Dedication

Gorham State Teachers College proudly dedicates its 1953 HILLCREST to Lawrence N. Cilley, a member of the Gorham State Teachers College faculty from 1919 to 1952. Mr. Cilley retired from the faculty last June after thirty-three years of loyal service.

A graduate of Portland High School, Mr. Cilley graduated from Gorham Normal School in 1916 and later studied at Stout Institute in Wisconsin and at Oswego Teachers College in New York. He has also done extension work at Harvard University and has attended several summer sessions at Gorham State Teachers College.

From 1916 to 1918, Mr. Cilley taught at Lisbon Falls, Maine, and in 1918 in Portland. He became a member of the Gorham Normal School faculty in 1919.

Throughout his thirty-six years of service, Mr. Cilley has been devoted to the teaching of Industrial Arts Education. Quiet and unassuming, he has dedicated his life to helping others. A master craftsman in carpentry and cabinet making, he has prepared many students to enter the teaching field with a fund of practical knowledge at their disposal. A fine and thorough teacher, he has also spent much extra time helping and guiding each student. Conscious of changing educational methods, he has been careful to keep abreast of professional procedures at all times. Whenever carpentry and repair work have been needed around the campus, Mr. Cilley's skill and ingenuity have come into use.

Carpentry and cabinet making have not been the only subjects Mr. Cilley has taught while at Gorham. Other subjects have included drafting, pattern making, building construction, forging, job and trade analysis, youth activity, and the history of vocational and industrial arts education.

Mr. Cilley belongs to a great many educational organizations. He is a member of the National Education Association, the Maine State Teachers' Association, the American Industrial Arts Association, the New England Industrial Arts Association, and the Association of Mechanical Draftsmen.

He greatly enjoys music and has been a member of the "Hilltop Quartet" and the local Methodist choir. A leader in community life, Mr. Cilley is respected by all.

This year Mr. and Mrs. Cilley are enjoying a well-earned rest in Florida and Gorham. Our sincerest wishes are with them always.

My dear Miss Smith:

We are pleased to inform you that your high school principal states that you have the qualities needed in a good teacher and that you are in the upper half of your high school class. Senior Class

September, 1949, to June, 1953! Between these two dates we have enjoyed four eventful years here together at Gorham State Teachers College.

The class itself has been an outstanding one. It is one of the largest classes to graduate from this institution—one hundred and thirty-one men and women studying for the teaching profession. Also, the class is noted for its high scholastic rating. It is one of the last classes to graduate World War II veterans.

Many students of the class have proved to be excellent leaders. The fact that many have been in charge of certain events, and have done a good job worthy of much praise proves it. Athletes in the class have helped Gorham to become famous on the basketball courts. We were very happy to have as a classmate a Japanese student, who became a friend to all.

Never forget our classes! Our freshman year found us searching for many specimens for biology. Physical science in our sophomore year gave some of the female students a wee bit of trouble. The "club" increased in numbers this year! We had a chance to choose some of our courses our third year, thus the class began to split up. Our senior year—one semester of student teaching, and the other semester—classes on the hill. Many events which have occurred during these years will always be with us.

During our four years here, we have seen many things which have been added to the college or improved upon. Cortwell Hall and the two dormitories have all been given paint jobs. What was just a dream as freshmen became a reality in our junior year and the familiar ring of "Let's go to the Student Lounge for a cup of coffee" has become a necessary part of our daily routine.

Classes, faculty, extra-curricular activities, friends—all of these, plus all the little things which make up a G. S. T. C. education, better outfit us as future teachers and citizens of the United States.

Junior Class

Our illustrious Junior class entered Gorham State Teachers College in the fall of 1950. To most of us it was a new experience and it promised to be a colorful one. We were well represented on the basketball team by Jim Stanton, Bob Hapworth, Bob Campbell, Charles Sawyer, Larry Golder, Chet Koceika and Ed Connolly. The glee club also benefited by the coming of our class with many of us joining to show our hidden talents. The Winter Carnival committee included many of our class and all other organizations on campus felt our presence all during the year.

We had become well established here on the hill by the beginning of our Sophomore year. The student lounge opened soon after the fall term started and it became the gathering place for everyone including our classmates. George Morse and Sally Grant were named chairmen of the Winter Carnival and the first prize in the snow sculpturing contest was awarded to Carl Withee. Betty Ann Sutton made a place for herself in the field of dramatics in the production of "The Magnificent Obsession." This year we also won the New England Teachers College basketball championship with several of our class aiding the team in accomplishing this achievement. Nelson Wentworth became the director of the first band that G. S. T. C. has had in many years. We ended the year royally with most of the class attending a class outing at Victor Catir's cottage at Higgins' Beach.

Our Junior year started with most of us full of energy, realizing we were starting on the last half of our four year education. We took an active part in the Green and White Way which was sponsored by the W. S. S. F. This year again the basketball team contained some Juniors and Nelson Wentworth's band added pep and spirit to many of the home games. We sponsored the Commencement Ball for the Seniors and now we finish the year looking forward with anticipation to next year which will be our climax to four years of work, play and fun.

Sophomore Class

Here we are halfway through four years of college and are perhaps a little brighter from the experience. At the helm to guide us along was Harry Murchie and at his side ready to take over at any time stood Glenn Martin. The bank book and pencil and pad end were handled by Arlene Pulsifer and Viola Starr with Franklin Roberts keeping us represented at Student Council meetings.

Our first year at Gorham was a successful one. Early in our Freshman year we elected Mr. Whitten, whom we knew could help us through our difficulties and give us advice toward the solutions of our problems, as our class advisor. For social activities we sponsored a dance after the home basketball game with Farmington, and prepared the refreshments which were served in the student lounge. Another thing we did was to hold an outing at Douglass Mountain. This hike was a lot of fun, and even the rain couldn't dampen our spirits. We also donated money toward the fund for a needy child in a foreign country.

This year we Sophomores had our chance to test the marksmanship of our fellow classmates. At the Green and White Way, we invited everyone to visit our shooting gallery where for on a few pennies, they could test their skill to see if they could hit a bull's eye or even the target.

Yes, we've had fun during these last two years and have tried to help needy causes and to offer our services to better our college. The next two years, we hope to do even better and to make these years as successful as the first two.

Freshman Class

It is really quite a shock to be thrust into a school as a meek Freshman after having just completed an exalted year as a Senior. But it happens to all great men and women, and so with the Freshman class of 1952.

