Foreword

From September, 1960, to June, 1961, our year at Gorham State Teachers College was a memorable one. These months were distinguished by numerous indications of growth, progress, and change. The expansion of our college was accented by the occupancy of another modern dormitory and punctuated by the sound of a new library under construction. This year, on our first application, we were accepted as an accredited member of the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. And this was the year Dr. Kenneth T. H. Brooks, a native of Maine and a Gorham graduate, was inaugurated as president.

Distinguished delegates prepare for the academic procession at the inauguration of Dr. Brooks.

Expansion...

The Drive . . . Normal School established (1878), Recitation Hall . . . Corthell Hall (1873), Academy Building (Donated 1895), Robie Hall . . . a women's dormitory (1897), President's home (1906).

Francis L. Bailey Hall (1958) and construction on a new 70,000 volume library.

Anticipation of the ever increasing demand for educators of outstanding ability.

Woodward Hall (1955), a modern dormitory for men.

Mr. Richard Costello, Pat Moon, Elizabeth Chandler, and Mary Osgood enter Bailey Hall, the new science building.

The college water tower . . .
highest point "on the Hill."

The most recently completed building on campus (1960), a women's dormitory, is dedicated to Miss Ethelyn F. Upton, Director of Student Teaching at the college.

Elizabeth Chandler, Nancy Freeman, and Jane Knightly pause on the bridge connecting the east and west wings of Upton Hall.

Marion Drew and Mary Osgood relax in one of the two pajama lounges in Upton Hall.

Both women and men dine in the spacious dining hall which is part of the Upton Hall facilities.

Judy Bowden, Pat Kancevitch, Sheila Menchen, and Mary Brewer prepare outside their dormitory for some winter fun.

Judy Armstrong and Anita Hines read in their dormitory room.

Industrial Arts Department (1911), East Hall . . . Andrews Hall . . . a women's dormitory (1916), Campus School (1926), Russell Hall . . . auditorium and gymnasium (1931).

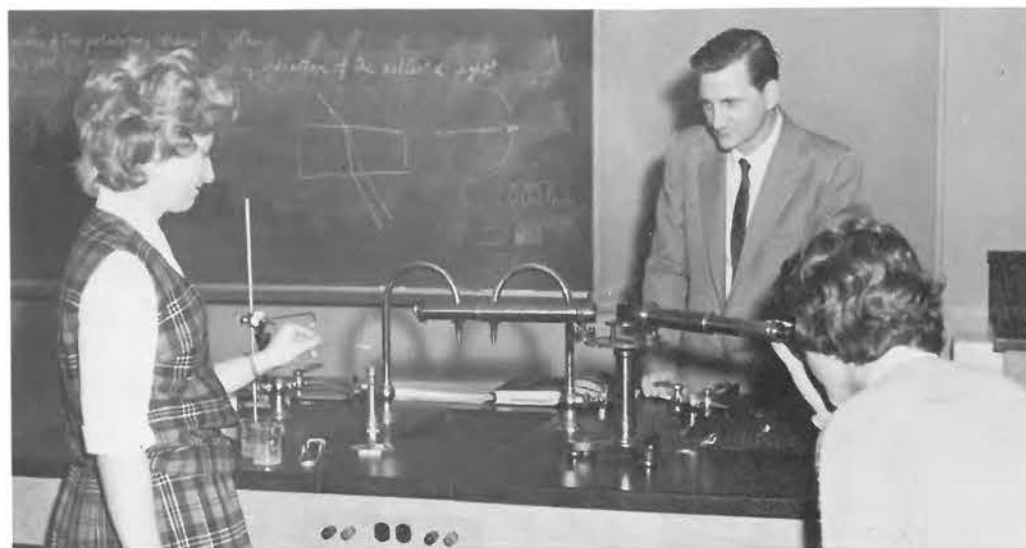

Accreditation...

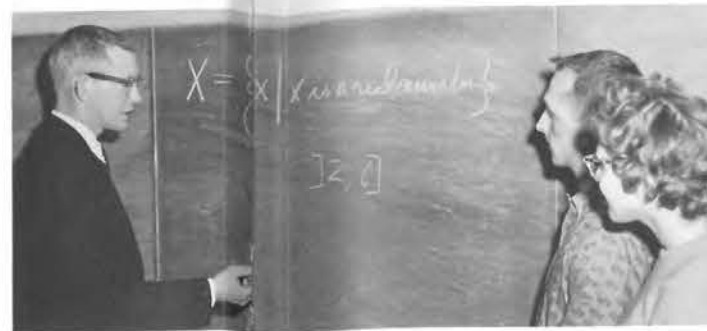

Spontaneous enthusiasm . . . Jackie Manchester hits the ice, but Jim Johnson, Sue Hartford, and Jim Nezel remain standing.

Ample physical plant . . . Ethelyn F. Upton Hall is the most recently completed building "on the Hill."

Alert student body . . . Jean Robinson and Helen Patry experiment with a spectroscope while Mr. George Ayers watches.

Eminent faculty . . . Dr. Lincoln Fish explains a set notation to Ralph Maines and Pat Tenney.

Capable administration . . . Mr. Ralph Duso discusses a problem with Sally Blaisdell and Terry Gray.

Recognition of our assets...
And of the extent to which we fulfill our purpose.

