-president; Donald Rawnsley, treasurer; and Elizabeth DeGraaf, secretary. Our class members dizzily balanced between studies and extra-curricular activities with sophomore enthusiasm.

Busy and rewarding was our third year at Gorham. We re-elected Charlie Berry as president, along with Phil Jewett, vice-president, Linda Kerwin, treasurer, and Betty Verrill, secretary. Almost every organization on the Hill was led by one of our class members. A major activity was the publishing of the HILL-CREST for the Class of 1962 under our hard-working co-editors, Lynda Wilson and Richard Bucknell.

Our last year was divided in more ways than one. Half of us each semester were in student teaching, while the rest were deep in college studies. Together only on Fridays, we felt our emotions, too, divided. The end of our stay at Gorham State Teachers College approaches as we prepare to leave this house of knowledge. But we sense a beginning — as better persons, as strengthened American citizens, and as dedicated members of the teaching profession. Our class officers have tried to strengthen our union. We elected the following: Charles Gaspar, president; Richard Bucknell, vice-president; Linda Bagley, secretary; and John Laskey, treasurer. Our four years have been aided and inspired by two fine advisors, Dr. Elizabeth Kerr and Mr. Harold Newberger. To them we extend our sincerest thanks.

We have been "Champs" in academic honors, in sports, and in other activities. Often we have won for the sake of our Alma Mater. But sometimes we have lost. Win or lose, we have learned much from the guidance of our administration, faculty, and co-workers. We will always be indebted to the College for pointing to the horizon and charting our orbit. Proud to have been a part of Gorham State Teachers College, we leave with the hope that she is as proud of us, the fruit of "progressive change."

Respectfully submitted,
 Linda Bagley,
 Secretary, Class of 1964

Underclassmen

Class of 1967

First Row: J. Tardiff, N. Randall.
Second Row: D. Cifelli, P. Hoff.

The first day at G.S.T.C. for the class of 1967 was full of excitement. During Orientation Week we were aided by the many capable upperclassmen who introduced us to our new surroundings. We met our new classmates and were formally introduced to the faculty at a memorable Freshman Reception. We were impressed by the friendliness of the upperclassmen and the warm relationship between students and faculty.

Our class was soon organized, the following officers having been chosen to lead us: Peter Hoff, president; Daniel Cifelli, vice president; Nancy Randall, secretary; and Jacquelyn Tardiff, treasurer. Soon thereafter a social committee was chosen, and plans for dances and other activities were under way. We were proud to be a part of G.S.T.C. as we hit our stride and engaged fully in campus life.

The class of 1967 soon discovered that it excelled in athletics. Our first-year men have participated in every sport on the Hill but have distinguished themselves in basketball. The women of '67, affiliated with W.A.A., were prominent in intramural sports. And we are proud of the terrific job done by four of our girls on the Varsity Cheering Squad: Faye Mixer, Jean Ryan, Linda Stazko, and Jacquelyn Tardiff. Since this year's freshmen are reputed to be "brains," they strive to put studies first. Still, they find time for extra-curricular activities, parties, and even bull sessions. As a result, we have fond memories of our first year at G.S.T.C.: the big rush by the upperclassman boys, the mayor campaign, get-togethers in the dorms, the excitement of games, the pressure of rules and regulations, the tension of taking finals, and the delight in making new and lasting friends.

Area equals base times the height. S. Ryan, K. Daily, R. York, M. Smith, D. Nolan, M. Hawkes.

Must be a new photographer! C. Bowdoin, F. Mixer, M. Kimball, S. Dickson, M. MacDougal, P. Reinsborough, L. Merseau.

Sweet dreams! P. Sirois

What happened to all these happy faces? N. Critchley, N. Randall, M. Black, L. Stazko, C. Buldger, J. Tardiff, C. Collins, C. Bryant, L. Thompson.

There's still a chance to get to bed tonight. L. Marczak

When the class of 1966 returned in September, we found ourselves an enthusiastic and wiser group of Sophomores eager to continue our training as future teachers.

This year we have five members representing us well in the Student Senate. Returning members from last year are Daniel Walker and Wayne MacDougall. New members are Sarah Henley, Margaret Verrill and Tony Black. We are pleased to have Dr. Horton Emerson and Dr. John Mitchell as our advisors. They work with our class officers, President Frank Hall, Vice-President Donald Lonsway, Treasurer Charles Malia and Secretary Judith Barker in leading the class in its projects and endeavors.

Our first major project of the year was the annual Harvest Ball, which concludes the week of mayor campaign. We are well represented in many of the organizations on the Hill and have given our loyal support to them. We are proud to be a part of Gorham and its family.

Respectfully submitted,
Judith Barker
Secretary

Burning the midnight oil. R. Friedman, H. Dobbins, M. Delehanty, F. Hall.

C. Duncan

What's Janet up to now? J. Taylor, J. Fundin, C. Chandler, D. Bailey.

Sorry, no knees here boys! C. LaChance, R. Oldmixon, S. Henley, M. Verrill, and C. Mazerolle.

The camera doesn't lie. G. Barker, E. Chaplin.

Bad news, Sally? M. Emery, C. Clark, M. Finn, S. Vadnais, P. Smyth, S. Cote, S. Merrifield, S. Gordon, L. Ramsay, P. Moulton, A. Ball, C. Chandler.

The class of 1965 is only one among all those that have passed or are yet to pass on this campus. Still, the three years we have already spent here have had none of that transient quality; they have been solidly packed with new facts and experiences. We have grown, we have changed, we have become stronger or we have become weaker; we have been trying to prepare for the responsibilities of the teaching profession and those of adulthood.

Next year, student teaching will start our transition from a learning to a teaching situation, and we will be scattered over the state. Let us hope, however, that we shall keep our unity as a class, a unity which has stayed strong under the leadership of our officers, President Jim Thurlow, Vice-President Ed LeBlanc, and Treasurer Ann Miller — and of course the irrepressible energy of our classmates.

Respectfully submitted,
Marie-Noelle Ces,
Secretary