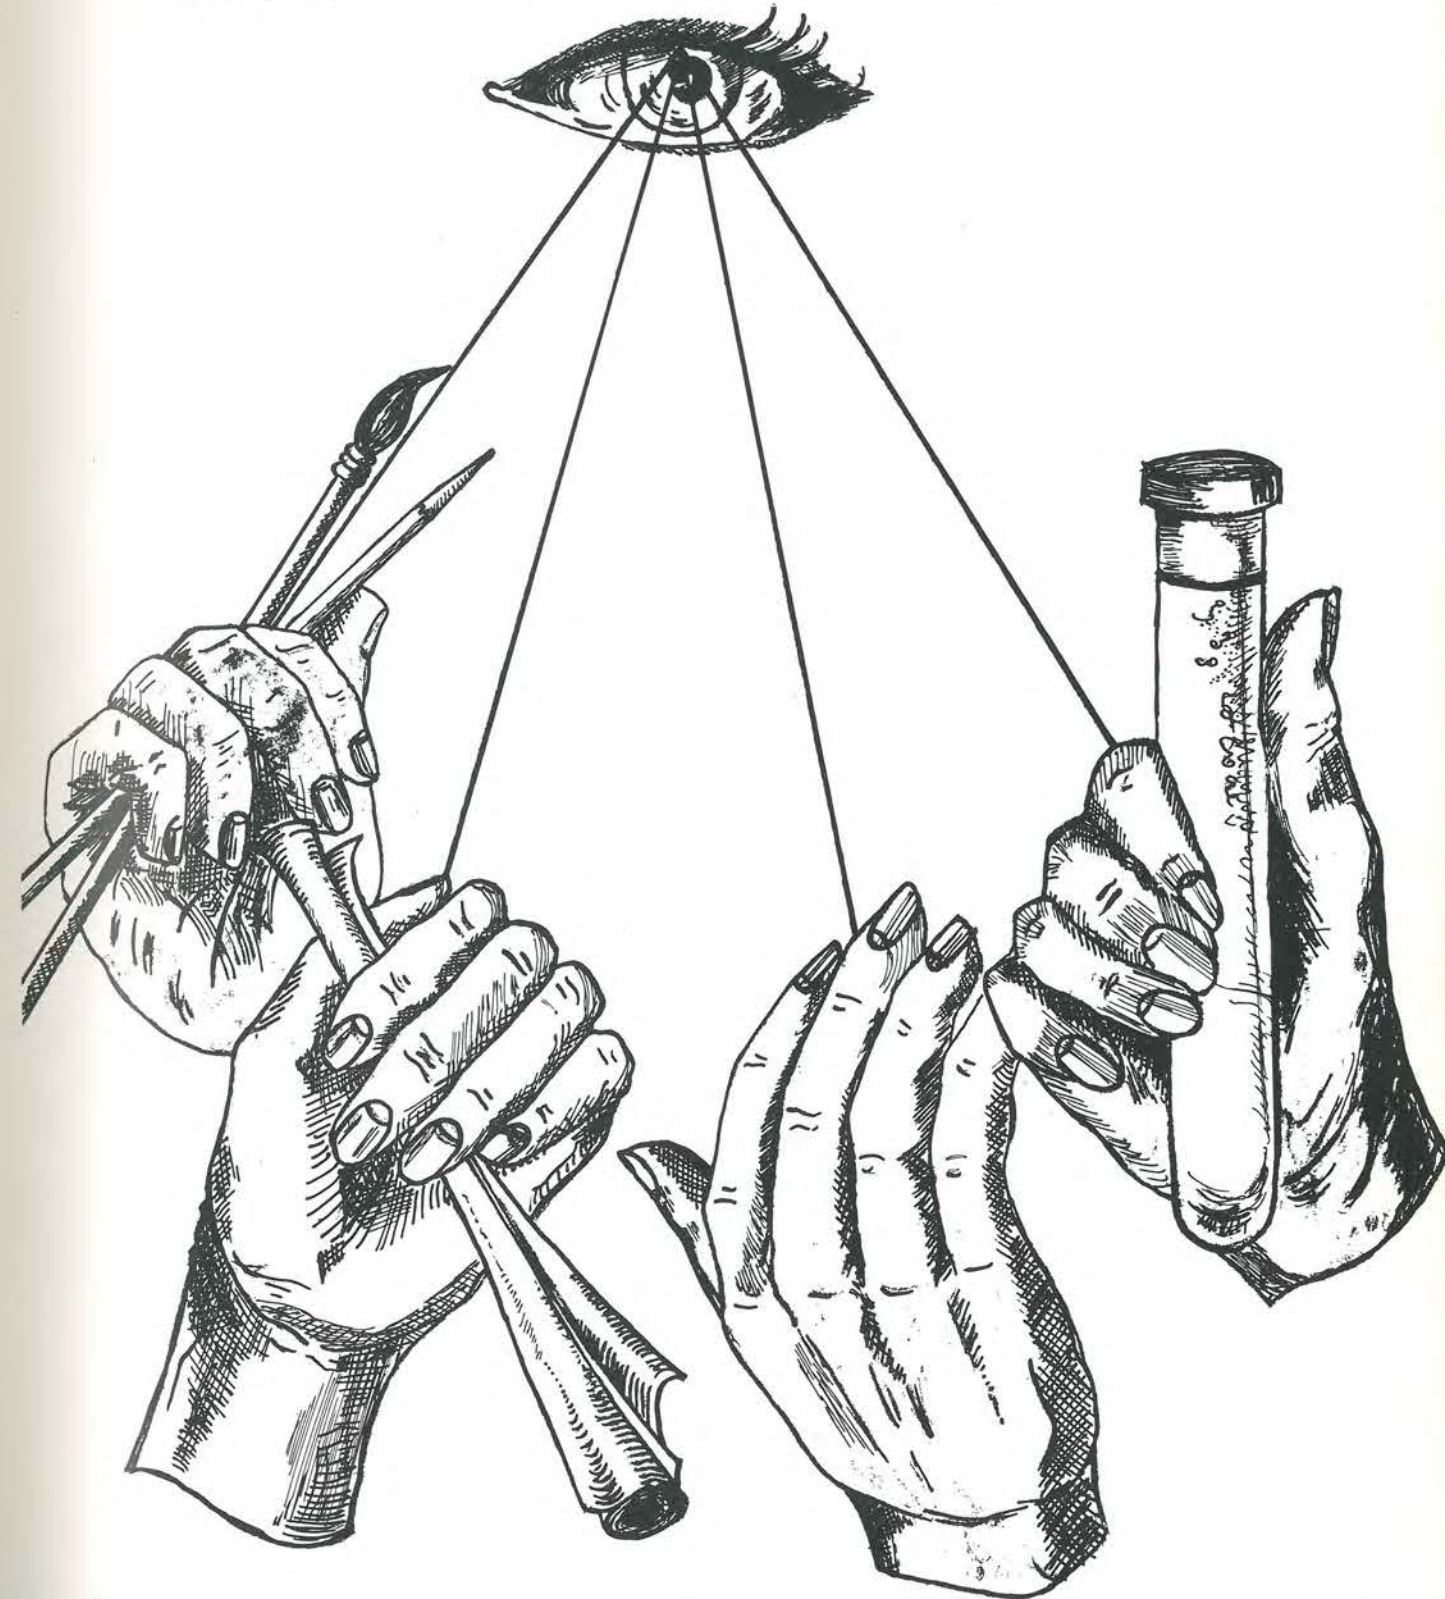

Recovering quickly from our initial shock we held our first class meeting and elected those officers who were to guide us this year. They were: President, William Pease; Vice President, Ronald Banks; Secretary, Sandra Colwell; and Treasurer, Ann Crosby. And so, thus fortified, we went forth to meet our new responsibility on campus.

At the Green and White Way our booth was an enormous success, bringing in the most money of any single booth. By popular demand we had to put on two additional performances of our show, which featured the African Queen and her hand maidens.

In basketball, the class was well represented. It wasn't too unusual to look and find three or four of our men playing vigorously on the first team for their new alma mater. In addition to this we were well represented in every club and organization on campus.

And so we close our first year's log with a sigh, relieved to have become released from our status as Freshmen and looking forward to our next three years at G. S. T. C.

CLASSES

Education

The Education Department has many responsibilities; among them are:

1. To see that students know the principles of good teaching and learning which are commonly accepted by educators today.
2. To provide opportunities for observing the work of the elementary school and to stimulate consideration of practice as it is related to principles.
3. To promote participation in many activities which involve working with children.
4. To guide students in the preparation of materials to be used in teaching.
5. To place students in good learning situations for 18 weeks of full time student teaching and to help them gain rich experience in teaching which could not be had in any other way.
6. To give guidance to students when they are ready to seek employment as teachers.

In order to carry out our responsibilities we teach a series of courses which may be grouped, as they are in many places, under the title "The Child and the Curriculum." Although many people, including the faculty members at the Campus School and the off-campus cooperating teachers, contribute to our work each course is under the direction of one member of the faculty. In the freshman year Evelyn Littlefield conducts an orientation course called Personal and Professional Problems, sophomore year Mildred Peabody teaches An Introduction to the Study of Elementary Education and in the junior year Ethelyn Upton has Guiding Educational Experiences. In both the junior and senior years there are elective courses in methods with Philosophy of Education required in the senior year.

During the senior year approximately 110 students do their student teaching under the direction of Miss Upton and Miss Peabody, with Miss Littlefield assisting in many ways. Group conferences for student teachers are arranged by all three of the instructors.

The members of the Educational Department work closely with the office personnel and Dr. Bailey to make our placement service function for students and superintendents alike. This involves preparation of credentials, knowledge of wishes and abilities of students, knowledge of needs of superintendents, provision for interviews, and a definite interest in helping students find positions in which they may teach successfully.

English and Literature

In order that prospective teachers may be prepared to help children gain skill in the language arts and widen their horizons through the world of books, they must themselves gain the ability to use oral and written language effectively, acquire an understanding of significant aspects of our cultural heritage, and develop mature standards of literary taste. Hence, the program in English and literature at Gorham leads toward the dual goals of professional attainment and cultural enrichment. Members of the English department carry out the general are Miss Elizabeth Sawyer, Miss Grace Swanson, and Mr. Ernest Weeks. Miss Evelyn Littlefield is in charge of English for Industrial Arts students.

The required courses come in the freshman and sophomore years. Freshman English, a full-year course, stresses fundamentals of good usage, effectiveness in written composition, and techniques of the research paper. Freshmen also take a course in reading techniques in order to increase their efficiency as readers.