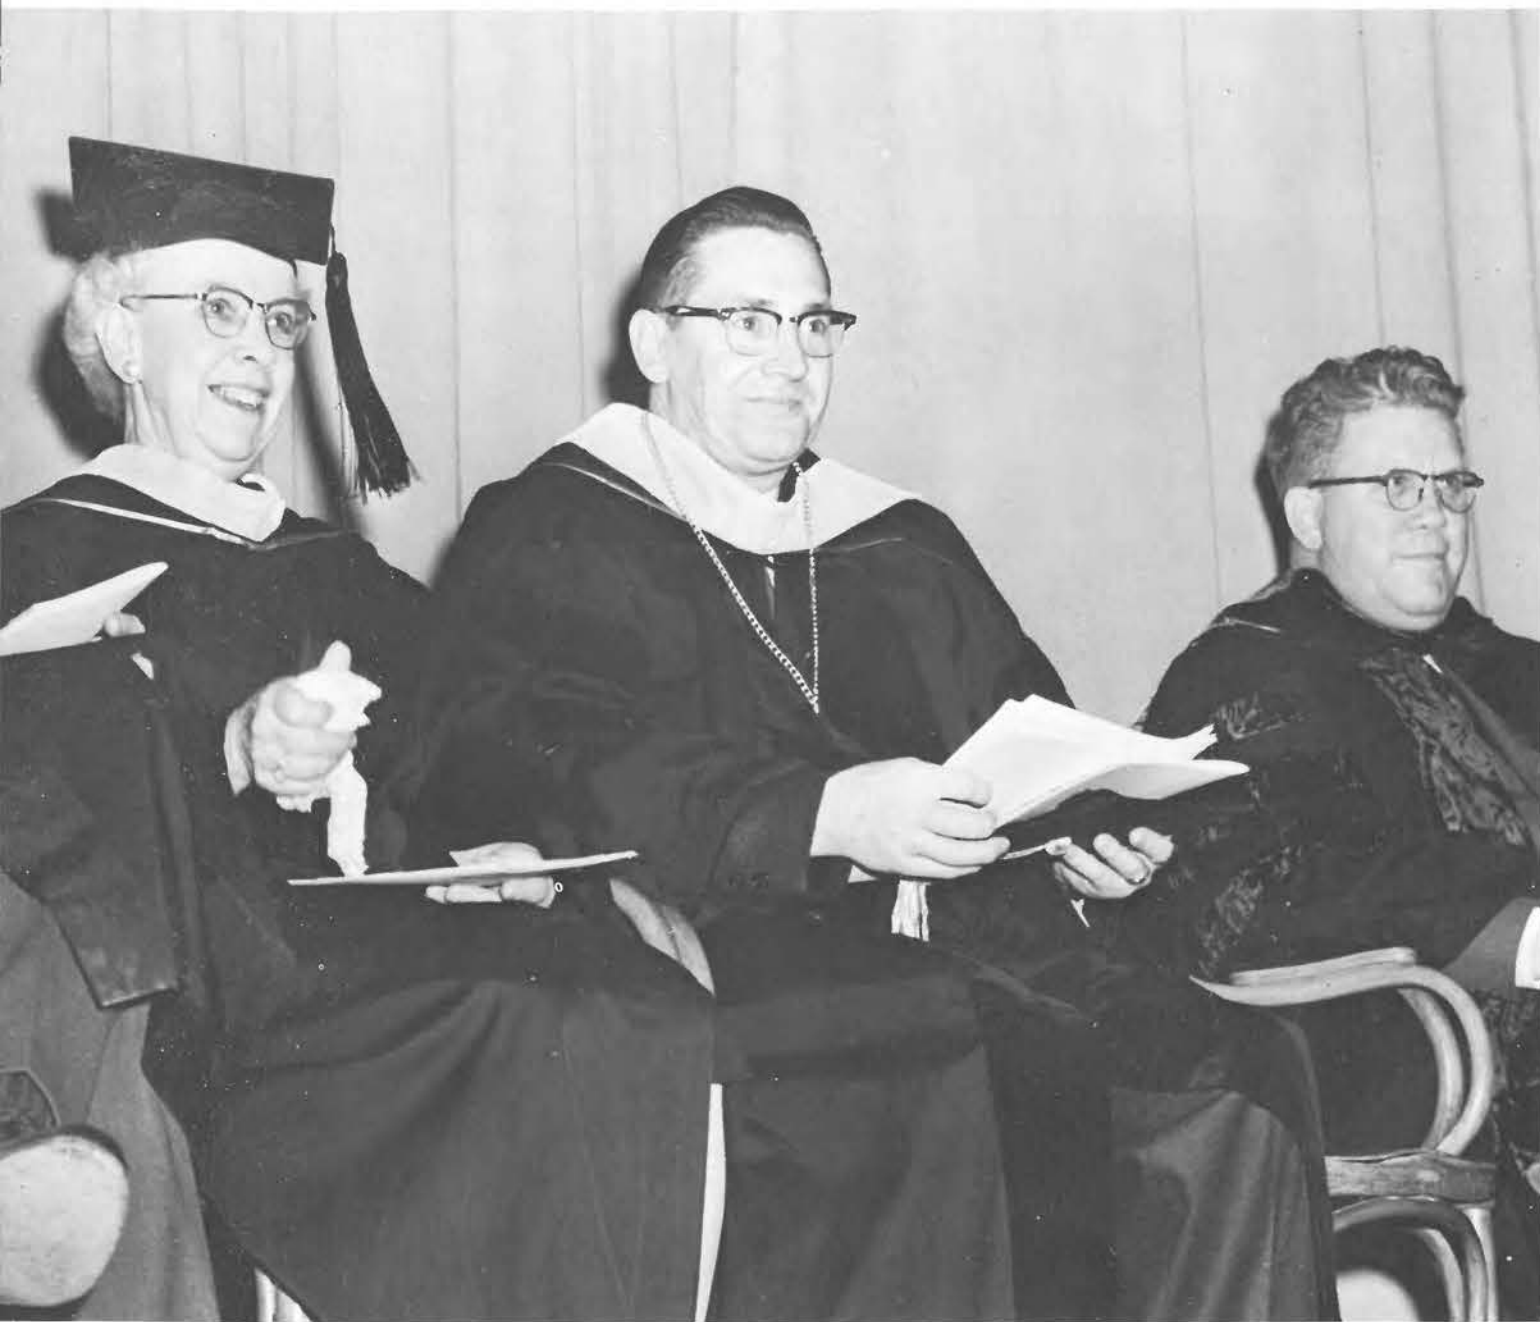

Extensive depth and breadth of curriculum . . . Harvey Dutil and Judy Abel make a choice.

Preparation of competent and dedicated teachers . . . Miss Priscilla Jenkins points out a geographical location to two of her students.

Inauguration...

