DEDICATION

For twenty years Alfred Evans Clarke has been identified with this campus, first as instructor of history and government at Portland Junior College from 1946 to 1950, and then with the added duties of part-time Director of Admissions at PJC and UMP until 1959, when he was appointed full-time Director of Admissions for the Portland campus of the University of Maine.

Mr. Clarke has won a place in the hearts of thousands of students over the years, for his fatherly interest and helpful words of counsel have continued long after his duties as Director of Admissions have been completed in individual cases. For more than twelve years he was advisor to both the Student Council and the Outing Club, and for ten years he was also coach of the golf team. Even now, busy as he is, he finds time each year to help at the Mountain Day cookout and to act as Santa Claus at the annual Christmas Party for the children of UMP faculty and staff workers.

A native of Gorham, New Hampshire, where he was born on October 29, 1905, Mr. Clarke attended Dartmouth College, where he became director of Dartmouth's famous Outing Club and a member of the board of directors of Dartmouth's Winter Carnival. After graduating from Dartmouth in 1928, he worked in a variety of positions for the next twelve years before attending graduate school at the University of New Hampshire.

During this period Mr. Clarke and Annette Bouchard were married. Their first daughter, Patricia, was born two years after their marriage, and their second daughter, Carolyn, ten years later. The Clarkes now have four grandchildren.

At the outbreak of World War II, Mr. Clarke was teaching high school at Berlin, New Hampshire. When the shipyards opened at South Portland, he was made director of supervisory training for the Todd Shipyards Corporation. His work was so successful that he was promoted to become general director of training for the Todd Corporation, supervising the training of employees at yards scattered throughout the nation.

When the war ended and he was free to return to peace-time education, Dean Bonney of Portland Junior College learned of his availability and persuaded him to join the faculty which was starting to develop what is now the Portland campus of the University of Maine.

ALFRED EVANS CLARKE

Although Mr. Clarke's work at UMP keeps him very busy, he finds time to help a number of scholarship organizations, including work as director of the Portland Citizen's Scholarship Foundation, as a director of the Simmonds Foundation, and as a member of the George C. Shaw Scholarship Committee. An enthusiastic amateur painter, Mr. Clarke relaxes by painting landscapes in watercolors or by reading in a wide diversity of fields, enveloped by billows of smoke from one or another of his famous pipes.

Dr. H. Edwin Young, the new President of the University of Maine, was for the past four years Dean of the College of Letters and Sciences at the University of Wisconsin where he was actively involved in the development of added campuses of the State University similar to the development which is now progressing so rapidly here on the Portland Campus.

Dr. H. Austin Peck, Vice President for Academic Affairs of the University of Maine, was one of the persons most responsible for seeing that our new building, Luther Bonney Hall, was completed and ready for use by the fall of 1965.

Dr. David R. Fink, Jr., new Dean of the University of Maine in Portland, brings a wealth of administrative experience to the Portland campus, for he has been director of a team teaching project financed by a Ford Foundation Grant, chairman of the faculty council, an advisor on ETV, a director of 1964 Boys State, a director of the teacher training program for the Peace Corps, a member of the American Educational Research Association for Higher Education and the National Council on Measurement in Education. During his eight-year tenure at the UM at Orono, he has been teaching educational measurement and statistics.

Welcome to the Portland Campus, Dean Fink!

The Associate Dean, Mr. William Whiting, is also an Associate Professor of Speech at the University of Maine in Portland.

Library Staff

Mrs. Soule, Peggy Horton, and Mrs. Rosnagle work together in the library office.

Mr. Meyer was a temporary cataloguer, and was a great help for students looking for books on a certain subject.

Sharon Taylor, one of the many student librarians, helps two students with their books.

The separate study booths.

... and the new conversation and music rooms. . .

... and the spacious magazine racks all contribute to the atmosphere of the new library.

Ronald Couturier, of the junior class, is a language lab assistant.

Sue Rosen, another junior, is a part-time switchboard operator.

Juniors - Class '67

One of the most outspoken Juniors, Ramzi Karam, shows Dr. Cole and Roger Ginn his homeland, Jordan, on the globe.

Since the new lounge was opened, many people use it to study in, including these three sophomores.

Sophomores - Class '68

Sophomore honor society, the Owls and Eagles, perform for the Freshmen.

The sophomores seem to be enjoying the outdoors in this class with Mrs. Duclos.

Two of the several outstanding sophomores are Chris Carland, an Owl, and Jane Jacobs, and Eagle.

Freshmen - Class '69

During Orientation Week, Freshmen were subject to lectures, skits, Kangaroo Court, name tags, and, of course, the infamous Beanie.