Sophomores have a one-semester course in speech, which gives them valuable experience in organizing material and presenting it before a group. In the two-semester course in literature, sophomores study dominant types of British and American literature: and short story, the essay, the drama, biography, and poetry.

As many and varied electives for upperclassmen are offered as the teaching loads of department members permit. Two courses primarily professional in character are English Methods and Children's Literature. Improvement in Composition provides an opportunity for those needing help in written English as well as for those interested in creative writing.

Electives in literature are designed to broaden the student's cultural background and to develop his appreciation and critical ability. Survey courses in English and American literature present major writers, literary history, significant ideas and trends. Drama and Novel provide extensive reading in these types of literature and trace their development. Contemporary Literature and Modern American Poetry help the student to gain understanding of modern writing that mirrors the thought and experience of our times.

Mathematics

The mathematics department tries to give each student a good understanding of all those topics in this field which will be of value to him as a teacher, plus the knowledge of recommended ways of teaching the subject at his chosen level.

As a freshman, each student is required to study Functional Mathematics, a content course to provide a better background of those mathematics topics which he will need in other college areas, those which will help him as an informed citizen and consumer, and those which he will need specifically in teaching. Next a brief background course in arithmetic is offered, integrating the work of observation and lesson-planning with that being done in the Elementary Education course, and giving to all a critical overview of current trends in this field.

In the junior or senior year each student has a methods course at his teaching level, either Junior High School Mathematics or Applications of Arithmetic. Time is spent in preparing specific guides, tests, and equipment, so that the pupil will feel better prepared to step into an actual school situation. Also during the junior-senior years, eight hours of academic mathematics may be elected under the title Introduction to College Mathematics. This ranges from College Algebra and Trigonometry through a brief picture of the meaning and use of Analytic Geometry and Calculus.

These courses are offered by Mary Peabody, with the exception of a freshman required course in Shop Mathematics for Industrial Arts students, a course currently taught by Samuel Parks.

The mathematics program is organized so that the student first has a chance to bridge the gap which frequently exists in this field between elementary school and teaching. Then gradually, through observation, discussion, wide reading, and preparing materials, he becomes acquainted with the many new ideas in teaching arithmetic as it takes its proper place in the modern school. The desired product is a teacher ready in both subject matter and methods to try current-accepted practices in a classroom situation.

Music

The music department of G. S. T. C. is well on the way to becoming a specialized field. Each year new courses are added to the curriculum along the areas of appreciation instrumental, and vocal music.

In the Freshman year there is a required course in the fundamentals of music. This is a refresher course in music appreciation, choral singing, sight-singing, and music history. Students go into this course without being able to read a word of music and come out with enough self confidence so that they will attempt to sing the second part of the hymn in church.

This course is followed in the Sophomore year by another similar course. The sight-singing and appreciation become a little more involved, but this just creates another milestone in the student's musical knowledge. In this course the student also gets his first introduction to teaching music in the grade and junior high schools and a chance to direct music.

In the Junior and Senior years the courses in music are all electives. In the Music Appreciation course the student is taught the movements of a symphony and is allowed to follow the score as the symphony is played on records. The Instrumental Music class has only one requirement: that the student does not know how to play the instrument he chooses to study. During the first term he studies one of the string group and during the last, one of the brass or wood-wind group. Every student in this class has had no previous training on his particular instrument, and yet when he is finished with the course he has a working knowledge of two.

Another new subject is the Harmony class. In this class the students are taught harmony and original composition. During the course each person improvises several compositions. It is rather important that you have a working knowledge of the piano for this particular class.

Aesthetics is another appreciation class which is of a great value to those who take it. It involves not only the appreciation of music but also of art. All of these courses combine to make the music department which is headed by Miss Miriam Andrews, one of the outstanding departments in our school.

Art

Art is one of the cultural aesthetics which lend beauty and enjoyment to living. Fundamentally, Art is a medium of expression—self-expression! Educationally, Art is fundamental to all learning—to real understanding—because all languages have their roots in pictorial expression. This, in turn, with evolving centuries has been reduced through pictorial symbols to characters.

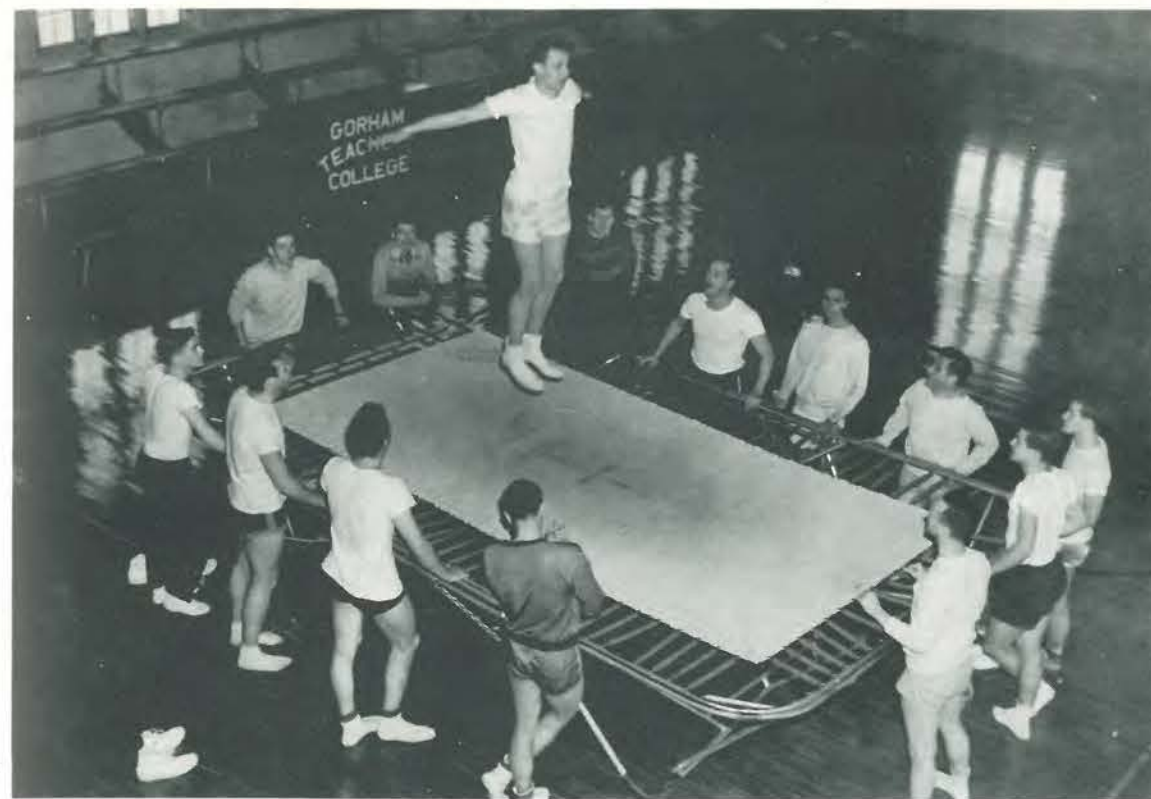

Such courses as Principals of Art as given at this college are designed to acquaint future teachers with the "handling" of various expression media leading to an interpretation of children's art for a better understanding and evaluation of classroom art results. One of our main objectives is the integration of teacher-pupil efforts and results. . . . And our basic philosophy is—"Don't teach the child, let HIM draw!"

Integrated Handwork is an outgrowth of a former course called Elementary Industrial Arts which was defined as "A study of the changes that man makes in the form of raw materials to increase their usefulness and value." This kind of experience is intended to train the hands along with the mind. It provides exercise in constructive thinking and planning, and involves a consideration of the problems of life brought about by industrial development. The approach to teaching the Arts is basic to all good teaching, and could be used by all good teachers in any subject-matter field. "Proceed from the easy to the difficult—From the known to the unknown." That is, take the child from where and how you find him and lead him to broader achievements.

The place of the Arts in the Teacher-Training Curriculum is chiefly one of correlative transfer. Directly, it is evident in assignments for charts, graphs, and other pictorial assembling of materials in practically every other college course. Art courses help to integrate for the student—consciously or unconsciously—all other concrete or abstract information from other courses because Art Problems do bring out correlative experiencing of Math, Science, English, Social Studies, Visual Education, Biology and Music.

Art History should contribute to cultural background through knowledge and appreciation of the most expressive record of the human race. This, and all the Arts make for intellectual growth—beyond the mere acquisition of the "mechanics of teaching."