Mrs. Leah C. Emerson, Chairman of the Maine State Board of Education; Dr. Kenneth T. H. Brooks, newly inaugurated fourth president of Gorham State Teachers College; and Dr. Oliver J. Caldwell, Assistant Commissioner for International Education, United States Office of Education, who delivered the main address at the inauguration on December 7, 1960.

Mr. Ralph E. Duso, standing, administrative assistant, is shown as Master of Ceremonies with Dr. and Mrs. Brooks at the inaugural luncheon in Upton Hall.

Dr. Kenneth T. H. Brooks... Dynamic leadership for the future.

The Rev. Walter E. Brooks delivers the invocation at the inauguration of his son, Dr. Kenneth T. H. Brooks.

MR. RICHARD COSTELLO

It is with heartfelt appreciation that the Class of 1961 dedicates the forty-first edition of Hillcrest to Mr. Richard Costello.

As our class advisor, Mr. Costello has exemplified the genuine interest and devoted service of a fine teacher and dynamic personality. We shall always remember him for his many creative and imaginative contributions, his wise and patient guidance, his sympathetic insight, and his willingness to help.

Again, we express to Mr. Costello our sincerest thanks and deepest gratitude. We know he will continue to be a great source of inspiration to the future students of Gorham State Teachers College.

Dedication

We of the Class of 1961 wish to express our sincere appreciation to the College Supervisors of Student Teaching who have faithfully guided us through the last stage of our teacher-training education. At times we found teaching a bewildering or discouraging experience, but with the encouragement and assistance of these more experienced educators we were able to emerge from our dilemmas with new-found confidence, skill, and enthusiasm.

We also owe our deepest appreciation to Miss Evelyn Littlefield, our Director of Placement. Her devoted efforts are largely responsible for the selection and securing of our first teaching positions.

GORHAM STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE
GORHAM, MAINE

Office of the President

Each time we in America enter a new decade we are inclined to project our thoughts ahead and attempt to visualize the problems we are to face. In the thirties the depression was of major concern; in the forties the war clouds hovering over the world; and in the fifties, the cold war with the menace of communism was the center of our attention. Now as we face the sixties there is a growing tide of apprehension over the cultural development of our country. We cannot escape from the reality that if we are to hold our position as a free society, unprecedented educational advancement must take place in the next ten years.

You are, then, graduating and entering teaching at one of the most opportune times in the history of our country. People everywhere are concerned with the education of their children, demanding the best in facilities, equipment, and especially the best of teachers. They realize that the real wealth of any society is not the material gains, but rather the children and youth who hold our future in their hands.

You as Gorham graduates are well prepared to meet the challenges of the sixties. Like the Biblical house founded upon a rock, you have a solid foundation on which to build for the future. Our accreditation this year is tangible proof that this is true. I have confidence in you to lead in America's surge toward the betterment of education. I shall consider it an honor to have you of 1961 as my first graduating class.

GORHAM STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE
GORHAM, MAINE

A college, like an individual, cannot stand still; either it moves forward or it regresses. The accreditation of Gorham State Teachers College is a significant achievement in its history. It is a step toward greater achievements and service to education--but only a step--a means of "lifting our ceiling." It opens new avenues over which we can progress toward goals.

Of great significance too are the fine new building which provide modern and expanded facilities on our campus. In the planning of new facilities--buildings, laboratories, campus expansion, we must plan not only for the type of activities for which they will be used today; we must consider that tomorrow or twenty-five years from now new frontiers in education may demand activities dynamically different from those of today.

We salute the accomplishments of the present; we look forward confidently to continued progress and achievements in the future.

Ralph E. Duso

GORHAM STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE
GORHAM, MAINE

"The old order changeth yielding place to new and God fulfills himself in many ways." These words of Lord Tennyson seem particularly pertinent to this period of great change throughout the world.

A fresh new spirit, vibrant and confident--a veritable modern renaissance--is inescapably discernible everywhere. You, yourself, have experienced it on this campus within the recent past, so clearly evident in the immediate present, and so promising of a dynamic and exciting future.

Almost spectacular has been the kaleidoscope of change that has transformed our college within the short interval of your sojourn here. Among the most memorable of these events have been the retirement of our much beloved President, Dr. Francis L. Bailey, the inauguration of an alumnus to the presidency, the attainment of accreditation, and the recognition of Miss Ethelyn Upton in the dedication of another new residence hall.

With all due recognition of the importance of good buildings and equipment and of a sound and adequate program, a college is its people; and it is the quality of its faculty and of its students that determines the real worth of any college.

You will long remember the fruitful influence which many of these dedicated individuals have had upon your lives. You, too, have made a salutary impress upon this college, for which we stand indebted.

As Gorham alumni we are confident you will continue to actively cooperate with us in seeking to enable Gorham to render the greatest possible service to the cause of education in the ensuing years of challenge.

The Education Department of Gorham State Teachers is dedicated to the idea that an effective program of teacher education must include a knowledge of the cultural foundations of education and an understanding of the teacher-learning process as well as a background of sound liberal education. To this end the courses in the Education Sequence provide a study of curricula and approved methods of teaching in modern schools. The sequence terminates in a full semester of student teaching in carefully selected situations where students gain professional competence and greater insight into the role of the school in our society.

Fluent self-expression and a knowledge and appreciation of the great literature of the world not only enrich the life of the student but also add to his capability in sharing these attributes with others. With this in mind the English department makes a conscientious effort to guide our future teachers toward better and more concise writing, more exact speaking, and more selective reading.

Provision has been made this year both for the more gifted freshmen and for those who are having specific difficulties. For upperclassmen basic courses in literature and speech are required. For a more critical approach to the appreciative study of types of literature a variety of electives is offered: children's literature, the short story, poetry, the novel, and Shakespeare.

Physical

Education

The strength of American democracy lies in the physical, mental, and moral strength of its citizens. To assist in the optimum development of these individual citizens, our physical education instructors conduct programs and provide opportunities for experiences which promote physical development and contribute to social, recreational, emotional, and intellectual growth.

*Participating
Instructing*

By offering a variety of required and elective courses the Social Science Department aims at improving the ability of students in understanding and analyzing past and present cultures.