The Freshman Class sponsored the major social event of the Christmas season — a dance at the Sheraton-Eastland Motor Hotel. The semi-formal dance, the climax of Stein Week activities, was held in the State of Maine Ballroom.

Richard Baker and Richard Catir present their dates to Dean and Mrs. Fink and Mr. and Mrs. Duclos.

Sometimes they study, too.

The largest freshman class in the history of UMP started the year on September 10, which is commonly known as Freshman Orientation Day. The day started with each freshman looking for his Owl or her Eagle to get instructions for the day and to get their beanies which they had to wear that day and the following week. Outstanding speakers of the day were Dr. H. Austin Peck, Vice-President of UM; Dean David R. Fink, Jr., UMP's new dean; Estelle Watson, Student Senate President; John Jaques, Dean of Men; Mrs. Jane Sanborn, Dean of Women; and Abraham Kern, Associate Professor of Biology and Zoology.

The Owls and Eagles put on a skit about Banning the Bomb, and the Portlighters entertained with a variety of folk songs.

KANGAROO COURT

The Court . . .

The Owls and Eagles' purgatory for delinquent freshmen, otherwise known as Kangaroo Court, was held the week of September 13. Freshmen committing such unforgivable crimes as forgetting nametags or beanies, or not knowing the Maine Stein Song or its authors, were given a summons to appear in Court. Despite the fact that the defendant had a Court-appointed "lawyer," he was usually found guilty and sentence was passed, such as singing the Stein Song in the cafe or wearing various signs.

. . . the "lawyers" and defendant . . .

Pleasant Mountain proved to be the perfect place to hold Mountain Day.

Mountain Day

Food and other things made Mountain Day quite pleasant.

Everyone had fun shooting . . .

. . . cycling . . .

Mountain Day, a tradition at UMP, provided faculty and students with climbing, playing football, games, and singing. The Student Council provided hot dogs, hamburgers, and cider for the event which was held at Pleasant Mountain.

. . . drinking.

STEIN WEEK

Admiral Canty, one of our math teachers, was surprised with a Navy mascot.

Miss Duval screamed when she received a "silence" sign.

Everyone else screamed too!

Mr. Bromfield, Mr. Duclos and Mrs. Bearce (with Sally Butterworth standing in) as "Peter, Paul and Mary."

"Shall we settle this outside?"

The University Singers entertained with several Christmas songs.

The Owls and Eagles served sandwiches and cake and punch to everyone.

This year, he got the pills.

"I don't know if I should thank you or . . ."

Another toy for Mr. Armentrout.

Mr. Matsusaki was voted the "Playboy of UMP!"

"I don't know whether to laugh or cry!"

Walt Abbott and Joyce Morse live it up at the dance on Saturday night.

"I'm afraid of what might jump out at me!"

Kathy Durgin, Jane Jacobs, and Sue Giard light the torch to start the Winter Olympics at UMP.

The semi-formal dance held at the Sheraton-Eastland was a tremendous success.

Mary Bouchard is confident, but Sue Fiske doesn't know if she can trust the goat.

On Maine Day we had a successful car-smash . . .

. . . a volleyball game between the he's and the she's . . .

Incoming Senate President Estelle Watson presides at the podium.

Outgoing Head Owl, Richard S. Emerson, and Outgoing Head Eagle, Mary J. Durdan, received trophies as the most outstanding students at UMP.

MAINE DAY

Maine Day, a tradition at UMP as well as at Orono, is the first Wednesday in May. It is a time free from classes, when we can relax with field and track events, softball games, car washes, and car smashes. At lunch we all gather in the cafeteria to eat and to hear the announcement of the new Owls and Eagles and the incoming Student Senate President.

In the late afternoon and evening, we usually go to a nearby beach and have a cookout with hotdogs and cold chicken and lobster. Last year the cookout was at Ferry Beach, or as Scarboro people know it, Town Beach, at Prout's Neck.

1965-66 Eagles: Front, Head Eagle Jean M. Dickson. Back, left to right, Mary Jane Jacobs, Mary A. Bouchard, and Susan A. Fiske. Missing: Judith A. Oldham, Sally A. Butterworth, and Sharon B. Taylor.

. . . and a tug of war.

Winter Carnival

Val Davis,
new Carnival Queen

Friday night there was a dance, with He and She Ice-saurs galore . . .

. . . and the bold entertained.