If you teach any subject well, you teach ALL subjects.

Health and Physical Education

The Gorham State Teachers College physical education is under the combined leadership of John Bodnarick and Frank Pollard for the men and Miss Doris Fitz for the women and includes classroom physical education, health instruction, intramural athletics, and junior varsity and varsity intercollegiate athletics. It provides the individual with an opportunity to develop his knowledge, interests, ideals and habits, to the limit of his ability and capacity, whereby he will find his place and use that place to shape himself and pupils he will teach to adjust successfully to society.

The activities are varied and selective to permit individual expression within the limits of the group. Features of the program provide for physical and mental health efficiency, recreation, group cooperation, individual coordination, individual specialization in physical skills, and the provision for competitive activities to meet needs and interests of every student.

Both men and women of the freshman class take Freshman Health and Physical Education. This course is designed to acquaint the students with the basic fundamentals of the sports program and a survey of physical education in the elementary school. The women's course is based on self-appraisal starting with the individual's own needs as shown on the medical examination and the individual's own desires. Opportunity is given for a wide survey of all phases of Physical Education work in the grades, the sports program, rhythms and recreational games. The Health classroom work correlates very closely with the physical education program. The work deals with the teacher's responsibility in regard to the healthful living of children.

The course for women in the sophomore year is called Method and Materials in Health and Physical Education. It is designed to meet teaching needs with progressive organization of materials for each grade including Junior High. Opportunity is given for practice teaching with the Campus School children.

Psychology and Guidance

Of recent years much has happened to lift psychology from its questionable status as introspective philosophy to a position of respect as an important social science. To the end that psychology employs scientific methods and has the scientific spirit can we truly refer to it as a science.

We must face the sober fact that present knowledge and understandings of human relations and individual adjustments are not adequate. Psychology accepts the challenge presented to it, namely: that man must gain new knowledge of men and must strive for friendly, intelligent cooperation at home as well as in the international community. In this process, everyone must work out his personal adjustment to himself and the difficult world in which he finds himself. Recognizing the variability of the human equation, no psychologist claims that his field ever will contain all the valuable knowledge about human nature.

In this broad field, three objectives stand out which should justify the inclusion of this subject in the curriculum of teachers colleges. These are: to contribute toward the solution of social problems; to contribute to one's understanding of himself and others; and to contribute to the understanding of human experience or knowledge for its own sake.

The tremendous amount of research conducted during this "century of the child" furnishes much material for study in our courses at Gorham. General Psychology presents basic principles, with special stress upon motivation and learning, emotions and intelligence, and tries to establish a questioning attitude as well as a workable vocabulary to serve in future courses. During the junior year students study Child and Adolescent Psychology where several case studies are analyzed and much emphasis is placed upon problems, projects and supplementary readings. In addition, Evaluation and Guidance shows the relationship between measurement and guidance. Elementary statistical work is introduced and several standardized tests are scored and analyzed. Practice is allowed in constructing test items of all types.

The final course, Dynamics of Adjustment, is concerned with helping normal individuals to remain that way, by pointing out dangers to mental health and positive ways to cope with them. Emphasis is upon the preventative measures and tested ways of attaining adjustment to the environment, and emotional balance within the self. Special attention is given to the relationship between mental health principles and effective teaching.

Science

Louis B. Woodward, Physical Science and Geology.
Robert N. Miller, Biological Science and Methods.
Samuel R. Parks, Physical Science.

COURSES

Biological Science, 1st year course, required.
Physical Science, 2nd year course, required.
Advanced Biology, 3rd or 4th year elective.
Geology, 3rd or 4th year elective.
Physics, 3rd or 4th year elective.
Methods for Teaching Biological Science, elective for advanced biology students only.

OBJECTIVES

Physical Science

The required courses are intended to give all students an understanding of the environment such that they may teach such science as is required in the several grades of the elementary schools.

Geology

The course in geology is designed to acquaint the student with the geological significance of the familiar features of any landscape. The purpose is to enable the student, as an intelligent citizen, to understand and appreciate the work of nature in bringing the surface of the earth to its present condition. The course also serves as a valuable background for the teaching of geography and general science.

Biological Science

The objective is to present selected facts, principles and generalizations of biology that are essential to the interpretation of nature which commonly challenges children, and at the same time to provide the student with sufficient biological background to permit him to pursue more specialized aspects of the subject.

Advanced Biology

The objective is to provide a broader opportunity through the laboratory and the out-of-doors to be familiar with the interrelationships and dependences that living organisms have with their environment, each other and man.

Teaching of Biological Science

The objective is to obtain a better understanding of the methods used in the teaching of Biological Science and to select from there those methods that should better establish not only information but also certain skill, habits and appreciations.

Social Studies

The Social Studies in the "Gorham Program" seeks to promote personal growth toward attaining a knowledge of our past social heritage, an understanding of contemporary civilization and a glimpse toward the possibilities in tomorrow's world. The teachers of the social studies stress such points as (1) the cause and effects of historical event, (2) the interdependence of the nations and societies of the world, (3) the clash of political ideals, (4) and the efforts of mankind to solve the problems posed by divergent geographic political and cultural environment.

I. REQUIRED:

In the freshman year all students in the Academic College work with Mr. James Whitten and Miss Edna Dickey in a survey of Western Civilization. Freshmen also have one semester with Mr. Paul Salley in Principles of Geography.

The sophomores again meet Mr. Salley in World Geography and develop their knowledge of United States History with Miss Esther Wood.

Juniors find new appreciation for the State of Maine in Miss Wood's History of Maine course.

The senior required course is American Government, taught by Mr. Whitten.

II. ELECTIVES:

Gorham offers several social studies electives open to both junior and senior students.

Mr. Salley offers Political Geography, Geography of Europe, Geography of Latin America and Geography of Asia.

Miss Wood teaches elective course in Diplomatic History, Advanced U. S. Colonial History, and Social History of the United States, History of the West.

Mr. Whitten teaches Canadian-American Relations and a methods course, Teaching the Social Studies.

III. Gorham students supplement the above courses with those offered in Psychology, Economics and Sociology. The other departments give specialized histories of a particular field such as Music and Art.

Sociology

Sociology is concerned with the scientific method and endeavors to use that system of arriving at conclusions. Sociologists therefore are not so interested in whether the answer to an inquiry will be "yes" or "no" but rather that the truth will be discovered.

The student who wishes to be successful as a socially minded teacher must have an inquiring mind. He must have a reasonable skepticism but withal a mind open to conviction. In observing his own prejudices and the biases of others, intellectual integrity is of the utmost importance. Preconceived notions and desires if allowed to enter into his interpretations of observed facts will lead to intellectual dishonesty.

The sociologist must be imaginative. "He must be able to project his thoughts from known facts to logical deductions." If his deductions are true, survey and testing will sustain them. If his beliefs, folkways, and even his religion will not stand the test of analysis, then they are faulty and bear correction.

The imaginative person will inevitably take cognizance of the fact that truth is not only found in the immutable laws of nature as portrayed in physics and the natural sciences but also that the most immutable of all laws are yet to be discovered in the desires of men. He may even discover those eternal laws by which human nature works or by which human behavior is directed but he can never change those laws.

Moreover, as a teacher, the sociologist is not only a scientist who observes and gathers cold fact but also he is a reformer who is sincerely interested in changing human behavior.

The sociologist then at this juncture stands at the center of education, which is the conscious attempt to transform human action.

Industrial Arts in Action

Through the portals of the industrial arts buildings on College Hill pass more than one-third of G. S. T. C.'s busy men students. Upon successfully completing the four-year course, which averages twenty-six class hours per week, these young men become qualified to teach industrial arts at any grade level in the schools of our state.

These students actively prepare themselves to portray industry to the youth of Maine. They will teach these young people the aspects of production, consumption, and recreation as they pertain to American industrial life. They will work with other teachers in providing all youth with an opportunity to get a well-rounded general education which will enable them to more easily become adjusted to life.

By observing the photographs and the complete curriculum that follow, you will undoubtedly realize that I. A. students take full advantage of all facilities at G. S. T. C.

Student Governing Council

President PHILIP CHADBOURNE
 Vice President RICHARD D. JENKINS
 Secretary-Treasurer CARROLL P. BEALS

This group is comprised of representatives of each class and organization on the campus. This year for the first time, representatives were included from each of the three fraternities.

The year began with a rousing Mayor Campaign, resulting in the election of Dean Evans. His victory was announced at the Harvest Ball, which was sponsored by the Council.