Publishing articles on Maine history and economy, making archeological expeditions to Labrador, Yucatan, and Haiti, sponsoring of political clubs, and organizing geography-oriented travel tours indicated the professional interest and personal energy of the social studies faculty. Such qualifications are important in stimulating student awareness of the social sciences.

Investigation and Discovery

The atomic age presents the teacher with a great challenge, the task of bringing answers about our world within reach of inquiring young minds. Gorham State Teachers College is striving to meet this challenge. It possesses a modern science building, excellent equipment, and an outstanding science faculty. Its future teachers experience two years of study in biological and physical science and have the additional opportunity of choosing from a generous list of electives.

Campus

School

The Campus School faculty is conscious of a great responsibility — the fruitful guidance of both children and college students.

Faculty members must provide for the all-round development of the children. They must guide the college students so that each will develop his teaching potential to the greatest degree.

The Campus School, an integral part of the college, is striving to meet the challenge of the '60's through the use of modern methods and materials.

This is the first year that a Homecoming Weekend has been held at the college. The program, sponsored by the Varsity "G" Club, was held in October and included the following events: a campaign for the election of a Homecoming Queen, a rally and dance, a soccer game with Rhode Island College of Education, and the Homecoming Ball, at which Alpha Lambda Beta's queen candidate, Miss Constance Small, was crowned Homecoming Queen of 1960. Enthusiastic participation by the student body and the cooperative efforts of the Varsity "G" Club and the fraternities made the weekend a distinct success.

Mayor Campaign

The exciting opening of the annual Mayor Campaign is preceded by many weeks of dedicated work by ardent supporters of the various candidates. Striking evidence of their dedication is displayed when long before dawn on the opening day of the campaign they assume stations all over the campus, reserving space for displays. Monstrous banners, arresting posters, and catchy slogans proclaim that their candidate is the man for the job.

Though attempts to enlarge the influence of the office have been made, the duties of the Campus Mayor remain limited to providing entertainment at games during the basketball season. During the campaign each candidate tries to demonstrate the support he can rally and the type of entertainment he can provide. This year each candidate presented an evening program in Russell Hall. Alpha's candidate, Jay Bernard, showed two of the well-known "Peanuts" comic-strip characters around campus. Nick Colucci of Phi Sigma Pi, costumed as the Minstrel Man, presented an old-fashioned minstrel show, complete with chorus and end men. "College Joe," Walter Hayes of Kappa Delta Phi, displayed talent in an imaginary trip around the world.

Campaign songs rang loud and long during the torchlight parade, highlight of the campaign antics. The next day, students marched to the polls and made their decision. At the colorful Harvest Ball results of the election were announced, and the victor, Nick Colucci, made an acceptance speech.

The entire campaign was supervised and sponsored by Student Council. Keen competition, tempered by co-operation on the part of the fraternities, made this the most exciting campaign ever.

Patterned to national standards and sponsored by the Student Council, the Miss GSTC Pageant was the highlight of the fall season. The ten candidates in the pageant rehearsed under the guidance of members of the Portland Junior Chamber of Commerce. A tea before the performance enabled the girls to meet the judges of the contest. In the pageant each girl was rated in three categories: swimsuit class, talent, and evening dress. The poise and charm of each girl were evident.

Those chosen as finalists were Jane Albert, Jane Stires, Carolyn Swett, Virginia Allen, and Ethel Eveleth. Each of these girls was asked questions on current social and world problems. The winner was chosen for the appropriateness of her response.

Jane Albert, a senior, was crowned Miss GSTC by Edith Goff, last year's queen, and received an award of fifty dollars. Jane Stires was first runner-up; Carolyn Swett, second runner-up; and Ethel Eveleth was selected Miss Congeniality.

"Fairy tales can come true . . ." And they did at this year's Winter Carnival. The romantic theme, Young at Heart, was carried out in most of the snow sculptures created by various organizations and in the colorful decorations at the Coronation Ball.

On Friday the student body went to the polls to choose the queen to reign over the carnival fun. The candidates were as follows: Betty Verrill and Judy Pontbriand, freshmen; Betsy Blackstone and Elaine Snow, sophomores; Merry Raeside and Esther Lowell, juniors; Alice Emery and Janet Atwood, seniors. Sports activities and a dance started the actual celebration on Friday night.

Saturday found students working feverishly over mounds of snow, like frenzied craftsmen attacking white marble. The results were impressive. By nightfall six entries had been completed and were awaiting the judges' decision.

That evening at the Coronation Ball the master of ceremonies, Paul Bellavance, presented the candidates to the audience; last year's queen, Cindy Packard, announced that Merry Raeside was the new queen and crowned her successor amid enthusiastic applause. The radiant new queen and her escort led the Grand March.

Sunday evening a program of entertainment was presented by the fraternities in Russell Hall with Merry Raeside as mistress of ceremonies. The announcement was made that the winning entry in the snow sculpture contest was "Dennis the Menace at College," created by the energetic freshman class. Amid their victorious cheers another successful Winter Carnival came to a close.

Freshman Reception

The formal welcoming of the freshmen to the college is the first prominent social event of the year. This year, the event, sponsored by the Student Christian Association, was an excellent introduction to college life. Donna Skillings, president of the Inter-dormitory Council, was the hostess for the evening and Dr. Kenneth T. H. Brooks gave the main address. The new students were welcomed by the faculty and S.C.A. officers, who formed the receiving line. An hour of social dancing followed the serving of refreshments.

The World University Service is an organization made up of students and professors from colleges and universities throughout the entire world. To fight against poverty, disease, ignorance and despair in the international community of students and professors is the task of WUS.

Gorham students realize the importance of contributing to the world community. Here at Gorham support for WUS is gained through the annual Green and White Way, a penny carnival, sponsored by the Student Christian Association. Various organizations set up unique concession booths in Russell Hall. The group with the highest profits receives an award. All proceeds from this event, held this year on April 6, go directly to World University Service.

World University Service has become an agency to which the international student community can turn in time of crisis. One of the continuous functions of WUS is to supply material assistance to staff and students in need throughout the world. Its primary actions are in the areas of student lodging and living, student health, and individual and emergency aid, including refugee services. Also, in recent years, the clearly defined educational program has increased in importance.