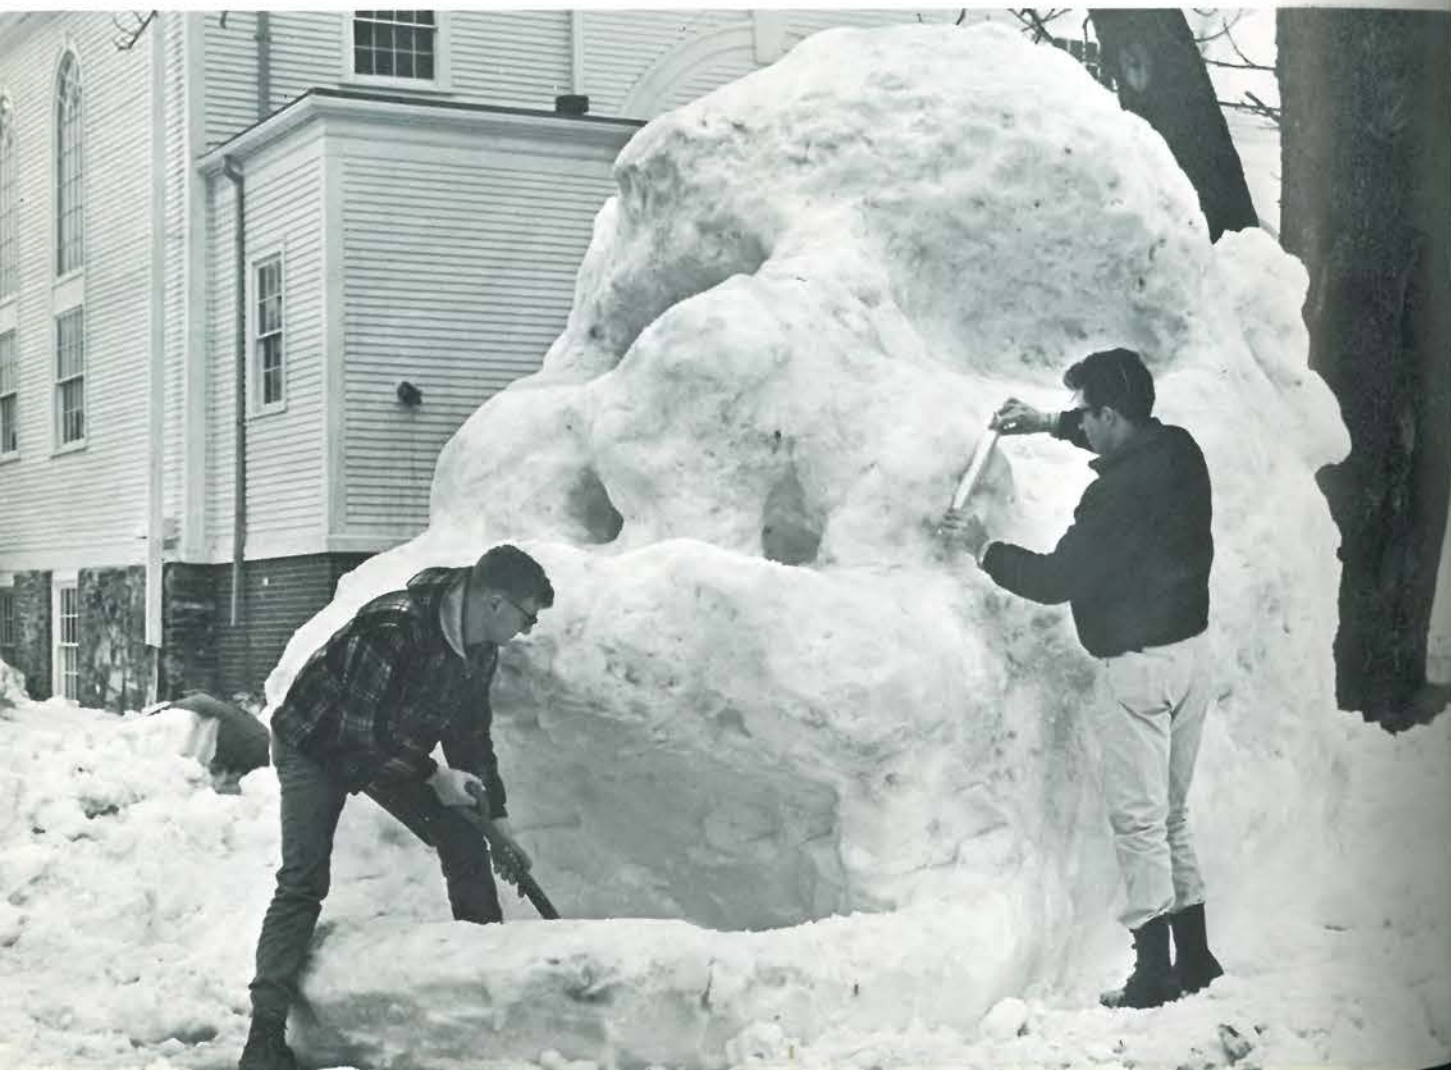

There were cave-men, too.