The Council and the House Committee shared the responsibility of planning and preparing for the annual Open House Observance.

As usual the Council had charge of the sales of class rings.

In the early part of the year a revision of the Recreation Room rules was undertaken, resulting in a more efficient standard of operation.

We have continued with our program of supporting a War Orphan, twelve year old Eleftheria Liapi of Greece.

Pat Ames and Harry True represented G. S. T. C. at the National Teachers College Conference in New York. They were accompanied by Miss Doris Fitz as faculty advisor.

Future Teachers of America

WALTER E. RUSSELL CHAPTER

President CARROLL P. BEALS
 Vice President MILES T. BROOKES
 Secretary JANICE L. BROWN
 Treasurer WILLIAM HERRMAN

The year opened with an energetic membership drive resulting in approximately 150 new members. Meetings are held bi-monthly, and alternate meetings are in the nature of professional programs and business meetings.

Delegates from this chapter attended the Maine State Teachers Convention, in Bangor, and helped to ratify a constitution for a State Organization of F. T. A., and to elect officers for this new group.

American Education Week was observed by a special chapel program, and by sponsoring a professional movie at the theater in Gorham.

A major project for the year has been the purchase of a set of books for our library, given in memory of Harland A. Ladd, our late Commissioner of Education. We are also endeavoring to improve and enlarge the library of film strips.

At a joint meeting of the York-Cumberland Teachers Associations, it was decided to include the Gorham F. T. A. at future meetings of this body.

Our members receive, monthly, the Maine Teacher and the N. E. A. Journal. F. T. A. pins are available to those who desire them.

It is the purpose of this organization to stimulate interest in and increase the knowledge of future teachers in their chosen profession, and also to interest desirable high school students in entering the field of education.

Canterbury Club

President MARGO BROWN

Vice President ANNE RANKIN

Secretary-Treasurer ANN CROSBY

The Canterbury Club extends a welcome to all G. S. T. C. Episcopal students with its purpose to knit together more closely these students of various Episcopal churches, both spiritually and socially.

Once a month we combine with the Canterbury Clubs of Westbrook Junior College and Portland Junior College for a supper and evening service. Each club participates in planning this program.

A Lenten program and a Chapel speaker were planned by the club.

With Mr. Brown as our faculty advisor, here on campus, and Mr. and Mrs. Rose as our local advisors, we hope this club can help in developing the spiritual side of the student's college education.

Newman Club

OFFICERS

President TONY CAPRIO

Vice President LORRIE GANNON

Secretary BETTY ANN STAPLES

Treasurer SYLVIA AMADIE

The Newman Club on campus is a source of guidance for all Catholic students. The primary function of our club is to guide the Catholic students in developing their faith and our program is aimed at the enrichment of the spiritual life of the Catholic students on campus.

We hold that our program is threefold—religious, intellectual and social.

The Newman Club meets every other Wednesday. This year, for the first time on campus, we had the privilege of sponsoring a Retreat. We hope to make this an annual affair as it adds greatly to our spiritual as well as campus life. We have a social of some kind for each month in the school year and they are opened to all students of the college.

We have sponsored dances and food sales, both in the dormitory and Cortell. Our reason for being so successful this year was because of the full cooperation given by every member of our Newman Club and the excellent leadership of our spiritual director, Reverend Andrew V. Kelleher.

Student Christian Association

President BOB CAMPBELL
 Vice President BILL ALEXANDER
 Treasurer and Recording Secretary KEITH MCCLASKEY
 Corresponding Secretary FRANK ROBERTS

The Student Christian Association is an organization open to all male students interested in participating in religious activities on and around the campus. The meetings are held every Thursday evening in the music room in Corthell Hall. At this time religious services are held and planning is done for future programs. The program is designed to help the members to acquire a better understanding between various denominations, to better understand the basic principles of the Christian faith, and to aid local churches which are financially unable to support a full time program. Trips have been planned to a Buxton church to conduct Sunday services and to Portland to conduct a teen-age fellowship service. Deputation team exchanges are being planned with S. C. A. groups in other Maine colleges.

During the year the Student Christian Association holds several combined services with the Young Women's Christian Association and participates in vesper services. The association has invited any girls who would like to help with their program to join with them in their deputation teams.

Young Women's Christian Association

President MIRIAM WESTRUP
 Vice President MADELINE CLEMENT
 Secretary VIOLA STARR
 Treasurer MARLEN WILLIEHAUSEN

In the desire to realize a full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God and in the determination of having a part in making this life possible for all, the Young Women's Christian Association desires to aid its members to develop a richer and fuller life. Through the Young Women's Christian Association, one is not only concerned with the local organization but also with the National Student Movement and with the World's Student Christian Federation.

Membership is open to any woman student of the college who is interested in the work of the association and the weekly meetings are held each Thursday night in Center. These Thursday meetings may range from speakers to recreation, having a variety of programs throughout the year.

Every first and third Monday of the month, the cabinet, consisting of the "Y" officers, and various commissions and committees, meets to discuss any old and new business of the association. The purpose of the cabinet is to help accomplish the work of the "Y."

Through activities as the World Student Service, Political Discussion, Vesper Service, and Worship Service, the "Y" hopes to present a program of worship, study, and recreation what will help in character growth and to build a closer relationship between the college and the student.

Highlights of the year are the Big and Little Sister Program, which helps familiarize newcomers to the college; Freshman Week, which through numerous activities helps the new students to become better acquainted; Freshman Reception, which enables the introduction of the new students to members of the administrative staff and faculty.

Throughout the year representatives are sent to various conferences such as the Maine Area Conference and the W. S. S. F. Conference. There is also the week-end cabinet planning conference (Retreat), a meeting of the old and new officers, commission and committee heads and at least one advisor, to evaluate the preceding year's program and to make plans and suggestions for the new year.

Amicitia

OFFICERS

President	MANON SMITH
Vice President	LORRAINE JONES
Treasurer	NANCY ELLIOT
Secretary	MARGARET GROVER

The purpose of our club is that of promoting friendship, as one can see by its name. The club consists of fifty members and we meet twice a month on Monday evening from 7.00 to 8.00 to discuss business matters and to plan activities. At these meetings several girls often entertain the rest of the club with various skits.

Our activities are mostly on the feminine side. One of the traditional affairs of the club is the Salamagundi Party. Each year we plan to have a tea, a dinner for the old and new members and some social activities such as a dance or party. Each Christmas a box for a needy family is prepared by the girls with things brought from home.

Through our meetings and these special activities we strive for fun and friendship.