Under the energetic leadership of our editors, the Observer has developed into a monthly publication of high quality. The staff has endeavored to present up-to-date, well-written news items accompanied by interesting photographs. Regular features such as the Roving Reporter Column, sports section, and literary feature section add to the value of the newspaper. This year the paper was distributed free of charge in the hope of creating a wider purchasing market for the future. Throughout the year the Observer staff has maintained high standards of literary achievement.

The Newman Club is a national religious organization for the benefit of Catholic students in non-sectarian colleges. Besides being active on campus, the local club has participated in the State Regional Conference and the New England Province Conference.

The club sponsors such activities as communion breakfasts, dances, and an annual Christmas party at the St. Louis Home for Boys. This year the Newman Club Choir, under the direction of Max Brandt, sang at the 10:30 Mass on Sundays. This group, which has received enthusiastic support from club members and parishioners, has made conditions in our temporary church more favorable for worship.

Canterbury Club

First Row: H. McBrine, H. Randall.
 Second Row: J. Nelson, S. Deering, D. Cunningham, R. Gagne, I. Bell, S. Santerre.

Although a small religious group, Canterbury Club has endeavored to fulfill the needs of Episcopal students of Gorham State Teachers College. As always, efforts have been made to provide transportation to religious services in Portland. Hampered in efforts to organize in the earlier part of the year, Canterbury Club has carried on only limited activities. The organization intends to continue to expand since it does provide for the spiritual, social, and intellectual needs of the students.

For students who desire Christian fellowship with others, the Student Christian Association provides an opportunity to give of their time and talent. The major activities which S.C.A. sponsors are the Green and White Way and the Orientation program for freshmen, which includes Open Lounge and Freshman Reception. Typical of service to others is the annual caroling at a nursing home. Well-planned retreats furnish an opportunity for discussion and meditation. The weekly Thursday night meeting consists of a worship service, business meeting, and the presentation of a speaker, film, or discussion.

The Music Educators National Conference Chapter, composed of the college music majors, is active in promoting musical interest at the college and in the surrounding area. One of the many praiseworthy M.E.N.C. activities was the memorable production of Menotti's The Consul. The chapter has become a patron of the Portland Symphony in the past year. Persons in the music profession are frequent speakers at meetings. Music clinics help members broaden their knowledge of music and its many phases. M.E.N.C. hopes to make the art and the enjoyment of music an integral part of campus life.

Under the supervision of Dr. Jerry Bowder, a newcomer to the music department, the band has continued its tradition of improvement. Striving for a higher degree of quality and giving much attention to the individual, Dr. Bowder has introduced the policy of sectional rehearsals. New instruments, as well as new freshmen, have been added and the band library has been supplemented. As in previous years, the band has played at basketball games, assemblies, and Recognition Day and has participated in the annual Christmas and Spring Concerts. In the future the band will progress toward a still higher level of achievement.

The new constitution of Gorham State Teachers College Dance Club lists the following objectives: (1) Dance Club shall provide an outlet for those students who wish to engage more seriously in dance, (2) the Dance Club shall strive to develop taste and integrity in the minds and hearts of the members in regard to dance as a performing art, (3) the Dance Club shall strive to develop a well-rounded education in dance technique and composition, (4) the Dance Club shall learn the creative side of dance by individually composing dances or working with a choreographer.

Ten new members have joined the club, bringing the total membership to twenty-seven. At the Christmas convocation, given in conjunction with A Cappella Chorus, the Dance Club presented an interpretation of Tchaikovsky's Nutcracker Suite. The annual spring program, the club's major presentation, which involves a great deal of time and effort, gives every club member the satisfaction which comes from a job well done.

President	Priscilla Allen
Librarian	Barbara Coffey

The A Cappella Chorus is a group of approximately forty students who meet once a week under the able leadership of Gerard Cumberland. A Cappella is an attraction to those students who are interested in music and yet are not necessarily majoring in music. It is open also to those who wish to sing in a chorus but do not have the free time to join the Combined Chorus and its divisions. Presenting fine music in a light vein as well as a more serious one, the A Cappella Chorus can be heard in concerts, convocations, and other college programs.

The Chorister group of last year has been reorganized as the Women's Glee Club and is under the very able direction of Mr. Gerard Chamberland. The members, who are chosen for their ability and interest in music, appear annually in the Christmas and Spring concerts. Whether performing alone or combining with the Men's Glee Club, this group always draws a large and appreciative audience.

Members of this musical organization are chosen primarily for musical interest and ability. With only two weekly rehearsals, this group has attained a high level of musical achievement and has maintained this position. Appearances off campus and on television have made the public aware of the progressiveness of musical activity at Gorham State Teachers College. Combined with Women's Glee Club in the Gorham Chorale, the group contributes much spirit and vitality.

Highly successful Christmas and Spring concerts display the talents of all the musical groups, which have provided and will continue to provide opportunities for all students to satisfy their needs for self-expression and creativity.

Young Democrats Club

President	Roger Demers
Vice President	Jean Douglas
Secretary	Patricia Kancevitch
Treasurer	Nancy Viitala

Though the Young Democrats' Club was organized only this year, in the exciting period of campaigning it accomplished a great deal. Programs sponsored by the group brought the leading state candidates to the campus to explain their programs and platforms.

The purpose of this organization is to stimulate in young people an active interest in governmental affairs. The group is attempting to perpetuate the ideals and principles of the Democratic Party, to help acquaint voters and potential voters with the issues and the candidates, and to lend support to the causes of justice and social welfare.

Young Republicans Club

First Row: M. Davis, R. Schultz, D. Allen, B. Coulthard, D. Hayes.
Second Row: J. Leveille, E. Laughton, M. Pratt, E. Nottage, M. Chesley, A. Woodworth, L. Snow, E. Pettis, J. Beattie.

This organization, which came into being this year, provides training for young people in political work, in keeping with the needs, ideals, and aims of our college. Valuable leadership and experience are provided by listening to informative guest speakers and taking part in discussion panels and committee work.

