STATE NORMAL SCHOOL, GORHAM, MAINE.

This school was established by the liberal contributions of the town of Gorham, the trustees of Gorham Seminary and citizens of Gorham, for the education of teachers for the public schools of the State. A fine school building, costing twenty-five thousand dollars, with five acres of land costing one thousand dollars was conveyed to the State. Other buildings and grounds, estimated by the Governor and Council, who accepted the grants, as worth twelve thousand dollars, were also deeded to and accepted by the State for the purpose of the school.

This is the third normal school established by the State. It offers advantages to young men and young women who desire to make preparation for teaching in the public schools of the State.

It received its first class January 29, 1879. The number who have been members of the school is 1229. The whole number who have received diplomas is 729. Sixty-two per cent of the students admitted have graduated, ninety-one per cent of the graduates of the school have taught two years or more. More than sixty-three per cent of the graduates are now teaching. They are engaged successfully in all grades of educational work.

LOCATION.

Gorham, one of the pleasantest and most healthful towns in Maine, with a population of some 2,800, is on the Portland & Rochester Railroad, ten miles west of Portland.

BUILDINGS.

The normal school building is a fine looking structure, crowning the crest of a hill and giving fine views in every direction, over a beautifully variegated landscape, with a distant view of "old ocean" and passing ships, while to the north-west Mt. Washington, the "Old Glory" of New England mountains, lifts its sublime heights in plain view. The school suffered an immense loss by the burning of "Normal Hall," the fine boarding house of the school, on the first of October, '94. But the state has made one appropriation for rebuilding, and will doubtless make more liberal provision in the near future, so that a "home" shall be provided for the students, such as will secure the best interests of the pupils and attest the liberality and nobility of the state.

NORMAL HALL, Burned Oct. 1, 1894

NEW NORMAL HALL. In Process of Const

NEW NORMAL HALL in Process of Construction by the State.

The new hall, now building, is of ample size and fine architectural proportions. It is of brick with granite and freestone facings. Its interior arrangement is fine, convenient, complete; rooms of good size; every necessity and convenience provided, bath rooms, elevator, gymnasium, means for thorough ventilation, sitting rooms, reception rooms, and hospital. The situation is unsurpassed, on the crest of the hill, making the views from the windows very fine. It is near the school building, securing the pupils from exposure in going from their rooms to the school in stormy weather. It is on land generously donated by Mr. Dana Estes of Boston, a native of Gorham, (now of the great firm of Estes & Lauriat, of Boston, Mass.)

CONDITIONS OF ADMISSION.

Candidates for admission to any of the normal schools of this State must have attained the age of seventeen years complete, if young men, and sixteen years, if young women.

They must present a certificate of good moral character, and to enter this school must give evidence of good intellectual capacity, and of sound physical health and vigor. They must declare their intention to complete the course of study as soon as possible, and afterwards to teach in the schools of Maine, if called for, as long as they attend the school. No pupil received for less than a half year.

Examinations for admission to this school will take place at the close of the school year in June, and at the beginning of the school year in August, and oftener at the discretion of the faculty of instruction.

The examinations this year will take place on Saturday, June 20th, at 9 o'clock A. M., and on Tuesday, September 1st, at 9 o'clock A. M. These examinations will take place at the school-house. Several pupils in one town distant from the school may by request to the principal have some examiner sent to accommodate them.

Pupils will be examined in English, as to reading and spelling (and ability to express themselves in good English,) in English grammar, in arithmetic to proportion, in geography, in United States history.

Pupils who bring a diploma of graduation from a four years' classical course in a high school, or academy; and pupils who bring certificates from school committees or superintendents, and prove two years or more successful experience in teaching will be admitted without examination.

THE SCHOOL YEAR AND TERMS.

The school year, beginning the last Tuesday in August or the first Tuesday in September, is divided into two terms of nineteen weeks each, of actual school work with a recess of nine days near the middle of each term, with daily sessions of not less than five and one-half hours per day for five days in the week.

PURPOSE OF THE SCHOOL.

The aim of a normal school is to fit and train teachers for the public schools of the State. To this end the pupils must become imbued, inspired, with the spirit of the real teacher.

Such a study of the subjects to be used in teaching as will enable the students to see them from the view point of construction, of principles, not of rules.

The careful study of man as body and as mind, to discover the principles of education, and tests of methods of teaching.

The study of the art of teaching, organization and government of school, school laws and the history of education.