Alpha Lambda Beta

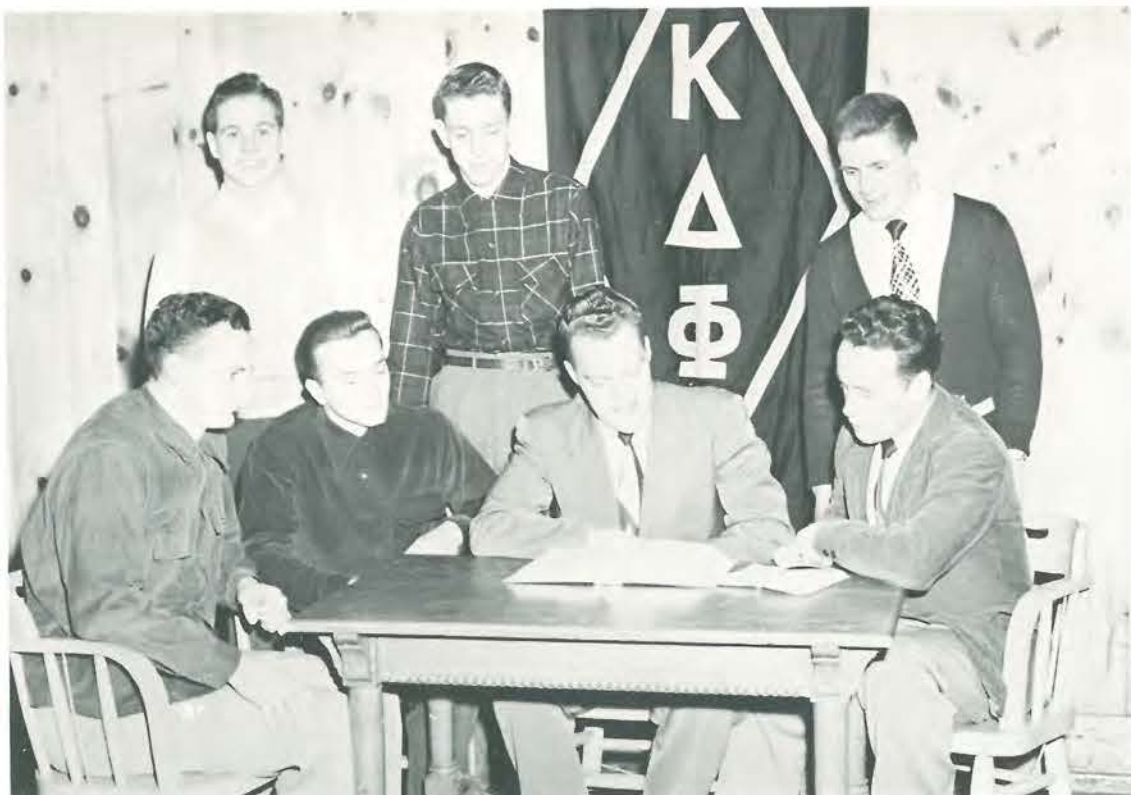

President	ROBERT W. MOODY
Vice President	ROBERT LITTLEFIELD
Treasurer	RICHARD MURCH
Secretary	PHILIP BOWEN
Alumni Secretary	ROBERT PICKETT
Chaplain	FRANCIS MONROE
Faculty Advisors	ERNEST WEEKS, CHARLES MARTIN

This could well be considered a banner year for Alpha Lambda Beta, since it is the Twenty-fifth Anniversary of the brotherhood. In 1928 a small group of men banded together to found the organization of Alpha Lambda Beta which has since participated in various activities, on and off campus, and established itself as an integral part of campus life. During this period of years, the Fraternity has established itself as one in which there is a predominating spirit of brotherhood, a basic need to all such groups. No matter whether the Beta men, as they were once called, or the Alpha men, as they are now known, are on the street, the ball field, the classroom or any other place, they always have sought to retain that feeling. It has been the purpose of the men of this organization to be a useful force in the student body by providing entertainment, participating in school activities, keeping a good scholastic rating and aiding others in whatever way possible.

At times the organization has been depleted in strength of number by such things as World War II, low enrollment and other reasons, but always it has been able to retain its status because of the underlying principles in the foundation of the society. In the next twenty-five years, the organization will be seeking to better itself, but always with this thought in mind, that in the formation of a group of men, the strength of that group is only as strong as the men that comprise it.

Among the activities of Alpha this year have been the third annual "Casbah," an oriental cabaret featuring a small dance band; an illustrated lecture on Labrador by a member of the student body, Neil Lowell; and a combination open house and smoker for new men on campus.

The presentation of Alpha's Annual Spring Festival and a Spring Open House to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization made up the Spring activities. The members of the brotherhood have sincerely expressed the wish that they have aided in providing a good social and academic year at Gorham.

Kappa Delta Phi Fraternity

OFFICERS

President	GRAYSON HARTLEY
Vice President	RICHARD GILPATRICK
Secretary	KENNETH JORDAN
Corresponding Secretary	DAVID BERENSON
Alumni Secretary	FREDRICK AYER
Treasurer	ROBERT HAPWORTH
Master of Ceremonies	RICHARD ANDERSON
Sergeant-at-Arms	CARL WITHIE

Iota Chapter, Kappa Delta Phi Fraternity is a national, educational fraternity founded upon the high ideals of the teaching profession. For the past fourteen years Iota Chapter has devoted its main interest into the channels of practical education. It has, by maintaining high scholastic standards, directed its purpose to help students' need for a healthy adjustment to college.

Kappa is proud of its record here on the hill, bringing to the college many successful functions; such as the Kappa Kabaret and the Kappa Minstrel Show. Each year we of the fraternity are privileged to award the Kappa Scholarship to a man student of the Junior Class who has shown potential ability of leadership in the field of education.

Iota Chapter has brought recognition to Gorham State Teachers College throughout New England by the standards it has set with the National Fraternity. At the annual national convention, Iota was awarded the President's Cup for attendance four years in a row and now has sole possession of the cup.

Kappa Delta Phi received into its membership in 1952 two members of the faculty, Mr. John Bodnarik and Mr. John Mitchell. The addition of these faculty members to the fraternity raised the total to seven brothers that Kappa has on the faculty at Gorham.

Without a doubt fraternity can be a constructive part of a student's education. By the brotherhood and friendliness which is shown in fraternities a person becomes better adjusted to the social and professional world of which, someday, he will be a part.

Omega Nu Epsilon

President	GAIL FRYE
Vice President	VICTOR CATIR
Secretary	MAURICE GETCHELL
Treasurer	DAVID SCARLOTT
Chaplain	ROBERT CAMPBELL
Executive Secretary	EDWARD SCHRIVER
Activities Director	RONALD CANTARA

Brotherhood is the basis of fraternal life. In college a beginning is made on the understanding and respecting of individual differences by participation in fraternal functions and working as a closely integrated unit. It is our belief that the knowledge we gain will aid us in our future individual business and social contacts.

Omega Nu Epsilon prepares, during the year, three presentations for college entertainment. The "Omega Pavilion," a fall dance; the "Orientation," whose purpose it is to acquaint the new men on the campus with the fraternity and its members; and the "Spotlight Review," a musical entertainment of professional caliber.

Functions within the fraternity include "Initiation Week," "The Pledge Banquet," the "Alumnae Banquet," and the "Omega Outing." We also have teams representing Omega in football, volleyball, basketball and softball throughout the year.

Each year it is the practice of this fraternity to give a Christmas basket to some worthy family selected by some person outside the order. It is also our pleasure to sponsor the "March of Dimes" campaign in this college for the benefit of those crippled by Infantile Paralysis.

A fraternity house, planned since the creation of Omega, became reality during this past year. It is situated on the Flagev Meadow Road, a short distance from the college, and presently consists of three bedrooms, a fully equipped study, and a meeting room which serves as a lounge. The Omega House has comfortable living quarters for twelve members and also is the center of all fraternal business. It is governed by the House Committee, elected by the House, and approved by the Order.

Women's Glee Club

President	BARBARA BERNARD
Vice President	VIRGINIA GOODWIN
Secretary	JANE BROWN
Treasurer	LEE PARTRIDGE

The Gorham State Teachers College Women's Glee Club, under the able direction of Miss Miriam Andrews, holds one of the foremost positions on the campus. According to our new constitution, the purpose of our club is: to foster a better understanding and a higher appreciation of music in this college.

The glee club consists of fifty-eight members who meet once a week.

During the first semester, the glee club participated in the Maine Event on Patriot's Day at Scarborough Downs, in the Green and White Way where a musical story was presented, and in a Thanksgiving service during chapel period. In addition, selected groups sang for Open House and at the Superintendents' Banquet in East Hall. Later in the year, the club broadcasted over the radio. During the Christmas season, one of the annual Christmas cantatas was presented in Russell Hall. In these and many other ways the Women's Glee Club adds to the enjoyment of our college life.

Men's Glee Club

OFFICERS

President	HARRY TRUE
Vice President	JOHN FORTIER
Secretary-Treasurer	MILES BROOKES

The Men's Glee Club got off to a good start this year by participating in the Maine Event the very first week of school. Since then we have had a full schedule. We have been kept busy with the admission of new members, a party with the Women's Glee Club and, of course, the learning of many new songs. Beside the Maine Event, we sent a small group to sing for the Principals and Superintendents Conference of Cumberland and York Counties. Then came the traditional Thanksgiving Chapel and the Christmas Concert. When a composite group was invited to broadcast over WCSH in Portland, we had our doubts concerning the outcome. We have all relaxed, however, because it wasn't so bad after all, as anyone who was up at six-thirty on Christmas morn can testify.

Miss Andrews, our advisor, deserves credit for her capable direction and patience.

Band

This is the second year of existence for the Gorham State Teachers College band. We find it has doubled in membership and that the student body has doubled in its enthusiasm to support it.

The band has played at all home basketball games, rallies, and the annual open house.

The membership is open to all those interested in music and who play instruments.

We think its biggest contribution is its ability to rouse the students' feet to four-four time and to give more spirit to their cheers.

Our director, Nelson Wentworth, assisted by Miss Andrews, has given us greater inspiration to show our best to the students, faculty, and to the many more who love a college band.

The Dramatic Club

President	MARIAN TOBEY
Vice President	WILDA ELMS
Secretary	BARBARA-JEAN MORTON
Treasurer	GEORGE MORSE
Parliamentarian	JOHN HADDEN

The Dramatic Club is among the largest and most active clubs on campus. Its membership is open to anyone who is interested in any phase of dramatics. There is work for actors, property men, stage hands, sound effect workers, and lighting enthusiasts. Each play has at least one student director and often co-directors.