During the 1960 state and national campaigns, the Young Republicans devoted their efforts to distributing campaign material and endeavoring to promote student interest in the party. When campaign rivalry had ended, the proposal was made that the Republican and Democratic Clubs join in forming one major political club for discussing current affairs.

Outing Club

 Second Row: H. McBride, R. Littlefield, J. Lembree, J. Mickalide, E. Hardy, P. Pape, J. Prouty, S. Cheney, P. Ingraham, J. Robinson.
 Third Row: J. Ashe, S. Santerre, I. Saari, C. Haskins, B. Flagg, N. Kenney, L. Hussey.
 Fourth Row: G. Osgood, W. Hazelton.

President	Esther Lowell
Vice President	Charles Douglas
Secretary	Eileen Hardy
Treasurer	George Odencrantz

The Outing Club seeks to promote wholesome outdoor activities for all interested Gorham students. During the year the Outing Club sponsors such activities as swimming, bowling, and skating parties, mountain climbing, and a trip to see Cinerama in Boston. Usually a cruise of Casco Bay brings the season to a close.

Winter brings the snow and our major program of events, the exciting Winter Carnival. Activities include a torchlight parade, winter sports competition, the enthusiastic rivalry of the snow sculpturing contest, and the crowning of the Carnival Queen at the colorful Coronation Ball. The Queen presides over the remaining events of Winter Carnival.

Ski Club

First Row: G. Paradis, C. Haskins, K. Gallant, H. Paradis.
 Second Row: A. Hines, H. Morse, S. Menchen, P. Kancevitch, J. Armstrong.

President	Gene Sanborn
Vice President	Harry Paradis
Secretary-Treasurer	Kathleen Gallant

The Ski Club, active during the winter months, meets each week to discuss and organize ski trips to the various slopes throughout New England. Once or twice during the season the club plans a combined inter-state outing. Last year a weekend of socializing and serious ski activity was spent in New Hampshire at Keene State Teachers College.

On the whole, the Ski Club makes every effort to coach the beginner and to help each member develop better skiing methods and skills. It provides an excellent opportunity for winter fun, outdoor exercise, and growing competence in a much loved sport.

The GSTC Art Club welcomes all students who are interested in art in its various forms. The object of the organization is to provide an outlet and an opportunity for creating art objects in various media. One does not have to be an accomplished artist to belong to the Art Club — all he needs is interest. All work together to help one another learn and improve. Many students have discovered hidden talents and developed into truly fine artists through these informal sessions. Available for use are pastels, charcoal, water colors, tempera, oils, clay, metals, and crayons.

Each year the Art Club sponsors a tea during National Art Week. Artists in the surrounding area lend their work for our exhibition, as do some members of our college faculty. Everyone is invited to this tea, which is held in the new art gallery in Corthell Hall. In addition to promoting other programs of art, the club holds a dance in the spring.

Commuters' Club

The Commuters' Club, which meets each Friday, consists of about forty members. The purpose of the club is to promote better relationships among commuters and to provide social recreation.

A major project this year has been the making of a Commuters' Club banner to be used at club meetings and at basketball games away from Gorham. Other projects have included a hayride, a bowling party and the sponsoring of transportation to the Farmington basketball game.

To help defray its expenses, the club has sold book covers to the student body.

The Varsity "G" Club is an organization made up exclusively of men who have earned at least one letter in an intercollegiate sport. The considerable growth of the club during the past year can be attributed to the appearance of new personalities on court and field and also to the addition of varsity tennis to the present sports roster.

We sincerely believe that athletic activities play an important part in physical and mental development of an individual. It is the major purpose of this organization to promote athletic activities at the college.

The Varsity "G" Club sponsors the intramural sports program, which includes flag football, basketball, softball, tennis, and golf. These events have been carried on smoothly even though there have been some scheduling difficulties.

This year the club sponsored a "Homecoming Weekend," which, it is hoped, will become an annual event. The weekend went over well and the reaction of the student body to the idea was overwhelming.

Each spring a Varsity "G" banquet is given for the participants in varsity sports. On this festive occasion trophies and varsity letters are presented to the athletes who have earned them through their athletic prowess.

The Women's Athletic Association is an organization open to all women students interested in athletic activity. Its program, which emphasizes student leadership, is planned to stimulate worthwhile participation in such activities as softball, basketball, volleyball, tennis, badminton, archery, trampoline, and hiking. Opportunity is also provided for participation in such off-campus activities as horseback riding, skiing, snowshoeing, bowling, and swimming. Many play days are organized by the council. Girls may receive numerals, letters, pins, and blazers for active participation in the association.

The Industrial Arts Professional Organization was formed to give the Industrial Arts students an opportunity to present and discuss various problems in the field of teaching Industrial Arts. We present programs which give the students an opportunity to get a clearer insight into new developments in industry.

Although our programs are primarily in the interests of Industrial Arts, they are open to the entire school and are of interest to all. Our speakers are usually professional men from such fields as gem cutting, glass blowing, and paper making.

The Student Education Association of Gorham is a group of over two hundred students organized to uphold the moral and ethical codes of the teaching profession. Its officers and active members represent the group in state and regional meetings concerned with discussion of current educational topics. The local organization sponsors delegates to MTA district meetings and to the Northeast Regional Conference of SEA.

SEA sponsors a dance during the Freshman Orientation program and a tea each semester honoring the student teachers. This spring a Career Day program was inaugurated for entertaining students from nearby high schools who are interested in the teaching profession.

N. A. T. A. is the "goingest" club on the hill. April, 1960, found us as far south as Virginia, with plans already being made for the next year's trip through New York State and Quebec Province. Enthusiasm for these spring trips is high and shows itself throughout the year in the dedication of N. A. T. A. Members to varied money-making projects which range from the delicate art of decorating match boxes to the more boisterous activity of car washing.

The club's purpose is to expand the viewpoint of its members and provide them with invaluable experience for teaching.

The Student Council serves as the governing body here at Gorham State Teachers College. The officers, who are elected by all students, represent the student body as a whole. In addition, each of the four classes chooses two representatives. The council, concerned with the welfare of the entire student body, attempts to solve through democratic procedure the many problems which are referred to it.