Observation and teaching in practice schools.

COURSES OF STUDY.

THE TWO YEARS' COURSE.

1. Psychology; deducing thence the principles of education; the art of teaching; school organization; school government; the history of education.

2. The study of the following named subjects that the pupil teachers may know the principles of the same; the method of teaching them, and the educational value of each.

a. Mathematics—Arithmetic, Algebra; Geometry; Book-keeping.

b. Science—Physics, Chemistry, Mineralogy, Botany, Zoology, Physiology, Geography, Physical Training, Manual Training.

c. Language—Words, English Grammar, Rhetoric, Composition, Literature, Drawing, Vocal Music.

d. Civics—Constitution of Maine, Constitution of the United States, School System and School Laws of Maine.

e. Observation and practice in the practice schools.

THREE YEARS' COURSE.

The two years' course and the following subjects for the same end:

a. Mathematics—Trigonometry, Astronomy.

b. Science—Chemistry, Geology.

c. Languages—Latin, German or French, English Literature.

d. History—General History.

ORDER OF STUDIES.

Decoration—Geometric forms in ornament, principles in arrangement. Historic ornament, natural forms. Conventionalization. Decorative design.

Representation—Appearance of objects, foreshortening of lines, proportional measurement, model and object drawing; free-hand perspective of cylindrical and rectangular solids.

Remark—The course is supplemented by an elementary one in color, paper cutting, clay modelling and outline of work for primary schools. Special attention to methods of teaching.

SCIENCE.

Physics—Heat, sources of, effects of, conductors of; gravitation, of solids, of liquids, and of gases, some useful application of; magnets, kinds of, uses of; electricity, sources of, common applications of, simple machines; light, sources of, reflection of, refraction of, images from.

Chemistry—Air, oxygen, burning, candle flame, smoke, hydrogen, chlorine, fuel, food, carbon, dioxide, sodium, potassium, carbon, iron, mercury, sulphur, copper, silver, lead, and some common compounds of the metals.

Physiology—A general study of anatomy and physiology, especial study of the hygiene of, digestion, blood, breathing, nerves and muscles, skin, and special senses.

Zoology—Insects, grasshopper, bee, and butterfly; mollusks, clam and oyster; crustaceous, lobster or cray fish; fish, perch; amphibia, frog and toad.

Mineralogy—Quartz, mica, feldspar, hornblende, granite, sandstone, limestone, marble, coal and iron, lead, silver and copper ores.

Manual Training—The making of simple pieces of apparatus which will be useful in giving science lessons; among them, pump, battery, telegraph key and sounder, model of steam engine, lever and balances.

GEOGRAPHY.

The earth as part of solar system. Form, size, measurements, motions, distribution of light and heat, twilight, zones, seasons. Representations of the earth.

The earth as the home of man. The study of three-fold covering of the earth.

1st—Atmosphere. Composition, pressure, phenomena, cause and effect of.

2d—The Sea. Sea-basins, saltness, depth, temperature, movements, offices of the sea.

3d—Land. Structure, movements, relief, drainage, influence of continental drainage, and relief.

Detailed study of grand divisions, giving special attention to representative sections and cities, as centres of trade, commerce and population.

Exercises to teach method of studying bodies of land and water, forms of water, climate, soil, productions, people, maps as means of expression. Map sketching, use of outline maps, relief maps in sand and clay.

BOTANY.

Germination—Conditions of, structure and physiology of seeds, observation and description of what is seen.

Organs of Vegetation—Structure, forms, mode of growth, differences, functions, arrangement of organs with reference to use. Structure and growth of whole plant, transpiration, circulation, respiration, assimilation.

Organs of Reproduction—Structure, functions, kinds, inflorescence of flowers, fertilization of ovules, ripening of fruit and seed, dissemination of seeds.

Classification—Study of several common plants, recognition of common forest trees.

Herbarium—Analysis; preparation, mounting, description.

MATHEMATICS.

Geometry—Teaching of forms; development of all geometric terms, with preparation of lessons for use in practice schools; development of demonstration of proposition leading pupils to originate the demonstration, rather than learn it from the book; statement of original proposition and demonstration of same; various demonstrations of same proposition.

Arithmetic.—Methods of teaching combinations in simple numbers, with preparation of lessons for practice schools; teaching writing and reading of numbers to one thousand with preparation of lessons; fractions, development of idea of, writing same, terms of, value of, lessons prepared; commercial arithmetic; proportions; Colburn's Intellectual Arithmetic, through the course.