A popular event of Winter Carnival is the making and judging of snow sculptures. First prize went to the Freshman Class entry, the Path of Pleistocene, and Honorable Mention to the Junior Class Triceratops. An interesting sculpture was the enormous cave man, below.

The Play-boy bunny.

One of the games played was between the faculty and the girls, when the faculty wore boxing gloves, except for Mr. Matsusaki.

Valerie Davis was crowned Winter Carnival Queen Friday night and reigned over the rest of the carnival.

Pat Feury presents a cup to Val.

W I N T E R C A R N I V A L Q U E E N

On Saturday night, there was a well-attended semi-formal dance at the Sheraton-Eastland and everyone had a good time talking . . .

. . . and arguing . . .

. . . and listening to the Jerry Cecco Group . . .

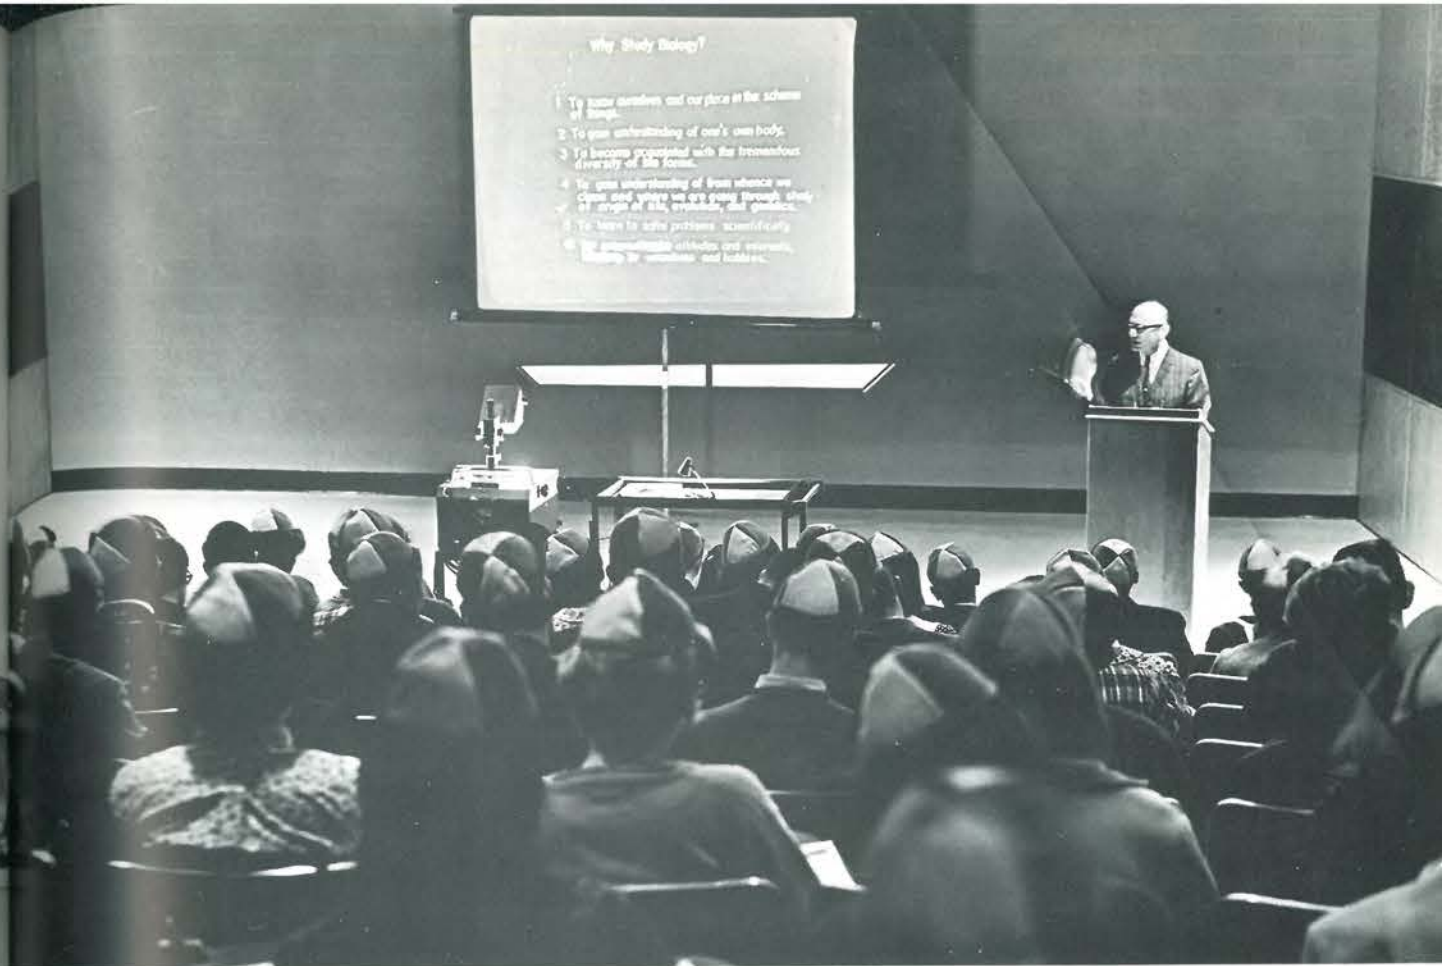

. . . and dancing the night away.

First they wait in line to get the IBM cards . . .

A W S

The Associated Women Students, more commonly known as the AWS, is a service organization open to all women students at the University of Maine in Portland. One of their many services to the University student body was to present several well known and widely acclaimed films, such as Advise and Consent, Macbeth, and The Cardinal. Another service is to incoming freshman girls; in the spring, the AWS holds a tea where the girls can get acquainted with the school grounds and some of the faculty.

UNIVERSITY OF MAINE IN PORTLAND DEDICATION OF LUTHER I. BONNEY HALL

4:00 p.m., November 18, 1965

DEAN DAVID R. FINK, JR., Presiding

PROGRAM

UNIVERSITY SINGERS: Marshall F. Bryant, Director
Dorothy Hicks, Accompanist

Turn Back O Man ..... Arr., Holst

O Brother Man ..... Arr., Ringwald

GREETINGS:

Estelle M. Watson, president, Student Senate

Arthur H. Benoit, Board of Trustees

Dr. H. Edwin Young, president, University of Maine

INTRODUCTION OF DEAN BONNEY: Raymond S. Oakes

ADDRESS: Dean Emeritus Luther I. Bonney