Each year the Dramatic Club presents three plays in Russell Hall. This year, on November 21 and 22, it presented Hilton's "Meet A Body," a mystery-comedy, which was well attended on both evenings. It was directed by Wilda Elms and John Hadden. The cast consisted of:

Margaret	Norene Grover
Carla	Margaret Grover
Ellen	Viola Starr
Officer McBay	Barbara Luce
Secretary Clark	Harriett Lancaster
The Dancer	Virginia Norris
John	Ronald Cantara
Sergeant Corey	Marshall Bean
Manny	Ralph Eagers
Craig	Richard Call
Dr. Hester	Gale Frye
George	Edward Haggerty
Tim	Bruce Henderson

The Dramatic Club held a Scotch Auction at the Green and White Way this year. Ronnie Cantara made an excellent auctioneer in his plaid kilts, high socks, and plaid hat.

The business meeting of this club is held every Friday during Club period in Miss Sawyer's room. After the regular business meeting, there is usually a talk by some member of the club pertaining to some phase of dramatics. In this way, all the members get a chance to explore new fields and decide what sort of thing they'd like to do for the next production. There have been some very interesting talks on "The Director's Script," "Ways of Holding Trvouts," and many others.

The Art Club

President JACQUELINE BROOKS
 Vice President BRUCE HENDERSON
 Secretary BARBARA-JEAN MORTON
 Treasurer RICHARD CALL

The Art Club, although one of the smaller clubs on campus, is among the most active. Its membership is open to anyone who enjoys or is interested in art and hand-work, and is not necessarily made up of talented people.

This year the club has started a new practice which has met with high approval from both faculty and students. Every week it invites a local painter to display a few of his works in the Student Lounge. This not only adds to the beauty of the lounge but also is a way of acquainting the student body with new ideas and trends in art.

During National Art Week, November 1-7, the club sponsored an exhibit and Silver Tea. At this exhibit, the paintings of many well-known artists were displayed, as well as a group of paintings done by the students of the campus school.

We are working now to obtain prints of famous pictures to hang in the classrooms around the school. Through our displays one picture has already been bought by the school and several more are under consideration. Another club project has been the selling of basketball hats with the school's initials on them.

The regular meetings of this club are held on Wednesday during Club period, in the Art room. In these meetings each student is given a chance to develop his own interests. There is oil, water, and tempera painting, leather work, block printing, weaving, designing, decoration, and many handcrafts with instructions for the beginner. Our business meetings are held for a short while at the beginning of each meeting.

The Art Club ran a very unusual booth at the Green and White Way this year. By means of a strong spotlight and a huge sheet of glass, the members drew and cut out the profiles of anyone who wanted it done. When they were finished, they were backed on a sheet of construction paper and given to the person. It was fun working on it and pleasing to see the results.

Everything we do is guided by the able hand of Mr. Brocato, to whom the club wishes to express its sincere thanks and appreciation.

Camera Club

President NEIL LOWELL
 Vice President MILES BROOKES
 Secretary MARY LOU BROWN
 Treasurer DONALD SAWYER

The aim of the Camera Club is to aid and benefit by mutual cooperation those interested in photography. The informal atmosphere of the club has helped us in carrying out this aim.

In our meetings the first part of the year we were taught the fundamentals of using a camera. We learned how to take, develop, and print our own pictures. In addition to this we became acquainted with using a flash bulb.

We took a trip to Freedom, New Hampshire, in the fall when the color of the foliage was at its height. Snapshots and colored slides of the trip were shown later.

We wish to thank our very capable advisors, Mr. Miller and Mr. Brocato, for all their assistance.

The Outing Club

President	MARY HAYNES
Vice President	PAT AMES
Secretary	EDDIE MACDONALD
Treasurer	GLENN MARTIN
Transportation Officer	BOB GREEN
Activities Council	ELLIE STONE

Because membership is open to all students on campus, the G. S. T. C. Outing Club is one of the largest organizations on the hill. It is also among the most active, since it sponsors two social events each month and the annual Winter Carnival, which runs an entire school week. The main function of the club is to draw new students into the social life of the hill and to provide a healthful deviation from studies in an informal atmosphere. Some of the activities designed to fulfill these obligations are: splash parties, beach parties, Casco Bay sail, skating party, bowling parties, Christmas party, Sadie Hawkin's Day, Scotch auction, mountain climb and many gatherings in the Lounge.

One of our newer projects is raising funds in order to build a cabin to be used for overnight hikes and skiing parties. This year, for the first time, we drew up and adopted an emblem that will be used as the official Outing Club emblem.

Here we would like to express our appreciation for the patience, participation and interest of our two capable faculty advisors, Mr. Salley and Mr. Pollard.

House Committee

President	MANON SMITH
Vice President	JOAN HOLT
Secretary	DOROTHY EDWARDS
Treasurer	LUCILLE KOSTER

In providing opportunity for student participation in the government of our dormitory, the House Committee insures harmonious living within the dorm. It assists in the promotion of good citizenship by carrying out regulations, and by such services as keeping books, checking lights, collecting mail, and ringing bells.

The House officers and members are elected twice a year by dormitory residents. During the year functions and contributions are numerous; the successful open house and other teas and parties can be credited to us.

The success of the House Committee for this year of 1952-1953 was due to enthusiastic members and cooperation of all the dormitory student body.

The advisors to the House Committee are: Miss Edna Dickey, Dean of Women; Mrs. Bessie Westrup, Housemother; Miss Alberta Littlejohn, Assistant Dean.

Political Discussion

Chairman PEGGYANNE PULLEN

Program Chairman BARBARA-JEAN MORTON

Publicity Chairman VIOLA STARR

This has been a very challenging and eventful year for all students interested in social action and world affairs. The presidential election offered lively debate and stimulated interest as well as deep thinking. The club did a great deal of publicity work and conducted an absentee voting campaign. While the state legislature was in session, we discussed current bills including those pertaining to State Education. We wrote our state senators and representatives and urged students to attend several of the sessions of legislature.

Our topics were not entirely on the state and national matters as we have discussed such topics as: The Functions of the United Nations, Eisenhower's Foreign Policy, Trouble Spots in Asia, Korea Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow, and the Functions of U. N. E. S. C. O.

Political discussion is sponsored by the World Relatedness Commission of the Young Women's Christian Association and meets every Tuesday evening at 7.00 in Robie Reception Room. Our meetings are informal and open to everyone. By viewing our various viewpoints and those of our speakers, we aim to become better informed citizens and, most of all, more active in social affairs.

Mr. Whitten has been a grand help in his capacity as advisor. His splendid background has given us unlimited resource material and we appreciate his efforts and enthusiasm which has made this year a real success.

Commuters' Club

OFFICERS

President ROBERT GORDON

Vice President JOHN HADDEN

Secretary JOAN CRAWFORD

Treasurer WILLIAM HERRMAN

The Commuters' Club is the only club on campus made especially for those people who do not live on the hill. Its membership is open only to commuters.

This year's enrollment totals forty-two members. The purpose of this club is to plan numerous activities for all commuters and to sponsor projects which will benefit the entire school. In this way the commuters are able to make up in full measure for all the campus activities they are forced to miss because of distance.

This year we have had club socials, a spaghetti supper, parties, bowling parties, scotch auctions, candy sales, and a sale of pennants and pins bearing the schools initials and name, a skating party and the annual Farmington-Gorham banquet in January.

Our club this year has been strengthened by a larger representation from the freshman class. The year ended with elections of new officers and the club banquet.

This year at the Green and White Way the club had a booth of home cooked food. It is needless to say that it added a fair amount of funds to the W. S. S. F. Drive and was completely sold out long before the end of the evening.

All our activities are guided along by our advisor, Mr. Miller. We wish to thank him for all his care, work and time given for the benefit of the club.

Women's Athletic Association

President May Brit Nelson
 Vice President Eleanor Stone
 Secretary Adelle Kimball
 Treasurer Jane Brown

The purpose of the Women's Athletic Association is to create an interest in sports and to provide the opportunity to participate in them.

All women students belong to the W. A. A. and are able to earn their numerals, G's, and other awards through participation in the sports. Such activities sponsored by the W. A. A. board are the sports scheduled throughout the entire year, an intercollegiate play day and a high school play day. Each year two or more delegates are chosen by the board to attend the state conference from which they bring back information to aid next year's program. The W. A. A. raises money through the sale of sweatshirts, T-shirts and college seals. All girls are encouraged to participate.