Algebra.—Simple equations to give pupils practice in use of literal quantities; operations in fundamental processes and in fractions compared with same in arithmetic; factoring; special drill in binomial theorem and in roots.

Trigonometry—For terms and relations of signs, and logarithms.

Book-Keeping—Double entry; business forms.

Astronomy—Mathematical; terms; relation to geography.

PEDAGOGICS.

Psychology—Man as body, man as mind; mind as intellect, mind as sensibilities, mind as will; studied introspectively; by reading; by the history of the race; by observation, specially of children, to deduce the principles of education, and the tests of methods.

Didactics—Principles of education; tests of methods; suggestions of methods to stimulate inquiry and invention; development, knowledge, character as ends of education; methods, of the past, found in history and used as tests of new ideas; literature of education; school systems; and school system of Maine; revenues, sources, amounts, collections, distributions; officers, elections or appointments, functions; the school, its organization, government, place of the school as a factor in civilization.

MUSIC.

Musical tones and their relation to each other as exemplified by the scale.

Constant interval singing with special attention to voice development; study of rudiments with daily practice in singing at sight; part singing; brief glance at chromatic scale; transposition.

THE PRACTICE SCHOOLS.

The purpose of these schools is to set forth with children and in actual school work, the principles and methods taught in the normal school. They are under the direct supervision of the principal of the normal school. There are ten grades,—kindergarten, three primary and six grammar,—divided into three schools with three grades in each school, and the kindergarten in charge of the teacher of the primary school with a pupil teacher from the normal school. Each school has a teacher in charge, responsible for the instruction and discipline of the pupils. The normal pupils in these schools study the work as to organization, principles and methods; study the children; serve as assistants; teach classes; teach subjects; prepare lessons; teach each school.

PRINCIPLES AND METHODS OF WORK.

The end of normal school work is to make the normal student, as far as possible an educator; to this end he must consider the acquisition of knowledge, the exercises of the school, his own spirit, purpose, manners and conduct from the point of view of the educator. Hence he must know mind, the laws of its developments, the predominance of its varied powers, the presentation of facts calculated to stimulate and keep in exercise these various powers. Hence he must be master of the subjects to be taught that he may rightly use them in teaching, and that, in teaching, study of the subject may not hinder his attention to the pupil's mind in learning. The normal student's study of subjects must be different from that of the study of the public schools pupils. In these the study is a means to general culture, and is academic study; in the normal schools the subjects must be studied as educational instruments; this is professional study.

The normal student is to be educated for his special work; trained to comprehend and apply the principles of education that he may conduct his own school to the education of his pupils; the principles of education are derived from the study of man as body, and man as mind. These principles must determine all his methods, and enable him to call into intense activity his pupils, as mind, and secure the results of such activity, viz: growth, knowledge, character.

METHODS.

The methods are analytic and topical; must analyze the subject for knowledge of its principles; must then present the subject to his own class that he may acquire the power and habit of presentation. The students thus learn to teach and train by teaching and training, and this teaching by the pupils secures the most careful study, as the student must know the subject in its details and in their logical connection, or he will utterly fail to teach. Hence this constant teaching in the students own class becomes a most powerful means of securing mastery of the subject. It gives the student command of himself, of his subject, of the class, makes him self reliant, develops his individuality.

GRADUATION, EMPLOYMENT.

The daily work in each study must be satisfactory to enable the student to advance to the work of the next class. Diplomas are given to all who complete the two years course, and special diplomas to all who complete the advanced course, certificates will be given to all who receive diplomas on application to the principal. It is hoped that a State examination as provided by the law of 1895, will be held at the graduation of each class hereafter.

Graduates are in constant demand to fill good places, and the demand exceeds the supply of those fully fitted for the work.

TEXT-BOOKS.

The school supplies the text-books used in classes, Students entering are advised to bring all the text-books they may have. They are helpful to the student as books of reference. Each student should bring a Bible and a dictionary, and any works of standard literature which he may have.

ASSEMBLY ROOM.

BOARD.

Good board can be had in private families for three dollars per week, excluding washing. For information as to board, etc., address the Principal, W. J. Corthell, Gorham, Maine.

DISCIPLINE.

Students are expected to govern themselves. When any student develops traits or habits inconsistent with the ideal character of a teacher, he will be sent home, as the State cannot afford to educate for teachers any who are not qualified for the office.