Luther Isaac Bonney, Dean Emeritus of the University of Maine in Portland, is widely regarded as the father of higher education for young men in the Portland area. Although other attempts had been made to provide some form of local collegiate education, Dean Bonney's work in developing the college extension courses of 1933 into Portland Junior College marked the first successful program of that sort in the history of Portland. Dean Bonney has devoted a lifetime to the advancement of education, and it is entirely fitting and proper that the university's new building on the Portland campus, which he did so much to develop, should be named in his honor.

In Appreciation

The UMPIRE, quite unlike our other Student Publications, the UMP Campus, the UMPus, and the UMP Profiles, is designed to be of increasing value in future years. As you look through these pages, we hope that the pictures will bring back pleasant memories.

This yearbook would not have been possible without the support of our advertisers and other loyal friends of UMP. As editor of the UMPIRE, I wish to thank our advertisers and the CED office for generous support. I also want to thank the photographers of the Portland Press Herald, Evening Express, and Sunday Telegram for glossies of their best news shots of UMP activities.

Many of our pictures were photographed by John James, who came to our campus time after time to take special pictures for use of the UMPIRE, such as the head-and-shoulders shots of the faculty and seniors. Several other pictures were taken by Paul Strout, a freshman at UMP, without whose assistance, we would not have many shots of certain events.

Expert assistance in page layout and special effects were provided by Walden McFarland of Portland Lithograph Company, whose craftsmanship enabled us to produce this book.

Most of all, I wish to express my thanks to the UMPIRE staff: Donna Sorenson and Sandra Brown, for some typing and layout; Alan Dodge who did most of the layout; John Burrell, Dave Hawkes, and Dave Tordoff, who solicited the advertising and worked out the financial problems; and Frank Tordoff, who advised, mediated between the Student Publications and the administration, solved endless problems, and gave us hope when we were ready to climb the walls. Finally, I wish to thank our advisor, Mr. Alvin D. Rogers, who worked closely with our staff and with Mr. Walden McFarland of the Portland Lithograph Company in providing technical advice and suggestions, and to Mr. Bryant P. Jones, our new Public Relations Director.