Many functions are sponsored directly by the Student Council while numerous others come under the auspices of the council. The following are but a few of its responsibilities: Mayor Campaign, Harvest Ball, Miss G.S.T.C. Pageant, and the allocation of student activity fees.

This year the Student Council submitted a new constitution which was accepted and approved by the student body. The additional provisions give the council a more direct control of student activities.

Extensive reorganization of the Women's Residence Government this year resulted in the establishment of the Inter-dormitory Council. It consists of nine members: three officers and representatives from each residence hall. The function of the Council is two-fold: To promote the social, educational, and cultural interests of the women students on campus and to review cases of rule infraction.

Subordinate to the Interdormitory Council are the three house committees representing Upton, Andrews, and Robie Halls. Each committee consists of ten elected members who serve for one year. The committees are concerned with the general welfare of the women residents and the enforcement of regulations. Each committee has the responsibility of establishing and carrying out procedures for the smooth operation of the residence hall. In addition, these committees attempt to promote pleasant and rewarding social contacts among the women residents.

Upton House Committee sponsored the annual campus-wide Christmas Tea and financed equipment for the kitchenettes in the new dormitory. The Andrews House Committee established a paperback library and purchased a current monthly magazine for the reception hall. Robie House Committee sponsored a Valentine Tea as its social project of the year.

Men's House Committee

The governing body of Woodward Hall consists of a committee of eight men — the president and secretary, elected by the entire house, and two representatives from each of the three floors, chosen by the residents of that floor. Serving in a supervisory capacity are the housemother, Mrs. Dunton; the Dean of Men, Mr. Wescott; and three proctors — Lincoln Brown, Jude Bernard, and Harvey Dutil — who keep order in the dormitory.

M. Raeside, P. Moon, J. Poulin, J. Aguiar.

Junior Counselors

Introduced this year, the Junior Counselor program is an important area of student leadership and responsibility. Its purpose is to aid the new student in making a good adjustment to college life socially and academically. A person is chosen to serve in this program only if she demonstrates high standards of personal and social conduct, campus citizenship, academic achievement, and potential leadership.

Amicitia is a friendship club for the women students on the Hill. Membership is by invitation. This year, under the new constitution, only sophomores and juniors were initiated. The purpose of the club is to provide a social program which will orient the members in the art of social ethics, contribute toward personal development and provide an opportunity for recreation and fellowship.

The club sponsors dances and teas. At Christmas time the group went caroling at the Files Nursing Home and donated a food basket to a needy family of Gorham. This year, the major project was a variety show. Through such activities, Amicitia preserves the ideals of friendship and of service to others.

The fraternity Alpha Lambda Beta through the years has provided many participants in varsity sports on the Hill and leaders in other important activities. The fraternity for many years has sponsored a full weekend of entertainment at the time when the Farmington — Gorham basketball game is played. Further contribution to the pleasure of Gorham students has been provided through dances, plays, and other extra-curricular activities.

The members of the Maroon and Gold hope to continue their contribution to college life by striving toward the betterment of education and of society.

Kappa Delta Phi is a national, educational, and professional fraternity which was founded in 1900. Its members are interested in working to achieve the highest educational standards and to promote social activities. The Iota chapter here at Gorham has consistently attained a high rating in the national fraternity and has won major awards. Mr. Pease has been elected vice president of the national organization, and our chapter is planning to be host to the annual national convention, which is to be held this year in Portland.

Kappa sponsors record hops, movies, and the annual Kappa Kabaret, a formal dance, which is one of the finest social functions on the Hill. In the winter months Kappa members erect and maintain a skating rink and this year plan to set up a ski slope. Kappa members take a prominent part in the intramural sports program.

That's real head work.

Easy does it!

Hmmm, you're a good group.

In 1955 Gorham's Omega Nu Epsilon became Omega Chapter, Phi Sigma Pi Fraternity. When we adopted the constitution of this national educational fraternity, a series of important changes was initiated. Besides continuing in the participation of the social activities on the hill, we adopted a high professional standard.

This year we have held our business and professional meetings with added vigor. Imaginative and creative ideas greatly helped in giving a new and exciting flavor to our annual activities. These included a smoker, a party for our "little brothers," and record hops. We were proud to participate in and win the annual mayor campaign. We sent a delegation to our National Convention held this year in Pittsburg, Pennsylvania. We also sponsored an outing for the Sweetser Home and a Halloween Party for the Campus School.

Phi Sigma Pi will continue to stress high scholastic achievement and social adjustment, for we realize how important these qualities are for future teachers.

Captain Everett Davis

The returning veterans of last year's team brought much experience to the Gorham booters' lineup this past season. The Gorham players responded to the cry of "El Boote," a full week before the start of the first semester. The team's potential power was heightened by the addition of some new enthusiasts for the sport, with the enrollment of freshmen and the soccer debut of some very talented upperclassmen. The squad's record for the season was 6 wins and 7 losses, with Ken Roberts the big toe for the season with 7 goals. This year's captain was Everett Davis, who himself put in some tremendous defensive performances. The team expects a better season next year with the expected return of many seasoned veterans.

Basketball Varsity

This year's basketball season can be best compared to a steeplechase; it had its ups and its downs. The team reported for its first practice early in November with thirty-five men turning out to try for team berths. The season started slowly with a series of losses, but gradually the record started to look up as the ballplayers became oriented to each other's individual styles. For a variety of reasons, a good deal of the squad's power was lost after the first semester finals. Those who saw the team after finals saw an almost entirely new group. The high point man for the season was Don Donnelly, with 16.5 points per game. Lionel Rodrique scored the most points in any single game, with 31 points against Rhode Island College.

Junior Varsity

The Junior Varsity played spirited ball this season, sparked by veteran ballplayers returning from last year. The team moved well as a whole, and those freshmen who turned out for the sport added greatly to the smoothness with which the club operated. The team's shooting was led by Brent Johnson, returning after a year's absence, with 17 points per game average. The team's record for the season was 5 wins and 12 losses. Five of these 12 losses were by 3 points or fewer. The Junior Varsity players are looking forward to next year when undoubtedly several of them will don varsity togs.