Varsity "G" Club

OFFICERS

President Harry True
 Vice-President Richard Gilpatrick
 Secretary-Treasurer Carl Winslow

It is the function of this club to encourage participation in sports. It is also the purpose of this club to further the male enrollment of this college through an active sports program.

Anyone who has enough credits for a "G" is eligible to belong to this club. The credits are obtained by participating in the many and varied sports sponsored by this organization.

The Varsity "G" Club sponsors an intramural program consisting of fall softball, flag football, horseshoes, tennis, volleyball, basketball, and spring softball.

Varsity "G" is a new men's sports organization, replacing the M. A. A. Faculty advisors are Mr. Bodnarick and Mr. Pollard.

We're Working Our Way Through Gorham

Gorham's students are not only busy with studies and extracurricular activities, but many of us work during all or part of the college year. Some of us are employed on the campus and others work off campus.

There are about eighty jobs held by students on campus. For the men, these jobs consist of janitor work in Corthell Hall, Russell Hall, and the Industrial Arts buildings. There are two jobs held by men students in the college kitchen. These are janitor and kitchen helper. Work in the library is another possibility.

Campus work for women presents quite an impressive selection. There are corridor jobs, waitress work, telephone work, laundry help, dishroom openings, work in the college kitchen, and library work at Corthell Hall. Girls desiring chances to baby sit are often contacted by the matron or housemother as such opportunities arise.

Many students work away from campus at various jobs. Samples of these are salesmen, clerical work, fountain work, bakery work, garage mechanic, taxi driver, carpenter, mill worker, truck driver, clerks, housecleaning, electrician, theater projectionist, minister, and teaching riding. Some students have no regular work, but do any odd jobs that are available.

Probably two hundred of us are working our way through Gorham. Yet most of us are able to share in a rich social college life. Two club periods in the school week provide opportunities for some working people to participate in extracurricular activities.

The results of a recent survey show that although many of us at Gorham favor working during any college year, the majority of us are against working during the Freshman year unless financially imperative. Most of us feel that it is inadvisable to work either the Junior or Senior year because working would require time well spent in our fields of concentration.

We, the working people of Gorham State Teachers College, are proud that we have such a democratic and friendly campus. With so many of us working, it becomes an integral part of our college life. In preparing for a profession of service to the youth of our country we are accepting a great challenge. If college preparation requires the smaller challenge of working throughout the school year, then we accept. In work we gain security, in security; confidence, with confidence we teach!

SPORTS

Varsity Basketball

For the second year in a row the Gorham State Teachers' College varsity basketball team came out on top of the heap in the New England Teachers' College Conference. This second championship in two years was largely the result of a strongly balanced team, augmented by excellent coaching, which produced a seasonal average of 77.68 points per game and a conference record of 10 victories and 1 defeat. In non-conference play our record was 1 win against 4 losses, a fact which can be traced to the superb abilities of such teams as Lyndon, Providence, Brandeis, and Bates.

* Denotes conference games.

After our impressive opening game victory over Lyndon, Vt., an aggressive Bates College five, led by Charlie Bucknam and Ken Weiler, defeated the Hilltopper team on its own court. This was a particularly satisfying win for Bates since it avenged to some measure their two losses to us in the two preceding years.

Following defeats to powerful teams from Providence College and Brandeis University, Gorham went on to sweep conclusive victories in ten of their last twelve games and clinch the conference diadem for the second time in two years. Highlights of this successful season were the game at Rhode Island College of Education in which the offensive punch of such scoring threats as Tony Wedge, Will Gouzie, Keith Packard, "Butch" Beotte, and Captain Harry "Pinky" True could not be denied, resulting in a decisive 109-47 triumph for the Hilltoppers, which was a seasonal scoring high for the team in any one game, and two proud conquests of our arch court-rival, Farmington. These two Farmington games not only serve to demonstrate the intense court rivalry between the two traditional Maine athletic foes, but also reflect, by way of the hospitality shown by each college when playing the role of host, the sincere good-feeling toward each other that is inherent in both institutions.

Perhaps of all the home games, the close, hectic struggle which ensued when Plymouth visited Gorham was the most tense and exciting of the entire season. This game saw a fast, aggressive Plymouth squad spurt to a substantial early lead by dint of sharp marksmanship and carry this lead into the last quarter. However, accurate shooting by Tony Wedge and Harry True helped to overcome this early deficit and resulted in Gorham's pulling away from their opponents in the last quarter to emerge with a well-deserved 82-75 victory.

It has already been said that our champions benefited from excellent coaching, but it seems that such consistently fine results from Coach John Bodnarik deserve more than a perfunctory tribute in passing. In molding this season's cluster of athletes into a breadwinner Coach Bodnarik proved himself to be a quite adept wizard at juggling his court charges into winning combinations. This is a fact which I am sure will be attested to by the 5600 fans who jammed Russell Hall during the season to watch the Hilltopper teams in action, and also, albeit with possible rue in their hearts, by the many fans who saw our teams play on the visiting floors which they travelled a total of 1713 miles to play on during the basketball year.

Never has an athletic squad competed successfully without competent "men behind the scenes" to dispose of the many, many chores which occur as incidentals in the functioning of a smooth unit. This year we owe thanks for the faithful and highly satisfactory execution of these tasks to Richard Gilpatrick, a junior; George MacPhail, a sophomore; and Richard Kelly, a freshman.

It has been stated by someone that no team deserves the title of champion until it has won a championship and then successfully defended it in the following year. If this is true, and the statement certainly contains merit, then the Gorham State Teachers' College basketball squad of 1952-53 without doubt is deserving of high accolades and has truly earned the title of "champion." And we have every reason to face the future with a maximum of optimism, too. Such fine freshman players as Keith Packard, Tony Wedge, Will Gouzie, Bob Day and "Butch" Beote form a very strong nucleus around which to build further winning teams.

HARRY G. TRUE

JOSEPH PECORARO

This was a great year all around for Gorham's basketball teams. The season's end saw Coach Frank Pollard's Junior Varsity squad the proud possessors of a superb 10-2 overall record and an array of 7 victories as compared with a solitary defeat in Conference competition. A rundown of the season's play finds us with these scores:

* Denotes conference games.

As can be readily seen, the majority of these games are noted for their narrow margins of victory. This in itself is a big compliment to the team, for no team is really good unless it can play under pressure and pull out the close ones.

Congratulations to Mr. Pollard for turning out such a fine team and best wishes with our confidence that he and his teams will do as well in the future.

Men's Intramural Sports

The intramural sports program at Gorham this year was probably the most extensive in the school's history.

Starting off in the early fall with a lengthy softball schedule, the program progressed through campaigns in all of the more popular sports. The eight-man flag football tournament was a tremendous success in its second year at Gorham. The regular intramural basketball season was followed by a culminating tournament which produced some top-flight playing. And of course the customary spring softball schedule was a big success.

The intramural program owes much of its success to Mr. Pollard for the many hours of his time which he has given and for his helpful direction.

Women's Intramural Sports

The women's intramural sports program this year was as varied and extensive as the men's. Under the sponsorship and guidance of the Women's Athletic Association and Miss Fitz, the girls carried out full programs in fall softball, volleyball, basketball, and the spring softball campaign.

To be noted, especially, is the enthusiasm with which the girls receive intramural sports. Each tournament in every sport is open to all teams wishing to enter and there is no limit to the number of teams participating.

The collage features a variety of local advertisements. At the top left, a 'WANTED' ad for an 'Unprofitable Company' is visible. Next to it is a large 'CLOSING OUT ODDS & ENDS' ad promising a 'Save 1/2' discount. Below these are several smaller ads: 'CENTRAL HARDWARE' on Main St. in Hyannis, a 'COUNTER MAN' position, a 'LIFT TRUCK SALESMAN' role, and a 'BOYS-VETS-YOUNG MEN' group. A 'LAUNDRY' ad is also present. In the center, a large, stylized 'Advertising' title is superimposed over a background of more ads. To the left of this title, there are ads for a 'Leather-lined' product and an 'Adjustable Shoulder-Strapper'. To the right, there are ads for 'SUPER ARAKS' (soft colors, usually $245, now $99), a 'CARETAKER' position, 'OPPORTUNITY KNOCKING', a 'NIGHT WATCHMAN', and 'EXPERIENCED MEAT CUTTER'. At the bottom right, an ad for '2 COPENINGS' is visible.