The baseball team was handicapped this year by the loss of several very capable men from the previous season. Mr. Wescott coached the team and did a tremendous job which was greatly appreciated by the participating men. The over-all record for the club was 3 wins and 9 losses. Our boys deserve a great deal of credit for this season because the handicap of working on a team that doesn't have a ball field involves a great deal of trouble and extra work for all concerned.

Tennis

Last spring a new sport was added to the varsity roster of G.S.T.C. It was anticipated the previous year by Jerre Fillmore and other interested enthusiasts that tennis would gain recognition as a varsity sport. Through the dilligent work of the team and their coach, Mr. Costello, an intercollegiate tennis schedule was arranged and funds were allocated for the team's use. The season was not as satisfying as had been hoped, but the team is in high spirits and is looking forward to more victorious seasons.

Basketball Intramurals

The intramural program at G.S.T.C. was set up with two leagues, the American League and the National League. Eight teams were entered, four in each league. The two top teams from each league were eligible for play-offs for the championship.

Throughout the intramural season the competition was keen and exciting. The final game between the faculty team and the Independents and Omega team was outstanding. The game went into overtime, and with but a few seconds to play, Duane Hayes scored the deciding basket.

September 11, 1960 — that was a day of excitement, anticipation, and perhaps a little fear for the 241 freshmen beginning a busy week of orientation to their new environment.

The class was soon organized and elected as its officers: James Shane, president; William Foss, vice-president; Ellen Murphy, secretary; and Arnold Dickinson, treasurer. Dr. Elizabeth Kerr and Mr. Harold Neuberger accepted an invitation to become class advisors. A committee of five students was appointed to work on drawing up a constitution.

"A friend in need is a friend indeed" was the class motto as freshmen, rallying to the aid of Charlie Berry, whose brother had been badly burned in an accident, donated twenty-five pints of blood to the blood bank at the Maine Medical Center.

With a great deal of studying, hopes, and some prayers, the freshmen are looking forward to the year 1964, the year when they will graduate and begin to teach the classes of their choice.

"And now for our next outside reading."

As we of the class of 1963 abandoned summer employment, we found ourselves looking forward with some anxiety to what many consider to be the busiest time in college, the sophomore year.

At our first class meeting the following officers were elected: Dudley Harrington, president; Judy Ashe, vice-president; Barbara Clark, secretary; and Kathleen Gallant, treasurer. Our representatives to student council were Richard MacGarvey and Terry Gray. Our class advisors are Mrs. Melissa Costello and Mr. George Barker.

Katherine Blanchard and Roger Spugnardi were chosen as co-chairmen of the Harvest Ball. At the ball, we were thrilled to have a sophomore, Nicholas Colucci, elected Mayor of G.S.T.C.

We are proud to have so many representatives of our class serving as officers in various campus organizations. We are also well represented on the basketball teams and on the cheerleading squad.

The year has passed rapidly, but it has brought us many wonderful experiences.

"Another lesson plan!" "My participation lesson comes Monday!" "Is room 314 in the East Wing or West Wing in Upton Hall?" "Our class rings are here!" "And Jay Bernard was there marching with all the college presidents at the Inauguration!" "We're accredited!" These typical remarks, overheard by our class detective, offer a clue to the confused and hectic lives of the juniors at Gorham State Teachers College this year.

Given the task of organizing the class for the activities of this full and rewarding year were: Jude Bernard, president; Richard Emery, vice-president; Donna Skillings, secretary; and James Skoglund, treasurer. Chosen as representatives to the Student Council were Charles Sanders and Harvey Dutil. Many other able juniors were also elected to executive positions of the various organizations around the campus.

Front row: Priscilla Jenkins, Secretary; Sylvia Erickson, Treasurer; Jane Albert, Assistant Secretary.

Miss Anne Miller.

Mr. Phillip Withee.

Miss Annette Mathieu.

Miss Elizabeth Costa.

Since the most important time of our lives is here, it is at this time that we, the Class of 1961, should pause and think of the many experiences we have encountered. We can not help but relive the feeling of complete awe that we felt on that fine September day in 1957 when everything at G.S.T.C. was new to us — the people who were our classmates, the faculty which was to guide us through these important years, and the buildings which would serve us in various ways. We have worked and played hard during these four years.

As freshmen, we worked diligently in our courses and managed to excel academically as well as socially. One of our first functions as a class was to elect officers: president, Bruce Bell; vice-president, Judy Simpson; secretary, Laura Beaver; and treasurer, Linda Brown.

Soon it was September, 1958. Our new class officers were: president, Richard Langlois; vice-president, Louis Lambert; secretary, Alice Emery; and treasurer, Margaret Stevenson. These officers very ably led us through our activities. Our successful Sophomore Show made us all proud to be a part of the Class of '61.

September rolled around again, and we all returned full of enthusiasm for this year when we would learn how to share our knowledge with today's children. Again we elected officers, and the slate was as follows: president, Donald Duplessie; vice-president, Gerard Asselin; secretary, Priscilla Jenkins; and treasurer, Sylvia Erickson. This year members of our class led nearly every organization on the "Hill."

Our class became divided during our last year, when half of us fulfilled our student teaching requirements each semester while the others completed academic work. We were fortunate in electing the following officers: president, Gerard Asselin; vice-president, Richard Langlois; secretary, Priscilla Jenkins; assistant secretary, Jane Albert; and treasurer, Sylvia Erickson. All had had previous experience as officers of our class.

These have been four good years. We have seen new courses initiated, have had the privilege of being the first to live in a new women's dormitory, have studied under the administration of two fine presidents, and have been fortunate enough to graduate from a newly accredited institution. We are grateful that we have been able to obtain a well-rounded education and extend our thanks to the faculty and all who have helped along the way. Our accomplishments have been many and although we have had failures, we hope that we will be able to better the profession for which we have trained. We are proud of our Alma Mater; may She be proud of us.

Respectfully submitted,
Priscilla Jenkins
Secretary

Miss Judith Fuller.
